SPORT OF SUMMER'S SOLSTICE

Reorganization of the Western League and Dates for the Same.

THE BUZZ OF THE MERRY WHEEL

The Horseman's Budget—Chicken Shooting—Daly's Downfall—Breezy Local Miscellany and Questions Answered.

The Western league has been reorganized and will finish the season with six clubs, Minneapolis, Omaha and Kansas City in the west and Columbus, Toledo and Indianapolis in the east. Milwaukee and Fort Wayne have gone to the eternal bonavoids, and there is much rejoicing throughout the circuit over this happy riddance. Cushman can now return to his 10-cent barber shop in West Philadelphia, and Fort Wayne—well, you will have to hunt for her on the maps.

OMAHA AT HOME. July 11, 12, 13, 14, with Toledo. July 15, 17, 18, 19, with Indianapolis. July 22, 23, 24, 25, with Columbus. July 27, 28, 29, with Minneapolis. August 13, 14, 15, with Kansas City. September 8, with Minneapolis. September 24, 25, with Kansas City.

OMAHA AFIELD. August 4, 6, 7, at Kansas City. August 12, 13, 14, at Minneapolis. August 20, 21, 22, 23, at Toledo. August 27, 28, 29 and September 1 at Indianapolis. September 3, 4, 5, at Columbus. September 17 at Kansas City. September 23 and 24 at Minneapolis.

The seventh annual regatta of the Iowa Amateur Rowing association will be held at Spirit Lake next Tuesday and Wednesday. The list of entries has not been given to the public, but it is known that Junior Hapner will send senior and junior fours, junior double and junior single. The last will be piloted by McCalough, who has been in eight races and never lost one.

Sioux City will send a junior double and a junior four. Dubuque is booked for a junior four, pair, double and single, and senior pair and double. Ottumwa will be represented in junior four and double and senior single and double. Among the representatives will be E. L. Kirby, another fine sculler whose fame in amateur races is national.

Storia Lake will enter several junior races and send a female barge crew to row against a fair contingent from Sioux City. Burlington and Council Bluffs are also expected to be represented.

This regatta will try an experiment that may revolutionize amateur boating. Instead of a mile and a half course it will have junior and senior races piloted in heats over a quarter mile and return, the winner to take two out of three. This will bring the entire race within the sight of the spectators and make a hot, exciting contest. Many prominent boating men have endorsed the innovation as the best possible plan to popularize the sport, and the Spirit Lake experiment will be watched with lively interest in boating circles all over the country. There will also be freestyle races over a half mile and a half course for the benefit of amateur oarsmen from other states.

A Triump for Heavy Work. Team work and good horse racing is the secret of the Columbus club's success. In a majority of the games played here the home team outbatted the Buckeyes over two to one, and still were almost invariably beaten. If the White Sox scored you could bet your life it was an earned tally, and was sent over the plate by hard hitting. That is the only way Omaha could win a game from Schmeider's crew. On the other hand Columbus secured her runs by reckless chance-taking, good base running and air-round heavy play. In the game here last Wednesday, Columbus distinguished himself for stupidity, Omaha had three earned tallies to her credit, while Columbus had none, still they won the game 4 to 3. Fast base running and leadwork will win nine times out of ten, against heavy hitting and wooden-headed fielding. Not a single team in the circuit won the series from Columbus in the first division, and it seems that they do not intend to profit by their experience. Omaha, Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Toledo are the only teams in Kansas City, are equal in individual strength to the Buckeye team, and with a little more vim and dash in their conflicts with her they will greatly augment the excitement over the second series.

Prospects for Chicken Shooting. C. P. Hubbard, the well known proprietor of the Broken Bow kennels, now in Kearney, writes the Forest and Stream: A scarcity of game is reported from the southern and western states, owing to the late spring and heavy floods. High water along the Missouri river and its tributary streams (please include stamp for reply), the only requirements being that the inquirers shall reside where they cannot get shooting on this kind of game at home, and that they be able to pay for the game. I probably give 100 men locations where they will find the shooting a little above the average, where they will find pleasant people, good accommodations and reasonable prices. The rains and floods have not afflicted us. Young chickens are out of the shell and quail are breaking out this week. The country I have in mind is easily accessible and lies by rail twenty to sixty miles from Kearney. Arrangements should be made to arrive on the ground by September 1 for chickens. The best hunting on quail will be found after November 1, with some corvid shooting at chickens.

And Her Name is Hub. C. P. Hubbard, proprietor of the Loup Kennels, Broken Bow, has the Sporting Editor's acknowledgments for a handsome red setter puppy. She is the get of the popular Alstead, dam Jessie Jones, and was whelped April 24. "This is as good field stock," writes Mr. H., "as I can breed. Am not sure she will make a bench winner, but what a sportsman wants to put a field dog on the bench for I don't see. Her mother is a half sister to Champion Ruby (diamond), the champion Irish setter bitch of America. Her sire is a grandson of champion Echo, Jr., Sarstedt and Nico."

