PARISIAN NOTES.

Americans at the French Capital-World's Paris, June 10. - Mr. Jabez L. M. Curry, ex-minister of the United States to Spain, has just left Paris for Constantinopla, but will be back here in August. Speaking of Spain and the World's fair, Mr. Curry said to an Associated press correspondent: "The Spantards are not a commercial people, and from what I know of them I do not think they will make any large exhibit at Chicago. Their trade with the United States was never very large and the McKinley tariff has reduced it to a minimum."

Mr. Krantz, the French commissioner general of the Chicago fair, will go to the United States in July. He speaks English quite well and is determined that France shall be well represented. He will send in a fortnight two French architects to Chicago to examine the buildings and the French section and to make a report. He has already asked for thirty instead of 10,000 meters of space, which was the amount first demanded. This is exclusive of the space to be devoted to the fine arts. The Matin is making an inquiry among manufacturers and public men concerning whether Frenchmen should participate in the Chicago exhibition or not. The inquiry, which will fill a supplement of the paper, will be ready in a few days and will, it is said, be favorable, on the whole. Monsignor Bouland is contemplating delivering lectures throughout France in favor of the World's fair.

CHICAGO AND THE WORLD'S FAIR,

World's Fair Souvenir, illustrated, being complete and concise history of the principal world's fal a from the Crystal Palace London, 1851, to the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago, 1893. With explanatory tables and maps. Published by The Ar abogue Publishing company, Chicago, bound neatly in cloth.

It arely falls to the lot of the reviewer to notice so exhaustive a work as the "World's Fair Souvenir," which has been compiled with so much care by a former resident of Omaha, John D. Jones. For purposes of reference, o comparison and for general information the work is a magnificent reflex of the push and energy of a city that is the wonder of the world.

In its compilation expense has not been thought of, and the richness of its illustrations of the World's fair buildings, cuts of the men and women who are directing to a successful issue what bids fair to be the greatest exposition of ancient or modern times, pictures of the colossal business blocks tha stand as monuments to the enterprise of heir owners and builders, is typical of he "Ch icago gait," as the rush and bustle of the great city by the inland sea has been described.

The book has been arranged upon a most comprehensive plan, the object of the publisher being to give a complex resume of what may be seen in Chicago in 1893, and at the same time give the nformation in a compact form, so that the work may be a valuable adjunct to he library and reading room. Its usefulness will not end with the close of the exposition, but on the contrary will grow in value with years, for it is the most perfect compendium yet issued o an event which cannot fail to have an influence for many decades to come upon all lines of art, literature and commerce. As Mr. Jones says in the introduction to the work: "As an educator this event will leave its impress upon succeeding generations and bear fruit in all realms of human thought, ingenuity and progress." In addition to its complete epitome of what has been done, is doing and will be done when the fair opens, it comes to the general public at a most opportune time. It brings before the American people the forces that are actively at work to make the exposition a success worthy of a nation that in a little over a century has, from nothing, builded the mightiest republic of earth. It not only gives full page art type illustrations and descriptions of the principal buildings of previous world's fairs and all the buildings of the present World's Colum bian Exposition, together with portraits and biographical sketches of its officers and chiefs of departments but it tells "How to Reach the Fair," gives descriptions of Chicago's parks and boulevards, its places of amusement, the wholesale and jobbing interests, its railroad facilities, and in general is the most complete guide book to the city that stands at the edge of Lake Michigan.

Do you want one of these books? A few minutes' work will secure one for you. Send to THE OMAHA BEE one subscriber to THE WEEKLY BEE at $1.25 and one will be sent to you by mail. The book sells for $1.00, but THE BEE has secured a large number of copies, enabling the publishers to make this liberal offer It is the best thing in this line ever offered and you are sure to be pleased. # REPEATED.

Two weeks ago today we advertised a grand special sale of men's all wool suits at five dollars a suit. We had eighteen hundred of these suits, and in the ordinary course of human events, it would have been a big thing to have sold them all out in a week. We began the sale at nine o'clock in the morning, with less than twenty people waiting. At ten we had a crowd--at noon a crush--at three a jam--and at six a mob, which increased with every moment during the evening, until we were compelled to close our doors several times, the crowds being greater than we could handle. So great a success was this sale that when we closed our store for the day, we closed it on a sale of over thirteen hundred of these wonderful suits, and the largest day's business in all departments of our house, that we've ever experienced. The following Monday and Tuesday saw the balance of these suits closed out slick and clean. Instructions were immediately telegraphed our representative in New York to buy another big lot of these won-

He has followed instructions in a refreshing manner. He has exceeded our most sanguine expectations. He has bought and shipped us nearly eighteen hundred as handsome suits of clothes as you'll find in any store in the land. The suits on sale before, are not in it. These suits are all wool every thread. There are cheviots,-homespuns,flannels. There are sacks with round corners, - square cut sacks. There are plain colors,-hair lines,-pin stripes,-pin heads,-checks,plaids, -mixtures, -pepper and salts. Nine dollars would be a low price for the poorest suit in the lot, while ten and twelve dollars would be the prices at which the majority of them would be sold at under ordinary circumstances. Today -- and until the last suit is sold, you can have your own free choice of the entire magnificent assortment for
