Chairman Swobe Says There Will Be Accommodations for All Who Attenu the Independent Convention-He. Expects 20,000.

The work of preparation for the independent convention goes mercily on. The Coliseum is rapidly assuming the appearance of a convention hall and the last of the 7,000 chairs will be in position within twenty-four hours.

The telegraph companies are busy running in wires, fixing up offices and making all necessary arrange-ments for handling all the business that they may be called upon to take. The Western Union and the Postal will each have two offices, one in front for the use of the general public, and another in the annex at the rear, where the press reports will be handled and where operators will also be stationed to take care of the business of the delegates and the party leaders. The officials of both companies state that the telegraphic facilities will be as complete as were those at either Minneapolis or Chicago. A concert grand piano and an organ will be placed on the platform to accompany the gice clubs that will be in attendance,

The Quinnemore glee club of Kansas which is said to be one of the best in the country, will be here, and a telegram was received esterday from a Minneapolis trio that wants to come.

The committee on entertainment reported this morning that accommodations had been secured for 12,000 people, and the list is now growing with greater rapidity than at any time since the committee went to work. The people are just beginning to realize what is demanded of them, and they are re-sponding with a promptness and cheerfulness that gives assurance that every visitor will be well taken care of, and at the same time has lifted a great load of responsibility from the shoulders of the committee.

Gathering of the Clans.

J. H. Willitts of Kansas, the national lecturer of the Farmers Alliance and Industrial union, was in the city yesterday and stated that Kansas was coming enmasse and that there would be large delegations from every state in this section. He left for Iowa to fill a few engagements, but will be back here again before the opening of the conven-

Buchanan of New York for the American Press associa-tion, S. F. Carey of the Cincinnati Enquirer and H. R. Chamberlain, managing editor of the Boston Journal the Boston Journal.

Gresham will accept the nomination, the labor organizations will easily raise the necessary funds to carry on the campaign. Labor unions of New York city would con-tribute half the fund if necessary. Denver Republican: No matter who may be selected by the Omaha convention as the third party candidate for president, he will not carry a single northern state, and even if he should carry every state in the south it will have no effect on the presidential elec-tion. Mr. Harrison will have a majority in the electoral college, and his second term will be more beneficial to the country than his first. Minneapolis Journal (rep.): Judge Gresham's very decided denial of any disposition to monkey with the people's party buzz saw on his part, was what was expected. Th The people's party demagogues would be im-mensely pleased to take the judge in their net, but Judge Gresham isn't built that way. He has a sound judicial mind in a sound body, and he has no sympathy for the crankism in any of its manifold forms. Chicago Herald (dem.): Should the people's or farmers; alliance party now about to assemble in convention at Omaha nominate such a man as Walter Q. Gresham as a canditate for the presidency and adopt a rational platform, some interesting results might be looked for. Gresham would be an exceptionally strong candidate, who in spite f platform vagaries would certainly some electoral votes, enough doubtless to defeat both Cleveland and Harrison in the clectoral colleges. Neither of these prota-gonists has any electoral votes to spare, and a few gained from each would throw the election into the house of representatives. Once there, Harrison, of course, would stand no show, but Gresnam might. Of the forty delegations, the democrats have thirty, the republicans ten, and the farmers alliance four. But the farmers alliance is very strong in a large number of the democratic states, as it is also in certain of the republican states. Chicago Tripune (rep.): The people's parts iold their national convention in Omaha in i few days and the leaders are boasting loudly of what they are going to do and how they will cut and slash the two old parties to pieces. The southern alliance man say thu nearly all the hegroes are with them and if protected at the polis by the alliance white men the blacks will poll 1,000,000 votes for the people's ticket and carry eight or ten southern states for its presidential candidate. man There is no sort of doubt that if the alliance whites proffered protection to the colored brethren and saw to it that their votes were counted they could poll for the taket a vast colored vote in the south, enough to break up its solidity. They could easily win half the cleetoral votes of the south for their presidential candidate. It would make things lively down in Dixie if the alliances whites concluded to pluy that game. whites concluded to play that game. They would knock out the supporters of the Wall streat candidate as easily as the anti-lottery democrats in Louisiana, by the aid of the colored vote, laid out cold the lottery democrats. Pattsburg. Sait Lake Tribune (rep.): There is a strong disposition on the part of a lot of labor organizations and dissatisfied men gen-erally to nominate Walter Q. Gresham for president of the United States. Whether he will accept or not is the question. He has had a presidential bee in his bonnet a good white. He does not like President Harrison over much. He is an eminent judge and an honest man. The probability is if he were to run he would draw many republican votes away from President Harrison and would succeed in electing Mr. Cleveland. He cansucceed in electing Mr. Cleveland. He can-not possibly imagine that he, as a third party candidate, could obtain a majority of the electoral votes. If he runs, it will be for the purpose of defeating the republican party. The question is: Will he do it! If he does, it will be with the idea that by de-feating the republicans this year his third party movement will gain strength enough to do what the republicans did in 1860-tri-umphantiy elect a candidate. But ne is umphantly elect a candidate. But ne is shrowd enough to know that with the repub lican party torn to pieces by his candidacy, and with the election of Mr. Cleveland, the probabilities would be strong that the demo-crsts would hold power for a great many