Chatty Letter from Echo Lake. ECHO LAKE, July 1.—Dear M.—Have just finished my dishwashing, a task that seems to fall on the uninitiated tenderfoot. I am now located at Echo Lake, nine miles from Idaho Springs and 11,000 feet above the sea level. Left the springs yesterday at 2 o'clock in company with Messrs. Long and Smith, two disciples of Blackstone, one dealing out the law in Denver and the other in Idaho Springs. To the unsophisticated horseman like myself, our very start was fraught with danger. About one mile from town found a bridge washed out, necessitating a ford in water six to eight feet deep, running like a mill-race. Accepted the services of one of the natives, who guaranteed the horses over while we crossed on the remains of the wagon bridge. First two horses made it all right, but the third took it into his head to take a swim down toward Denver and made a dismal failure of it, horse and rider being nearly drowned in the raging flood. However, the aforesaid native had considered the mud in his make-up and finally turned his horse back to shore. We then got him over on an improvised foot bridge. It is with a great deal of back-sneer, not due to my modesty, that I recount the trials and tribulations of the first five miles of our road to Echo. You know my extreme fondness for the equestrian line, I rode a nag that was an equine taster. The saddlebags evidently chafed him a little, for he started in kicking and making impatient "buckens." In my efforts to quiet him I nearly rode him off the bank into the stream, and I finally told Smith and Long that had enough and was going to turn back. They refused to part with my company, an action on their part that highly tickled my self-conceit. Found out later that their willingness to keep right were massive rocks with towering peaks above, clothed in their mantles of eternal snow. But the most stupendous grand scene of the ride did not commence until we struck the trail, which winds in and out on the side of the mountain. You can judge something of the ascent when I tell you we raised from 7,000 feet to 11,000 in four miles. The trail looks like a mere steep path, bordered on the left by a most indescribable confusion of rocks. On the right, however, the distance below lay the rushing stream, where a misstep of our horses would land us. The last two miles of our journey lay through a dense forest of magnificent pines. Passing through this the silence was only broken by the tramping and puffing of the horses and the occasional cry of the chipmunk. In fact, the atmosphere was still all of her voices to prepare us for the magnificent finale. We finally broke through the pines to the little plain of Echo Lake. Echo Lake, it was bathed in the rays of a celestial sun. To the west lay Mount Rosalie, Edlin and Evans; to the northwest, Long's and James' peaks; to the east, the snow-capped mountains of the West. It was a most magnificent grand sight. Our friend Long, forgo his accustomed dignity and his forty odd years and gave vent to his feelings in a whoop that would have done credit to an Apache. For myself I was astounded by the grandeur and only came to myself when I found the high altitude beginning to work on me in the form of nose bleeds. Shall stay here two or three days, depopulating the lake and streams of the way trout which appear to abound hereabouts. Have been making Idaho Springs my headquarters, a point of little practical interest. I have thirty-five miles from Denver, 7,500 feet above sea level. The town is burying its light under a bushel. There is no reason why it cannot come forward and become the finest summer resort in the west. It has great natural advantages, being located in the very midst of one of the most fertile tracts in the state. The curative properties of its hot water springs are something wonderful. The water ranges from 85° to 105° F., and contains principally carbonate, soda, magnesium, calcium and sulphate of soda and magnesia. There is everything here to suit the most fastidious tourist—good hotels, chief among which is the Lorraine, presided over by the genial Quigley, magnificent scenery, interesting mines, which are always open to visitors, and the innumerable springs above mentioned. Besides this you have the privilege of getting the inside of the silver question, which is such a mystery to us easterners. D. B. A.

Game called at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Indianapolis has yet her first game to win from Uncle Dave's pots. Summary treatment is what Milwaukee should have had. She should have been fired bodily.

Joe Walsh never played the game he is putting up for Columbus this season. It is to be hoped that base ball has had at last an elegant sufficiency of Hy Hach.

John-Jack Thornton, once the pride of Milwaukee, has been chased by Syracuse. "Spud" Farish now takes his own peanuts, but that big chunk of glass he's painting off for ice in his lemonade barrel don't do him any good.

In Wednesday's game, just after that brilliant throw down to second, a benchesman yelled at Uncle, "Hey, there, Dave! What you doing, playing for your release?" Tom Nickery is unquestionably one of the best pitchers in the country, and ought not to lose more than one game out of a half dozen against any team in the Western league.

Jerry Herley of the Toledoos was soaked 80 last week for overflowing his tank, while Elgin received a like dose for insubordination. It was the proper prescription, as both men are now playing a great game.

Norman Baker, it seems, has quickly developed into the star umpire of this association. "His work at Columbus," observed Gus Schmidt the other evening, "was the best sample of work I have seen this season, not excepting even that of McQuaid."

