STRENGTHENING THE TEAM

President Stout Bent on Patching Up Some of Omaha's Weak Spots.

FITZGERALD WALKS THE PLANK FIRST

Joe Visner, an Old Omaha Pavorite, to Play Center and Gilks Goes to Second-Yesterday's Ball Games and Horse Races.

President Stout is determined to strengthen up the Omanas ere their return home, and yesterday handed Fitzgorald his release and signed Joe Visner. Gilks will be prought in to guard second, that and short being his regular position, while Visner goes to center. Three years ago there was not a more promising shortstop in the country than Bob Gilks and as second is a similar position Manager Rowe thinks he will do equally well there. Visner joins the team this morning at Milwaukee and will play in this after-

Joe Visner played in Omaha with the Union Pacifics in 1884 and has many friends here. He has gept up his good record since leaving here. Last year he played twentyone games with Washington and had a batting average of .244 and a fielding average of .820. Later he played forty-nine games with Rochester and had a batting average of .339 and a fielding average of .917.

SPARKS OF SPORT.

Didn't Whip Him.

New York, May 13.-Bill Slavin, brother of Frank Slavin, undertook to whip a colored pug last night and gid not do it. On the contrary his opponent administered a sound thrashing to the Australian. It happened at the Academy of Music, where the Muldoon Athletic combination is showing. Bill, seconded by Jack Sheehan, went up against the "Cyclone." Slavin is ready with an affidavit that the name is not a misnomer. The"Cyclone" whanged him all over the stage in the first round and toward the end of it caught him a swinging blow in the stomach, Slavin doubled up like a jack knife and hugged the injured spot. He turned around to Referee Muidoon as if to quit and the 'Cyclone'' gave him a rouser on the jaw. Strange as it may seem this blow actually brought Slavin back from Queer street and he fought back surprisingly well until the second round, when the "Cyclone" pursued his rushing tactics and cut Siavin so severely above the eye that he was fairly bathed in gore. Slavin kept pegging away at the negro and did it so well that the gentleman lost some of his impetuosity. This round was about even. The "Cyclone" had a little the best of the last round, although Slavin, en-couraged by the spectators, forces the fighting. The negro was fairly entitled to the bout, but Muldoon's decision was: "I don't want to rob any man of his reputation, there-

WATER CONVENTION

Ensiness Transacted at Its Last Day's Session at Memphis.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE MISSISSIPPI

Important Action Taken by the Convention-Plans Adopted to Secure Congressional Aid-Committees Appointed and Resolutions Adopted.

Mempurs, Tenn., May 13 -A new era in he improvement of the Mississippi has come n the birth of the Mississippi River association, an organization which is composed of the most prominent citizens and capitalists of the Mississippi valley, and whose object is to co-operate with the national Mississippi River commission and urge upon congress the necessity of carrying out promptly the recommendations of that scientific body. onger is the improvement and perpetuation of this great American waterway to be left to the work of local agitation or to the irresponsibility of sectional demands.

It Will Proceed with Method. A great organization, designed to include n its membership every civil engineer and rominent capitalist of the hundreds of river towns in the mighty Mississippi valley, is to proceed with method in the great task ahead, and no improvement will be pressed before congress until it has run the gauntlet of scientific examination and approval by this organization. Where once all was incongruity and confusion, there will be naught but method. The greed of sectionalism, the struggle for local aggrandizement will be a thing of the past, and only those appropriations will be recommended which are de signed for the commonwealth improvement of the Mississippi river and its tributaries as one great majestic whole. State lines are wiped out; St. Louis is to be no bigger than Vicksburg, New Orieans no migntier than Davenport in the new order of things, but all contemplated improvements are to be considered in the light of their benefit to the permanent nav-igable water way which has so long been the dream of civil engineers from the Delta to St. Paul, from Cairo to Pittsburg and from St. Louis to Bismarck.

Congressman John Tarsney presided at this meeting of amalgamated interests and the triumph of today is perhaps a fitting culmination to the three days' celebration of that other triumph of engineering skill which links in sisterly bonds the great states of the southern Mississippi valley and abandons the ferry boat as a commercial necessity to the railroads of Tennessee and

It was 11 o'clock when Chairman Tarsney called the deep water convention to order his morning. Immediately thereafter Hon this morning. Immediately thereafter Hon. W. P. Halliday of Cairo, chairman of the mmittee on resolutions, presented the fol-

Resolutions Adopted.

