GOOD PROGRAM FOR THE OPENING DAY

Governor Boies Will Deliver an Address-A List of Those Who Have Tents or Cottages on the Grounds-News Notes

The Chautauqua assembly will open today and all indications point to a much larger stiendance, and in every way a more successful season than any of those preceding. For several days past the work of putting up tents has been going on rapidly, and a much larger number of tents have been bargained for in advance by prospective campers than at this stage of the proceedings last year. Yesterday Mulvaner appeared at the sher-iff's office with a large halo of righteous in-dignation on his head, and made some very wild threats against the sheriff and all his deputies, promising to get out warrants for their arrest on the charge of abduction. The giri was a minor and he was her guardian, and as he didn't want her taken away be claimed the judge had no right to order her sent to the reform school. He also threat-ened to get out a writ of habeas corpus for her and have her brought back from Mitch-ellville. Up to last evening, however, he had been unable to find an attorney who

George Melady, alias Sandy Malvern, and E. W. Farrell, the two con men who tried to "do" a Dagota far.aer the other day, and were arrested Thursday, decided to make a break for liberty yesterday afternoon. With this end in view they secured the services of Emmet Tinley as attorney and filed a petition in the district court alleging that they were held illegally in the city jali without any information having been filed, any warrant having been issued, or any charge hav-ing been made on the books at the city mar-shal's office. They accordingly demanded a writ of habens corpus. Judge Deemer issued an order that the two men be brought before him at 7:30 o'clock in the evening for a hearing. No information had been filed up to the hour when the petition for the writ of habeas corpus was filed. But as soon as the city officials found out what move was being made they lost no time in filing an information charging the two men with vagrancy, in default of anything more serious. When 7:30 o'clock arrived both parties were willing to postpone the trial, and a continuance was granted until this morning. The vagrancy case will be tried in police court at 8 o'clock. The city authorities fear that no charge more serious than that of vagrancy can be made to stick against Melady and Farrell, as the man whom they attempted to work has disappeared and will probably not be on hand to prosecute. The Chautauqua druggist, Geo. Davis,

"All the clubs have gone west to open the second championship series. Does that look like disbanding (' replied the president, with a smile. "What is the exact status of things now !"

"Well, there is every reason to believe that the Western will continue until the end of the second championship series. I see nothing now why it shouldn't, and if it does it will bardly dispand then. It is true that the first series has not been a success financially, but that has been due largely to the bad weather. We had a crisis about a week ago, when I feared one or two clubs would drop out, but that has been bridged over, and everything looks encouraging. All the clubs are satisfied to continue, and have all gone to the various cities to play the games scheduled. They all are in the Street Fakirs' Licenses.

The city council is about to make war upon all sorts of fakirs in the same way as upon the fruit peddiers the other night. There has been considerable comptaint by reason of the indefiniteness of the ordinances which govern the granting of licenses to these people, so that the council has authorized the city at-torney and the judiciary committee to revise the ordinances and put them in such shape that they can be enforced to the letter. While the committee is about it the amounts to be charged for the various sorts of licenses will be increased considerably above what they are now, and there is but little doubt that the ordinance, as amended, will pass the rouncil when it comes up next week for consideration.
