FIRST EXCURSION TO THE EXPOSITION

Officials and Business Men from Gage County's Capital Come to Pay Homage to Nebraska's Greatness - How

They Spent the Day.

People out through the state are taking a lively interest in the Manufacturers' exposition and several excursions to Omaha are planned for the accommodation of the hundreds who wish to visitethe finest industrial exhibit ever made in the state.

The first of these parties arrived yesterday morning from Beatrice, reaching Omaha by the B. & si. at 11:30 o'clock. There were three well filled cars, whic were decorated decorated with banners reading, "Beatrice Day at Omaha." The visitors were met at the depot by a The visitors were met at the depot by a reception committee of Omahans prominently identified with the exposition, consisting of W. A. Pare, W. R. Drummond, D. Farrell, Jr., A. J. Viering, E. Picket, Aaron Chadwick, W. A. Coleman, J. F. Murphy, A. D. Bradley, A. C. Davenport, R. F. Hodgin and H. O. Todd. Mayor, Phillips, who came up yesterday, and A. R. Dempster and Lou Wehn, who have exhibits at the Coliseum, were also on hand to introduce the visitors were also on hand to introduce the visitors to the members of the reception committee.

to the members of the recoption committee.

The excursionists were immediately escorted to a train of cable cars in waiting and whisked away toward the Collseum. Accompanying the party was the Third City band, a handsome, well trained organization, which discoursed music on the way to the exposition. The Collseum was turned over to the visitors and they were filled with wonder by the great exhibit, just as all visitors have been.

Among the Beatrice party were quite a number of officials and prominent manufacturers and merchants. The city council was represented by Mesurs. A. V. Saunders, R. J. Smith, I. N. Casper and G. L. Cole. Other city dignitaries were J. T. Phillips, clerk; J. S. Grable, treasurer; B. H. Ogden, street commissioner.

Among other prominent citizens were:
L.E. Walker, president of the Board of Trade; A. C. Jordan, editor of the Express;
Judge H. W. Parker, C. B. Dempster, W.
H. Duffett, W. N. Robbins, S. M. Hershey,
C. F. A. Bartling, E. D. Wheelock, George Sejeike and G. W. Mauer.

As excursion rates were granted on all the roads a good many visitors came in over the Union Pacific and the Rock Island on the

How They Spent the Day.

Shortly after midday the band was es-corted down town by the secretary of the association and treated to a good dinner. In the afternoon the Beatrice boys gave a street parade, playing in front of the various hotels and winning for themselves many compliments on their fine appearance and The excursionists, together with the attendance from Omaha, kept the Coliseum building comfortably well filled all the after-

Early in the evening the crowd commenced to increase rapidly and the building was soon filled to its utmost capacity. Over 4,000 people passed through the Coliscum building during the day, which was a gain of over 1,500 as compared with the previous The manufacturers, when they saw how well the people were pleased on the opening night, predicted that there would be a steady increase in the attendance as long as the exposition lasted, and their expectations are apparently being realized. A good many manufacturers were heard to comment on the interest which all the visitors took in the different exhibits. Everyone appeared to be anxious to learn all about Nebraska made goods, and their desire for information was gratified to its fullest extent.

The visitors from out of town especially were very much interested, and exclama-tions of surprise and pleasure were heard on every hand. After putting in a full da excursionists left-at 10 p. m. on a B. & M. special for home.

Exposition Notes,

The visiting soldier boys are attending the exposition in increased numbers. People never fully realized before the elegance of workmanship displayed by Nebraska made carriages.

The ladies say that the machine turning out paper boxes works so rapidly that it makes them dizzy to look at it. The champion soap wrapper of the United States, who wraps and packs 1,000 bars of soap in no hour, is constantly surrounded by an admiring crowd. "After seeing this exhibit," said a visitor, "any man who will tread Nebraska soil with any other than a Nebraska shoe ought to be ashamed of himself." Drummond deciares that the wax figure representing the prince of Wales taking a ride in his carriage was made in Nebraska, and he ought to know. The band knife in the overall factory which cuts 100 thicknesses of cloth at time is pronounced by all visitors as worth the price of admission alone.

"Omaha is treating us royally," said a Lincoln manufacturer. "She not only ex-tends a hand in welcome, but there have been in the hand a number of large orders

Among the most attentive spectators a the exposition are the Indian soldiers from the fort. They appear to never grow tired of gazing at the wonders of modern manufacturing methods.

