Nine Innings Spent in a Fruitless Endeavor to Secure a Score-Several Other Shutouts Occurred During the Day-The Games.

Toledo, 3; Omaha, 0. Milwaukee, 8; Minneapolis, 0. Kansas City, 2; Columbus, 1. Indianapolis-St. Paul postponed

Tolepo, O., May 7.-The opening game at Olympic park today was sensational from beginning to end. The excitement at all times was intense. The grounds were soggy, and sawdust was used. It was difficult to get the orb outside of the diamond. The Omahas arrived about half an hour before the game commenced, and had scarcely time to kick the kinks out of their legs before taxing the field.

Sheipeck, who played in Toledo's association team, was the first Omaha man to show his head, and a vociferous vell of "Sheib" went up from 2,000 throats. He seemingly had it in for his former town, making four of the hits which are credited to Omaha. He had evidently studied Clark's delivery, for nine of his cohorts were struck out, while he found no difficulty in striking to first,

Mayor Emmick opened the game by congratulating President Gunners on getting nto the Western league and Toledo on having Gunnels in it. He welcomed the Omahas in the name of Toledo, and said that as he had never heard any nickname for them, he suggested they be known as the "Giants," as they are remarkably well built men. He noped they would not swipe the ball as hard as they appeared to be able, and that they would strive to bear up as well as possible if Tolego took three straight.

First Up, First Out, Armour was the first to swing a bat in the new park and he hit the first ball that came, lying at first, Gettinger did the same, Nichol's base on balls availing nothing by Elv following Get's example.

Sheibeck cracked a single out of the first bail that came, but got no farther, Newell's single in the second was uscless, his fellow robbers flying out. Omaha went out in one, two, three fashion. In the third Nichol was ait on the head by a pitched ball and lay ienseless on the sawdust for ten minutes. Vickery was visibly agitated. Toledo could

Vickery got on the three bag in the last of the third on another single from Shelbeck. Gliks hit an awful drive into center field, but one man was out and it looked like a nome run. Darling, who took Nichol's place caught it with one hand and threw it to ome in time to catch Vickery. Neither clubdid much but die at first until two Pirates had been laid out in the first half of the ninth. Horley was on first, three balls and two strikes were called on Dad Clarke, who then tipped balf a dozen vicious fouls against the grand stand and screen. A single followed and Hurley reached third. Two strikes and three balls were then called on Armour, who finally ripped out abother single. A wild throw permitted Clark to follow Huriey in. Get-linger then pulled 'Armour around with a two-bagger, dying on second. Omaha tried her half, but three men were spotted at first and the agony was over. though cold, the weather was clear and 5,000 people will be out tomorrow. Score:

Tailenders Change Piaces. PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., May 7 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-The tailenders came together today and exchanged places. Plattsmouth outplayed the visitors all-round. At Armour, rf 5 1 1 0 0 2 Yapp twirled the sphere for the locals, and pitched a wonderful game at critical moments. He allowed the visitors but three hits, one of which, however, was a three-baser, and another a double. He was wild and gave seven bases on balls, but braced up at critical times. Sloffey also pitched in good form, allowing the locals six hits, four of which were doubles. Kennedy led in batting for the home team, while Keefe led Grand Island, Maupin, Green and John Patterson for Plattsmouth distinguished themselves in the field, as did

LINCOLN, Neb., May 7 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. - Lancoln and Hastings met on the diamond this afternoon for the first time this season, and the game resulted disastrously for the home team. Hastings wo n by slugging in the fourth inning. The visitors started the game with two scores to their credit, Timme catching first on Smith's awkward bandling of a slow knocked ball down to third, was advanced to second by McFariane's single and both scored on Chiles' two-bagger. In the fourth inning Chiles got his base on an error, Packard found the ball for three bases, while Finch and Clark followed close after with well placed singles. The feature of the playing of the home team was Fowler's brilliant work at second. Score:

mittee of the whole and resumed discussion of the rivers and harbors bill. The pending amendment was that offered by Mr. Whiting of Michigan, to strike out the appropriation for a ship channel twenty-one feet in depth connecting the waters of the great lakes between Chicago, Duluth and Buffalo, inserting in lieu thereof a provision authorizing the secretary of war to appoint a board of engineers, to whom shall be referred the report of Colonel O. M. Poe upon the subject of a twenty foot channel from Duluth to Buffalo through the great takes. The board shall also report as to the practicability of deepening the water level of the lakes. Mr. Whiting's amend ment was rejected, 35 to 120.