HAVE NUMEROUS CANDIDATES Prohibitionists Are Not Looking for Presidential Timber. MANY ANXIOUS FOR THE NOMINATION

publicans Meet in State Convention -Various Political Pointers.

CINCINNATI, O., June 28 .- All the necessary preparations have been made and at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the sixth annual convention of the prohibition party will begin its session in the big Music hall in which Hancock was nominated. The convention, unless an effort, not now very promising, to patch differences and agree on a new man shall be successful, will have a fight on hand for the honor of being the presidential nominee of the party, a state of things which is a novelty to the cold water advocates. The fight is throwing an air of a real political convention over the proceedings and what, with lithographs and badges of the two rival candidates, campaign headquarters, charges and counter charges and night conferences, an outsider may snatch something of the spirit which pervades more important political conventions.

Leading Candidates. General Bidwell of California and Mr. W. Jonnings Demorest of New York are the leading competitors for the nomination and their supporters are becoming excited over the matter. Mr. Bascom, a well known business man of Troy, N. Y., is the ebony equine most mentioned as the best nominee in the event of both Bidwell and Demorest being ruled off. While talk of a compromise is heard, neither General Bidwell's nor Mr. Demorest's friends look on it with favor, and many delegates think the matter has gone so far that it must be fought out. General Bidwell's friends claim his election on the first ballot and ridicule the Demorest claims as baseless. General Bidwell has strong castern supporters in New York and Pennsylvania, most of the leaders are for him, and ex-Governor St. John, who could probably get the nomination if he would take it, is working hard for Bidweil and will place him in nomination. Chairman Dickie of the na-tional committee, Miss Willard, Mrs. Gongar, A. A. Stevens of Pennsylvania, Dr. Funk and others, are supporting Bidwell also.

Demorest's Strength. The Demorest supporters arrived in larger numbers today and it is evident that he has a considerable following, though haudi apped by lack of support in his own state He is expected to stand well in the south and perhaps in some of the western states Colonel R. S. Chevis, Rev. Sam Small, Prof. Grandison of North Carolina, John Lloyd Thomas, secretary of the national committee, and Heary B. Hudson, of the "Blue and the Gray," are his principal advocates. The first three named will, it is understood, make the nomination and seconding speeches for Demorest. Gideou T. Stewart of Ohio, will probably be put in nomination and the prohibition presidential nomination being itself largely of a complimentary nature, there is no tell-ing how many persons will receive informal ballots. Tonight caucuses of the two leaders were held to arrange for the proper conduct of the two booms. The Demorest men are making much of the strong sentiment against fusion with the people's party, and one asking General Bidwell if he would with-draw in favor of Weaver, the people's party man. The roply received today said: "Not unless so instructed by Chairman Dickie, Mr. St. John, Dr. Funk, Miss Willard and yourself." This answer was satisfactory, as the two first named are cancerially hostile to fusion. This answer was satisfactory, as the two first named are especially hostile to fusion, but straightway a resolution, to make a with-drawal impossible, will be proposed, giving the national committee authority to fill a vacancy on the ticket caused by death, resig-nation or other cause.

