PANIC AMONG PRISONERS

Inmates of Lancaster County's Jail Exposed to Smallpox.

ONE CASE SUDDENLY DEVELOPS

Health Officer Bartram Fails to Agree with the Physician Who Diagnosed the Case—Other Lincoln News Notes.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 8.—[Special to THE BEE.]—The prisoners at the Lancaster county jail are somewhat panic stricken over the report that a well defined case of smallpox has broken out in their midst, and their apprehension is shared by Jailer Langdon and his family. Several days ago a prisoner named Frank Kennedy was committed to the jail for petty larceny. Saturday he complained of not feeling well and yesterday his symptoms grew alarming. A physician was called in and he pronounced it a case of smallpox. Kennedy's face was already broken out with what appeared to be the effects of the disease and the doctor gave orders for the isolation of the patient.

Health Officer Bartram, however, declines to believe that it is a case of smallpox and his confidence has done much to allay the apprehension of the jailer and the members of his family. The other prisoners are considerably excited over the prospect of a run of the disease and are clamoring for the removal of the sick man. He will be removed to some isolated place as soon as possible. Nearly all of the prisoners as well as the members of the jailer's family have been exposed to the disease and further developments are awaited with no little anxiety.

An Engine Derailed.

The wrecking force of the Burlington stationed at this city was called to Grafton early this morning to clear up a wreck which occurred near that place at about 2 o'clock this morning. An engine and a dining car ran off the track a mile or so this side of the town, and all trains were delayed for a short time. The damage, however, was slight, and Superintendent Bignell states that $20 will cover it. The operating department of this city was notified of the accident in time to send one or two Knight Templar specials around by way of Aurora, and the pilgrims on their way to Denver were not delayed by the incident. The locomotive and car were brought to Lincoln this forenoon, and all trains were running as usual before noon.

From the Police Court.

A colored man named Robert Esters was arraigned before Justice Waters this morning, charged with assaulting Robert Mitchell. Mitchell saw Esters and another colored man engaged in a fight and essayed the role of a peacemaker with the usual result. Esters was fined $16.65 and as soon as he had paid it he was immediately rearrested on the charge of assaulting the other colored man.

Mattie Newberry was charged with conducting a disorderly house and was fined $20 and costs. Jessie Disbrow was arraigned upon the same charge, but as she proposed to make a vigorous defense she was granted a continuance.

Henry Johnson and Frank Prior were fined $6.20 for drunkenness, and a $3 fine was assessed against David Briggs for disturbing the peace.

George Clark is being detained at the police station pending the arrival of the sheriff of Custer county. Clark came away from Broken Bow and neglected to return a uniform coat which he had quietly borrowed from the chief of police. The coat was found in his trunk.

Her Confidence Was Well Founded

"I would rather trust that medicine than any doctor I know of," says Mrs. Hattie Mason of Chilton, Carter Co., Mo., in speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. ANTI-CYCLONE PARTY.

It Holds a Convention with Startling Results.

Chicago Tribune: The anti-cyclone convention yesterday at Leavenworth, Kan., nominated B. G. Seyas of Texas for president of the United States, and O. H. Rodell of Arizona for vice president. Seyas was nominated on the twenty-ninth ballot. The applause was so great that Chairman Mix refused to entertain a motion to make the nomination unanimous. The following platform was adopted amid the wildest cheering:

The anti-cyclone party of America in their first national convention put forth the following declaration of principles:

1. The cyclone is a foe to civilization, the arch enemy of the people and a public nuisance. Any party that fails to recognize the dominant nature of this issue in American politics is undeserving the support of the people. We believe that if the government would institute proper scientific inquiry into the cause and nature of cyclones this crying evil might be obliterated from the land of Franklin, who bottled the lightning. We demand, therefore, that the national government suppress cyclones in so far as they may be constitutionally suppressed by federal intervention without infringement of state rights.

2. We demand that the circulating medium be speedily increased to meet the requirements of people who, from any cause, may now be unsupplied with money.

3. We believe the time has come when the hotels will either own the people or the people must own the hotels. Hotels being a public necessity, the government should own and operate them in the interest of the people, and hotel men, from proprietor to porter, should be disfranchised.

4. Tariff should be levied only as a defense against foreign hostility, and whenever a tariff should be removed whenever American peers shall concede their inability to supply the demand for home consumption.

5. Foreigners should not be allowed to vote until they understand the principles of our party and sympathize with them.

6. All men should be protected by law in their right to rest on Sunday and every night in the week, irrespective of age or color.

7. We abhor the cornering of pork or of anything or of anybody without his or her consent.

Important Resolution Adopted.

On motion of K. B. Guss of Arizona the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, The anti-cyclone party is not a sectional party, but a national party.

