THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS

Wheat Trade Was Only Moderate With Prices Averaging Higher.

CORN WAS ACTIVE MOST OF THE DAY

Shorts Were Alarmed by the Continued Poor Grading of Present Arrivals and the Improved Cash Demand-Oats Were Firm.

Cnicago, Ill., June 22.-Wheat trade was only moderate and feeling stronger, with prices averaging higher. Corn was fairly active most of the day. The feeling devel-oped was a continuation of that which pre-valled yesterday, and a still further advance was recorded.

The advance in wheat and, the continued poor grading of present arrivals together with an improved cash demand helped the prices and caused some uncasiness on the part of shorts who, when they tried to part of shorts who, when they tried to cover, found little for sale, and in bidding the market initial trades were at about the final quotation of yesterday, and under the urgent demand gradfinly soid up from 15c to 15c, reacted 5c to 15c, ralled from 5c to 2c, and at the close July had gained from 15c to 15c and September from 15c to 15c.

The out market closed very firm at the top fearers

Trading in provisions was light and prices ruled steady.

New York Dry Goods Market. New York, June 22.—There was no new de-velopments in dry goods today. Traders' Talk.

Chicago, Ill., June 22.—Counselman & Day to Cockrell Bros.: Wheat opened unusually dull and featureless. Foreign news was de-pressing and with the exception of occasional thunder storms among nearly ripe wheat dull and featureless. Foreign news was depressing and with the exception of occasional thunder storms among nearly ripe wheat fields, there was nothing builts in the domestic borizo. Pardiridge covered another million bushels of his so-called remnant of shorts and attent on was directed to the fact that the market had become congested again by the effort of other bears to supply his wants, which have already surpassed all calculations. Several lesser lines, each running into the millions, still remain to be covered and this competition among shorts to buy in a buil market accounts for the advance today. Corn and outs were strong with good general buying throughout. Shippers bought June and July futures and a liberal order business was done in purchases of Septen ber contracts for both long and short account, based on the good demand and poor crop prospects for coarse grain. Provisions were a waiting market, with some desire of shorts to cover and of outside longs to increase their holdings. Packers were again willing seliers of ribs on the nard spots and moderate seliers of lard, but seemed inclined to let shorts bid pork up to $11 for September before selling. We regard the people who are realizing prolits on sales as being in a stronger position than the luyers just now.

Chilcago, Ili., June 22.—The trade in wheat pork up to $11 for September before selling. We regard the people who are realizing profits on sales as being in a stronger position that the tuyers just now.

Chicago, Ili., June 22.—The trade in wheat today has been inactive. July opened at 7854c, sold off to 78c, as high as 794c and closed at 794c. September sold at 5c discount. The feature to tay was the continued buying of July by the Pardridge contingent. It has been supposed he was investing on the long side but from the best information that can be gathered it is said to conclude be is still covering what he sold at hister prices. Our reports from the winter wheat belt are all that could be desired. The prospects are for a large yield of extra fine quality. Of course we are still liable to have a spell of wet weather, which would interfore with harvest and deteriorate the quality. The foreign markets are very dull. Some cables from London say Indian wheat is depressed owing to some financial troubles with an India bank. The command for immediate sippment is very light and for futures there is nothing doing. Corn has been strong all the resistance. Here product was very firm.

Can cado, Ili., June 22.—The trade in wheat is considered in the west, Outs very active, caused y heavy buying by a local trader. Here product was very firm.

Can cado, Ili., June 22.—The near the plant of the unture and now when the crowd think wheat a sale he steps in and blocks the game. It is beneficed the was badiy pundented air and ordinary calculations are out of joint. The wheat continues to pile up at primary points showing a considerable increase last week. In the portwest and export demand show no improvement. A few reports of crop damage come in, but the general tone is very favorable. There has been good trading today in corn, but shorts absorbed it and evidently wanted more. Consider markets were weak early, but were pulled up later by Chicago. Corn is coming in very freely, indecating a considerable increase last were pulled up later by Chicago. Corn is coming in ver contract grain is still scarce. Onts have been strong in sympathy with corn. Provisions eased off early, but firmed up later with corn. They showed no snap but are not likely to sell off much while corn is so strong.

