JIM IS VIEWED BY A CRITICAL CROWD

His Madison Square Exhibition a Decided Success-Results of Bail Games-Reports from the Speed Ring-Scraps of Sport.

New York, Aug. 29.-There was a lively time at the office of the Madison Square theater this morning when Corbett and Mc-Caffrey met to arrange for the coming contest between them. Corbett became so enraged at the remarks of McCaffrey that he stated he would throw him out of the windrw if he didn't desist. The result of the dispute was that no match was arranged and the two principals separated with much bad blood between them.

Pretty Mrs. Corbett, the wife of the star performer, was present in Madison square garden in the afternoon and witnessed the appearance of her husband as he went for his contest with Boston's pride. She was evidently very proud of her liege lord.

It was in the game of hand her? through the exercises which have fitted him It was in the game of hand ball, which Corbett contested in the afternoon with Lawler, the Irish champion, that the great applause was called forth. The game was scheduled at 3 o'clock and by that time the sports who had time to have their sleep, arrived in force at the garden. The audience numbered about 1,000 at the opening of the game. Even after the lengthy and stirring exhibition he still showed wonderful agility on his feet. The sports were de-lighted, for, though he did not win the game, he showed himself a wonderful all round athlete. The score at the end was 24 to 14. The day's events were voted by the sports to have been an athletic success "a very pretty exhibition," said one of the fraternity. The crowd had been given just the show they had come to see, a show of Corbett's physical ndition. They studied well, as masters of

In the Evening.

Corbett showed his snapely limbs and muscles to a crowd of 5,000 admirers at Madison Square garden again this evening. Everyone was enthus-iastic over the appearance of the ex-bank clerk and loudly applauded the man who will attempt to wrest the championship laurels from John L. Sullivan. Many of the athletic clubs of this city and vicinity were present. The growd was a good natured one and cheerfully accepted the slightest entertainment afforded them until Corbett ap-

There were some preliminary bouts to whot the appetites of the audience. It was 10:05 when Steve O'Donnell, master of ceremonies, introduced Corbott, amid great cheers. He was accompanied by John McVay of Philadelphia, who was to oppose him.

The young Californian walked from his dressing quarters to the ring while cheer after cheer went up. He sprang lightly up the steps and bowed to the assembled guests. Corbett wore green stockings, white pants and a green bett. Before he had taken his seat three cheers were given for him. Then low, in-audible criticisms on the Californian's condition were heard. Indeed Corbett did not dition were heard. Indeed Corbett did not look as if much were the matter with him.

There was a pretty exhibition of boxing between Corbett and McVay. McVay, how-ever, was too beefy and altogether too slow for the star of the evening. Things livened up more in the bout between Corbett and his boxing partner, Jim Daly. Though Daly is not heavy enough for Corbett, there was some pretty quick fighting and Corbett had a chance to show his himbleness. He is remarkably quick, and his clean scie urged the spectators up to the shouting point. I'nere is no doubt that, despite his somewhat disappointing development, Corbett made a host of friends by his clever methods and his evident splendid condition. The boxing bouts with Corbett over, the crowd dispersed to think the matter over and discuss the value of Corbett's stock in New Orleans on September 7.

SULLIVAN'S ARRIVAL.

New York, Aug. 29 -- If ever a man received a hearty welcome it was John L. Sullivan when he arrived at the Flatbush avenue depot of the Long Island railroad fresh from his training quarters. It was John's first appearance in this city since he went down to the lower end of the island to go into training for his great battle, and the crown was anxious to see what the big fellow really looked like after his long ordeal of training. The train was half an hour late, but that cut no figure with the enthusiastic crowd. Bound to tiet a Look at Him. Every avai able place for a view of the great champion was occupied, even the lamp posts and supports of the Elevated railroad. A happy thought struck some of the longheaded men in the crowd, and they gave up 5 cents for a grandstand position by paying their fare on the Fifth Avenue Elevated road and remaining on the platform to get a glimpse of Sullivan when he arrived. big fellow came at last even though it was suspected that he had skipped the train at some other point. To avoid the crowd Sullivan was hurried through a pri-vate exit into the main depot and up the stairs toward the L station. As he went through the passage he was followed by the admiring crowd, who cheered him to the When he got around to the street, instead of going up to the train, he started for s carriage, which was only reached through the assistance of two mounted policemen. who had to ride through the cro and disperse them while the other ficers escorted him to the nack. The hack was driven rapidly Phil Casey's hand ball court, but Sullivan had scarcely arrived when the crowd began o gather and in a half hour's time there were 500 people gathered in and around the place. Sullivan was taken up stairs to a private room, where he refused to see any of his friends. A barber was called in and the big fellow was sitting on a chair in the middle of the floor, getting shaved, when an Associated Press representative called upon him. His skin is clear and healthy looking, and his general appearance fine, with the exception of his stomach, which looks a trifle large Reception at Clermont Rink.

It was a great seething, howling crowd that crushed its way into the Clermont avenue rink to Brooklyn tonignt to witness the reception tendered John L. Sullivan. As early as 7 o'clock there was a large gathering at the rink's door. At 7:30 the string pedestrians was unbroken. They came three and four abreast for awhite, but then they came in battalions. The helmets of the police officers booked up everywhere, and there was the best of order. The clito of the spering fraternity was there to see what Sullivan looked like after his eight weeks of training and to get an idea of what the man was who was to carry their hopes and dollars at New Orleans. Charles Johnson, who has aliged his bones to Suilien's prowess for so many years, was smiling and happy. His looks were those of a mar

That fight will decide whether I am the John L. Sul-livan of old or the John L. Sullivan who has passed by. I am not going to speak dis-paragingly of Mr. Coroott. All I will say is that I am most glad to appear here. I have deceived you once, but let bygones be bygones. I am coing to stop speaking now and you Condilion of the Champton. There appeared to be a good deal of flesh on Sullivan as he sat in his corner. His eyes were bright and flashing and his face was bardened and tanned. His shoulders are in splenuid condition and his muscles show excellently. There appeared, however, to be lots of fat over his stomach and on his back. It is very strange if he does not weigh in the vicinity of 230 pounds. He perspired very freely when he sparred three rounds with Jack Ashton, but showed the agility of a cat sake Ashton, but showed the agility of a cat as he went around the ring. His actions were like lightning. He were a confident, hardened air that could not be mistaken. He went at Ashton very hard, tapping him at short intervals twice with the left and once with the right. Although he only touched his companion on the neck and shoulders, he had him very tired at the end of each round. It was remarked that Sullivan puffed a good deal after the finish of the The wrinkle of fat over his waistband heaved in and out to no small degree. Still his admirors feel that he is in prime condition. His flesh is well colored and his striking force is as marvelous as ever. His legs are in the best of form.

But Masterson Favors Corbett. Dallas, Tex., Aug. 29. - Several represen tatives of the sporting fraternity went down to the Crescent City this morning. They carried $10,000 on Sullivan and $8,000 on Corbett. Bat Masterson, the well known Colo-rado sport, and Dean Short and party passed through last night on their way to the scene of the great fight. Masterson has bet a con-siderable on the fight, betting that it will be either a draw or that Corbett will win, either event winning for Masterson. Money-Favorites Not in It, SHERPSHEAD BAY RACE TRACK, Aug. 29. -The weather today was threatening, but the track was in fairly good shape. The most sensational feature of the sport was Parvenue's victory in the fourth race. Pittsburg Phil, known in private life as George B. Smith, bet on his colt Parvenue, not only at the track and in the city pool rooms, but also is nearly all the rooms throughout the country. Unfortunately for him, an error in the secretary's office which caused Dagonet's weight to be announced as 112 pound astead of 122, forced the executive commitee to declare off all buts after booking had been in progress ten minutes. This nullified all the blungers' bets made in the city and country rooms. As Parvenue won, Pitts-burg Phil only won what bets he made at the track. The declaring off of the bets curtailed his winings something like $45,000. He is said to have only $1,500 on Parvenue n the second backing at an average price of 10 to I. TENNIS CHAMPIONS.

