George B. Jaschuck, secretary of THE BEE Publishing company, does solemnly swear that the setual cremition of THE DALLY BEE for the week ending July 30, 18:2, was as follows:

Average GEORGE B. TZSCHUCK. Sworn to before me and subscribed in my pres-nee this 30th day of July, 1892. N. P. Firit. Notary Public. Average Circulation for June 25,802.

THE nomination of Crounse was the triumph of the better and truer element of Nebraska republicanism.

make its readers believe that in the democratic sandwich of this campaign Cleveland and free trade are the slices of bread, but Stevenson and the force bill are the genuine meat.

A DUBUQUE paper proposes that Governor Boies run against Colonel Henderson in the Third Iowa district. But Horace, we are positive, will not do it. No sane man wants to butt his head against two stone walls in a year.

THE filibustering democrats declared that they were opposed to the World's fair appropriation on the ground of principle. So the caucus decided to cut the amount one-half. But in doing so they cut out the principle altogether.

Our slightly esteemed contemporary down street had nothing about the Lincoln convention in its Thursday afternoon issue, while THE BEE had nearly a page. This is the difference between a newspaper and a print shop.

OMAHA took a breathing spell during the past week. It was too hot to do business. But just to keep her hand in she transacted a matter of a million a day in the jobbing trade and shows an Increase of 6.2 per cent over the corre sponding week of last year.

IF OMAHA citizens will watch the trains going through this city to Denver and read the reports of the great crowds pouring into that town they will, perhaps, awake to the realization of the giant crowd which will be upon us in a very few days and prepare for the same.

THE Kolbites in Alabama claim that Kolb is honestly elected governor, and they have issued a call to their members to meet at every courthouse tonight and see that the ballots are correctly counted. This is a gross insult to the fair name of Alabama. Whoever heard of such a thing as an unfair count in that loyal state?

GLADSTONE insisted upon the reelection of Speaker Peel of the House of Commons. This sounds strange to Americans. In England the speaker is not a partisan in any sense, and has little influence in party counsels. Peel was first made speaker by the liberals in 1885 and continued as speaker by the conpervatives in 1886. He was a liberal, but that fact is merely facidental.

THE London Times, the great paper of England, says of the nomination of Cieveland: "Undoubtedly our interests as a trading community must make us wish success to the democrats, who now for the lirst time go to the polls as the avowed champions of free trade." That extract ought to be pasted in every American voter's hat from now until November 8 For what England wants, as a commercial nation, America to do, America must not do.

AN EXCELLENT TICKET.

The republicans of Nebraska enter the campaign under most favorable auspices. The nomination of Lorenzo Crounse is within itself a harbinger of victory. His nomination inaugurates a new era in the political history of the state. The party has nominated a man who has not sought the office of governor, but will make a great sacrifice in accepting it. And this man enters the arena without a blemish upon his character and a record that commends him to the people as worthy of their highest

With Lorenzo Crounse as their standard bearer, republicans are in position to wage an aggressive campaign and recover every inch of the ground they have lost within the past two years. They will present a united front to the common enemy and swing back into line thousands of disaffected republicans who recognize in Judge Crounse a stanch champion of the vital reforms which the producing and industrial classes have for years demanded.

The candidacy of Judge Crounse will also meet with a most cordial support from business men of all parties who above all things desire to see the affairs of this state administered by an executive who is conservative and sound upon every question involving the good name and credit of the state and is experienced in the management of public affairs.

From head to foot the republican ticket will not only commend itself to the earnest and active support of republicans, but will bear favorable comparison with the candidates that have been recently nominated by the new reform party.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The platform unanimously adopted by the republican state convention is clear statement of principles which ought to command the unqualified approval of every citizen of Nebraska, as it certainly will of all republicans in the state. Its hearty endorsement of the administration of President Harrison accords with the sentiment of the party everywhere. The assertion that the republican party is the friend of all classes of labor is justified by its record, which warrants confidence in its pledge to care for the interests of labor in the future. Every good citizen will concur- in the utterance of the platform regarding conflicts between labor and capital and the method suggested for their peaceful settlement.

