WHERE PAUL'S MONEY WENT

Interesting Testimony in the Case of Adams County's Ex-Treasurer.

THOUSANDS LOANED TO BUSINESS MEN

Friends of the Official Knew of His Financial Embarrassment Many Months Before it Was Formatly Announced -Nebraska News.

HASTINGS, Neb., June 30 .- [Special to THE BEE. |-This morning when district court reastembled the case against ex-Treasurer Christes H. Paul for empezatoment of public funds was resumed. County Clerk C. B. Bigelow first took the stand, and as official sustodian of records identified tax receipts Amounting to $31,659.87, given to Jay Cherry, township collector, by "Charles H. Paul, treasurer, E. Fist, deputy." The amount, as was shown later, does not appear on the semi-annual statements made by Paul to the Board of Supervisors. Then receipts given B. K. West, collector of Litue Blue township, were similarly introduced. James R. Ratcliffe, the expert who has been examining the county treasurer's books, was called. The rest of the morning session was used in the direct and cross-examination of Mr. Ratcliffe. The examination was extremely minute and the dry mass of figures was extremely uninteresting to both jury and spectators.

In the afternoon the cross-examination was continued, the defense closely and exhaust-lyery reviewing the report made to the super-visors and the method of making the search into the condition of the books. One entry in the ledger showed a balance of about $7.186 which had no date and which does no appear in the cash book. It was Mr. Rat cliffe's opinion as an expert that this entry was made to bring about a false balance. Mr. Ratcliffe's testimeny was practically unintelligible to any except an expert or until its bearing is pointed out by one familiar

Its bearing is pointed out by one familiar with the books. At 3 o'clock Mr. Ratcliffe was excused and the page in the ledger which has upon it the dateless entry was offered in evidence, being carefully scrutinized by the jury. Jay Cherry, township treasurer in 1889, was called. Mr. Cherry identified the checks which were used as part payment of the township collections. These ehecks bore the endorsement of the late Adams County bank, identified deposit slips in Paul's hand-writing which were deposited to the fund in writing which were deposited to the fund in which all the county funds were placed. This account was in Paul's individual name. This account was in Paul's individual name. William Kerr, president of the Adams County bank and one of Paul's condamen, said that at the time of the fail-ure of the City National bank, a year ago last August, Paul confessed to him a shortage of about $14,000 for which he proposed to give his bondsmen his real estate. He thought Paul loaned aport $20,000 whether of his own or county his real estate. He thought Paul loaned about $20,000, whether of his own or county money he did not know. Mr. Paul loaned to Kerr $10,000 and to other prominent busi-ness men. A loan of $2,000 was made to Fist, Paul's deputy. When the final settle-ment was made before the Board of Super-visors Paul deeded his property to the bonds-men to idemnify them for having to meet the thortage.

shortage. On cross-examination it was shown that when the money was returned it was depos-ited to the credit of Adams county. Al-though the fact was known for a year and a balf that there was a shortage it was not mentioned to the Board of Supervisors. When Paul turned over property to the bondsmen he gave all his property, even to the chickens on his farm, and including some

At 6 o'clock a recess was taken until 9 to morrow. The testimony introduced today is evidently of the utmost importance and while the testimony of Messrs. Ratcliffe and Choose has here we of the other of Mes Cherry has been anticipated, that of Mr. Kerr is interesting as affording the first in-sight of the solution of the mystery which for five months has puzzied not only the people of Adams county but of the whole state.

OPENED THE CHAUTAUQUA.

THE PEER OF THEM ALL.

