Witnessed by a Jovial Crowd of Enthusiastic Sports-Details of the Battle.

NEW YORK, June 27 .- The great battle for the featherweight championship of the world at the Concy Island Athletic club tonight is now a thing of the past, as George Dixon, the colored poy from Roston, has won that title by defeating Fred Johnson, the featherweight champion of England. The contest was witnessed large and enthusiastic crowd sporting men from this and various other parts of the country. Dixon is the acknowledged champion featherweight of America and as this was an international battle there was an immense amount of interest taken in the fight and the betting was exceptionally heavy. It was unquestionably a great battle and one that will be long remembered. Coney Island was crowded all the afternoon by sporting men, eager to get their money upon the man they could get the best lines upon.

Surprised at Johnson's Weight. Both Dixon and Johnson weighed in under 117 pounds, and there was considerable surprise shown at the Englishman's ability to get down to that weight and still looking strong and fit to fight. The later trains came down heavily loaded, and as it came the rush for seats at $5 and $10 was something wonderful, for it cut no figure with the oulk of the sports and they put up their money as though it had been blank paper. There were fully 6,000 people present by the time they were ready to put on the first "bout," which was a ten-round go between Charles Kelly and Con Sullivan, both of this city. There was so much Dixon money in sight that the Johnson men who went down prepared to back their man at even money were soon compelled to drop down to $50 to $100, then to $70 to $100, the takers were so numthe odds fell to $100 to $60 on Dixon, with but few takers. The first pair of bruisers, Kelly and Sullivan, hopped upon the stage at 8:40 p. m. The boys, who are in the 150 pound class, were evenly matched.

Sully Was Happy.

John L. Sullivan came in a bilarious condition and attracted no little attention. rounds the bors put up, in which knock-downs were conspicuous, that he did not see Jim Corbett come in and walk past him, despite the fact that the crowd cheered him heartily. Neither of the lads were knocked out, but Kelly was declared the winner on scientific points.

Then came the star performance of the evening. It was just 9:30 o'clock when Dixon came upon the stage. He was accompanied by Tom O'Rourke, his manager, and Morris Kelly and Eddie Daley. Fred Johnson was very slow about making his appear ance in the ring, but when he did show up he received a hearty welcome. He was ac-companied by Charlie Morton, Billy Plim-mer, Ben Bolands and Benuy Murphy, his handlers.

Red Hot from the First.

It was just 9:50 when the men confronted each other. The start was fast and furious, Dixon doing all the work and landing right and left on stomach and head, forcing Johnson to the ropes and punishing him terribly. A great shout went up, for they thought Johnson was going out in the first round, but he pluckily stood to his work and took his medicine. The gong sounded time and this saved him. His seconds had him shape in less than the minute and be came up strong. Second Round-Dixon forced the fighting, which was fast and furious, and did the bulk of the leading. Johnson at one time seemed

The gloom of the day, too, was in striking contrast to the brightness of Saturday. Nevertheless the crowd numbered 6,000, an extraordinary showing for as off day. The favorites were successful in four out of five they will use all honerable means to secure his selection as one of the Nebraska repre-sontatives on the prohibilion national com-mittee. always short and he appeared unable to give any amount of severe punishment. Dixon continued to play for the body, repeatedly landing hard with his right. Johnson was laving back for in-fighting, in which he ex-celled, but George hit, stopped and away too nuickly for him. When the bell rang Johnson was very weary.

Made Dixon Shy.

Third Round-Both men were strong and sparred for an opening. Johnson was the first to lead, but fell short of his mark, and Dixon came up forward with a great rush. landing hard and often. Johnson gained strength and again led. As before, he fell When George rushed him he planted his right full in Dixon's face, and in the clinch which followed punched him hard in the stomach. After the break-away Dixon was more careful, finding that his was a great in-fighter and capable of getting away from punishment.

