THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: FRIDAY, JULY 15, 1892.

FAVORED BY THE SENATE

Some of the Measures Reported by That Fody's Committees.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE INDIANS

Benator Paddock's Amendment to the Appropriation Bill Accepted-Dividing the Fort Randall Military Reservation-Washington Notes and Personals.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 513 FOURTEENTS STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.

The senate committee on appropriations have inserted the following items in the general deficiency appropriation bill of interest to Tag Bag readers: "To pay the account of Courles E. Pierce, chairman of Pine Ridge commission, for services and expenses incurred by him in a visit to Washington under instructions from the Department of the Interior for the purpose of a consultation in regard to matters contained in the report of the Pine Ridge commission organized unde the authority of the Indian appropriation act of March 3, 1891, $149; to pay the assistant atto ney general in charge of Indian depredation claims an amount sufficient to make his compensation from the date of his qualification to the end of the fiscal year, 1802, the same as that paid to the other assistant attorney general in the department of justice, $2.521, or so much as may be nec-essary." This is for the direct benefit of General Colby of Beatricy For salaries, office of surveyor general of Dakota, $1,591.70; for contingent expenses, office of surveyor general of South Dakota, 1891, $192.44.

Favored by Senate Committees.

Senator Paddock has and reported favorably from the committee on Indian affairs his amendment to the regular Indian appro-priation bill appropriating for payment of judgments of the court of claims in Indian dependences. depredations, $479.626. A favorable report has been made by the senate public lands committee upon Senator Pettigrew's bill providing that all that por-tion of the Fort Randall military reservation which lies within the state of South Dakota which lies within the state of South Dakota may be selected at any time within one year after approval of the survey of the reservation by the state of South Dakota as a part of the land granted to the state under the predictor of the state of South Dakota under the provisions of the act to provide for the admission of South Dakota into the union, and when the lands are selected the secretary of the interior shail cause patents to be issued to South Dakota.

There is very little doubt now of the ultimate success of the Pettigrew bill to amend the act of 1891, repealing the timber culture laws. It has been favorably reported from the senate committee on public lands with certain amendments which give it additional strength. The bill as reported to the senate provides that anyone who has made a timber culture entry and has, for eight years in good faith, attempted to comply with the provisions of the laws as they stood at the time of entry and who at the time of making the entry was a bona fide resident of the state or territory in which the land is located or residing within five miles of such state or territory, and where there was no pending contest on March 3, 1891, shall be entitled to make final proof and acquire title by pay-ment of the customary fee for final proofs in ment of the customary Further Amendments.

Section 24 of the act is amended by adding the following: "And he may, when deemed or pedient, vacate any such reservation or any portion thereof, and by like proclama-tion restore it to the public domain, subject to disposition under the land laws of the United

The bill further provides that whenever any person has initiated in good faith, by settlement or otherwise, a claim to any of the public lands of the United States which shall afterwards be selected and withdrawn as a permanent site for a reservoir under any act of congress, he may, nevertheless, make final proof and payment for the land and receive a patent therefor, and whenand receive a pitche throw lands which have been selected for reservoir gites under any act of congress shall file in any United

SOUTH DAKOTA'S CURIOSITY.

Petrified Remains of a Man Discovered Near Wind Cave.

Hor Spaines, S. D., July 13 .- [Special to THE BRE.]-The report came to this place a few days ago that a petrified man had been found near Wind cave, but it was thought to be a "fake" until a number of people went out vesterday to see it and found that it was a fact. One of the parties who went out furnishes THE BEE correspondent with the following: "It appears that while traversing the bank to be a fossil of some parties saw what looked to be a fossil of some sort, similar to those found in the Bad lands, and upon a closer examination they saw that it was the shoulder of a man. They at once proceeded to excavate and succeeded in bringing to light the perfect petrifaction now to be seen at the cave, and which was purchased by Mr.

