day and the children got to school with dry feet, and no relief committee was formed, for no one needed relief, and not $5 damages were done in the whole town. The water in town was all surface water and it was not more than natural that after such a very hard rain there should be more or less water on the ground. The fact is that Cozad can stand as much or perhaps, more rain than any town on the line of the Usion Pasific railroad, for it has no deep draws running close to it nor through it, and we would ad-vise parties in search of a place where there is no danger of inundation to come to Cozad. The writer of this knows whereof he speaks, for he was all over the town on the day mentioned by the Herald reporter, and he stood in front of the school house and watched a number of the schoolars go to the school and not one got their feet wet. TRUTH.

ful day for outdoor sport and a magnifi cent crowd was present to witness great national game is not played. The sky was robed with great floating masses of pearl, through which the long-shrouded sun intermittently poured his warm and golden lustre. It was the first perfect day after a long and vexatious stage with clouds and gloom and rain and cold. As if in honor of this welcome change, nature stilled her throbbing pulses, the noighboring maples waved with more tranquil grace, the birds sang with softer tone and the Omahas played rottener ball than ever before. Poets whose hearts are filled with love of nature delight to depict such days. It fills them with serene joys of thought, with pure, sweet, lofty sentiments, and their eyes are blinded with the grandeur of all their surroundings. But if there were any poet in the stands yesterday it wasn't nature' budding beauties that made them near sighted, but the very topaz work of the Rowe family, and instead of boing filled with the scul-stirring emotions above mentioned they were stuffed with disgust and prunes. One of the Automatic Sort.

One Corcoran, the largest and most robust rosatte in all Jimmy Williams' bright bouquet, umpired the game, and the resplendent May day was full of vicksitudes for him. There were scores and scores of men there, great big brawny, hearty, honest fellows, who longed to get a kick at bim, and had it been an ugly day, with lowering weather, Mr. Corcoran would have had a livelier time

He is the only automatic umpire now doing business in the United States and the late lamented Blogg was a gem of purest ray in comparison. However, it was not Colonel Corcoran's masquerading under a mask that beat the Omahas—it was the St. Pauls, under the able generalship of Captain Billy Alvord, that did that part of the business, and oh, mamma, how artistic they were. The Rustlers were so many Liliputians in the hands of rine gigantic genil.

Corcoran's umpiring on a whole was no worse than has been seen dozens and scores of times, but this was accidental, for all his of times, but this was accidental, for all his decisions were no more than guess-work, and a good many of them were correct.

What called the vengeance of the crowd down on him was his idiotic delaying of the game at its very termination. There were two men out, and, as is always the case at the close of a battle on the ball field. Young America vacated grand stand and bisacher and invaded the field to be right in at the death They did not, however, crowd anybedy, nor go forth with evil design on the putative umpire. But he thought differently and called the game and began "shoving" the boys back towards the enclos-

"shoving" the boys back towards the enclosing feace. Finally he got them all lined up nicely with their backs against the boards, clear out of harm's way, but this did not satisfy his autocratic mind. They must get out of the lot or back into their seats. The impation jeers of the crowd finally, however, reached his imponderable brain, and he reluctantly, after a twenty minutes delay, ordered the game resumed. ordered the game resumed.

In the second Alvord reached first on Sheiteek's error, took second on a sacrifice and scored when Darby threw Dugdale's grounder over the fence. After two hands were out in the third Sutchiffe hit the ball over the right field fence for a homer. In the fourth Holland's single was followed by another over the fence, Dugdale doing the trick. Players Arrested.

