NUMBER 10

SELECTED A CHICAGO MAN

Hon. W. J. Campbell Made Chairman of the Republican Committee.

CRGANIZED WITHOUT ANY DISCORD

Leaders of the Party Agree Upon All Officers of the Body Unanimously-New Plan Suggested for Convention Representation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27 .-- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.] -The national republican committee today organized for the presidential campaign of 1893 by electing Hon. W. J. Campbell of Chicago its chairman; M. H. De Young, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, vice chairman; Cornelius N. Bliss, the New York banker, treasurer, and Land Commissioner Tom Carter of Montana, who did such good service for President Harrison at Minneapolis, secre-

Next to the election of its officers, which was in all cases unantmous, the most important feature of the session was the proposition of Delegate Scott of West Virginia looking to the reformation of the present method of apportioning delegates to the national convention. Mr. Scott proposes that hereafter delegates shall be apportioned to a state not according to the electoral votes to which it is entitled, but in proportion to the republican votes it casts.

Will Be Considered Later.

This proposition is eminently just and reasonable. Though his motion was today laid over till some future meeting, the sentiment of the members individually expressed showed that there is likely to be action taken on it before the next convention meets. Mr. Scott's proposition of assigning a delegate for every 7,000 republican votes east for the republican candidate at the last preceding election is merely tentative and the ratio will doubtless be considerably decreased. It was a subject of much comment at Minneapolis two week ago, that states which were apolis two week ago, that states which were hopelessly democratic should play so important a part in the selection of the republican candidate for the presidency.

Mr. Campbell, the newly elected chairman of the committee, is a very prominent lawyer of Chicago, who has always taken an active interest in politics. He was the president of the Illinois senate at the time of the fight which resulted in the election of General Logan to the United States senate. He has been a member of the national committee for two or three terms, and was re-elected by his state delegation at Minneapolis unani-

Loyal to the President,

He is a warm friend of the president, notwithstanding the fact that when he was an applicant for the position of collector of the port at Chicago the president turned him down and appointed another man, Mr. Campbell is a man accustomed to handling large affairs. He is resolute, determined, silent and a man of excellent judgment. Per-sonally Mr. Campbell is a man of fine presence, courteous in manner, affable in conver sation, but entirely diplomatic. He is about 45 or 48 years of ago.

Mr. Campbell's selection was first suggested by Secretary Rusk and Mr. L. T.

Michener, both of whom have a great admiration for the qualities possessed by the miration for the qualities possessed by the new chairman, and urged his peculiar fitness for the position. The statement is being made here tonight that one point which counted largely in Mr. Campbell's favor in the minds of the committeemen was that coming from fillinois he would largely offset whatever popularity the addition of Mr. Stevenson's name might give to the demo-perate ticket in that state cratic ticket in that state Mr. L. T. Michener said this evening "Mr. Campbell is one of the shrewdest poli-ticians in the country. In my opinion it was the best selection that could have been made.

Montana Complimented.

It was a handsome compliment which the committee paid Montana in selecting Hon.
Thomas H. Carter as its secretary. Mr.
Carter had arrived in Vashington but a few minutes before his selection, which was the first news he received when he reached the notel where the committee was in session. Mr. Carter's train was several hours delayed in its arrival from the west, it being in a ic collision in Pennsylvania, but he led unhurt. Mr. Carter therefore nothing to do with his preescaped ment. When he arrived at ccommittee headquarters he was called escorted to his seat on the platform amid cheers. Mr. Carter is popular everywhere, but his popularity was never more apparent than before the national committee today.

At first he was uswilling to accept the place, but it was insisted that he must do so and he finally consented. It is understood that he will resign his federal position very soon and devote all his time and energies t the campaign till after the election. It is conceded that Carter's selection was the very best that could have been made.

There was perfect harmony at the meet-ing. All of the officers selected are emi-nently capable and enthusiastic friends of the president and all predict an overwhelm ing success at the polls in November.

PROHIBITIONISTS NOW AT IT.

Fashion-Plate Demorest is Willin' to Drive

a Big Spigot in His Bar'l. CINCINNATI, O., June 27 .- The nomination for candidate for president of the national prohibition party will not go by default this year, but to all appearances it will be necessary that there shall be a roll call before the nomination is made. The unusual scene in a national prohibition convention of more than one name being earnestly urged as the presidential candidate is not due to any feeling that the blight has failen on both the other parties and lendered possible a prohibition selection, but to the fact that at least one of the persons whose names will go before the convention wants the nomination and that his friends are earnestly working to have it given to him. Heretefore it has been hard for the prohibitionists to induce an acceptance of the nomination.