Helen Gougar Talks.

The anti-fusion sentiment is very strong. Mrs. Gougar said: "Fasion with the peo-pie's party would be fully as unwise as fusion with either of the two old parties. fusion with either of the two old parties. The people's party is on record as a whisky party quite as much as the democrats of re-nublicans. Even if the people's party adopted prohibition and woman suffrage, it would be unwise, for their financial policy would drive level headed financiers from our ranks. Their interest in the 'subtreasury' scheme would close nearly every college in the country and the college is a large part of scheme would close nearly every college in the country and the college is a large part of our strength. Oh, yes, we are just like the republicans and democrats on silver-no ono can tell how one is on silver because he or she is in the prohibition party." Rev. Sam Smail is utring Walter B. Hill of Georgia as a vice presidential condidate, "with whom to meet the people's party, which will nominate Tom Watson for vice president, on their own dung hill." Mr. Hill is vice president of the American Bar as-sociation, an able lawyer and sponker, and is vice president of the American Bar as-sociation, an able lawyer and sponker, and was formerly a democrat. Georgia, Mr. Small says, wants neither Bidweil nor Dom-orest, but is for the latter as arainst the former. The prohibition party, he says, will not be bossed any more than the old parties, and he desard care if Democrat has not his and he doesn't care if Demores thas not his own state, as it is a factional affair. The Maryland delegation has a vice president in Josian Levering and a half dozen other states also have men for the place.

Drew the Color Line.

The color line has been the cause of con-siderable excitement. Rev. C. M. Grandi-son, D.D., president of Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C., is one of a dozen or more colored members of the convention who have been sent here from various southern states. bein sent here from various southern states. He is a man of burly figure and a thorough believer in muscular Christianity. At the Gibson house he had no more difficulty in registering than the white delegates from his state, but when it came to getting meals he was refused attendance unless be retired from a room separated from the main during hall. This alternative he resolutely declined, and he was left without food for an hour until practically all the other guests had vacated the place. The chairman of the North Carolina delegation declared that if necessary the members, about twenty in number and all Caucasians except Grandi-Number and all calculates except Gradues son, would remove to some other hotel. The Virginia, Georgia and other colored dele-gates avoided trouble by separating from the whites on arrival at the station and going to boarding houses of which the proprietors were colored people.

INDIANA REPUBLICANS.

They Meet in State Convention and Make

Nominations. FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 28,-At the republican state convention this morning resolutions approving the sentiments expressed in the Minneapolis convention, commending the administration of President Harrison, condemning the democratic party for its incapacity for governing, in both ha-tonal and state affairs, and tendering to James G. Blaine and members of his family sincere sympathy in their receat bereavement were adopted. Continuing, the platform says: "We denounce the purpose of the demo-cratic party, clearly avowed in the national institute. Its receat because in monther a 10 per cratic party, clearly avowed in the national piatform, to repeal the law imposing a 10 per cent tax on state bank issues and thus re-moving the only partier to a return of the system of wildcat money, which once disgraced our state and largely im-poverished our people." Following is the ticket nominated: For governor, Ira Chase; licutenant governor, Theodore P. Shockney of Randolph county: secretary of state.

POLITICS IN THE SENATE Mr. Vest and Mr. Hale Discuss the Effects of Tariff Regulations.

CONDITION OF APPROPRIATION BILLS Important Ones Remaining Undisposed Of-

Vesterday's Work in the House-Poaching Scalers Seized-Definite Reciprocity Arrangements.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28 .- The presidential campaign was fairly started in the senate today on the basis of Mr. Hale's resolution asserting the great benefits resulting to the people of the United States from the republican policy of "protection," and questioning the possible effect of the democratic policy of "tariff for revenue only."