STOCKS AND BONDS. Though Not Strong Business Was Fair and Prices Geod.

New York, June 23.—The stock market today was not as strong as yesterday, but in the face of evident realizations of the local contingent to secure the profits already accontingent to secure the profits already accrued on the lat) rise, prices were firm and in a few cases decidedly strong. The most important movement in the market was probably the activity and advance in Northern Pacific preferred, though the grangers were still the most prominent group, and dealings in them command more attention from speculiators than those in any other stocks. The market finally closed dull, but steady to firm generally, with only slight changes for the day.

Railroad bonds were very quiet and displayed no marked temper, while many of the materive issues were irregular and changes of note with declines were rather in the majority.

Chicago Live Stock Market.

Chicago Liu, June 22.—[Special Telegram to The Ber.]—Good cattle again comprised an unusually small percentage of the offerings and that branch of the market therefore was strong. Exporters were freer buyers than for some time past and, as the demand for eastern account also showed an improvement, holders of useful shipping steers were in a position to close out prompty and at strong prices. There has been a big decrease recently in the receipts of good corn-fatted cattle, and the market has developed an advancing tendency. The reverse is true of poor and common grades. They have been growing more plentiful and have rapidly depreciated in value. They were weak again today, but were without further important decline. Sales of natives were on a basis of from $1.25 to $4.5 for cows and buils and at from $1.25 to $4.5 for cows and buils and at from $1.25 to $4.5 for steers. Texans were quoted at from $1.25 to $4.75. There was little or no demand for stockers, and values remain to a certain extent nominal.

There was not much change today in prices for hogs, but what little there was was to the advantage of sellers. The market for good hogs was stronger and the poorer grades were fully firm. The best of the offerings brought from $5.27; to $5. 5 readily, and although the quality was not as good as yesterday the average of prices was as high. Few of the offerings went below $5.15 to $5.25. The opening was brisk and there were no sirns of a lull while the supply lasted. Closing quotations were from $4.95 to $5.25 for light and from $5.00 to $5.35 for heavy and medium weights.

The firm feeling to sheep developed yesterday was a feature of the market today. Good to choice sheep and the better grades of lambs were in active demand, and being a little scarce were taken at plump prices. The best of the former were salable around $6.60, and from $4.95 to $4.75. There was a sale or two of extra lambs at $7.75.

A COLLEGE TRAGEDY.

Initiations, Rochester Post-Express: The college world, with all its ramifications stretching into every profession and every walk in life, has been shaken by the tragedy which has caused the death of a Yale sophomore. Wilkin Rustin of the class of '94, was elected to the Delta Kanna Ensilon society, one of the two Kappa Epsilon society, one of the two great junior societies at Yale; During the initiation three fellow-students were conducting him to a cafe on Temple street, a resort of the students. As usual in such cases, the candidate was blindfolded. His companions told him to run and he cashed ahead at top him to run and he dashed ahead at top speed, distancing his friends. They shouted for him to stop and tried to catch him, but he suddenly leaped to the right side of the road and ran against the pole of a hack which stood at the entrance to a livery stable. He fell to the ground unconscious. Doctors were hastily summoned and he was taken home. The was not at first contaken home. The was not at first considered serious. Indeed, so little was the accident regarded that the same night Rustin took the fraternity oath in his room and he even felt so much better that he desired to go out. On Sunday symptoms of peritonitis appeared, and on Monday last he was dead.