Mr. W. J. Demorest of New York, who with his wife is the publisher of Demorest's Magazine, a fashionable plate paper, wants to be the nominee, and quite a little boom has been worked up for him. He is wealthy and would probably liberally support a Active campaign.

Mr. Demorest, however, is not the choice of a majority of the delegates now on the ground, most of whom favor General Bid-well of California. General Bidwell is to secure the nomination on the firs ballot. He has been in congress and is said to be a man of high character and ability and able to fulfill the duties of the office of president if he should chance to get it. His friends say that he does not wish to be the nominee, but will accept.

Gerdon T. Stewart of Ohio will also be put in nomination. The lattle uncertainty which exists over the comination is pleasing to the prohibitionists, because it keeps up an inter-

Will Play it Alone.

The amaignmation of the prohibition and people's narties, which has been heraided as likely to be the biggest thing of the convention, is not at all probable, so far as the campaign is concerned, and can be practically dismissed for the present. Chairman Dickie of the national committee scidit might not be even mentioneds. If the matter comes an at all it can hardly be in any other form up at all, it can hardly be in any other form than as a suggestion for efforts after the coming campaign is over. Aside from some objections arising out of the difficulty of finding common standing ground when abstract propositions are put in concert in shape, an almost insuperable obstacle has been met in the Australian bailet law. A new name, it is admitted, must be found for an amaignmented party, and for the present campaign it would be necessary under the new system for the combined party to put its nominees by means of petition, which frequently would be impracticable.

Silver Will Be Troublesome Here, Too. The platform will be much like previous prohibition platforms, with some radical acditions dealing with the labor problem, hav-ing for their avowed object more perfect government control over corporations. The silver plank is troublesome to the prohibi-tionists just as it is to the older parties, and the delegates are divided into free coinage and anti-free coinage men.

The national committee meets tomorrow morning, and it is probable that one of the following three will be selected chairman: Captain Clerhorn of Wisconsin, A. A. Stevens of Tyrone, Pa., and R. S. Thompson of Ohio. Mr. Stevens has also been mentioned for permanent chairman.

for permanent chairman.

Delegates are already beginning to arrive
Miss Frances E. Willard, Prof. Dickie of Michigan, Helen M. Gougar, John Lloyd
Thomas of New York and other well known advocates of prohibition are already here.

Prof. Dickie, who is chairman of the national committee, says it is not, as many peo-ple think, a religious, but a political organi-zation. Voting the ticket is the test of party fealty, and though a man swears like a trooper and drinks whisky he can be a pro-hibitionist if he votes the ticket, "though," adds the professor, "he will not be high up in the party."

FASSETT ON THE SITUATION.

Admits Cleveland's Strength, but the Republican Party is United and Must Win-WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.-It was 11:33 o'clock this morning when the meeting of the republican national committee was called to order by the temporary chairman, General J. S. Clarkson. After the roll had been called, showing the presence either in person or by proxy of all the members except those from Wyoming and Nevada, J. Sloat Fassett took the floor and placed in nomination for per-manent chairman of the committe General J.

S. Clarkson of lowa. Mr. Fassett said:
"I shail endeavor to detain you but a few minutes. I hope that what I say today will bear more fruit than what I will bear more fruit than what I had to say the last time I had the henor of appearing in this room before this committee on behalt of New York City asking for the national convention. Much as I was it the sted in my subject at the time. I am much more deeply interested in my subject today. When the doors closed on the Minneapolis convention, I am glad to believe that it closed on a united party. It would be folly to say that a great many of the friends of Mr. Blaine were not disappointed, but like their leader they were loyal, true republicans, and immediately upon the nomination in the convention they became ardent supporters of the administration. We all feel that we are entering on no heliday excursion; that we are entering upon a contest which will put to the test the mettle of every republican. are confronted at the outstart with the ap-palling spectacle of Wisconsin and Hilinois in the list of doubtful states and lows by no means certain, with religious differences rife in the northwest and a threatened coalition of the democracy with the alliance.

