PONCA'S MIDSUMMER MEETING

Eleven Thousand Seven Hundred Dollars in Purses Hung Up.

TROTTING, PACING, OPEN TO THE WORLD

A Big List of Entries—Splendid Mile Track—Competent Management and all the Auxiliaries Necessary to a First Class Session.

The Ponca Fair and Driving association will hold their midsummer meeting July 4, 5 and 6. They have one of the best regulation mile tracks in the country, and as the meeting is in the hands of thorough horsemen and competent men generally, a most successful session can be confidently counted on. The trotting and pacing is open to the world. The sporting editor of THE BEE acknowledges a most cordial invitation from Hon. F. M. Dorsey, mayor of the city and secretary of the association, and if possible will be on hand.

Following is a list of the nominations for the various classes up to date:

Whisperings of the Wheel.

Those among our cyclists who imagine our chief consul can't "hustle over the road" a little himself will no doubt be a little surprised when their eye catches this. Last Thursday evening Mr. Perrigo came in from Fort Omana mounted on a Columbia pneumatic road racer in just fifteen minutes and three seconds by a reliable watch. Pretty good time, eh!

There is considerable talk among the local wheelmen of forming an outing party, to take in some good fishing and boating resort within a radius of 200 miles at some future date; several days to be spent by the party in campand the balance of the time to be spent awheel. The scheme has not matured sufficiently to gather any further pointers from. The tourist wheelmen will very likely make their annual tour to the Chautauqua at Crete or to Spirit Lake. Some are in favor of a five day's tour to the former popular resort where bathing and fishing can be had galore.

Bunches of gaudy ribbons tied to the handle bars, loud blazers and giddy appearing caps should be avoided by cyclists, when they appear upon the streets. Nothing is more ridiculous than a wheelman or a wheelwoman skimming along with several yards of gay ribbons streaming out behind, or a real giddy blazer or cap worn where they are sure to attract the attention of spectators. Leave your bright colored blazers and caps for the tennis courts and the ribbons at home. A cyclist appears more neatly dressed as plain as possible and is sure to attract no more than the usual attention bestowed upon a wheel and its rider.

The Board of Officers of the Nebraska Division League of American Wheelmen met at A. H. Perrigo's office on the evening of May 21, it being the semi-annual meeting of the board. Members present were, Chief Consul Perrigo and Representatives Scanell and H. K. Smith of Omaha and Clark of Sutton. Vice Consul Van Horn of Lincoln and Secretary and Treasurer Nicodemus of Fremont were unable to attend. The session was a lively one, every member having something to suggest for the wellfare of the division. An effort will be made to canvass the state for new league members and it is very likely that the division will edit and publish a four-page weekly journal, should reasonable terms be made with the printers. The object of the paper will be the advancement of the league's interests in the state and the promotion and fostering of cycling. Chief Consul Perrigo expressed himself as confident that there would be a marked increase in the membership of the division. Mr. Clark announced that the Hastings meet would be a success if he had to make it so himself. Mr. Perrigo moved that two committees be added to the regular list of committees, these committees to be known as No. 5 or road improvement committee and No. 6 or recruiting committee. Mr. Scannell moved that the chief consul have power to appoint members of the division to act on these committees; motions were carried. After a lengthy discussion concerning the duties and manner of proceeding to obtain object. Mr. Scannell moved that "the recruiting committee be authorized and instructed to take whatever means may be necessary to secure additional members, and to aid them in this purpose, there shall be applied a sum out of the funds of the Nebraska division, not to exceed 50 per cent of the amount on hand at any time." This motion was carried. A motion "to elect the chief consul as chairman of the recruiting committee, with power to appoint as many associates as he may deem necessary," was also carried. Mr. Clark announced that one or more championship races would be run at the Hastings meet, provided permission could be obtained from the league headquarters. He also read a synopsis of the two days' program, Sunday July 4. Reception of visitors by Hastings Wheel club Sunday afternoon. Short run to an adjacent town, supper, and return by moonlight. Monday morning, July 4, 10 o'clock grand parade of wheelmen. Afternoon, 1:30 to 3:30, races. Evening, smoker and reception tendered by the Hastings Wheel club. He also stated that the program was subject to some change. The meeting then adjourned until December, 1892.