Tolebo, O., May 22.—The game this after-noon between Columbus and Toledo came to a sensational enging in the first half of the minth linning by the arrest of both clubs for violation of the Sunday law. There has been much agitation over this matter since the season opened. Many of the ministers of the city have preached sermons against Sabbath description and last Wednesday night a delegation of minis-ters attended the meeting of the police board to urga that body to stop Sunday games. The arrest today was the result. A detail of fifteen patrolmen, under command of the chief of police, entered the grounds at the sixth inning. The men distributed themselves about the field, but no move was made until the ninth inning had begun. Nicholson of the Toledov was at the bat and one man on base when the chief gave the one man on base when the chief gave the signal and the blue coated representatives of the law closed in upon the players and stopped the game. There were 3.500 spectators on the grounds and as soon as they occame cognizant of what was passing a wild rush was made by several hundred excited men to everpower the police. Presisont Gunnells of the Tolede club made a speech from the front of the grand stand, requesting that there should be no resistance and after a very exciting access all the players of both clubs were taken to the police station. They were held in $15 bail for each player and $50 for each manager—$600 in all. Mr. Gunnells promptly gave bail for the whole party and they were released. The trial will take place tomorrow morning. Today's game will be played off tomorrow aftergood and After retiring the first two men up in the first inning be was hit for a single, a double and two triples, which gave the Models from across the river four earned runs. He retired in the third in favor of Dolan, but the lead was too great to overcome and the doughty South End champions were doomed doughty South End champions were doomed to defeat. The game was a very rocky one, as the error columns on both sides show. The Nonparoils were visibly weakened on account of having to play their men in unaccustomed places, due to an injury received by Bradford in last Sunday's game. They couldn't hit, and worse they couldn't field. The noisy ceaching of a pair of mute players rattled them. Next Sunday they will go sgainst the Beatrice State league team, maybe. MUNCIE, Ind., May 23 .- The fight between lack Riffle of Dayton and Jack Conley of Indianapolis for the middleweight championship of Indiana occurred at daylight this morning in the woods thirty miles south of here in Henry county. About 500 persons were in attendance. The fight was for $200 a side and gate receipts. Riffle's friends were dissatisfied with a decision of the referee in the eighth and will post money for another battle between the two men to take place July 4.

The light was both brutal and bloody, both men fighting viciously throughout. The eighth opened with both tired, but Riffle forced the fighting. A clanch followed and as they separated Conley struck Riffle a heavy blow in the neck. When time was called for the next round Riffle was mable o respond and the fight was given to Conley.

Stopped by the Priest. WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 22 .- "Pat" Burk and P. Parks, two lightweight pugilists, appeared in a ring at Plains, six miles from here, this morning, to fight to a finish. Four bloody rounds were fought and both men wore horribly panished. During the last round, Rev. Father Phillips, who heard of the mill, appeared on the scene and stopped all proceedings. The fight was declared a draw. Warrants have been issued for the very interesting events. There is much speculation as to the outcome. The tur of war for club night will be between the Bonemians and club team, who have won so There is much anxiety as to the result of the directors' move towards enlarging the clubhouse. It is conceded on all sides that the step would be a wise one, and greatly increase the membership because of the many new and useful features to be added by the contemplated change.

Cozan, Neb. May 21 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: In the World-Herald's report of high water in its evening edition of the 20th mst., Cozad is reported to be inundated, or the greater portion of it, and that "nii the mills and elevators were surrounded by water and the ewners are unable to do business, and that small rivers flow down the business streets and ever sidewalks;" and that the schoolhouse was surrounded by water several inches deep (in the morning edition it says five feet), and that the children had to wade through it to got into the building, and further that business was at a standstill, and the majority of the citizens had resolved "themselves into relief parties and were helping to save property, and that the damage cannot be estimated."

The whole report is faise in every particular, except that it relined and that very hard, but that the town was was wast would be called inundated is not a fact. It is true water ran down the streets but it was in the waterways or drains and not in the streets proper. That the business of the place was at a standstill is notoriously faise, for not a business house in town was closed, and people came to town and transacted business all day and the children got to school with dry

PERMANENT SIDEWALK RESO-LUTION.

Twelve members of the Omaha turnverein went to Plattsmouth yesterday morning to participate in thalturner's exercises, which were a sort of rehearsal for the turnfest to be given July Pat Sloux City.

The Massachusetts Mutual, published in Boston, devotes a page of a recent issue to an article descriptive of The Bee and The Bee building, illustrated with a handsome cut of the building. Both the paper and the building are spoken of as striking features of the world's journalistic enterprise and growth. The article briefly but clearly brings out the many architectural beauties and convertences of what it calls one of the finest newspaper buildings in the world and is in every way a graceful compliment to its founder and owner.