Strength of the Enemy. "The democrats have nominated, to my mind, the strongest man they could have piaced in the field, and especially so far as the thirty-six electoral votes in New York are concerned. It is now important that we should proceed to select a chairman accord-ing to our best judgment. We must win the support of all republicans. No distinctions should be made on account of past indifferences. But you will agree with me so far as this condition of affairs is concerned. are selected republican voters in the United States. We are in a desperate light, but we are in it to win. And for that purpose we must have the support of our best leaders, We want them to the front.

We want them to the front.

"At our bead we want no inexperienced man. We want a man in sympathy with the lines laid down by the pational republican convention and in touch of all the people of this party. We want a trained leader, a man to whom we can look with every confidence of success, and he whom I shall mention has since 1870. tion has since 1870 been engaged in every contest that has been waged by the republican party. He has always been a faithful sagacious, devoted and efficient member of the national committee. I well recollect the hot months of 1888, and the nights were not long enough nor days long enough for that gentleman to do that which he desired for the republican national committee. through that summer, with a devotion that was remarkable, he tolled while others were sleeping. To him, in conjunction with Sena-tor Quay, is due in a higher measure than to any other the success attained in that glorious campaige. I refer to the honored tem porary chairman of this convention, General J. S. Clarkson of Iowa. [Applause.] With him the interest of the republican party has always been a first and commanding con sideration. The Young Men with Them.

"Contrary to the wishes of his family and contrary to the advice of his friends, I have known him to undertake the most laborious and fatiguing contests in the interests of his party. And not only have his time and cfforts been devoted to it at all times, but his resources have been used as freely as his life blood. Through the four years that have classed since the campaign more than 90 per cent of the energy and strength of General Clarkson has been given to unselfish services to the republican party, and today there is in existence, what never has happened before, a thorough republican organization reaching all over the country. At the call of the young men of the party he has not only performed the duties of his office as our chairman, but has accepted the chairman-ship of the National Republican league, that magnificent organization which extends throughout the United States and is becoming a tower of strength. In this organization he is the counsellor of our young men. He is their ideal; there is no man so near the young republicans of the United States today as J. S. Clarkson. We have the young men of our country with us in this cam-paign and I think no other name would inspire them with so much enthusiasm as that of Mr. Clarkson. I believe that within his grasp is the scenter of success. It seems to me that this committee can pay no more proper tribute to him and their esteem and appreciation for the glorious work he has performed in the past than to ask him again to assume the leadership and show us the way to a repetition of the victory of 1888 Applause. He gave his invaluable counse nd superb assistance in the cause of General Harrison in 1888, and we ought now to continue him where our affection has already placed him, in a position to again crown General Harrison with victory."

Mr. Fassott's remarks were several times interrupted by applause, and as he took his seat General Clarkson arose and said;

Accepts the President's Judgment. "Gentlemen of the Committee: I wish to say to you what I should before any further steps are taken in the direction of my elec-tion as chairman of this committee. While I appreciate deeply the friendship enter-tained for me by most of the gentlemen in your membership, and while I have already had the personal tender of forty-one members of the committee of their support for me as chairman, and while thirty of them have expressed their intention to vote for me whether I should be a candidate or not, or whether my election was desired by the candidates of the party or not, which I appreciate us the proudest honors of my life, and their expression of confidence and good will, it is still my duty to say to you that I have learned from the president this morning that he desires some one else for chairman. As a good remulticar I how cheerfully to him. good republican I how cheerfully to his de-cision and I carneatly trust that no member of the committee will now insist on voting for me, and that all will unite in accepting for the officers of the committee such judg-ment as the candidates for the presidency and vice presidency may desire and recon When Mr. Clarkson had concluded, Senator Welcott of Colorado said that as the tem-porary chairman had intimated that he had an interview this morning with the repub lican nominee he would request him to state if he knew who his choice for chairman was. 'What did the nominee say!" queried the

Crop Prospects Good, CLAY CENTER, Neb., June 27 .- | Special to THE BEE.] -This vicinity was blessed with a bountiful rain yesterday morning in time to avoid the necessity of employing Prof. Melbourne, as it was understood he was to oper ate in Fairfield on the 27th. Local farmers had about given up all hope of an oat crop, but this timely rain will insure a fair crop. The past two weeks have been first class corn weather and the farmers have made good use of the opportunity to almost entirely rid their fields of weeds.