Whereas, The Mississippi river and its navigable tributaries constitute the most valuable natural hizhway for the commerce of the country to the sea and reaches the trade of every state and territory of the Misof the country to the sea and reaches the trade of every state and territory of the Mississippi vailey.

Whereas. The permanent improvement of the Mississippi river and its navigable tributaries will insure stable and regular rates throughout the year by competing with the trunk lines to the seabord; therefore be it.

Resolved, That it is the duty of the United States government to provide adequate and continuous appropriations for the improvement of the Mississippi river and its principal tributaries so as to secure safe and free navigation of these rivers; and be it.

Resolved, That it affords great gratification to the people of the Mississippi vailey to see the growing disposition throughout the union to recognize the simple justice of aid being rendered by the government in the construction and maintenance of levees, thus protecting and relieving the people of the lower vailey from disarstous overflow. In this connection and maintenance of levees, thus protection we refer with pleasure to the work of the government officers in charge of river improvements: to the Missouri river commission and the Mississippi river commission, whose works have doubled the low water depth of those portions of the river where the commission and the officers have done their work, and the meritorious work will not be neglected by congress, but pressed to a successful completion; be it Resolved. That we applaud the act of both Resolved. That we applaud the act of both houses of congress in encouraring the system of continuous appropriations for the improvement of the Mississippi river and hope it will be extended to the tributaries. And be it Resolved, That we express the hope that Fresident Harrison, who, having been a member of the Mississippi river commission, knows the wants of the people and the demands of commerce for the improvement of the river, will allix his signature to the most liberal bill presented to him for his approval.

The report bore the signatures of Chairman

The report bore the signatures of Chairman Halliday, John Seaton, H. U. Pharr and Frank Galent, but was not signed by Robert Gates of Memphis. Mr. Gates' Idea.

"I non-concur in that report," said Mr. Gates, "mainly because the resolutions de not cover the vital idea, and I offer the foling amendment:

Resolved, Further, that the Mississippi river should more and more be considered by and provided for in the congress of the United States as the republic's chief water highway, and its only inland sea to the end of navigation by ocean vessels as high up the river as possible. Finally Judge T. J. Latham submitted another in lieu of that offered by Colonel Gates, ns tollows: as ionows:

Resolved, That we petition the United States government to provide adequate and continuous appropriations for the improvement of the Mississippi river and its principal tributaries so as to secure safe and free navigation of these rivers, and deep water navigation in the Mississippi river to the most efficient extent practicable.

This was accepted by both sides of the controversy, and unanimously adopted.

The committee on permanent organization of a deep water association for the Missis sippl valley was not ready to report and it was suggested by Colonel Robert Gates that it be recommitted to complete its work. Colonel W. H. Miller moved that the com mittee be discharged and instead a commit tee of seven, all of Memphis, be appointed to formulate plans and bring the association into existence. When this was done, he said, it could of course take in members from anywhere in the Mississippi valley. Colonel Gates moved, in lieu of other motions, that the project of a deep water association be referred back to the business bodies of Memphis.

Air. D. E. Mevers of Memphis moved, as a substitute for the other motions and amend nents, that the committee be composed of four from each state. Met with General Approval.

Further amendments were proposed, one came from Major L. P. Cooper of Mem-phis, which met with general approval and it was adopted. It was to the effect that the proposed committee be composed of nine members, five of which should be from Memphis, the remainder to come from other states. It was also adopted, and a further motion prevailed that when it is organized it be of a co-operative character. A vote of thanks was then adopted express-ing gratification at and tendering thanks for the hospitality accorded delegates by the cit izens of Memphis, also thanking the chair man and officers of the convention. On motion of Captain Halliday Hon. W. H. Miller was invited to address the convention, which he did in an able and instructive man-

nor, the foundation of his remarks being th

necessity for river improvement as an aid to At its conclusion the chair announced the following executive committee to organize a permanent Mississippi River Improvement association, as provided in the motion of Colonel Cooper: Judge T. J. Latham, chair-man; W. P. Halliday, Illinois; John T. Horner, Arkansas; G. A. Scott, Mississippi; Zach Taylor, W. J. Crawford, Colonel Robert Gates, Hon. A. D. Gwynne of Tennessee.