Missouri Improvement Appropriation. On motion of Mr. Henderson of Illinois the appropriation for the improvement of the Missouri river between the foot of Great Falls in Montana and Sioux City, Ia., was nereased from $70,000 to $100,000. On motion of Mr. Smith of Arizona an amendment was adopted appropriating $10,-000 for improvement of the Colorado river by the construction of a levee on the Gila river near its junction with the Colorado at Hume,

Mr. Blanchard of Louisians offered as an additional section a proviso that in cases where authority had been granted to the secretary of war to make contracts for the secretary of war to make contracts for the completion of certain works of river and har-bor improvements, if ne bids be received which are deemed to be advantageous to the government, or if the secretary deem it best for the public interest, then materials may be purchased and work done otherwise than by contract.

Refused to Re Shouted Down.

Mr. O'Neill of Missouri vigorously assailed the proposed section, contending that its effect would be to start in motion a vast political machine, having in its control the expenditure of millions of money and opened the door to a great abuse of discre-

Being interrupted with cries of "vote," Mr. O'Neill indignantly refused to shouted down, declaring that the cries of "vote" sounded too much like "pork, pork." Laughter.

The amendment was agreed to, 123 to 45. The committee then rose and reported the oill to the house. Mr. Richardson of Tennessee moved to lay the bill on the table. Motion rejected, the pponents of the bill not being able to muster ufficient force to order the yeas and nays. The amendments were agreed to in gross with the exception of the last section, upon which Mr. O'Nejif of Missouri demanded a separato vote. The section was agreed to— Yeas, 121; nays, 97.

Bynum Tries the Filibuster Act. Mr. Stone of Kentucky moved to recon-sider the vote, and Mr. Blanchard to lay the motion on the table. Pending which Mr. O'Neill of Missouri moved an adjournment, which was rejected.

Then Mr. Bynum of Indiana put on the garb of a fifibustor and made a motion for a recers until So'clock, supplementing it with a motion that when the house adjourned today it be to meet on Tuesday next, but Mr. Richardson of Tennessee thought an aujournment should be taken intil Wednesday, and made a motion to that effect. And the amendment was lost S to 163.

THE ANCHOR OF COLUMBUS. The Oldest Relic in Existence of the Discovery of America. On the night of the 2d of August, 1498, the little fleet of Christopher Columbus, the discoverer of America, he being then upon his third voyage, lay at anchor just off the southwest point of the island of Trinidad, off the mainland of South America, which he had seen that day for the first time. "Being on board of his ship," says Washington Irving, in his history of the great navigator, at night, kept awake by painless illness and an anxious and watchful spirit, he heard a terrible roaring from the south, and beheld the sea heaped up, as it were, into a ridge or hill, the height of the ship, covered with foam and rolling toward him with a tremendous uproar. As this furious surge approached, rendered more terrible in appearance by the obscurity of the night, he trembled for the security of his ves-sels. His own ship was suddenly lifted up to such a height that he dreaded lest it should be overturned or east upon the rocks, while another of the ships was torn violently from her anchorage, leaving her anchor behind her. The crews were for a time in great consternation, fearing that they should be swallowed up, but the mountainous surge passed on, and gradually subsided, after a violent contest with the counter-current of the strait. This sudden rush of water, it is uppesed, was caused by the swelling of one of the rivers which flow into Gulf of Para, and which were as yet unknown to Columbus." The anchor thus lost on the night of August 2, 1498, nearly 400 years ago, rom one of the snips of Columbus, off the southwest extremity of the island of Trinidad (Peint Arenal, as Columbus named the spot, vide Irving) has recently been recovered by Senor Argostine, the centleman who now owns the point of land in question. It has the rare merit of being the oldest relic extant of the great navigator and of the discovery of America. As would be expected from the age of this relie it is an anchor in the simplest form of expression. The shaft is round and eight feet nine inches in length. At the head of the shaft is a round ring nearly a foot in diameter to which the cable was fastened. The flukes have a spread of about five feet. The total weight is 1,100 pounds.

This anchor was dug up by Seno Argostino in his garden from a depth of six feet at the distance of 327 feet from the nearest beach of the sea. His first supposition was that he had stumbled upon a relic of the Phoenicians or of ome other of the ancient nations who have been supposed by many to have visited the coasts of America thousands of years ago. But an examination of local fact and anthorities soon 'convinced him that a portion of his garden now occupies the very post at which the ships of Columbus lay at anchor on the night of August 2, 1498. The land is constantly ising from the sea along this entire coast, as has been shown by Humboldt, Findlay and secres of others who have written upon this subject, and the rate of this rising is known to have been quite sufficient to turn in 400 years the an-chorage of the great fleet into the garden of a private citizen. There is not a particle of doubt, therefore, at the end of the rigid inquiry that has been made that the anchor recently found by Senor Argostino is really and truly the lost anchor of Columbus.