The platform pledges the party in favor of legislation that will give the farmers of the state elevator and warehouse facilities at reasonable and equitable charges, and also furnish them proper transportation facilities to all accessible markets promptly and without discrimination at just and equitable rates. This refers to a matter which is of prime importance to the agricultural interests of the state. The demand for the regulation by law of express charges within the state is in the interest of the whole people. The proposed amendment to the constitution providing for an elective railroad commission, to be their success in private life has not been favored, and the party is also committed in favor of a postal telegraph system, postal savings banks and rural free de livery, all of which would be chiefly beneficial to the agricultural population and the smaller communities. The evil of trusts is recognized and laws to eradicate and repress them recommended. The necessity of a revision of the revenue laws of the state, so that all property rightfully subject to taxation shall-contribute its just share to the public revenues, is generally conceded, and the platform suggests that this be done by a commission of competent persons representing the principal industries of the state. The claims of the union soldiers upon the beneficence of the nation are duly recognized.

With this declaration of sound principles, and clean, capable candidates, the republican party can confidently ask the support of the voters of Nebraska.

MR. CLEVELAND IS PLEASED. A dispatch from the summer home of Mr. Cleveland at Buzzard's Bay states that he is much pleased over the result of the election in Alabama. It is to be inferred from this that he had been apprehensive of democratic defeat there, assuming that he paid any attention at all to the contest. But at any rate, the fact that Alabama, which has been uniformly democratic at every election for twenty years, is still so pleases Mr. Cleveland. He finds in it, as do the democratic organs generally, the assurance that the south is yet solid for the democracy. The fear that the new political movement might make serious inroads upon democratic strength in that section has been dispelled by the result in Alabama. The menace of the people's party to democratic domination in the south no more troubles the democratic mind. Alabama has demonstrated that that party is not a dangerous factor there, and that whatever it may accomplish elsewhere it will do no harm to the southern dem-

It is in this spirit that the Philadelphia Record declares that the election in Alabama "puts an end to the fear that the south can be seduced from its old allegiance by any side issue." "The south is solid," exclaims that devoted organ of the democracy; "the result in Alabama has cleared away the smoke, From henceforth the battle will be a battle waged in the debatable states of the north." Unquestionably this is an accurate statement of the situation. The people's party, though originating in the south and having its organizers chiefly from that section, is already practically dead there. The probability is that General Weaver will not carry half a dozen counties in the entire south. The southern alliance men will vote the democratic ticket. They will do so because before everything else in politics is a foregone conclusion that they will do so this year.

Will former republicans who are identified with the new political movement in the west, and who still believe that the principles of the republican party are more conducive to the welfare of the country than democratic principles, seriously consider this situation? Deserted, as they evidently will be, by the southern wing of the political organizaion with which they are affiliated, are hey prepared to contribute to democratic success by casting their votes in a hopeless cause? It must be apparent to every intelligent man among them that there could be no possible advantage to the people's party in democratic success. The election of Mr. Cleveland would insure the recognition of no single principle for which the new party ontends, but it might result in perpetu ating democratic control of the government for many years. When it is considered what that would mean in the way of reactionary legistation, in the overturning of established financial and conomic policies to which the vast business interests of the country have become firmly adjusted, no man who is solicitous for the continued progress and prosperity of the country can desire democratic success. Will the ex-republicans in the people's party allow themselves to be made the catspaws of tho southern democracy?

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY CANDIDATES. In nominating General C. H. Van Wyck as its candidate for governor, the people's party selected the ablest and the most popular of its leaders, but did he possess the ability of Daniel Webster or Roscoe Conkling he still would be unable to make the level-headed people of the country believe in the doctrines enunciated by the new political organization. General Van Wyck has had an honorable career as a soldier, a representative in congress and a senator of the United States. As a leader of the new political movement for the relief of the toilers he is distinctly out of place, in view of the fact that he is one of the wealthiest men in Nebraska. It is not conceivable that General Van Wyck can be in accord with the wild financial schemes advocated by the party with which he is now identified. Himself a capitalist and a man of notable shrewdness and sagacity in financial affairs, no one knows better than he the utterly impracticable character of the new party's economic principles. In accepting the leadership of the new movement, therefore, it is fair to assume that General Van Wyck has in view the furtherance of an ulterior am-