Editor Halstead's Tribute to Sherman.

The reply of Murat Halstead to the recent attacks made upon him by George C. Gorham, formely private secretary of Stanton, is characterized by Mr. Halstead's force as a writer and dignity as a man. Mr. Gorham quoted against the Halstead of today some of the editorials on the war written by Halstead twenty-seven years ago. Mr. Halstead replies in the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette: "I would be glad if always, through the long agony of the war, writing at midnight a thousand times, upon imperfect things or unhappy tidings, I had been so considerate. We, the people, have not yet exhausted information. Fortunately the story of the insanity of Sherman was a morbid fancy, and did not harm him. It was not mine. He is gone, and it is my obligation and privilege to say, whenever there is an incident that invites a friendly word for him, not that he never was in error, but that he was a high minded patriot and hero, and did nothing that could cloud his glory." The country would not hesitate long if called on to decide between Halstead and Gorham.

To Cleanse the System

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

BARBARIC ECONOMY.

Miss Kate Field's Washington caustically exposes the parsimony of the present congress in its treatment of departments closely allied with the development of the country. The vast sums saved by lopping off the West Point soap supply were swept away in the river and harbor deluge. To compensate for this breach in the national treasury, the cheese-paring policy was applied with great vigor regardless of consequences and with profound indifference to the inevitable damage. Miss Field expresses gratification that the penny wise policy did not entirly cripple the bureau of topographic surveys. "It is a significant fact," she writes, "that two of the most relentless opponents of this appropriation were Mr. Boatner of Louisiana and Mr. Herbert of Alabama. Both these gentlemen represent states long since surveyed, hence the necessities of Kansas, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Oklahoma and the far west do not appeal to them with the force becoming men who should be patriots first and politicians afterwards.

"To curry favor with constituents at the expense of a distant section of our country is not the way to keep this republic together. The slur, too, put by Mr. Herbert upon that splendid scientist, Prof. Marsh, who has spent his whole life in research for the benefit of this and future ages, leaves Prof. Marsh unhurt while displaying the limited intelligence of the member from Alabama. * * *

"Think what this congress has done to the lighthouse board! It has cut down the appropriation so fatally that, as Mr. Bingham says, the commerce of our country is imperiled. Three hundred and seventeen thousand dollars were asked for indispensable lighthouses and beacons. The house allows $45,500! The coast and geodetic survey, "the right arm of our lighthouse service," is reduced $63,000.

"The estimates of the fish commission have been lessened $52,000, though, through the efforts of this beneficent bureau, the price of fish has been greatly lowered and the poor have reaped the advantage. That grand institution, the Smithsonian, has had its estimates cut down $88,000! And this sort of economy is supposed to benefit the people! Why then educate the people at all? Were there no public schools there would be less taxation. Let us go in for universal ignorance and brutality at once. Let us have no beacons, no signals, no lighthouses and no commerce. Let us have no fish commission, and let the people go without cheap and abundant fish. Let science die for lack of nourishment. Let us wipe out the geological survey; and then the United States can take its place at the tail end of nations as the least taxed and the most benighted portion of the civilized globe."

False Economy

is practiced by people who buy inferior articles of food because cheaper than standard goods. Infants are entitled to the best food obtainable. It is a fact that the Gail Borden "Eagle" Brand Condensed Milk is the best infant food. Your grocer and druggist keep it.

PHIL ARMOUR'S START.

The Foundation of His Fortune Mined in California.

A great many of our readers will be surprised, says the Folsom (Cal.) Telegraph, to learn that Phil Armour, the great stockman, was one of the first settlers of Folsom, and made the beginning of his fortune in these parts. Armour came to Folsom in early times, and of course followed mining for a living. He procured an outfit and went to the diggings, about six or seven miles from here, and at regular intervals came to town to sell his dust. In those days Armour was badly in need of money and was hard up on many occasions. Now he has all he wants and cares but little for it.