JUNIATA, Neb., June 27.—[Special to The Ber.]—This locality had the largest rain fall of the season yesterday morning. The rain fell in torrents. Everything was covered with water in a few micutes. Some half fell, but of no consequence. The water som run off after the storm but the drain and low places are full. It had begun to get quite dry. Small grain needed rain badly, but corn had not suffered any. That cereal but corn had not suffered any. That cereal will probably be some later than usual, but promises abundantly. Of all the small grain, fall wheat is far the best; it is most excel-lent, and the crop about double that of for mer years. This country is becoming more favorable to small grain, and especially fall wheat. Every year the climatic changes are

NO PROSPECTS OF PEACE

Presi dent Palacio's Overthrow Did Not Materially Assist Venezuela.

OT HER LEADERS FIGHTING FOR SUPREMACY

General Crespo Refuses to Submit to Anything Not Authorized by the Constitution and Prepares to Enforce His Views with Arms.

1Copyrighted 1892 by James Gordon Bennett, 1 CURACOA, (via Galveston, Tex.), June 27. By Mexican Cable to the New York Herald -Special to The Bre. | - The resignation and departure of ex-President Palacio of Venezuela has not brought peace to that warworn republic if the statements which are current in well-informed Venezuelan circles here are correct. I give the situation as it is reported here, without vouching for its accuracy, though it comes from reliable circles. It is said that Vice President Villegas and General Monages have taken charge of affairs with the intention of reorganizing the government on lines which they have already laid out. A proposition was made to General Crespo to join in their plan of reorganization, but he promptly refused, and announces that he will consent to no other plan of reorganization than that laid down in the constitution. Prospects of a Battle.

His argument is that while they cut off the head of the dragon when they sent Palacio into exile they left the claws and body of the beast in Villegas and Monages. Crespo with his army is said to be marching rapidly on Caracas, and a desperate and decisive battle is said to be imminent, certainly within a few days.

Much comment is heard in Venezuelan Much comment is heard in Venezuelan circles on the fact that Villegas has sent a war ship to Curacoa to take Dr. Rojas Paul with honor. It is generally believed that it is an effort to enlist the effort of Rojas in behalf of the powers that be. It is difficult to say what Rojas will do in the premises. Up to this time he has been acting with Crespo and it is generally thought that this is a plan on the part of Villegas to weaken of the property of the proper Crespo by withdrawing from his support the numerous rojista who have been acting with him.

If Rojas has accepted, as it is believed he has, it may be for the purpose of getting square with Crespo who some years ago drove him into exile. Altegether the situation tion appears to be more mixed than it has for some days at least, and just what the next move will be in the fight for the control of Venezuela is impossible to predict, although it seems provable that there will be further fighting within the next few days.

"Whereas, These conditions exist and are largely due to the republican policy of protection, therefore "Resolved, That the committee on finance be and is hereby directed to inquire into the effect of a policy of tariff for revenue only upon the labor and the industries of the United States and to report the same to the senate." The president's message in reply to the resolutions of April 6, with copy of com-mercial agreements made with other countries, and a statement of the negotiation with Mexico for the reciprocal commercial agreement, was laid before the senate and ordered printed. After a short discussion the senate adjourned.

Will Pass the Anti-Option Bill. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27 .- [Special

Telegram to THE BEE. |-Senator Vest of Missouri, who is one of the most ardent opponents of the anti-option bill, was asked to gay his opinion as to what the final fate of that measure weuld be when it came to be considered in the open senate. "It will pass, in my opinion," was the prompt reply of the senator. "Although the oill may be amended somewhat in the com mittee, I expect that these amendments will be stricken out by the senate and that the large majority which the bill undoubtedly insist upon it substantially as it came from the nouse. There is strong sentiment in the committee that there should be a full and free vote upon the question, and there will be no attempt to pigeonbole in committee or unnecessarily its consideration on the floor. At today's session of the committee it was determined to hold a special meeting and come to a final vote upon the bill Thursday The present indications are that five of the members of the committee will sign a maority report against the passage of the bill bile four will present a minority report in its favor.

adjournment of congress. Anti-Options Bill Postponed. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.-The senate judiciary committee today postponed action on the anti-options bill till the next meeting. Nearly two hours were spent in a critical analysis and discussion of the bill, but so far there has been no such expression of opinion as would warrant any speculation as to how the committee will report upon reporting the bill to the senate, and it is probable that at least one more meeting will be consumed in the discussion before any effort is made by the friends of the bill to reach a report upon the measure in committee. Stewart Submits a Substitute. Washington, D. C., June 27 .- Mr. Stewart in the senate today offered as a substi-

CAPTAIN BORUP RECALLED.