With everything to live for, with youth, education, friends and means, young Rustin owed his death to careless thoughtlessness of those who called themselves "men." The university, the city and the country were inexpressibly city and the country were inexpressibly shocked. The sophomore and junior classes at Yale held meetings in which resolutions were passed deploring the event, and a badge of mourning was event, and a badge of mourning was adopted. The two junior societies held meetings and unanimously adopted the following resolutions, pledg-ing an abandonment of rough Resolved, That every candidate shall assent to the oath of the society and shall sign the constitution. Resolved further, That the initiation ceremony shall be the above and noth-

A special committee of the faculty be gan an immediate investigation, and it is said that they will suggest the expulsion of the two junior societies from

It is evident that some important step must be taken. Accidents have hap pened too often. It was only a few months ago that the same society at Harvard was arraigned for branding the arm of William Lloyd Garrison, an initiate. The good that a college society does for a man is undoubtedly grert, bu the risk which he runs in joining it is becoming formidable. The college fraternities, confident in the good they were doing, and proud of the long rolls of honored alumni, in the college faculty and out, have allowed thoughtless horse play to exist side by side with earnest ness. That no harm was meant is evi dent in the fact that the fraternity had chosen Rustin to become one of its number, that the members had conferred upon him the greatest compliment of which they were capable, and asked him to become a "brother." The blindfolding and the running were only careless, thoughtless "fun." The father, in taking leave of the classmates of his dead boy, did not condemn those who had led in the initiation for an accident which obviously could not have been foreseen. hoped that their remembrance of the event would gradually lose its bitterness, and that they would not continue to repreach themselves for a calamity which resulted from no intentional fault of theirs. But it has taught them a lesson which they will never forget. The mind of one of the classmates may be-come unbalanced at the frightful memory, and the resolutions adopted by the societies show the long and lasting effect which the tragedy will have.

The coroner, after a careful investigation of the facts, sums up the case as follows: "I am of the opinion that Wilkin Rustin's death was caused by the carelessness of the students conducting said initiation. I am further of the opinion that this carelessness was purely the result of boyish fun, entirely unintentional, and not such caretessness ls is known to the law as criminal careessness. I find that modes of initiation have been practically unrestrained; that they have entirely exceeded the bounds of reason and propriety, and are often dangerous to health and life, and I recommend that the faculty either abolish or restrain these modes of initiation altogether, or have have entire supervision and control of the same.' adds that should the faculty fail to co thii the initiation should be put under the supervision of "the proper authori-There is every likelihood that his recommendations will be complied with, and if they are young Rustin's death will be productive of fortunrte re-

A Moving Forest. The military stratagem mysteriously foreshadowed in "Macbeth" by the phrase "till Birnam wood remove to Dunsinane" was repeated in Copennagen recently. A procession of 100,000 citizens and provincial visitors taking part in the royal golden wedding festivities marched to the Amalienburg castle, In the students' section of this grand army of peace and good will every man carried a branch of a beech tree, and the combination had the effect of a moving forest.

ROUTING AN ARMY.

How the Worst Invasion of Modern Times is Absolutely Overcome-Hints of Great Value. When men or women fdel depressed or debilitated at the present day, it is common to "ay: "I think I have malaria." What is malaria? It is only germs that get into the body; germs that thrive and increase unless they are killed; germs that worm themselves all through the system: germs that ruin the health and undermine the life. They are aggressive, they feed upon the body, they must be killed. Many things which have been advocated for killing Many things which have been advocated for killing these germs will not do so. It has been thought that quinine would accomplish this, but many people cannot take quinine; it disagrees with them; it often nauseates. It is known, however, that pure spirits taken in moderation will kill and entirely exterminate the worst army of germs which ever invaded the system. They cannot with standit. Under the influence of tem. They cannot withstand it. Under the influence of pure stimulants the germs are killed, and the body is strengthened to expel them from the system, and thus restore the health.

It should not be understood, however, that all spir its will do this, few will. It requires something specially pure, and specially designed for this purpose and that is precisely what Duffy's Pure Mait Whisky is. It is a scientific, medicinal preparation. It does not read with the colleges what he will be precisely what the second reads the second s not rank with the ordinary whiskies, but is specially designed for fortifying the body and repelling disease It has the highest endorsements of doctors and scien-tists; it is wonderfully popular because it is so effi cient and powerful. Do not be deceived into the use of any other, for there is no other preparation upon the market that can accomplish what is accomplished by Duffy's Pure Malt. You will find that it is kept by reliable druggists and grocers.