Mr. Hale gave a history from his point of view of the recent Chicago convention, so ar as the tariff plank of the platform is concerned, stating that it was framed so as to suit a candidate; and declaring the issue between the two parties had thus been made up, and the fight would be waged on that issue until decided by the suffrage of the people next November.

Mr. Vest, on the part of the democracy, accepted the challenge and had much to say of the operation of the McKinley act in increasing the cost of dry goods and hardware, in reducing wages and in causing strikes and labor troubles. He also commented upon the choice of the new chairman of the republican national committee as being in line with the policy of encouraging politics.

Appropriation Bills.

After the resolution was laid aside until comorrow without action, a conference report on the Indian and army appropriation bilis was presented and agreed to. The latter bill has still, however, one question undisposed of. It is as to the payment for government transportation on the non-bonded portions of the Union and Southern Pacific roads. The agricultural appropriation bill was passed and the consideration of the leg-islative appropriation bill resumed. The mission was the subject of discussion on the legislative bill, and that question went over without being decided and the senate adjourned.

Vest's Remarks on the Tariff.

During Mr. Vest's speech on the McKinley bill he alluded to the existing labor troubles at Carnegie's Homestead Iron works, near Pittsburg. And yet, he said, that gentle-man (Carnegio) had tolegraphed from his castle in Scotland congratulations to President Harrison on his renomination; had arrayed his police and armed and equipped them to put down his own lacorers and workman and had sur rounded his establishment with an eleven foot wall. For what purposest ro protect himself against the people of the United States under this iniquitous system, and now the newspapers of the country (Vest said) were full of rumors of war be-tween Carnegie's company and its own ia-borers, "the recipients of bounty of which borers, "the recipients of bounty of which the senator from Maine had spoken so eloquently today." No wonder Mr. Carnegie had congratulated President Harrison on his renomination. He was the recipient of the benefits of that system. He was glad that the republican party had placed at the head of its national committee "another of the same brood of politicians." "I know," continued Vest, "he is the man who agyised Armour to defx the senate of

FOSTER TO SUCCEED BLAINE

He Will be Appointed for the Remainder of the Term.

NUMBER 11.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE,] 513 FOURTEENTII STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., JUNE 28.

At the meeting of the cabinet today the principal topic of discussion was the vacant secretaryship of state. It is understood that various gentlemen whose names have been propounded to the president for the position were canvassed in their various attitudes and the feasibility of promoting to the position General Tracy, secretary of the navy, or appointing General John W. Foster, formerly of Indiana but for many years of this city. was talked over. It is stated upon the authority of a cabinet officer that the president has concluded to make an appointment with a view to completing only the remainder of Secretary Blaine's unfluished term, and with a view to the appointment of another man to the position on the 4th of March next. This, it is stated, probably indicates the appointment of General Foster. The president has been inclined for several days to transfer to the vacant portfolio Secretary Tracy, he having distinguished him-self in diplomatic affairs during the recent controversy with Chili, and being a trained lawyer and tried executive officer, but the president would in that event be called upon immediately to fill a vacancy in the Navy de-partment, and he desires to rid himself of illing offices by making the one appointment.

General Foster's Activity.

The only obstacle in the way of the appointment of General Foster to fill out the unexpired term has been and is now the general's connection with the department general's connection with the department as its diplomatic attorney. General Foster has quite as much of the department's Dusi-ness upon his hands as he can complete dur-ing the next nine months and the president has feared that to make him secretary of state would innair his services in his pres-ent casesity. On the other hand, the oreal ent capacity. On the other hand the presi-uent desires in the new secretary of state a man who is well versed in the Bering sea controversy, as the point at which these complicated disputes are to be entrusted to arbitration is near at hand and a high order of skill in diplomacy is demanded as well as familiarity with all the details of the questions involved.