Fourth Round-Johnson came up very strong, which forced Dixon to be a little more cautious. They sparred a few seconds for an opening when Dixon came with a rush and planted his left on Johnson's stomach and planted his lett on Johnson's stomach and with the same swing landed it on his jaw, while he followed it up with a right hander on the neck. Johnson planted his right heavily on Dixon's ribs and some hard in fighting followen before the call of time. Fifth Round-Johnson was full of fight and he followed Dixon in the rung looking for an opening. He led lightly with his left, but was countered on the law for his pains Then Dixon pushed him and landed a good left, only to receive a blow twice as hard on the side of his head from Johnson's right. They came to close quarters a number of times during this round and clinched repeatcally. They had to be separated a number of times and the round finished in favor of Dixon.

Fighting Like Tigers,

Sixth Round-Both men came up strong, ohuson led with his left on Dixon's cnest. Dixon, on a rush, swung his left on Johnson's stomach and again in the face. On the next rush he landed again the same way, but got a stinging clout on the side of his head with Johnson's right that made the smile dis-supear from his face. He tried to get square, rushed his man and fought like a tiger with both hards. Johnson beld his own in pretty good form, and did not seem to mind his punishment in the least, but banged away with both hands like a gladiator. Seventh Round-Bothfwere eager to get to work. Jounson smiled, led and was followed by a swinging right which made his head go Dixon used both hands to ad back quick. vantage, and landed many good blows, and would doubtless have fluished his man had it not been for the clever dudging of the English lud biladelphia. Eighth Round-Dixon started to do Lis Eighth Round -Diath and, but after re-Brooklyn celving two or three swinging, right-handed blows he came to his senses and was forced to use his right hand for all it was worth. Chicago 33 Both fought well all through the round and it is difficult to tell which man had the best of the round. It was clever work all the way through.

Johnson Was Ahead.

Ninth Round-Dixon was not over anxious to get into close quarters and spent as much of the round as he possibly could in walking around and sparring. He only fought when he got a good opening or was forced to do so by his opponent's attacks. Johnson used his right hand to advantage and landed heavy blows on Dixon's head with telling of feet. If anything, Johnson had a shade the best of the round.

Tenth Round-Dixon held off till he got good opening, then ho landed on this opponent with both hands and fairiy staggered the Englishman. The clever manner in which Johnson avoided punishment from Dixon's left caused the latter to change his tactics and to commence playing for Johnson's wind with his right, which he landed successfully many times on the Eriton's stomach. Eleventh Round-Johnson showed himself to be a good stiff puncher with his right hand and no one was more keenly aware of that fact than Dixon, who avoided it as much as possible, and did not fall into the trap John-son was setting for him with his short leads with the left. Johnson, if anything, had a trille the best of the round.

Took His Medicine Exceedingly Well.

Twelfth Round-Both fought well, and to the surprise of the spectators Johnson held his end up fully as well as Dixon. The

The physicians who held the autopsy on the body of Myron Pratt, the murderer of Mrs. Margaret Sperry, do not hesitate to de-clare that the death was caused by delirium tremens and not brain fever. For week revious to the tragedy he had been drinking eavily and the sudden cessation of his daily libations had its natural effect. The cor dition of the dead man's brain, as revealed by the post mortem examination, indicated that his mind was diseased. Shortly after his arrest, however, a commission of insanity experts pronounced him sane. Something of a Contest.

The contest between the residents of East Lincoln and the friends of the Rock Island is becoming decidedly interesting. At the last meeting of the city souncil a petition signed by nearly 600 property owners pro tested against allowing the Rock Island to cross East O street at the grade. The petitioners argued that a subway or overhead crassing could be easily constructed. At the meeting of the council tomorrow evening a ounter petition asking that the road be per mitted to cross the street referred to on grade will be presented to the council. This ast netition already contains S10 signers, all of whom are property owners.

Alleges an Assault.

Allen Hiskey, a young married man, this afternoon filed a complaint at the police station charging a man named Blair with having attempted to assault his wife. The alleged assault occurred at a small store kept by Blair. Mrs. Hiskey, who is but 16 years old, went to the store to make a few purchases and while there she claimed that Blair made improper proposals, and upon her refusal at-tempted to detain her by force. She went crying to her home at Seventh and X streets, where she told her husband of the affair.
