KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 25 .- Very full reports to the Star from the great grain growing areas of Kansas show that the continued rains have not done great damage to the crops. The western half of Kansas, indeed, has not received excessive rains, nor has the temperature in that part of the state been as deficient as in other parts of the country. From Hutchinson westward the people are positively enthusiastic over the prospects for wheat, and from Hutchinson south there is hardly a complaint regarding the corn crop. Generally speaking, the wheat prospects Generally speaking, the wheat prospects have not been materially impaired in the great central region where wheat is the most important crop. In the north and east parts of the state there is some complaint of thin and sickly plants. The great majority of opinion among those most competent to judge-is that there is a very good chance for Kan-sas to raise more tran 50,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, and no likelihood at all that the crop will fall be by 40,000,000.