Bronte. "The specimen is probably that of a young man from 25 to 30 years of age, well formed man from 25 to 30 years of age, well formed and fully developed physically, even to sex; in height it is six feet one and one-half inches and belongs to the dolleephals or round-headed race of human beings; the head is twenty-one and three-quarter inches in (horizontal) circumference, and twenty-seven and one-half in (vertical) circumfer-bence over the crown, ears and under the ence over the crown, cars and under the chin. The forehead recedes very much, which indicates low mental ability, the nose is slightly aquiline and broad, the lips are rather thick, the chin and cheek bones are well formed, the neck is sixteen inches in circumference, the chest thirty-five and three quarter inches, the hips thirty-eight and one-quarter, the bicops thirteen and three-quarter inches, and length of arm from shoulder to elbow is sixteen and elbow to middle of digit is twenty and onevice commander; Weils of McCook, surgeon; S. The father witnessed the baby's awful death without being able to render the slightest assistance. Its clothing was caught in a shaft.

FREMOST, Neb., July 14 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-The 12-year-old son of Henry Scivers, a Webster township farmer, was dragged to death yesterday while plowing. The accident was not discovered until the team came to the house with the child's corpse entangled in the lines.

Expected to be Killed. VALLEY, Nob., July 14 .- Special Telegram o THE BEE. |-Albert Pagels, a young man about 25 years of age, who has been employed by Mr. Bierback of Elkhorn for some months past, became crazed from some unknown cause several days ago and started across the country on foot for the timber on the Platta river. He wandered around in the brush without food or drink and was not seen until today about noon, when he came to the place of J. H. D. King, five miles south of here and crawled under his corn crib to hide. The people of the house discovered him and tried to get him out, but in vain. He said some one in Eikhorn was trying to kill him and he wanted to keep out of sight. They went in to dinner and on returning found him weltering in his own blood. He had cut his throat with his pocket knife. A messenger was sent in post haste for medical aid, and the man still survives. His wind pipe is cut nearly in two pieces.

Jack Egan Shows His Contempt for a "Street Work" Sentence,

A couple of officers the other night rounded up Jack Egan, a man to whom no species of law-breaking is unfamiliar. Half a dozen men testified against him in police court. He was sentenced to twenty days at hard labor on the streets. Nothing else could be done except to send him to the county jail, which is no punishment at all. CAUGHT STEVE.

Police Fix a Vagrant for Forty Days Work on the Street.

Steve Dally was arrested for vagrancy and made a strong plea for liberty, but it was no go. Behind him stood in a semi-circle Officers Sullivan, Vanous, Keysor, Ryan and

Ormsby, and they all "rapped." Sullivan had a ring which Steve had sold to a disreputable woman and which of course he had stolen. I his was explained and then Vanous took an inning and told how the vic-tim had stolen a hat. Daily claimed that the hat had been merely borrowed and Keysor reminded the judge of a great variety of offenses for which the prisoner had been ar-rested in times past. Still the judge hesitat-ed, and Tom Ormsby cleared his throat and went to the bat. When he had finished his ittle speech Daily's chances for a discharge had gone aglimmering and his reputation wa torn into shreds small enough for gun wads. He was assigned to duty on the streets for the next forty days and went to his seat smiling. Even bets were offered that he would not serve more than three hours. BRAINS SEEKING REST.

Great Beet Harvesting Machine.

Another Omaha man seems to have struck trich. He is a tallor, and at present his name must not be made public, but he has invented a machine which promises to make im a fortune. It is a machine to be used in harvesting sugar beets. It will pull the beets out of the ground, shake the dirt from them, cut off the tops and tails and load them in a wagon

Oxnard of the Grand Island Mr. rugar beet factory has examined the machine, and pronounces it the best thing of the kind yet invented. Mr. Oxnard will in all probability become a part owner of the patent, which has been ap-plied for, and a factory for making the ma-chines will be built in Omahu.