Whereas, The fact that the sinfulness of horsestealing is settled and settled forever, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that speakers who are accorded the honor of addressing the convention be requested to refrain from unnecessary reference or illustration that could be construed as a reflection on any of the participants in the last horsestealing in the far west.

At this juncture Chairman Mix read the following telegram:

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 5.—A cyclone this afternoon killed three laboring men.

The applause was so great that for ten minutes no business could be transacted. At last Hon. Guy Rutt of Indiana offered the following resolution, which was adopted amid the greatest applause ever heard in a convention:

Resolved, That we profoundly sympathize with the three laboring men killed in the Camden cyclone, and we hope that all may now learn the lesson that the tariff is no protection to American laborers. We sincerely regret that the loss of life was not greater in order that the lesson might be more impressive.

Delegate Hooper of New Mexico, when asked if the anti-cyclones expected to elect anybody, replied: "No, of course not. But that cuts no figure. You see, we vote for a principle, and a vote for principle is never lost."

IN DISTRICT COURT.

Suit Against the C., B. & Q.—Suing for Divorce—Suit Against the School Board.

In the district court Mary J. Carson, administratrix of the estate of Charles H. Carson, deceased, has brought suit against the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company to recover $5,000. In her petition the plaintiff alleges that on May 3 her husband, Charles H. Carson, was in the employ of the defendant as a switchman in the Omaha yards; that while in the discharge of his duties he was run over and killed by one of defendant's engines.

Sarah Robinson, in a petition, has invoked the aid of the court to divorce her from her husband, Daniel, to whom she was wedded in 1868. The plaintiff alleges that for more than five years Daniel has been an habitual drunkard and that during most of that time he has been a cruel and wicked husband.

And now the Board of Education has a law suit on its hands, brought by Bell & Burlingham, the architects. In their petition the plaintiffs allege that the defendant owes them $1,139 for supervising the construction of the Kellom school building and for drawing additional plans providing for the introduction of the Smead system of heating and ventilating.

Beecham's Pills for a bad liver.

The Uncle's Statement.

Detective J. M. Vaughn called at THE BEE office yesterday to give his version of some of the facts connected with the death of Mrs. Corporal Crosby, nee Gurtler. He stated that the uncle, Charles Siegle, knew nothing about the girl's death until he read the story published in THE BEE. When he arrived in this city, Mr. Siegle first called upon the chief of police and at 12 o'clock of Saturday, August 6, commenced his investigation. After that Mr. Siegle called upon Coroner Maul and after talking with that official and a number of physicians, he said that he was satisfied that death resulted from natural causes and that an inquest over the remains was not necessary.

Elected Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Omaha Schuetzenverein held on Tuesday the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, William Mack; vice president, William Segelke; treasurer, William Krug; financial secretary, Charles Herbertz, secretary, William Butt; first captain, C. Wuethrich; second captain, F. R. Heft.

The annual tournament will take place in this city on September 10 and 11. In connection with the shooting tournament a grand picnic will take place in Ruser's park on September 11.

Attention Danes.

All the Danish residents of Omaha are invited to attend the unveiling of the monument erected to the memory of Jens Fredriksen at Springwell, or the Danish cemetery, on Sunday, August 14. Carriages will be at Washington hall and Cuming and Twenty-fourth street at 1 p. m., sharp, to take every one who has no conveyance of their own, free of cost to and from the cemetery.

Real Nice Ventilators These.

The dwellers in the city hall are finding some things in the building that are not as they should be. In the office vaults there are ventilators for the admission of fresh air, but instead of letting in fresh air, about all that enters is soot from the chimneys. Especially true is this in the mayor's office. There, when the ventilators are open, great clouds of black soot enter and settle about the room. The mayor attributes this to faulty construction, and will call the attention of the council to the defect.

New Small Grain.

Inspector Thompson reports the first oats of the new crop received yesterday by the Omaha Elevator Co. The oats were bright, sweet, reasonably clear, weighed 28 pounds and graded No. 3 white. Also a car of new rye, of a very choice quality, weighing 59 pounds sound, plump and reasonably clean, which graded No. 2.

TO CODIFY PENSION LAWS

Result of a Resolution Introduced at the Eleventh Hour.

IT IS REPRESENTATIVE PATTISON'S PLAN

Condition of Congressional Enactments on This Subject Said to Be Sufficiently Intricate to Puzzle an Expert—Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.

Just as Speaker Crisp's gavel was about to fall the other night to declare the final adjournment of the first session of congress Representative Pattison of Ohio caught the speaker's eye and secured recognition for half a minute. He presented a resolution directing the appointment of a special committee during the recess to codify the pension laws. As every one was anxious to adjourn no attention was paid to Mr. Pattison's resolution and it went through without dissent. Mr. Pattison has since been appointed chairman of the committee and he explains that the resolution thus hastily passed promises to be of great importance in bringing order out of the chaotic condition of the pension laws.