Armour had very poor luck in the beginning of his mining career, but finally he got some washings that sold for $100. This sum he carefully tied in an old cotton handkerchief for safe keeping. Then he hunted around for a place to put it. His eyes spied an old dilapidated coffee pot in the corner of the cabin he occupied with three other seekers for fortune. He put the $100 in it and placed it on a convenient shelf. Then he went out to the mine to work.

When he returned to the cabin his eye instinctively searched for the old pot, but it was gone. One of his partners had tired of work and returned home. He had nothing else to do so he went to house cleaning. The old coffee pot went with the rubbish and a fire was made of it all in a little clump of bushes near by.

Great consternation prevailed when Armour told what the pot contained. No time was lost by him in scattering the remains of the fire to secure the coffee pot. The pot was found, blackened and bent, and the money was all there. No happier man slept in the diggings that night. Thereafter he carried his money around with him in a belt.

The great millionaire has often said that of the many speculations and ventures in which he has engaged, and the large amounts involved, not one of them has given him as much uneasiness as did the first $100 which he dug from the placer mines near Folsom in early days.

CHICAGO AND THE WORLD'S FAIR.

World's Fair Souvenir, illustrated, being a complete and concise history of the principal world's fairs from the Crystal Palace, London, 1851, to the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago, 1893. With explanatory tables and maps. Published by The Anabogue Publishing company, Chicago, bound neatly in cloth.

It rarely falls to the lot of the reviewer to notice so exhaustive a work as the "World's Fair Souvenir," which has been compiled with so much care by a former resident of Omaha, John D. Jones. For purposes of reference, or comparison and for general information the work is a magnificent reflex of the push and energy of a city that is the wonder of the world.

In its compilation expense has not been thought of, and the richness of its illustrations of the World's fair buildings, cuts of the men and women who are directing to a successful issue what bids fair to be the greatest exposition of ancient or modern times, pictures of the colossal business blocks that stand as monuments to the enterprise of their owners and builders, is typical of the "Chicago gait," as the rush and bustle of the great city by the inland sea has been described.

The book has been arranged upon a most comprehensive plan, the object of the publisher being to give a complex resume of what may be seen in Chicago in 1893, and at the same time give the information in a compact form, so that the work may be a valuable adjunct to he library and reading room. Its usefulness will not end with the close of the exposition, but on the contrary will grow in value with years, for it is the most perfect compendium yet issued of an event which cannot fail to have an influence for many decades to come upon all lines of art, literature and commerce. As Mr. Jones says in the introduction to the work: "As an educator this event will leave its impress upon succeeding generations and bear fruit in all realms of human thought, ingenuity and progress."

In addition to its complete epitome of what has been done, is doing and will be done when the fair opens, it comes to the general public at a most opportune time. It brings before the American people the forces that are actively at work to make the exposition a success worthy of a nation that in a little over a century has, from nothing, builded the mightiest republic of earth. It not only gives full page art type illustrations and descriptions of the principal buildings of previous world's fairs and all the buildings of the present World's Columbian Exposition, together with portraits and biographical sketches of its officers and chiefs of departments, but it tells "How to Reach the Fair," gives descriptions of Chicago's parks and boulevards, its places of amusement, the wholesale and jobbing interests, its railroad facilities, and in general is the most complete guide book to the city that stands at the edge of Lake Michigan.

HON. WM. F. CODY.
"Buffalo Bill."

Many are familiar with the famous "Buffalo Bill's" wonderful wild west show. Prior to his venture abroad, Mr. Cody exhibited at Staten Island, in New York Harbor, where he became afflicted with Malaria. Knowing the virtues of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, Mr. Cody sent to the agents for this wonderful Indian remedy, and after using a few bottles was permanently cured.