Bought to sell to the men and boys in Omaha by a man who spent a half a century in the bus1ness, the stock of clothing now being closed out by Hellman's administrator stands without a peer. He knew the wants of the people out here because he lived among them for years and years and made their wants his life study. Is it any wonder, then, that Hellman's administrator has no trouble in disposing of the goods to the envy of every clothing house in the west? No comparison can be made with this Hellman's administrator's closing sale and any other sale that has or may spring into existence. Suits are cut down in price until customers are ashamed to ask a little more off. Pants from $12 and $15 suits, the coat and vest being sold, go at most any price. Hellman's $4 fancy worsted pants in light colors, stripes and plaids, go at $2.50. Extraordinarily large or small men will get $5 pants for $3. 35c neckties for 15c; 50c ones for 25c. Black satin madras and outing flannel shirts 50c, Hellman sold some of them for $1.25. Genuine all silk shirts $1.50, for which everybody gets $4. Hellman's 25c half hose 15c, in brown, ecru and solid black. All through the stock this same tale might be prolonged, but come to the store or send a mail order and if you are not pleased it won't be the fault of

Fourth Annual Meeting of the Interstate Assembly at Beatrice.

BEATRICE, Neb., June 30 .- | Special to THE BEE]-The fourth annual assembly of the Interstate Chautauqua began here today under the most encouraging auspices. The attendance for the first day was quite large. 'Today's program contemplates the general order of preparation, and as a consequence the Chautauqua grounds present a very busy scene. A great many of the citizens of Bestrice will camp at the grounds for the season, and numerous arrivals are putting in an appearance from points all over the state with every incoming train.

The formal opening began at 8 o'clock this evening. It consisted of miscellaneons exercises at the tabernacle, including brief addresses by Dr. Torrey, Dr. Earp, Prof. Schnauffer and others. The addresses were pleasingly preluded with some excellent music, both vocal and instrumental. To morrow will begin the interesting routine of the assembly, and will comprise the following program:

Nebraska Farmers Delighted.

CRAWFORD, Neb., June 30. - | Special to THE BEE. |- The farmers here are jubilant over the prospect for a crop. The spring has been a little backward, but it has been very moist and left the soil in excellent condition. They have had an abundance of rain so far and the outlook for a crop was never so bright since the settlement of the country. The farmers can sympathize with the farmers of the cer trai southern part of the state in the mis-fortune of a lack of rate, for they have been through if, but this year they will have pienty and some to spare. Killed an Omaha Cilizen.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., June 30,-[Special Telegram to Tag Bag.] -Antonio Aldei, an Ital.an living in Omana, was instantly killed here today. Aldei was employed by the Burlington road as a section man, and, in company with the rest of his crew, was coming into town for dinner on the work train. When the train had just left the big cut south of here, the trucks of the car in front of the one on which Aldei and his companions were riding flew the track. Aldel was sitting on the workbox on the second car and the jarring of the car on the ties bumped him off and he fell between the cars. He was run over and cut almost in two. Five others of the employes jumped and received bad cuts and bruises. The coroner's jury is holding an inquest tonight.

Thirteen Horses Burned.

KEARNEY, Neb., June 30.- Special Tele gram to THE BEE. |-The Williams livery and feed staple on Twenty-fifth street was burned at 5 o'clock this morning. Thirteen horses, several buggies and a large quantity of grain and hay were consumed. One of the horses was a valuable stallion owned by H. Rhine and insured for $300. How the fire originated is a mystery, as the only person around the premises was asleep in the office and the fire started in the mow. The loss on building is partly covered by insurance. the

Gave the Tramps a Bath.

BEATRICE, Neb., June 30.- Special Tele gram to Tug BEE. |- The city police authorities have become pretty nearly disgusted with the influx of tramps that have been overrunning the city for some weeks past and last night a big gang of them, who had been locked up in the city juil for various misdemeanors, were given a bath from the fire Lose. The fellows begged lustily and fire Lose. promised to leave town instanter if the water was turned off. They were given short notice to leave this morning and went.

For the Old People.

A fair audience heard and admired the Amateurs of Omaha" at Boyd's theater last night in a condensed play in four acts of Schiller's Mary Stuart. The proceeds of the lay were for the bonefit of the Nebraska Home for the Aged, and if for no other reason the audience should have been very much larger. But there was more than the object to attract. In the difficult monologues and aramatic scenes of the play Mrs. D. H. Driscoll proved herself an elocutionist of no mean order and interpreted the lines of her part with a depth of feeling far from amateurish. Mrs. J.