As to the other candidates on the people's ticket they can hardly be regarded as toilers in the sense that the armer and the mechanic toil. Three of them are lawyers, one is an editor, one a school teacher and two are farmers, though of the latter one is more of a speculator in farm products than a practical agriculturist, Each and all of them were politicians in the old parties and have long cultivated an itch for office. As a whole they will not compare in character and capabilities with the republican candidates. Not one of them, except Van Wyck, has ever been prominent in public life, and it can be said of several of them that such as to give assurance that they would make a particularly brilliant record in public affairs.

DURING the month of July the receipts of grain by lake at the port of Buffalo were 21,000,000 bushels, while those of the season to date reach the total of 75,000,000 bushels, for a little over three months of navigation. This exceeds by 20,000,000 bushels the receipts of 1890 for the same period, which was the best previous record. The railroads are getting a much larger share of this freight than the canal, notwithstanding that the canal freights are 30 per cent lower than they were in 1890. In the latter year the receipts of grain by lake to August 1, excluding flour, were 47,000,000 bushels while the railroads got 22,000,000 bushels. This year the canal gets only about 20 per cent of the total amount received, and besides this the railroads get nearly all of the flour, which amounts this year to several million barrels. With reduced business and diminished rates the boatmen are having hard times this year, and many of them have been obliged to give up the fight. Clearances of canal boats from Buffalo to date number only 2,070, against 3,042 in 1890 and 4,957 in 1891. These facts will be regarded as important by all who are interested in the problem of cheap transportation from west to east.

THE advantage which the South Omaha packers will gain by reason of the reduced rate which opens this market to Texas cattle is now beginning to be apparent Heretofore at this season of the year it has been impossible to procure cattle enough to keep the business going, and to a great extent this is the case now, but it is expected that the effect of the new differential will be shown before many days in receipts of Texas cattle sufficient to greatly increase the volume of business at South Omaha over that of previous years at this season. It is too soon to expect large results from the newly opened source of supply, us there has been very little time to work up a business in southern cattle, but the receipts of stock are larger now than ever before at this time of the year, and extensive shipments from the south will soon begin to arrive. The packers are greatly pleased with the outlook.

Chicago knows no rival in the consumption of brick and mortar. This summer is her banner season. The building permits issued banner season. The building permits issued from January to July of this year represent a total street frontage of 156,402 feet. This is 7,800 feet more than for six mouths proceding. Placed in a straight line without allowance for cross streets or spaces between the houses the six months operations amount to within a fraction of thirty miles of new buildings. The yearty increase in the value of Chirago buildings amounts to more than $55,000,000.

Tom Majors was too good a soldier to show anything but loyalty to his comrades. REMARKS ON M'KINLEY.

Kansas City Times (dem.): His appeal to farmers is essentially republican. It is to seek legislation which shall subject 65.000,-000 consumers to taxation for the benefit of the farmer. To the wageworker he makes the same appeal. In the meantime neither derives the promised benefit, but the manu-facturers divide the bonus.

Globe-Democrat (vep.): The interest which is being taken by republicans in the northwest in Governor McKinley's speaking tour through that section is significant. It shows that there is no break in the republicant in the r lican line in that quarter. The party there, as elsewhere, is sound on the tariff issue which the McKinley law put to the front and the Minneapolis platform endorsed.

Kansas City Star (dom.): The stock argu-

Kansas City Star (dam.): The stock arguments in favor of protection were reiterated at length by Governor McKinley of Ohio at Beatrice, Neb. It is due the speaker to say that his defense of the measure which bears his name revealed a degree of sincerity worthy of a better cause. But Mr. McKinley's own fixed belief in the blessings of the tariff system does not alter the fact that he is clinging to a fallacious system which cannot be upheld by any logical process of reasoning.