The little Indian girl who poses as the trade mark in the bag factory is as fond of perfumery as any of her white sisters and has taken a great liking to Bryan of Lipcoln and his perfumery atomizer.

The cigar manufacturers are attracting a great deal of attention. Many old smokers never saw a cigar made until they visited the exposition. A good many large orders have been placed with the manufacturers by dealers who confessed that they never realized before that such good cigars could be made in the west. One of the manufacturers has a cigar on exhibition that is worth $150, which he made on a wager. It is needless to add that it was not all made from tobacco.

The manager of the Beatrice Canning company remarked that the exposition marked the commencement of a new era in Nobraska industrial enterprises. "We can all see now that when the cities of Nebraska pull together they can accomplish great things. The old plan of every city for itself is a thing of the past. Every one realizes that the growth of each Every one realizes that the growth of each city in the state is dependent to a very large extent upon the growth of other cities of the state. SALE ALREADY IN FULL as it is, and it's the Greatest Bankrupt Sale Omaha Has Ever Known.

People will flock in crowds And clamor for the goods, And even go hungry for bread, Saving the money to buy these bar-

Don't wait, don't delay, Stonehill don't fail every day. We've got the bargains of a lifetime. You can have them almost for the When you realize the facts:

That every dollar's worth of goods in this whole stock is being sold at a frac-tion of its value, and that thousands of people have been waiting for this chance, in fact have not bought a cent's worth anywhere, but just simply waiting for this stock to be sold. You will then see at a glance that your chance is simply as theirs, you must come quick.

If you need a dress, no matter how fine, or if it's only a calico wrapper, come now and buy it.

There is not a single thing in the whole dry goods stock that a lady cannot wear to advantage.

The jackets and wraps, capes, shawls and cloaks, are being literally forced on the market by the power of the price. Would not anyone buy a cloak worth $25.00 or $30.00 for less than a quarter of what the goods alone cost? And so on right through the whole list.

The ladies' underwear and hosiery the corsets, the laces and embroideries all go at trememdous bargains. Every pair of Stonehill's gloves and mitts, every pin and spool of thread is sold at a fraction of its value. The calicos, ginghams and muslins, the whole stock of table linen, bed spreads, sheetings, comforts, can't stand in the shelf a second; the bolts pass from hand to hand. It's a bolt one minute, a remnant the next, and then it's gone. IT USED TO BE STONEHILL'S,

Now it is simply Stonehill's old stand and everything in it belongs to THE BOSTON STORE.

Secured a Pension. There is a poor, unfortunate man at St. Joseph's hospital who was made very happy the other day by the receipt of news that he had been granted a pension of $12 per month by the United States pension bureau. His name is Jacob Wilder, and he is suffering from partial paralysis. Mr. Wilder was seen by a BEE reporter yesterday, and he scemed very much relieved by the assurance that he would hereafter draw a pension. He served in the 141st

Illinois infantry during the 100 days' service, and at the expiration of that time he re-en-tered the service and served to the close of the war in the 156th infantry. He was mustered out at Memphis in September, 1865. Since the war Mr. Wilder has been engaged in the stock shipping business. He has for some years been employed by the shippers of South Omaha in shipping cattle to Chicago. The exposure to which he was subjected during the war began to tell upon him of late and about six months ago he was stricken and about six months ago he was stricken with partial paralysis and since that time he has been unable to work. On February 29 he applied for a pension through THE BRE Bureau of Claims, and to through THE BRE Bureau of Claims, and to his great satisfaction the pension has been allowed. "It will be of great benefit to me," said Mr. Wilder to the reporter, "for I am a poor man and need every cent I can get to assist me in this terrible calamity that has overtaken me. It is doubtful If I will ever be able to work again, and although the amount I have been allowed will not keep me, it will go a good ways toward it by careful management. I am very grateful for this, although I think I should have had more."

Love Will Find a Way—A Little Romance in Real Life.

Gus Mohar, a well known conductor on the South Omaha motor line, was married vesterday afternoon to Miss Delia Saunders, whose parents live at Twenty-fourth and Spaulding streets. The marriage had been Spauluing streets. The marriage had been expected by the participants for some time, but was a decided surprise to the parents of the bride. The young couple had not intended to be married until next Tuesday, but the bride's parents, who did not favor their daughtor's choice, were about to anticipate the affair by sending Miss Saunders away on a prolonged visit. The result was that she went to Council Bluffs on a calling expedition yesterday afternoon and came back as Mrs. Mohar. It is expected that the bride and groom will be forgiven.