PROM VESTERDAT'S SECOND EDITION. BEFORE THE PRIMROSE LEAGUE, Lord Salisbury Gives Utterance to Some of

His Peculiar Ideas. LONDON, May 6 .- Presiding today at a meeting of the Grand Habitation of the Primrose league in Covent Garden theater, Lord Salisbury said: "Home rule would place a bestile island on our flauk and subject to infinite damage and to disgraceful abandonment those in Ireland who have ever fought for our cause. In America and other ountries an organic change must receive the auction of the people, but here electors vote distinguishing their vertict on home rule." He claimed that his promises of six years ago that Ireland would be pacified if given generous consideration in regard to her material wants and a firm, impartial and contin nous administration of the law, had been fulfilled. "The spirit of disorde ," he said, "had gradually cowed before the spirit of the law."

Mr. Parneil, on whom, now gone, I do not wish to pass any criticism, was undoubtedly a much more formidable opponent than any man he has left behind. [Cueers.] He had the power of bringing the American element into the agitation, with all its wealth and individual energy and financial assistance. Now he is removed, the agitation seems to have fallen back into the old groove and resembles very much the conflicts between a portion of the people of Ireland and the people of England which have happily existed for many generations. On the other hand, we are of the opinion that the localists of Ireland are unchanged. The conviction of its dangers has increased every year. I do not know of any symptom more menacing than the recent declarations of Ulster leaders that they dread being put under the feet of their irreconcilable enemy.

Lord Salisbury utterly refused to recognize the inhabitants of the southeast portion of Ireland as typical of the Catholic church He was the more justified in saying so be-cause he knew that the pope, though, of course, observing in a strictly political man ner the utmost partiality, strongly con-demned the agencies with which the agents in Ireland had striven to succeed. Though he had not condemn the Cathelic church, he had condemned and would always condemn those who, holding high spiritual authority and heading a great spiritual organization, use those weapons for purely securar objects wherein no spiritual concern exists. would condemn, whether Catholic or Cal-vinist, men who thus inflicted a deep wound on civil society and fastened profound stain upon the weapons they used. Cheers.] Ulster, he said, had been taunted on rhe passive attitude. "I am a tory," continued the speaker, "but I do not believe in this unqualified doctrine of passive endurance. I believe that the title of both kings and parliaments to obedience from their subjects depends upon those kings and parlinments observing the fundamental laws and understandings whereby they rule. Parliament has the right to govern the people with laws, but not the right to sell them into slavery. [Enthusiastic cheers and cries of "Bravo."] I do not believe in the inlimited and unrestricted power of parliaments any more than in such power of kings Pa maments, like kings, may take a course which, while technically within the legal limits of their attribution, is yet entirely at variance with the understanding of the con-stitution whereby they rule."

Detalcation of an Ex-Bank President Dis Covered by Accident, New YORK, May 6.—Charles H. Pinkham, ir., former president of the Bank of Harlem, was arrested this afternoon on an indictment charging him with misappropriating $70,000 of the funds of that bank. The discovery of President Pinkham's alleged defalcation was made at a plan of consolidation of the Harlem with the Hamilton bank, which was put into execution. Charles B. Fordick, of the Hide and Leather bank and W. P. St. John of the Mercantile National bank were appointed a committee to look into the affairs of the bank at Harlem and they discovered a shortage. Superintendent Prestou appeared before the grand jury and the indictment followed David F. Preston, successor to Pinkham as president of the Bank of Harlem, said this afternoon: "Mr. Pinkham was one of the organizers of the Bank of Harlem in 1888, He has a wife and five or six children. He lived in modest style. He borrowed of the bank for bimself on securities which we have found to be worthless. So far as we know he was noted gambier nor a fast man. The condition of the Bank of Harlem, after all the losses have been allowed for, and some of them will undoubtedly be recovered, the committee asserts, shows unusual strength. There is $470,000 en hand, as against total deposits of $429,000. Furthermore the Hamilton bank is already the protector of the situation.

The charge ngainst Pinkham grows out of a transaction in 1889, and came to the surface in the recent work of consolidating the Hariem bank with the Hamilton bank. Pinkham, in his canacity as president of the bank, gave two promissory notes to A. H. Wood, a theatrical mannow in prison for swindling in connection with the crection of a Hariem theater. These notes were for the payment of money made by Wood and bore the face value of $7,000 and $7,500 respectively. He also gave his check on the Harlem bank for $14,500 to Wood for the notes according to the complaint, and accommodated others in same way, the whole amount being stated at