Chicago Inter Ocean (rep.): No man can say anything new concerning high tariff, low tariff, or no tariff; the philosophies and practiculities of tariff legislation of all sorts, at home and abroad, have been expounded in thousands of speeches and essays, and ex-emplified in tens of thousands of statistical documents. But to Governor McKinley be-longs the happy knack of arranging old arments and statistics in new and striking forms, of giving the charm of vitality to Minneapolis Tribune (rep.): The Tribune today prints in full the great speech of Gov-ernor McKinley at Beatrice, Neb., yester-day. We do not besitate to say that it is the fullest, completest and most thorough vindi-cation of protection given since the tariff dis-cussion of 1888. And it is more valuable than any one speech made then, because it is based on actual experience and unquestionable facts arising under a protective tariff now in force, and is therefore a vindication of a live and positive experience, and not of Philadelphia Times (ind.): It will probably occur to some one to remark, in answer to Mr. McKinley, that the fact that the democratic convention did not think it necessary to incorporate various historical state ments in its platform did not necessarily imply a decial of those statements, and that the practical question today is not whether there shall be any duties on imports, but whether they shall be levied on the McKinley plan. But this is not the point that Mr. McKinley is anxious to discuss. The old tariff scare has done duty so often that he and Mr. Harrison's committee are going to try it again. It is probably the best they can do, but there is strong reason to doubt do, but there is strong reason to whether it will work this time.

Philadelphia Press. The fusion between the democrats and the people's party in Kansas is meeting the fate of such combinations. Influential democrats are daily announcing themselves as opposed to the movement, and are asserting that they will either vote against the ticket or not vote at all. The Hanover Democrat, the leading democratic paper in northern Kansas, has also boiled the fusion ticket. It says sas, has also bolted the fusion ticket. It says that "the rank and file of the democrats in Kansas prefer honorable defeat to a surrender of their principles and manhood for a dishonorable temporary success." This is what might have been expected. No fusion ticket was ever yet able to poll the full vote of all the parties to the combination. There is certain to be dissatisfaction and desertions. The fusion in Kansas will not be an expendion.

For more than thirty years poor old Billy McGarrahan has hung around Washington lobbying in behalf of his-claim against the New Idria quicksilver mine of California. Scores of lobbyists have lived off the old man and numerous capitalists have backed his claim to their detriment. Recently congress passed a bill sending his claim to the court of claims. The president vetoed the bill last week, and now the democratic press is charging that the president's action was due to the fact that D. O. Mills Tather-in-law of Whitelaw Reid, is one of the present owners of the New Idria mine. Whenever you want a real mean motive attributed to a human being apply to a democrat. Catholic Papers Come Out Strongly Favor of Annexation. OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 5 .- When the agitaion over the Jesuits was at its height, a few of the equal righters hinted that annexation might be utilized as a last resort to escape Roman Catholic domination. Now some of the Irish Catholics and French Canadian papers are hinting that annexation is the pest way to escape from Protestant domination. Today's issue of United Canada, a local frish-Catholic organ, has a leading article neaded, "Justice or Annexation," in which it deals with the judgment of the privy council in the Manitoba school cases. It says:

"One of two things must soon come. This war of Protestant against Catholic-race against race—must soon come to a close, or otherwise annexation. Two classes of peo-ple in Canada are certainly delighted with this decision, and they are the extreme Pro-testants and those who favor annexation."

Le Canada, a French dully paper, had also other significant articles, following up its previous articles suggesting annexation be-cause French-Canadians, as it says, cannot ext incline under the British fag. Le Canret justice under the British flag. Le Can-ada holds that the fact that half a million French-Canadians are contentedly settled in the United States is proof that they are well treated there and get on splendidly. It asseris that no one can reasonably deny that if the province of Quebec were in the United States, it would be well off and its people would make their mark there.

"They would not," it concludes, "have to engage in a war of races and religion there because every race is welcome in the United States and every religion respected."

