WEATHER AND A CANAL.

Important Topics Tackfed by the Omaha discussion. It came about by John Evans, to whom had been referred a report of the meteorology committee regarding the subject of increasing the telegraphic service of the weather bureau, stating that the community should be better posted on what the weather would do tomorrow. He reported that the local signal officer had frequently requested from the agricultural centers telegraphic reports of the weather forecasts for proper signals in order that farmers and cattlemen would be benefitted. Mr. Evans then introduced a resolution to the effect that agriculturists and stocktien would be greatly benefitted by knowing the future of the weather by having the telegraphic forecasts. His resolution also requested that Nebraska's sonators and congressmen be asked to favor an appropriation gressmen be asked to favor an appropriation sufficient to defray the expense of the increased weather service. The additional appropriation needed is $75,000 for this year. Colonel Champion Chase seriously objected to the resolution. He fancied that the matter had been referred to himself for the investigation of the weather. He had diligently observed the prognostications of the local weather clerk for four consecutive days. While the weather was disagreeable, cloudy, wet and rainy, the predictions in some instances had been "fair and warmer wenther."

Notwithstanding his objection the resolution was adopted.

A communication from the California State

Nicaragua canal convention was read. It requested the board to send delegates to attend the intional Nicaragua canal conven-tion, which is to be held at St. Louis June 2.

The convention will be held for the purpose of advising and considering the immediate construction of the canal under the direction of the government by the concessions granted by the republic of Nicaragua.

There was some opposition to the request, but Colonel Chase stated that it would be an important convention and delegates should be appointed to attend it. He said the canal would save long distances of navigation and the perils of voyages around Cape Horn. The president was nutborized to appoint three telegates. They will be selected later. On recommendation of the board of direc-

Washington's Press Dissat'sfied with the National Encampment Appropriation.

PECULIAR FEATURES OF THE PROBLEM

Regarded as an Unbusinesslike Proposition Which the Legislators Cannot Afford to Entertain-In Support of Cincoln's Emphatic Objection.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 1513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.

This evening's Star has a lengthy editorial on the subject of Nebraska's protest against an appropriation from the public treasury to defray expenses of visiting veterans to the Grand Army of the Republic encampment here this fall, in which it declares that since Commander-in-Chief Paimer has explained that the appropriation is to be made on the same basis as all appropriations for the government of the national capital, one-half from the federal and half from the District of Columbia treasury, there ceases to be any protest even from Nebraska. Continuing the Star has this to say: "Some of our legislators have suggested that an exception be made in the case of the expenditure; that the law which makes the government a local taxpaver, be suspended in respect to it, and that individual taxes be exclusively levied upon for the purpose. Every dollar of the local residents' tax money paid into the treasury is under the law good for $2 when expended on municipal cojects. The proposition is to spend $100,000. A portion of this tax fund spent other municipal object would mean 7. The district would surrender $300,000 from the improvement of its streets, support of its schools, increase of its police, etc., in order to spend only

This course would be unbusinesslike and would involve an extravagance which our economical legislature, if it be true to its principles, is not at all likely to force upon us. It would also involve the bad and dangerous precedent of tampering with the and the capital."

Interested in the Result.

The work of the Methodist conference at Omana is of great interest in Washington. This evening's Star says: "The Omaha general conference seems disposed to do everything possible to promote the great American university proposed by the Methodists and which is now apparently on the road to success. The proposition that has passed the conference requesting the house of bishops to set apart October 16 as a university day meets with great favor and, it would seem, ought to be adopted unless another time is better suited for the purpose. Washington, the seat of the proposed justitution, is watching with deep interest all that concerns its foundation."

Secretary Blaine at the Circus. Secretary Blaine took in the circus this afternoon. Just before the grand parade Mr. Blaine, accompanied by Mr. Emmons Blaine, Mrs. Blaine, Mrs. Hitt and Miss Leiter, the Chicage beauty, walked around the sawdust track and were shown to a row of seats just in front of where Baby McKee sat with Mrs. Dimmics and Lieutenant Parker. Mr. Blaine looked well and seemed as pleased as any one at the show. He ate peanuts and heartily applauded the funny acts of the clowns and the donkeys. There was no applause when he came in, for the circus was the greater show to the Washington audience. The sight of a secretary of state was evidently a movelty to the attaches of the circus. The jockies, male and female, the tumblers, the acrobats and all of them kept their eyes glued on Mr. Blaine during their their eyes glued on Mr. Blaine during their acts, and in the magnificent production of "Christopher Columbus," in which Mr. Blaine took an especial interest, it was at times difficult to distinguish on whom Queen Isabella cast the longer glances, Columbus or the magnetic man from Maine. District Court Opens for May with Plenty of Work in Sight.

The May term of the district court opened this morning with 2,325 cases on the general docket, or 165 less than were docketed at the beginning of the February term. All seven of the judges sat upon the beuch in the large court room and listened to Clerk Moores, as he called the names of ninety jurors, who were cited to ap-pear and serve their country during the next three weeks at $2 per day each. Of these ninety men, good and true, only fifty-five responded. Then a warrant was placed in the hands of the sheriff, commanding him to bring thirty-five citizens into court Wednesday and explain why they should not be fined for contempt. So much being disposed of, the following attorneys were appointed a bar committee for the term: A. S. Churchill, George W. Shields, Will A. Corson, C. J. Smythe and W. W. Sinbaugh.

The bailiffs who held down their jobs during the February term were continued and they will serve so long as their behavior is satisfactory to the respective judges. Judge Keysor devoted the afternoon hours to hearing ex parte matters and Judge Doane called the cases that will go on trial. The jurors who were in attendance were excused until this morning at 9:30 o'ctock.

Judge Davis took up the criminal docket and listened to the pleas of the prisoners who had been sent up from the lower courts. All of these parties maintained that they were nnocent and their cases were continued.

Nels said that he wanted to prosecute and Lona was asked to give bonds in the sum of $800 that she would be on hand. The charge against Harry Hamilton, a man fifty years of age, was that he wrote another man's name to a check on February 16. He signed Mooseback & Co. to a $520 check drawn on the Colombia National bank and then found some man who was fool enough to advance the cash.

Mr. Johnson has been slightly insane for the past six months and his physician had warned the family, who live over the store, that he was liable to attempt suicide. He arose about 5 c'clock vesterday morning and said he was going out after coal to a fire. When he did not return Johnson became alarmed and called the boys to search for him. THE FEDERAL COURT.

Judge Dundy Decides to Protect Widows and Orphans and Rush Business, Judge Dundy began the May term of the United States circuit and district court this morning with a large number of attorneys from the state present. His honor intimated that the petit jury would not be held very long for the trial of causes, unless the cases were ready, for Uncle Sam had not been particularly liberal with his appropriation for federal juries, and there was a threatening deficit to be carefully looked after.
After hearing motions for new pleadings the announcement of the settlement of a number of cases, and after granting leave to attorneys to file cross bills. Judge Dundy called the docket and ordered that the case of Deere, Wells & Co. against Millard be taken up tomorrow afternoon, to the consternation of Mr. Hail, the only attorney present n the case, United States Assistant District Attorney Baldridge stated to the court that he would not be ready to try criminal cases before the last of the week as he depended upon the grand jury to give him necessary leave by returning indictments against those persons who have been arrested for misdemaanors. In the case of Austin against Riley and others a motion was made for a guardian ad litem and A. A. McLennan was suggested by the attorney for the place. Judge Dundy immediately stated that the court usually ap-pointed guardians and he didn't propose to allow his right to be taken from him.

Woolsey put in a lot of new machinery and began the manufacture of whisky and highwines, and the trust immediately started suits, alleging a violation of the terms of sale.

The defense set up the pica that the terms of the lease intended to perpetuate a monor-oly and were therefore contrary to public policy. In all five suits were maintained, and the trust was defeated in each case. Judgment was entered against the trust and the cases dismissed.

Barton's Awful Thirst. One of the familiar faces in the prisoner's seat at the police station is that of Barton Hiles. It is an intelligent looking face backed up by a well shaped head and should belong to a respectable personality. But Barton is not respectable by a good deal and no one is more painfully aware of this fact than Barton himself. He is a hopeless drunkard, and though he seems to feel the disgrace of an arrest he has laid himself liable to one every week and almost every day for years.

The other day he applied to Banker Me-Cague for work or assistance of some sort. Mr. McCague said he would pry for a course of treatment for him at an institute for the
