Omaha Hardware Company Stockholders Take Their Case Into Court.

Claim of a Commercial Agency That an Employe Has Manipulated Affairs for His Own Profit-Close of the February Term.

AN AMICABLE AUJUSTMENT DESIRED

A petition has been filed in the district court praying for the appointment of a receiver for the Omaha Hardware company. The company in its corporate name and about two thirds of the stockholders are named as plaintiffs, and the other stockholders as defendants.

It Appears from the potition that the action was authorized at a stocsholders' meeting held last Monday afternoon, and that over two-thirds of the stockholders voted at the meeting in favor of appointing as receiver C. F. Taggart, now one of the directors and vice president of the company. The petition alleges that the application is made at this time because of differences of opinion among the directors and officers as to continuing or discontinuing the business, in view of the fact that the company's stock of merchandise was simost wholly consumed by fire March 27 last. The insurance loss has not yet been adjusted.

The pisintiffs say that the company has contracted an indebtedness largely in excess of the two-thirds limit prescribed by the articles of incorporation as amended, and by the statutes of the state, and that the business, owing to special circumstances, has been conducted at a loss. The total issued stock of the corporation is $154,100. The assets the company are said to consist chiefly of the insurance money, $130,000, accounts and bills receivable estimated at over $75,000, and a lot and building on Douglas street. The liabilities are estimated at $125,000. No charges of fraud or bad faith are made asainst any of the officers. The present situation is simply the outcome of the recent fire and differences of opinion as to the future course of the company. No serious diffi-culty is anticipated in the adjustment of the insurance loss, as the adjusters and the company are now engaged in estimating the amount which should be paid.

The application will be heard early next week, and will probably not be seriously con-tested by any of the stockholders. The general desire of the parties interested seems to be to close the present business up as speedily as possible and at the least possible expense, and it is claimed that the assets of the company are ample to satisfy all creditors. The only question is as to whether or not the stockholders can realize the face of their

ENJOINED THE AGENT.

Claim That W. A. McAuency Has Used His Employer's Business for Personal Profit. A temporary injunction was granted by Judge Dundy Presterday in the United States circuit court at the request of the Merchants' Retail Commercial Agency restraining W. A. McAneney and D. E. Gleason from further receiving money as agents of said agency or from continuing to operate the Union Collecting and Reporting agency on the plan of the said agency.

The petition alleges that the defendant, McAneney, was employed as the agent of the plaintiff and agreed to devote his whole time to their business. Instead of doing so, however, it is alleged that he has organized and established another similar concern of his own, using the plans and methods originated by the plain tiff, and that instead of working for the in terests of the plaintiff is really working against them and for his own business.

Not only this, but it is claimed that he is conducting this business from the offices of the plaintiff, and that the plaintiff is really furnishing the material and backing to carry on an opposition concern. Wherefore they kick, and after putting up a bond of $500, bad Mr. McAnency enjoined from further conducting his double-barrelled business.

Other Court Doings.

The February term of the district court in and for Douglas county is practically at an end. With the exception of those engaged in cases now on trial, the jurors have been discharged and the remaining days of the term will be devoted to hearing defaults, mo tions and equity matters.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Davis called the dismissal docket and disposed of nearly 200 cases, many of which have been hanging fire for years and have been carried forward from term to term.
Saturday morning the prisoners in the county fail who have been convicted at this term of court will be arraigned for sentence, after which Judge Davis will depart for Washington, D. C., where he will spend his Alfred E. Raymond, charged with adultery, committed with Sarah L. Robinson, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. He said that he was short both friends and money, but would be on hand when the case was called for trial. The court fixed the bail at $3,000 and the was released on his own recognizance. The Paxton hotel case is again in the courts, the Kitchen Brothers' company having brought suit against Henry A. Eastman to recover the possession of the property. The plaintiff sets forth and alleges a special property and avers that it is entitled to the property and avers that it is entitled to the immediate possession of the hotel, the goods, chattels and furniture therein. The charge is made that T. C. Brunard and L. A. Kittridge on July 30, 1899, gave a chattel mortgage to see ure the payment of an annual rental of $25,000 for the term of ten years. The charge is also made that Eastman, who leased from Brainard & Kittridge, has failed to pay his rent and that there is the sum of $5,000 due and unpaid.

And now H. E. Eastman has brought suit And now H. E. Lastman has brought suit in district court against J. B. Kitchen and the Kitchen Brothers' Hotel company. At the same time he has secured an injunction which restrains Kitchen from taking possession of the Paxton hotel, its furniture or any of the equipments. In his petition he alleges that all of the payments of rent have been liquidated as they became due to pay his rent and that there is the sum of een liquidated as they became due. Charles Keith and his wife, Kitty M., propose to make William Deering come to time and have brought suit for this purpose. In the petition the plaintiffs aliege that for three years prior to 1891 Keith was salesman agent for the Deering company; that when he severed his connections with the defendant's company there was trouble in set-tling. Both parties claimed a balance. tling. Both parties claimed a balance. Keith, to show his good intentions towards arriving at an adjustment of the matters in difference, put up as security a number of valuable lots. When Deering got possession he toid Keith to whistle and refused to make any terms. Keith wants $1,023, which he claims is due and the return of his lots and lands.

Union Pacific Presidency-Notes, The reported selection of Captain R. S. Haves for the presidency of the Union Pacific railway was the one topic of conversation in railroad circles vesterday. Nothing definite has been learned beyond what been published in THE BEE, well-informed rail road officials here regard the report as more than plausible. Captain Hayes is not only known to be an able railroad man, but the fact is recalled that he was once before pro posed for the presidency of the Union Pact fic. He was for a number of years connected with Jay Gould in southwestern railroad enterprises, and some are inclined to regard his selection as a compromise, though there is no positive information that he has had any relations with Mr. Gould for some years past, He is known to have been a friend of General Dodge, who secured him several positions in years past Captain Hayes has been in Omaha a number of times and has some friends here, who speak of him in most complimentary terms. Six or seven years ago be acted as arbitrator in the controversy between the Union Pacific and the Missouri Pacific over the Omaha Belt line. That enterprise was undertaken by S. H. H. Ciark, then general man ager of the Union Pacific, as an adjunct of that system, but the Adams people thought him too sanguine, and when they gained control they decided to drop the Belt line. Mr. Clark had no diffiulty in finding a customer for it, but a controversy arose over the amount of money put into its construction by the Union Pacific, and the latter began suit to recover the sum it claimed. These matters were afterwards referred to Capteir Hayes and by him satisfactorily arbitrated

He holds the latter position at present, and his nome is in New York.

Late dispatches from New York indicate that Russell Sage admits, by inference at least, that Jay Gould does not hold a controlling interest in the Union Pacific. Hayes refused to be interviewed, which also lends color to the report, and reports from Boston tend to confirm it.

WEIGHED DOWN BY WEIGHERS

Load of Debt Under Which the State Grain Department is Buried.

VERY BIG PAY FOR VERY LITTLE WORK

Grain Men Fear that the Warehouse Law Will Be Repealed Untess the Weighing Department Expenses are Radically Reduced.

The state grain department is hopelessly in debt and has every promise of remaining in such a condition so long as the present method of transacting the business of the department is maintained. When the legislature meets an appropriation will be asked o make up the deficiency and grain men say that the legislature will without doubt repeal the warehouse law if it is shown to be nonsupporting.

On April 1, the department was, in round numbers, $1,000 in debt and it will run $200 behind this month, as this is the dull season and very little grain is moving.

The grain men do not want to see the warehouse law repealed and are accordingly very much dissatisfied with present administration of the and are preparing to make a vigorous kick before the state board. During the busy season last winter the in spection department ran benind, and the grain men saw that when the duli season came on it would be impossible to maintain the department except at a loss. They pro-tested, but without effect until Mr. Boyd came in and appointed Mr. Thompson chief inspector. Mr. Thompson at once reduced expenses and is now doing the entire work of the inspection department. He has given up the expensive suite of rooms formerly oc by the department, and dispensed with all such luxuries as gas, telephone, etc.

During the month of January, which was the last full month under the old inspector, the expenses were:

Office rent Telephone service Gas bill Janitor's service Total $460.56

For the month of March, under Mr. Thompon, the expense of the inspection department Chief inspector's salary$160.66 Total expense..... $174.16

This reduction makes the inspection de partment self-supporting in spite of the fact that it is the dull season and the Omaha grain men are highly gratified with the result. The Weighing Department.

While the governor has the appointing ower in the case of grain inspection the law leaves the State Board of Transportation to provide for the weighing of grain. This the board did by appointing a chief weighmaster at a salary of $2,000 per year and allowing him to appoint his son as sistant at $1,200 per year and two belpers to do the actual weighing.

The grain men protested against the extravagance and got the force cut down to the chief inspector and his son who are now drawing $3,200 per year.

The grain men some six weeks ago sent in another protest against the extravagance of the weighing department and Mr. Walsh took the same to Lincoln and presented it personally to Attorney General Hastings. As yet the board has taken no action but is allowing the expense to pile up against the Omaha department to so great an extent that it will be impossible to wipe it out without a special appropriation from the legislature.

It was suggested to members of the board that they give the chief inspector authority to act as chief weighmaster, and he could then employ an assistant at $600 a year and do the work that is now costing $3,200 be-sides office rent and other expenses. The board responded that they could not make such an arrangement as it would be contrary to law. They are, however, allowing the chief inspector at Lincoln to do the weighing, and if it is legal there Omaha grain men would like to know why it would not be legal at Omaha. Big Pay for Little Work. The expenses of the weighing department last month at Omaha were: Total

.$281 CG If placed under the chief inspector the total expense for weigning would at the most be only $50 per month, or a saving to the state of $231.66 per month. More than that, at the present dull time the chief inspector could do the weighing himself and the whole expense of the weighing department would Grain men who were approached on the subject all expressed themselves as very much dissatisfied with the present state of much dissatisfied with the present state or affairs and admitted that they were preparing to make another effort in behalf of econ-omy and one that the state board could not northwesterly direction.

In this matter a compromise was finally effected by Mr. Dumont agreeing to build a line from the main line at the intersection of West Leavenworth street to a point as far west as the Little Pappio. It was agreed that this line should be free to all roads designed to the control of t siring to eater Omaha or South Omaha from

In addition to this the company agreed to extend its lines up the bottoms as far as Grace street, thus allowing the roads com-ing into the city from the north to reach the union depot at Fiftee ath and Chicago streets. It was also agreed that all roads should be flowed to cross the tracks, switches and sidings of the Nebraska Central according to orms of an arbitration to be agreed upon.