It has about been decided that General Foster could assume general supervision of this work and other uncompleted affairs pending before the department and at the same time take absolute control of the actails without serious impairment of any of the governments' interests and that altogether the affairs of the department would be better the analys of the department would be better subserved by his promotion than should one unfamiliar with the work be selected secre-tary of state. It is not therefore likely that Secretary Tracy will be transferred to the Department of state, but altogether prob-able that General Foster will assume the duties of the vacent perfolio. duties of the vacant portfolio.

The Bidwell men retort that the Demorest camtaign largely rests on financial contributions. The prohibition newspaper organs are coming in for a share of denunciation and the Demorest fol-lowers and some others assail it vehemently and charge that Demorest's lack of support

The leaders of both the Bidwell an Demorest factions, at least on the surface. seem united in antagonism to this propos ition. The people's party is not condemned, but the disposition is strong in favor of the prohibitionists keeping up their own organ-ization and presidential candidates in this campaign, at least, and their feeling will find an expression in the platform if the more al have their way Ex-Governor John P. That was settled before the adjournment of an important meeting of the prohibition national con A. F. Wolfenbarger of Nebraska will be the secretary of the convention. The choice of a Nebraskan for the honor was regarded as an olive branch to the people's party, emphasizing the intention of the prohibitionists to at least help in wresting Nebraska, this year if possible, from the grasp of the two lder parties-this, too, whether a fusion the people's party and the prohibitionists be attempted or not.

Exchange of Personalities.

There was a lively exchange of personalities at the committee meeting over the adoption of the treasurer's report. Sam Small said certain names occurred too often as having been employed by Chairman Dickie for prohibition work. He charac-tarized them as "hangers on," without other means of support, and asserted that their employment was in violation of the spirit of a resolution offered by him and adopted in B. T. Chafin of Wisconsin scored Rev. Mr.

Small, and mincing no words said that gentleman's resolution was "an idiotic perform ance." After the resolution had been adopted without division Chairman Dickie spoke, de claring the resolution had not been violated, as it was understood when passed, and spoke of the resolution as a "tomfool one. Mr. Small, in a personal explanation, got an opportunity to reply and sailed into Mr.

Dickie for a few minutes, Waiter Hill of Georgis, Joshua Levering of Maryland, Colonel Bain of Kentucky, Jonn W. Russell of Detroit and A. A. Stevens of Pennsylvania have been suggested as good vice presidential timber.

Miss Willard's Idea.

Miss Frances Willard's idea is that the prohibition party organization should, ever, in any event, remain intact, and the campaign be fought on prohibition lines, while the people's party organization should conduct the battle from their side on the industrial issues, the common end in view making both organizations harmonious. Miss Willard admitted good humoredly that the plan had already met violent opposition and was likely to encounter more, with scant cacouragement as to ultimate success. She said, with a tinge of sarcasm, that she had already been assailed as a "prohibition mugwump." Miss Willard intimated that she was rather proud than otherwise of the epithet, and she would not be stopped by such methods.

One incident of the day showed that the prohibitionists are politicians and want pledges like other politicians before giving their votes. Mrs. Gougar sent a telegram of Randolph county; secretary of state, Aaron Jones of St. Joseph; auditor of state, John W. Coons of Marion; treasurer of state, Fred J. Schools of Vandeburg; attorney general, F. D. Farrall of Lagrange; superintendent of public instruction, James H. Heary of Morgan; judges of the supremo court, John D. Miller, Byron Eillott, Myron McBride, the present incumbents. After adopting a resolution in favor of iberal appropriations for the World's fair, the convention adjourned at 11 p. m.

IOWA REPUBLICANS GATHEBING.

Active Work for Favorites Before the Approaching State Convention.

Dzs Mornes, Ia., June 28 .- Delegates to the republican convention are nearly all in the city and active work for the favorite candidates is being done. The main fight is on the railroad commission-rship. Spencer Smith's friends are claiming that he will be renominated, but after a bitter fight Smith vanted to withdraw in the interest of har-nony, but his farmer friends insist that he shall remain on the board. The opposition to him is very determined. but divided. For auditor there is no doubt that McCarthy will be nominated, proba-
