Republican and Democratic Doctrines Fairly Compared—Something of the Banner Under Which the Minnesota Nominees Will March to Victory.

BEATRICE, NEB., AUG. 2.—[Special Telegram to THE HERALD.]

Today was a memorable one for Beatrice, and will be long and patriotically remembered by its inhabitants and the great throng of visitors brought here from all sections of the state to hear the great apostle of protection to American industries, Governor McKinley, jr., of Ohio, deliver the first great speech of this great national campaign.

Beatrice was resplendent in bunting and the national colors. Citizens, without regard to their political leanings, decorated their residences and business houses in honor of the great Buckeye statesman with emblems signifying their faith in his patriotic devotion to the country.

From up and down the valley of the Republican came delegations in uniform and without uniforms. Kansas, Missouri and Iowa were represented by republican clubs, all wearing the Harrison hat. The members of the Fairbury republican club made a specially handsome appearance in their white suits, long iron dusters, and white and blue umbrellas.

Inspected the City's Industries. Governor McKinley was driven about town today by the reception committee and taken through the various manufacturing concerns of Beatrice. He was accompanied by the president of the Commercial and Manufacturing Association.

Returning from the drive about the city the party encountered the Fairbury club, which had just arrived, at the "paddock hotel."

My Fellow-Citizens—I am glad to meet the citizens of this city, and to see you all gathered here today. I am glad to see you all gathered here today, and to see you all gathered here today.

The republicans of Otoe county met in convention in this city today, and elected delegates to the state convention. Van Wyck has a long lead.

The delegates already here are for Van Wyck by a large majority, and it is generally conceded that he will be nominated on the first ballot.

Some of his friends talk of springing a horse on the Van Wyck boom, but that move will be abortive.

There is a great deal of sympathy among the delegates for Powers, and a plan is now under discussion to help him out financially.

Mr. Watson Reterrates His Charge—Absent Members of Congress Ordered Back—The Senators Discuss the Pinkerton System.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 2.—Mr. Cobb

took the stand in his own defense today before the committee investigating the Watson charges. He testified that he had never used any stimulants.

He had called for beef tea because it was warm and soothing to the throat. From time to time he had the cup sent back and replenished in order to exchange the cold tea for the hot tea.

Whether whisky was brought by a page carried out on his desk for him, he did not know. He said he had never drunk any whisky.

Mr. Watson at this point interrupted the proceedings by asking Judge Cobb how he indicated that that beverage was out and that he wished the cup replenished.

HASTINGS' MURDER MYSTERY

Delavan S. Cole Found Dead in a Deserted Shanty Yesterday Morning.

HE HAD BEEN SHOT THROUGH THE HEAD

Some Think He Was Killed for Money and Others Alleged There Was a Woman in the Case—The Coroner Investigating.

HASTINGS, NEB., AUG. 2.—[Special Telegram to THE HERALD.]

Hastings has a mystery which follows close on the heels of the Youm-Yanfleet tragedy and the county deficit cases, and which seems to be quite as perplexing for a time at least as these two other mysteries which have excited the people of Hastings.

This morning Delavan S. Cole, one of the oldest settlers of this city and one of her most respected citizens, was found dead in an old deserted one-story house a couple of hundred yards south of his home on East South street.

Some think he was killed for money and others alleged there was a woman in the case. The coroner is investigating.