The convention then adjourned sine die. Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for tonsiletis. For sale by all druggists. 50 cents.

PAYING THE PENALTY.

Judge Dundy Passes Sentence Upor Violators of the Federal Law. The law is mexorable-at times. But yesterday morning it was inexorable without the qualifying phrase.

Judge Dundy wore a contented expression sa be ascended the bench of the United State district court. The lines of care which are usually seen upon the brow of the judge were gone and a mild, kindly light shows from his eyes. Judge Dundy's breakfast had agreed with him, and it argued well for the prisoners who were to appear before him for sentence.

When S. E. Kannedy was called, a gentlemanly appearing young man, dressed heatly and having a most dejected air stepped to the bar. An agreement had been made between the prisoner and the representatives of the government whereby he should plead guilty as to the first count of the indictment and morganity as to the second, third and fourth, and apon the first count, that of taking thoney fraudulently, the jury returned a vertice.

As Kennedy stood before the judges, big tears rolled down the cheeks of the prisoner, and in his honor's voice there were traces of emotion that he could not conceal.

"I regret to have to pass sentence upon you." said Judge Dundy, "but my duty is clear. At best the lowest sentence I can give you is terrible, but you have pleaded guilty and that leaves me no other alternative than to follow the statutes. You can materially alter this sentence by leading an exemplary life while in confidencent. And when a reasonable time elapses, if I am alive and hold the position I now do, I shall join with others in a petition to the president of the United States for executive elemency. The prison to which I must send you is nicely conducted, but is, I regret to say, not provided with means for employment. AMUSEMENTS.

The song recital given by Mrs. Corinna Moore-Lawson last evening under the auspieces of the Ladies Musical society at the Lininger gallery was absolutely flawless. Mrs. Lawson came totally unknown to a very large majority of the large audience present and left the intime of every person who heard her in a program which was delightfully classical and finely arranged. It would be hard to say whether the audience listened more with their eyes than with their ears, for the singer has such lovely features, a true southern type of beauty, that one forgot the singer and the song and felt to admiring the open, frank, rare face of the But the singer is musical to the tips of her tapering fingers and she sings with marvelous smoothness, displaying a with marvelous smoothness, displaying a rich soprano voice particularly sulfable to colorature work. Among the gems of a scholarly program were the Canzonetta by Meyer-Heimund, the Summer Song by Chaminade, "Twas April" by Nevin, one of the masters of song writing, and "Trennung" (Lass mich in den dun keln grund) by Frank Ries. Throughout her thirteen numbers, the first and last suites accompanying herself, and the middle suites being necompanied finely by Mr. Martin Cahn, Mrs. Lawson showed that she was a singer who Lawson showed that she was a singer who bad studied with fine appreciation, and the Ladies Musical society is to be congratulated for bringing to Omaha so thoroughly

HOOD'S

Sarsaparilla

Mr. Edward Hilbert, of 183 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass., sends us the following: "Ten years ago our child was born. Having lost six children we were naturally anxious as to the health of this one. What was our dismay and sorrow to find that she was apparently doomed to the same fate as the others. She had little strength as a baby, and did not improve as she grew older. When about 2 1-2 years old she began to have Fainting Spells, dropping wherever she happened to be. At these times she would turn black and ap-peared at the point of death. Doctors told us she was in a very bad way from Heart Trouble

Nothing that we gave her did any go-d until, in utter desperation, we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She gradually began to improve, the fainting fits became less and less frequent and finally ceased entirely. Her general health improved until at the end of a year, having taken seven bottles, we stopped giving it to her. At this time she was 4 years old, and, although anxious lest the troubles might return, we ceased to worry, she seemed so well. She is now 10 years old and is as Healthy and Rugged a child as you will find anywhere and has never shown any indication of a return of the heart difficulty. During the past 6 years perhaps she has taken 3 bottles in all, we only giving it to her irregularly at times when she has complained of feeling tired in the spring and early summer. We feel that we owe a great deal to Hood's Sarsaparilla and cannot say too much in favor of it." Ep-