ATTENTION

All Trades Unions and K. of L. Assemblies of Omaha and Vicinity, The following circular in printed form has been sent through the mails to all labor organizations that the secretary of the Cantral Labor union Labor day committee has the address of. But it is the desire of said committee to hereby, through the courtesy of the press, invite all legitimate and worthy trades unions and Knights of Labor assem-biles to join them in the celebration of Labor day, whether they receive a formal invitation or not. Should any organization so accept, they will please follow the instructions in the last paragraph of the circular, at their earliest convenience. South Omaha papers please copy:

OMAHA CENTRAL LABOR UNION, OMAHA, July

OMAHA CENTRAL LABOR UNION, OMAHA, July 25.—Gentiemen: You are hereby cordially invited to join with the Central Labor union, composed of trades unions and Knights of Labor assemblies, in a grand celebration of Labor day, to take piace in this city on Monday, September 5, 1892.

It is to be the grandest celebration of this kind ever undertaken west of the Missouri river. The exercises will consist of a grand procession composed of the various trade and labor organizations.

Should you accept the invitation to participate in the procession, you will kindly name an assistant marshal, whose address you will please furnish the secretary.

HE POCKETED THE PROCEEDS.

Albert Cramer Runs J. A. Futler's Business Albert Cramer was lodged in jall yesterday afternoon on complaint of J. A. Fuller of the Fuller Drug company at Fourteenth and Douglas streets. The charge against the young man was petit Isrceny, though it is reported that he stole enough material and stock to send him to the penitentiary for a stock to send him to the penitentiary for a good many years.

Cramer had been working for the Fuller company for eighteen months, and a short time ago was placed in charge of the paint and oil department, He sold paint to outside parties for eash and put the proceeds into his pocket. No one around the Fuller establishment knew anything about the matter.

some of the oldest employes claimed that they never knew that a man named Cramer worked there. Mr. Fuller had instructed his employes not to talk to reporters.

The prisoner is a young man, scarcely 21, and is unmarried. The exact amount stolen from the drug company was $93, according to Cramer's own confession.

MEN WANTED.

Paving Contractors Experience Difficulty The brick paving contractors, J. B. Smith & Co., are at work on several of the streets which they secured. They are experiencing considerable difficulty in getting enough men to push the work.

Yesterday morning they commenced laying brick on Charles street from Thirty-eighth to Fortieth, and on Thirty-second street from Euclid place to Woolworth avenue.

Care

Three Contracts Let. The meeting of the Board of Public Works held this afternoon was of short duration. Three contracts were let.

For grading the alley in block 10, Kountze fourth addition, Katz & Callahan bid 24 cents per cubic yard and got the contract. For filling nuisance lots. Ed Phelan was the lowest bidder and will do the work at 20% cents per cubic yard.

The contract for curbing Ninth street from Pacific to the alley north was awarded to Hugh Murphy at 65 cents per lineal foot for red Colorade analysisme.

Concordia's Outing. Singing society went out to Teutonia park to cool off and enjoy themselves, and enjoy themselves they did, if the gaiety of the scene under the shadow of the trees and the sounds of laughter and singing which therefrom were any indication. The Venati Bros. orchestra furnished the music for those who cared for dancing in the glassy floored hall and the singers entertained those ager Woodbridge spread on the lawn a splendid supper to which the visitors did ample justice.

It's Granite, You Know. The city hall workmen, who are engaged n hanging the heavy iron gates between that building and Tag Bes building, have a job on their hands. Yesterday morning they. commenced drilling into the rock of the city hall for the purpose of making a place to fasten the hinges. In a couple of hours they had completed their task, after which they turned their attention to Tus Bss building. The drilling into the rock of which the firs story of this building was constructed proved more of a difficult task, as up to date the drills have not reached a depth of more than

BROWNING, KING

Resting Easy---

Because we have not a very big stock of summer suits on hand, and we won't have them long, because we don't carry over any goods. We make prices to sell them now. We might sell them next year but we have a reputation for selling new and desirable suits, and we don't propose to lose it. There are suits for men, boys and children, at all prices-any price you want, Profit cuts no figure. We want to sell and sell now. Everything is of the very best quality. We handle nothing else and we have put prices on them that will sell them and sell them now before our new fall goods arrive to take their place:
