NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

A Eurglar Visits the Store of the Council Bluffs Oil and Paint Company.

HE GETS AWAY WITH VALUABLE BOOTY

Fine Grades of Paint Brushes and Choice Tube Paints Taken by Wholesale-A Daring Piece of Work-Escape of a Prisoner.

The Council Bluffs Paint and Oil company's store at the intersection of Broadway and Fourth street was entered by a burglar Saturday night and the burglar manused to get away with enough of the stock to set up a very respectable store for himself in a small town. All the windows were locked but one, and us the lock refused to work this window, it was thought, had been securely nailed down with two ten-penny balls. But the burglar had evidently exambans. But the burgiar had evidently exam-ised the premises and found how the place could be worked. With a crowbar he forced the lower sash up, and crawled into the store over a lot of paint tanks and other ob-structions that blocked the way. Not a show c se in the store was neglected, and the fellow went from one end of the store to the other, selecting the best trushes in the store with the skill of a brush expert and leaving the poorer grades untouched.
Just how much of the stock was taken it is impossible to tell, but at least $100 worth is missing, and the amount of the loss may yet be figured up to $100 or $400. A guanysack was found lying on the floor, where it had been dropped by the thief. Besides the brushes a lot of tube paints, bronze and other fancy articles were taken, but no effort was made to enter the safe, and even the cash deawer, which contained about $5 in cash, was untouched.

Beath of Balant Kirkwood.

Robert Kirkwood died yesterday morning at 12:30 o'clock at his home near Crescent City. The deceased was born in Fifeshire, Scotland, in 1827. In 1847 he was married and emigrated with his wife to America in the following spring, landing in New Orleans after an eight weeks' voyage. He settled a few months later in Pottawattamie county, which he has made his residence ever since. He has been considered one of the most successful and prosperous furmers of Pottawattamic county. He was one of the organizers of the Council Bluffs Savings bank and of the Crescent City Mutual Protective society. He was honored by being elected to serve three terms on the County Board of Supervisors, one term as township trustee, and served for six cen years as treasurer of the school poard for his district. He leaves a wife and large family of children and hosts of friends to mourn his loss. His children are: Jennette, wife of William McKeown of Beomer township; Agnes, wife of Hans Hansen of Hazel Dell; Isabel, deceased, wife of T. F. Finch of Hancek county, Iowa; John, a resident of Norwalk township; James, Thomas and Lizzie, residents of Crescent The funeral will take place this morning nt 10:30 o'clock, when the procession will leave the house. Services will be held at the Latter Day Saints' church in Crescent, of which organization he was a member.

When the patrol wagon was called to the house of a Mrs. Williams, near the water works, to quell a disturbance that was being raised by a drunken man, Covalt went with it. He arrested the man who was making the trouble, as was stated yesterday morning, and they rode up town together. At the corner of Twenty third street and Broadway the officer allowed his eyes and his mind to wander a few seconds, and when he looked around he was surprised to find that a large gob of vacancy was occupying the space where the prisoner had sat. Where the fe low went when he jumped out of the patrol wagon is a mystery. Yesterday afternoon, however, he turned up in Omaha with two broken fingers, a pruised knee, a torn pair of pantaloons and several other relics of the ex-perience he had passed through. His sister brought word of his condition to his friends on this side of the river.

The people's party representatives Council Bluffs held a rally last evening in the Masonic temple. Hon. J. F. Willetts of Kansas, the national lecturer of the party, was present and delivered a clear and very taking speech on the subjects nearest the alliance men's heart. About the middle of the lecture a gentleman sauntered in who is not identified with the third party and took a seat near the door. Back of him sat one of the local leaders of the party, "He's a good talker, and he's had a big audience tonight," whispered the party leader as he leaned for-ward and addressed the newcomer, "Where is all the audience?" asked the stranger, as he looked around the room and saw that it was about one-third full.

"Why, they've gone home, most of them," replied the third party man, hostatingly.

WORKING AT CAMP SHERIDAN

Finishing Touches Being Placed on the Handsome Grounds.

TENTS VERY CONVENIENTLY ARRANGED

Sebraska Veterans Will Have Every Comfort Money Can Afford or Attention Secure at the State Reunion at Superior.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Aug. 22 .- [Special to THE BEE. |-Though situated on the same site upon which Camp Sherman stood last year, Camp Sheridan will have an area larger than any former reunion held in the Sugar City. It covers 320 acres, or a whole half section, all enclosed and kept free from buggies, carriages and other venicies. Hacks, however, will run up to the entrance of a second enclosure about 100 yards from the space covered by tents and booths, so that even these will not be allowed to get into the crowd, which would make it exceedingly unpleasant and danger ous, The tents will be divided into nineteen sections. Charles E. Evarts, representing E. C. Cook & Bro. of Chicago, with whom the contract for most of the tents was made, arrived in the city today and will manage the work of pitching the same, which will take place tomorrow.
On each side of the main avenue, Lincoln which is the entrance avenue, there will be a baggage room. The Union Pacific and B. & M. have made arrangements to transfer all the baggage to the grounds where parties going and coming can check their baggage, leaving the companies to do the rest. The camp is provided with twenty-four cesspools thirty wells of the linest water, seven electric are lights, two speakers' stands, with seating capacity for 1,800. The electric light wires have already been stretched. Arranging All Details.

The speakers' stands were in course of rection this morning when THE BEE re porter made a visit to the grounds. The quartermaster's shed and three of the largest booths are all finished and ready for business, while most of the others will be started tomorrow. The street car company has also its special track to the grounds completed, and has built a temporary depot which will be provided with seating ca-

One hundred and sixty acres immediately joining the camp on the east bave teen reserved for the hitching of teams. Fifty tons of hay are on hand for feeding purposes, and four wells are expected to furnish enough water for the animals.