Action Due to Request of French Government and Taken for Harmony's Sake, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27 .- Acting on information received from Mr. , Coolidge, United States minister at Paris, the secretary of war this afternoon issued an order relieving Captain Borup, of the ordnance department from further duty at the United States legation at Paris and directing him to report to the War department for further orders. This action was taken at the instance of the French government. Our officials do not believe that Captain Borup is guilty of the charges against him, and his recall is said to be due alto-gether to the request of the French govern-ment and in the interest of harmony. Cap-tain Bornp's recall was not decided upon till this afternoon and it was said at the War department later that no one had been selected to succeed him.

SALISBURY TO THE PEOPLE

Implores Them to Paus; Before Deciding on the "Supreme Crisis."

ENGLISH ELECTION CAMPAIGN ON

The "Markis" Arraigns the Gladstone Policy, Pointing to Uster Once Again and the Revolution That Might Result

from Home Rule Granted,

LONDON, June 27 .- Lord Salisbury has issued an address to the electors of the United Kingdom. The document, while reminding them that their votes will decide whether parliament shall be empowered to grapple with important social questions or wasted upon the protracted Irish struggle, contends that the working classes are so powerful that no party is likely to diregard their unanimous wish. The vital question of Ire-land overtops all others. To Ulster the land evertops all others. To t election is of terrible importance. in other questions may be repaired, but here the crisis is supreme. A wrong decision will mean a bitter pretracted struggie, culminating probably in civil war, or even doom the loyalists to the most dread subjection to their ancient and unchanging enemies. The address implores the electors to pause before deciding to reverse the policy of centuries.

"We do not, indeed, know," continues Lord Sailsbury, "the details of the revolution proposed, nor the precise designation of its appearance. Hollow and fragile securi-ties will doubtiess be offered to allay your fears and hide the wrong that is being done. They will serve to hinder the world from seeing the full cruelty of this abandonment, though they will certainly hinder nothing

A long and powerful arraignment of the Gladstone policy then follows, the address dwelling strongly upon the evidence of the Uister convention, and concluding by praying the electors not to shatter the peace and order now rengning in Ireland, resulting from a long period of steady government.

MISTRESS DOROTHY'S DESCENT.

Stanley on the Hustings-He Tells of a Sigulficant Remark of Mr. Chambertain. London, June 27, - Henry M. Stanley, unionist candidate for parliament in the northern division of Lambeth, attended a meeting held in that division today and addressed the electors from a cart. Mr. Stanley was accompanied by his wife. In his address Stanley, referring to the eight-hour movement, said that if he had only worked eight hours a day he never would have been abead of the Germans in Africa, and would never have added 200,000 square miles of land to British territory, while Dr. Peters, at the head of the German expedition, was running amuck and making treaties. He added that if Mr. Gladstone would only drop his stupid home rule scheme seven-eighths of the unionists would flock around him.

Then Mr. Stanley related an incident that

Joseph Chamberiain lately. He asked Mr. Chamberiain what he would do if Mr. Gladstone gave up the home rule bill, and Mr. Chamberiain replied: "I would stretch out my hand immediately and say we are one and losenswith once mere!" and inseparable once more." and inseparable once more."

Mr. Stanley was about to descend from the cart after finishing his speech, when he stopped and seat: "I have forgotten my duty. Gentlemen, let me introduce my dearly beloved wife, late Miss Dorothy Ten-

Mr. Balfour arrived at Sheffield today to address an open-air meeting. The conservative agents, expecting disorder, summoned a number of workingmen to be present and to prevent organized opposition to the meeting. Fifteen thousand persons were present at the meeting. At the beginning of his speech Mr. Balfour was continuously greeted with cheers and groans. Finally he expressed regret for the deplorable acci-dent that had occurred to Mr. Gladstone. This caused the uproar to increase, and finally the noise became so great that Mr. Balfour could be heard by no one except the reporters. The crowd made several attempts to rush upon the platform and the police present had the utmost difficulty in repulsing them. Women screamed at the top of their voices, fearing that they would be crushed to death by the howling crowd, and me of them were extricated in a fainting addition. Subsequently the speeches were as brief as it was possible to make them and the meeting terminated in the wildest dis-