"It is a remarkable medicine," said Mr. Cody, "and I have known of its virtues a long time. You may use my name and say that for what it claims to do it has no equal, and for malaria and chills it is far superior to quinine in many ways."

This, from the leading plainsman in American history, a man whose integrity is unquestioned, should prove beyond a shadow of doubt that Kickapoo Indian Sagwa is just what is claimed for it: an honest medicine of superior curative qualities, combining the best of the vegetable kingdom gathered from the forests and gardens of nature.

THIRTY-FIVE CENTS.

That's the price we shall make for Saturday on a hundred dozen night shirts. They're cut full--and long--and wide; have fancy trimming on the collar--and cuffs--and pockets--and down the front; have patent facings and seam stays; and are worth a dollar "cut in two."

At a Quarter

We will offer ten cases--three hundred and twenty dozen--genuine balbriggan shirts and drawers. The shirts have fancy French necks--seamless shoulders and Swiss ribbed cuffs. The drawers have five inch waistband of silesia, three-button fly and lace back. Forty cents is the proper price--Saturday's price, a quarter.

At Forty Cents

We offer without any exception the best value we've ever sold in underwear. This line consists of genuine balbriggan underwear in natural, unbleached, tan, old gold, Nile, sage green and fancy wood mixtures. The shirts have fancy French necks, silk binding, pearl buttons, and plain or black tipped cuffs. The drawers are fashion cut, have full three-button facing, lace back and braid bound fly. The ordinary price of these goods is sixty-five cents. The extraordinary price is--forty cents a garment--here, of course.

Uncle Jerry Rusk has promised to send us a carload of hot waves to be thrown in with these goods. They may not arrive in time tomorrow, but you'll get 'em when they come.

DR. C. GEE WO.

The only legally graduated Chinese physician in Nebraska. Eight years study. Ten years practical experience with all known diseases. Treats successfully all chronic cases given up by other doctors. Call and see him or write for question blank. Do not think your case hopeless because your doctor tells you so, but try the Chinese doctor with his new and wonderful remedies, and receive new benefits and a permanent cure—what other doctors cannot give. Herbs, Roots and Plants—nature's remedies—his medicines. The world his witness. One thousand testimonials in three years' practice. No injurious decoctions, no narcotics, no poison. Rational treatment and permanent cure.

Following cases successfully treated and cured, given up by other doctors:

To Whom it May Concern:

I have been a constant sufferer for many years with rheumatism and dyspepsia, and after trying all the doctors I knew of and received no help, I heard of Dr. C. Gee Wo in the papers and concluded to try his medicines, which cured me in a short time. My family were also sick, but the doctor cured them all right. I have also sent him a number of friends, whom he cured also, and of various troubles. Call on me for particulars.

THOMAS COUGHLIN,
4342 Harney Street, Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., March 30, '92.

To Whom it May Concern:

I have been a long time sufferer with stomach trouble and general debility, and could find no relief from any of the doctors I treated with. I was so badly run down that I thought it impossible to live a month. My friends had given me up to die, and I had lost all courage myself. A friend told me of Dr. C. Gee Wo, as he was cured also, and advised me to call and see him without delay, as there was no time to lose. I had tried all the doctors I could find and all the patent medicines, but without relief. I finally made up my mind to visit the Chinese doctor, and from that moment dates my recovery. I accepted his terms and placed myself under his care. I am now entirely well and owe my cure to Dr. C. Gee Wo, and take great pleasure in recommending others to him.

THOS. CULVERT.

Northwest corner Twelfth and Farnam streets, under Iron Bank, Omaha, Neb.

POCATELLO, Idaho, April 2, 1892.

To Whom it May Concern:

I have been a constant sufferer for eight years with a disordered stomach, blood poisoning and indigestion, and tried a great many doctors and remedies, but got no help. My case I considered hopeless. A friend advised me to call on Dr. C. Gee Wo, which I made no delay in doing. The doctor examined me and told me he could cure me, and I now stand completely cured, a living witness to his great skill as a healer of the sick, and am pleased to be able to recommend him to all suffering people.