"The public has no idea what a tangle our pension laws were in," said Mr. Pattison today. "To a very large extent the pension system is not based on laws at all, but is made up of a vast accumulation of decisions by the pension bureau. Even the lawyer has great difficulty in finding out what a pension claimant is entitled to. Our committee on invalid pensions is made up of lawyers, but whenever a pension bill came before us there was not a man on the committee who could tell what the claimant was entitled to under the regular law.

"We would have to refer to the clerk who would go first to the law and would then dig through a network of decisions to see how the law had been construed. I suppose nine-tenths of the socalled pension laws have been enacted by pension officials. I now intend to carry out a plan I have long had, of codifying all these laws and decisions in such a simple form that any novice can understand them. The Ohio code of laws gives a good model and will probably serve as a plan on which this codification will be made. According to that plan each pension law would be given in full, and wherever a sentence or paragraph had been affected by the department decision there would be a foot note giving the syllabus of the decision. In that way the law in all its construction would be clearly set forth without having to dig through department decisions in order to find out how the law has been construed."

The committee will assemble frequently in Washington during the recess and the codification may be complete by the time congress adjourns.

Democrats Distorting Facts.

Mr. Holman has given out tonight a distorted and misleading statement about the appropriations. It is compiled for strictly partisan purposes, but it is so plain a perversion of the truth that it will not be of much value even as a party argument. Mr. Holman makes his comparison between the second session of the last congress and the first session of this congress and says that the river and harbor bill of this congress must not be considered as there was no river and harbor bill last year.

After subtracting the river and harbor bill Mr. Holman says that this congress is much more economical than the last, though not all that the democrats could wish. Any one who knows anything of congress knows that there is an unwritten law that a river and harbor bill shall be passed only once in two years. There was a river and harbor bill passed by the last congress at its first session. The only honest way to make a comparison is between the first sessions of the two congresses. Mr. Holman's trick will deceive no one with his eyes open.

Controlling the Business.

The Department of State has obtained from its consulates abroad a series of reports on the importation and sale of patent medicines. It is one of a set of reports on trade industries of which the department has issued quite a large number in the last few years. The subject is of interest in the United States for two reasons. A large amount of patent medicine is manufactured in this country; that is one reason. Then for another there is a proposition before congress to make it obligatory on every manufacturer of any compounded article to publish the formula of the compound on the label of the package. This law in another form it seems exists in some other countries.

In Italy, for example, the law requires that no medicines of any kind, either foreign or domestic, shall be sold in the kingdom unless a statement of the composition thereof is previously given to the Central Board of Health and its approval obtained. This is reported by Consul General Bourn of Rome. In Germany the most serious restriction on the patent medicine trade is the old Prussian law which forbids the advertisement in public journals of all nostrums or proprietary medicines which are made by a secret formula or process. This law is enforced rigorously in Baden and Prussia. The prohibition is relaxed in some other parts of the empire.

Scheme of an American.

The proprietor of a well known American remedy for diabetes and kindred diseases, who has maintained for years a principal agency at Frankfort, has obtained a concession which enables him to advertise his goods in Wurtemburg, but in other parts of Germany he sends out circulars which are folded in with the issues of newspapers. The intention of the law is to discourage the use of proprietary articles. Frank Mason, Consul general of Frankfort, makes this report.

In Russia great difficulties stand in the way of the patent medicine business. No patent medicine is allowed in the country without obtaining each time special permission from the medical department of the ministry of the interior. The medical department carefully examines the medicine, and if it appears that elaborate work and expensive apparatus are needed for the production of the article and it is regarded as beneficial, it is allowed for importation. But no examination is undertaken unless a description, issued by the inventor, accompanies the application, giving in minute detail the substances of the composition. Consul General Crawford of St. Petersburg sends this report.

Mr. New, the consul general at London, reports that in England every medicine may be liable to duty if there is any claim to any secret or art in its preparation or any claim to a proprietary right in the preparation; if the sale, past or present, is under letters patent, or if any handbill, label or advertisement is used, holding out the preparation as a nostrum or specific. "Between the ages of five and fifteen, I was troubled with a kind of saltrheum, or eruption, chiefly confined to the legs, and especially to the bend of the knee above the calf. Here, running sores formed which would scab over, but would break immediately on moving the leg. My mother tried everything she could think of, but all was without avail. Although a child, I read in the papers about the beneficial effects of Ayer's Pills, and persuaded my mother to let me try them. With no great faith in the result, she procured