Hovey and Larned Win in Yesterday's Games. NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 29 .- The weather for tennis was as good almost today as that of Friday and Saturday was bad, and the courts were restored to their usual excellent condition. The crowd was by far the largest of the tournament. Play began a few minutes after 11 between Hovey and Wrenn. Both played a strong and careful game. Hovey was clearly the stronger player, but Wrenn's playing was exceedingly careful. A very interesting match was the result, Hovey nally scoring a victory. The match between Larned and E. Hall was a more than good exhibition. Hall started in at a fast pace and ran away with the first set. He then dropped off and Larned, who had been somewhat nervous, braced wonderfully. Larned's pace, how-ever, was too hot for him and Larned took the match by strong and brilliant playing. The result was another surprise, though a few had thought it likely Larned might win The outcome of the final match is now much discussed. Hovey is the favorite, though Larned's remarkable work causes many to look upon him as a possible winner.

BORDEN PARTICIDE TRIAL

Sign floant Testimenty Submitted in the Messachusette Murder Case. LIZZIE'S CONDUCT AFTER THE TRAGEDY

Government Making a Strong Case Against Its Prisoner-She Tried to Buy Prussic Acid - An Open Door and Its Meaning.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 29.-In the Borden murder trial today, Mrs. Adelaide B. Churchill was the first witness called. She said she lived next to the Bordens and she remembered the day of the tragedy. The first she remembered of her attention being called to the affair was when she saw Bridget going for Dr. Bowen. About the same time she saw Lizzie standing against the side door apparently distressed about som thing. She opened the window and asked her where her father was and she replied: "In the sitting room." Witness so far as she knows, was first beside the Witness family who was called to the house. This was about 11 o'c cck. Witness asked Lizzie where her mother was and she said her mother had a note to go somewhere, but she did not know but that she had been killed, too. She wished somebody would go and try to find her, for she thought she had come in since. She said her father must have an enemy, for every one in the house had been sick. After the neighbors had commenced to come in Lizzle said again that she wished some one would go and try to find Mrs. Borden, for she was sure she had heard her come in. Lizzie was so much agitated that witness fanned her, fearing she would faint. When they went upstairs to look for Mrs. Borden they found the door of Mrs. Borden's room

Saw No Sign of Blood About Lizzie. Miss Alice Russell, next witness, said she went to the house and found Lizzie leaning against the door, and she remembered Lizzie telling her, in answer to a question, that she went into the para to get a piece of iron or tin to fix a window with. Sensation.] On cross-examination Miss Russell said she bathed Lizzie's face after she went in and saw no signs of blood on it, nor did she see any on any of her clothing. She could see no signs of any undue exertion about Lizzie, nor was she panting as though exhausted.

Miss Lucy Collet testified: She was or ping at Dr. Chagnon's house on day of mur-der; to take care of the telephone, she went at 11:10 and stayed until moon; sat on the piazza all the time; she could not get into the house; from where she sat said she could see all the yard of the Bordens. During the time she was there she saw no one passing in the yard. On cross-examination, witness admitted that she was where she could not see the whole of the Borden yard, but was sure that if anybody had entered the yard she would Tried to Buy Prussic Acid.

Eli Bence, drug clerk, testified. He remembered the day of the tragedy and was acquainted with Lizzio Borden; saw her in his store the day before when she asked him for 10 cents worth of prussic acid to put on a sealskin sacque or cape; told her he could not sell it without a physician's prescription. His attention was called to the fact that she was in the store on Thursday evening and soon after that again at 6 o'clock.

Frank H. Kiiroy, medical student, knew Miss Borden; saw her that morning; witness was in the shop when she came in and Mr. Bence went benind the gounter to wait on her; beard her say 'prussic acid,' and him say "cannot sell it without a prescription,' and then heard ner say "sealskin cape." Then she went out. In Frederick B. Hart, employe in the drug store, corroborated testimony in regard to prussic acid incident, and identified Miss Borden as the person who asked for the Joseph DeRoches testified by the ald of an interpreter. He was sawing wood in John Crowe's yard on the day of the tragedy; saw no one going ever the fence that nor did he see anybody in the next yard.

Patrick H. Dohorty, police officer, testified.
Witness asked Miss Borden where she was when murder took rlace and she said, "In the parn." She said she heard some kind of peculiar noise when she was there, a kind of craping noise. John Fleet, assistant city marshal, told the story of going to the house and finding the bodies. At no time, witness said, was Lizzie Court adjourned till 10 a. m. tomorrow.