Quartermaster Harrison has received ap plications for 1,890 tents and confidently expects half the members of the Grand Arm department of Nebraska to be here. Th work of all arrangements will be rapidly pushed and it is expected that even all the minor details of arranging the camp for so great a gathering will be completed by Friday RAINY WEATHER INTERFERED.

Camp Lincoln Will Be Formally Opened Today at Superior.

Superior, Neb., Aug. 22.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. ]-Owing to rainy weather the formal opening of Camp Lincoln was postponed until tomorrow at 1 p. m., when Congressman McKeighan will deliver the opening address. The day has been a busy one for the officers of the organization, the reterans rolling in from both Kansas and Nebraska at a rate which threatens a tent famine. Every tent has been assigned and more ordered. There are now 178 tents pitched. The Sons and Daughters of Veterans and Relief corps are provided with tents in headquarters row. The rapid arrival of veterans and their famities, some having driven 200 miles, and the labor of taking care of them, made it impos sible to hold a campfire this evening. Every train is adding to the crowd, Kansas especially pouring in hundreds of veteraus. Tomorrow Senator Paddock, W. E. Andrews and W. H. Morris will speak and in the evening a rousing campfire will be held. At 11 o'clock will take place the reception of the Kansas National guards, who have been granted permission, by special order of Adjutant General Vifquain, to enter the state with arms. The rain has laid the dust and made the camps cool and pleasant.
A brief survey of Camp Lincoln will ndicate the vast amount of preparation and work that the enterprising citizens of Su-perior have done to entertain the thousands of veterans who have signified their intention to once more camp in the beautiful Lincoln park, from which their camp takes its name. Already the camp grounds and park have taken an unusually grand display of military appearance. Hundreds of tents have already been pitched by the veterans upon the fine plateau of meadow lands which adjoins this park. Upon the entrance to the camp, according to their grand mili-tary percision, has been placed a beautiful American flag, for the veteran to honor as he passes into Military avenue.

Then comes in the following order the streets of the camp—Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Thomas, Logan, McPherson, Forsythe and Scoffeld. The street joining the camp s desired, as business of importance will be to the various headquarters is designated as Grand avenue. Among the prominent speakers who are to be mentioned are: General J. Warren Kelfer of Onio, General Low Hanback of Kausas, Judge Lorenzo Crounse, General C. H. Van Wycz, Hon. Thomas Majors, General Thayer, Governor George T. Anthony of Kansas, Hon. John R. Bur-ton of Kansas, Attorney General George Hastings and many others. Among the various entertainments which have already taken quarters upon the grounds can be prominently mentioned the cyclorama of the great cattle of Gettysburg, the great West India Musee, also a gran-collection of wild animals, together with many other amusements to which the visitors can sit down and quietly enjoy in Park Lincoln under the cooling shades of the stately elm, the glossy leaved ash, the spreading oak and bexelder. The cannon from Fore Omaha are being placed in line upon the crest of the nill west of the camp where cavalry, infantry and artillery, under the command of veterans, will re-enact the battle scenes of the war.

Eye & Ear SHE WANTED A NEGLIGEE SHIRT. But Her Mistake as to the Size Flabbergasted a Dapper Little Clerk. TREATMENT ____OF ALL___

She was a stylish-looking girl; the word aristocrat seemed to be indelibly stamped upon every line of her classic face and seemed to fairly stick out from every seam of her Paris made gown as she swung into one of the largest dry goods establishments on Fulton street, Brooklyn, says the Eagle, one hot day last week and inquired in a lofty, I'm not-used-to-speaking-to-one-of-yourclass way of the floorwaker near the door the direction to the men's fixings department. The floorwaker preceded her to the counter desired and, calling out "Forward one," left her in charge of a dapper little clerk, who twisted his base ball mustasche in a way which was meant to simply paralyze the young woman, but which only served to annoy

"I would like to see some of the latest things in negligee shirts," she said in and icy tone, which sent a shiver down the back of the dapper little clerk and made him feel as though the mercury had taken a sudden drop of about 20 to 30 degrees.

"What size, please?" he inquired in a deferential tone.
"Let me see," mused the aristocratic young woman, "I think about thirty-excitement,

"I said thirty-six," replied the young woman in a decided tone, which was meant to crush the dapper little clerk completely.
"But—er, there are no shirts made as large us that, miss," said the clork, autly; "the ty-six is the size and you must have them."

"Weil," said the little clerk in desperation, "I will show you the largest size we have in stock," and he laid down a box of 19-inch shirts, which would fit Grover Cleveland, and spread one of them on the counter before the young woman approaching.

"Oh, I'm sure that's too big, "she said, pettishly, pouting up her lovely lips, and drawing forth the tape measure she laid it across the bosom, while the smart little clerk smiled a knowing smile to himself as he caught on.

woman who looked at him in amaze

The tape measure showed that the shirt measured forty-eight inches around the chest and the young lady looked at the clerk in a dazed way. "What did you mean by saying that nineteen inches was the largest size you kept? Why, this shirt is almost fifty inches. "But," responded the clerk in his most suave manner, "that is not the way shirts are measured, miss; they are always sold by the size of the collar."

A warm flush spread over the stylish girl's face as she realized her mistake, and she even condescended to smile upon the cierk, who was by this time feeling on very good terms with himself.

"Oh, I must have gotten my shopping list mixed," she said, sweetly, "and I think a—about 14½ will be about the size. You may send me three of the prettiest patterns you have, and be sure and send them tonight, as my brother is going away to the country tomorrow."
