Furniture Department.

The wonderful growth of our furniture department is not equalled by anything in the business world. Our con stant and increasing trade has enabled us to develop this department until now we carry a line os goods second to none. We have just closed a bargain for sev eral car loads of furniture for fall trade. This lot of goods will comprise bedroom suits, book cases, chiffoners, sideboards extension tables, beadsteads. All come direct from factories. To make room for this lot of goods we have decided to reduce our enormous line of fance rock ers. You can now buy one at the lowest price ever made on these goods. Fic tures also share the same fate. W carry a large and handsome line. Be on the watch for a grand Niagara of falling prices in this most complete furniture layout in the west.

WELLS AUCTION STORAGE CO.

Card from N. B. Falconer.

We have made a spiendid purchase of pocket books, purses, satchels, school bags, shopping bags, etc., etc. Many of these goods we have actually bought at loc on the dollar.

Our buyer writes us that it is the most extraordinar, which and of leather goods that has taken place in New York for several years, and that we were very fortunate in being able to take advantage of it. Goods will be here early in the week and will be immediately placed on sale. Full particulars later. N. B. FALCONER.

Miss Alice Isaacs goes to New York today to purchase an entire new stock of fine millinery goods of the latest de signs. She will continue in business at the old stand. Mrs. Reynolds, her sister, is now in New York helping selec new goods. She will return shortly and have charge of the old stand, 307 South 16th street, for Zeimer & Foldstein of New York.

light the sultan and entertain his barem Ben Ganga is of high rank, as he belongs to the sultan's horsehold and has a record of having danced five hours without cessation. He is esteemed very holy by his companions, as, according to the Mohammedan faith, hell can never claim a cunuch because he is ever under Al-iah's special protection. The cunuch's costume consists of a red and green turban a richly embroidered shawl, a gold and white robe, vellow slik trousers, slik stockings and shoes of the reddest morocco leather. When he begins the dance the Ethiopian, with a "catch-as-catch-can" beat, stamps his feet on the ground, the tam-bourines thump wildly, the discordant flute and mandolin seem to be getting in strange and rapid changes of werd noises, the dancer sways his body from right to left, wags his head, whirls faster and faster, shows his teeth in grinning ecstacy until his shawl stands straight out and every Arab in the band sways until the scene is invested with genuine bit of barbarism. The strange dance is brought to a close when the grinning and whirling eunuch sinks down on one knee and salaums. The Arabs appear to be very much affected by this odd and barbarle display and regard Ben Ganga with reverential admiration. There is a bit of poetic sentiment in the fact, too, that the Arabs are all high caste Berbers or descendants of the Moors who formerly occupied Southern Spain and who were driven out by Ferdinand and isabelia just before Columbus discovered America, for they are compelled to take part in the great spectacle of Columbus that Barnum & Bailey will present on September 14, and impersonate a portion of the defeated Moorish army.

The people of Omaha will again prove their hatred of misrepresentation by waiting for Baraum & Bailey, for memories of last season's spectacle promptly contradict the cheap talk of one-horse showmen, and when the great Chicago Tribune says, as it did a couple of weeks ago, that "it easily proved its claim to being the greatest on earth," it means just what it says, and small shows can only flutter about like insects around a candie, basking in the light of greatness and being singed when they get too near.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Major Paddock Fumes Some Over an Appointment.

When the county commissioners convened yesterday afternoon Mr. Stenberg moved the appointment of a man to fill the vacancy on the Soldiers Relief commission, caused by the resignation of M. D. Roche. As an amendment Mr. Paddock moved that the bourd proceed to the election of a man to fill the vacancy.

On rollcall Mr. Paddock was knocked out, as Messrs. Stenberg, Williams and Chairman Berlin voted to have this go over.

This caused the gentleman from the Little Pappio to grow warm under the collar and red in the face. He started in by abusing the chairman. Chairman Berlin had remained standing while he put the motion. This position made Mr. Paddock wild with rage, and boiling over he demanded that Mr. Berlin sit down.

Mr. Berlin insisted that he knew his busi-ness and declared Mr. Paddock out of order. Mr. Paddock switched. He said that he had Mr. Particles switched. He said that he had been a good soldier, and in behalf of the ex-soldiers of Douglas county demanded a voto upon the name of Dr. J. W. Kinsler, which was presented last Saturday. If there was any scheme in the filling of the vacancy he wanted to know it, and what was trouble.

Mr. Stenberg assured Mr. Paddock that there was nothing wrong; the majority of the board simply wanted time to look up the dualifications of prospective candidates. Dr. Kinsler was not a candidate of the board; his name was simply presented by Mr. Paddock, who asked for a confirmation The county cierk was given authority to employ a bookkeeper. The committee on roads reported that ow-ing to the dilapidated condition of the road fund it was not advisable to grade South Thirteenth street to the county line. Mr. Stenberg had a minority report show ing that the fund was no. in such bad shape as Messrs. Williams and Paddock would have people believe. His report stated that the people expected the road graded to Fort Crook and recommended that $5,000 be taken from the road fund to be expended on South