Miscellaneous Local Sports. J. G. Jaycox of South Omaha, acted as starter at the Ponca races, and gave great satisfaction.

Danny Daly was an easy victim for Solly Smith at Frisco Friday evening. He greatly disappointed his many friends here.

Fred Fuller announces that he is ready to accept the offer of John Pettit's claim to the championship of Nebraska with the rifle. Billy Nason's sporting grounds at Tension park are the popular race, and big crowds of sportsmen assemble there every Saturday and Sunday.

The Omaha Gun club will revive its annual club hunt this fall on an elaborate scale. It is a most enjoyable occasion, but one that should be deprecated by all legitimate sportsmen.

All the active gamblers are now on the qui vive for the arrival of the spian, played by one of the choicest game birds that visits this locality. They are already due, and their cheery whistle as they pass over can be expected any night.

Tom Roge of Chicago, who has ridden across the continent on a bicycle several times, and who has made himself known in nearly every cycling town in the United States, was in attendance at the meet and showed some of the new men how to ride a bicycle. He won two prizes and then generously gave them away. They consisted principally of cigars.

Omaha sent down a much larger delegation to Hastings this year than was expected on the club runs and proved a good team. They consisted principally of cigars.

colored at Daxon's bicycle emporium now. Mr. Howard is an experienced bicyclist man and will prove a valuable aid to Mr. Daxon.

N. T. Pisk, local consul of E. Wood, was an entry in the safety events, but did not show up as well as wished for.

The Omaha wheel club go to Horseshoe lake this morning for a day's fishing, starting from the club house at 6 o'clock.

Holton, Schnell and Maentfering of the Tourist wheelmen racing team captured nearly every prize in sight at the Hastings meet. The boys will keep in trim for the Sioux City meet where they expect to add some more scalps to their belt.

The Tourist wheelmen pedal over to Crescent City, Ia., to meet the Missouri Valley wheel club and escort them to the city. The two clubs will spend the greater portion of the day in visiting each other.

Holton surprised his friends by the form he showed in. He failed to win a single race. He felt rather disappointed himself, but avows that it won't happen again. Holton has demonstrated more than once that he is a speedy man, and will surprise some of them yet.

Charlie Nicodemus and his merry band of cyclists from Fremont were features of the meet. The Fremont club in their neat blue and white club emblems fastened to the fore crown, presented a metropolitan appearance.

It was noticed that the ladies who crede were quite numerous upon the streets Wednesday evening. Their wheels were in good form, singly, in pairs and squads for and for. It was a fine opportunity for riding and the fair cyclists took advantage of the fact and enjoyed themselves.

Beatrice, Neb., will hold its first meeting this year August 23, 24 and 25. Billy Paxton is in California. When he returns he will bring a couple of world-beaters with him.

The pool privileges for the Nebraska Breeding meet at Beatrice, Neb., August 9 to 12, are for sale.

Five stake races for the Louisiana, Mo., meeting closed with 129 entries and only eight dropped out on second payment.

W. H. Ewing is at Sedalia, Mo., with Dandy Jim, 2:19 1/2, who is expected to do some good work in his class this season.

The Missouri station Whitefoot, 2:21 1/2, will wear aluminum shoes this year, as those made of ordinary metal prove too heavy for him.

B. F. Swagartz, Sweet Springs, Mo., has eight colts at Sedalia, Mo., and he will send Andrew Allison, 2:22 1/2, there in a short time.

Lobasee, 2:16 1/2, has been placed in McHenry's hands at Freeport, Ill., and his first race will be at Freeport on August 15, for a purse of $1,500.

L. E. Southwick, secretary of the association at Freeport, this state, writes that the entries for their coming meet close July 25, for all events except running.

Roslyn, 2:30 1/2, by Robert McGregor, 2:17 1/2, and Ellen McGregor (2) by Roslyn, owned by W. C. Brown, St. Joseph, Mo., were added to Holter's string last week.

W. T. Van Brant, St. Joseph, Mo., will move in a short time with his pacing stallion Northwest, 2:17 1/2, to Shenandoah, Ia., where he will be located permanently.

Mr. A. Hurlbut, Lincoln, Neb., has sold his fast road team to Robert Greer, Kearney. Mr. Greer can set the pace for any private team in his neck of the woods—price for team $500.

At the recent Lyons meeting the rumor got out that Mr. George Bailey, owner and driver of Great Victory, had been constantly referred to as the "clerical gentleman from Fairbury."

I. Banks Wilson of Granton, Ia., has purchased a section of land near Olativa, Kan., and will start a branch to his well known stock farm. Mr. Wilson also owns a section in this state which is admirably adapted for the same purpose.

Nason, this city, with reference to registered pointers.

There is a letter at this office for Mark Burns, the wrestler.