She knew a lady who owned a tract of twenty acres of valu-able land fifteen miles from the Chicago postoffice, and the lady's identity was alone within her knowledge. She also had knowledge of several parties who were desirous of purchasing the twenty-acre tract, and were only prevented from doing so by reason of not knowing the owner's whereabouts. The land could be purchased from the lady who owned it at a very reasonable figure, and could be disposed of to Chicago parties at an advance of $5,000 on the purchase price. She was not well supplied with this world's goods, and the means Mr. Rowley had at his command would serve to make the purchase and secure the handsome profit awaiting. To substantiate her statements the ladies exhibited several teleprams from J. W. Arrowsmith of Chicago, who was urging her not to delay longer, as he was just dying to get hold of that property. Mr. Howley inquired into the matter pretty thoroughly and became convinced of the truthfulness of the lady's statements, and two days later he possessed a deed to the twenty-acre tract, and the lady had a deed to two pieces of Omaha property, a deed to two pieces of Omana property, valued at $44,000. The aged lady gave her name as Mrs. C. T. Vannice, and she was accompanied most of the time by Mrs. Ryan, whose husband is a member of the Omaha police force. The deed to the twenty-acre tract was signed by Mrs. Daniel Woodman, police force. The deed to the twenty-acre tract was signed by Mrs. Daniel Woodman, who owned the tract.

Mr. Rowley, armed with his deed, went to Chicago to take a look at his recently acquired possession, and to incidentally drop in upon Mr. Arrowsmith, dispose of it to that gentieman and come bonns richer by $5,000. He was to give Mrs. Vannice $2,000. The property was represented to be within fifteen miles of the Chicago possessie, just over into Indiana. Mr. Rowley covered the lifteen miles, and before he had reached his destination he had traveled fifty live miles. A guide was secured who pliotes har. Rowley along the banks of the Kanarasperiver and brought him into full view of that fine piece of land he had a fewallay's before become the proud and sole possessor of. When the ex-councilmun beheld it he doubted his vision, gasped for breath and took another look. He saw before him as fine a tract of swamp iand as ever lay out of doors. The idea dawned upon Mr. Rowley's mind that he had been imposed upon, and to satisfy himself that be was not in error he inquired what the value of the land was. A native suggested that he would not pay the taxes for it, and they amounted to but about thirty cents per year. The excouncilman hastened home and twenty-four hours after arriving here be recovered the councilman hastened home and twenty four hours after arriving here he recovered the deeds to his Omaha property by promise of prosecution in case they were not returned instanter.

Tom Murray came near buying the tract Mr. Rowiey did, and was to have paid $10,000 in cash for it. The same parties also listed a piece of Iowa property with T. J. O'Nell, a South Omaha real estate dealer, and he came very near taking the bait. A young man came along and agreed to pay $5,500 for the property and made a small deposit to bind the bargain. A few hours later a telegram came from another party, offering $6,000 for the property. It was not sold, however, to Rowley was in consultation with County Attorney Mahonev yesterday, and upon the advice of that gentleman will not

City Council Doings. The first business brought to the attention of the council at last night's session was the claim of Mrs. Tilda Reed for damages to her property on Twenty-fifth street, between L and M streets, by reason of grading done there three years ago. She has an action pending in the district court for $5,000 damages, and makes an offer to settle for $1,500. The proposition was made to the council three months ago, and by agreement action was delayed. This was done to disbar by the statute of limitation any other claims that might be presented upon the strength of awarding damages to Mrs. Reed. A motion prevailed to consider the proposition in executive session.

All banks over six feet high on Thirty-third street were ordered sloped. and M streets, by reason of grading done third street were ordered sloped.

An ordinance locating fire hydrants at Twenty-seventh and F streets and Twenty-seventh and H streets was put upon its final passage and the vote stood 4 for and 4 against. Haley made one of his character-istic speeches against the passage of the ordinance and got in several remarks for the Second ward.

The city attorney was instructed to draft an ordinance ordering O street, from Twenty-second to Twenty-fourth streets graded. Also the alley from N to O streets, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets.

Haley moved that hids for grading Q street, from Seventeenth to Twenty-second street, be advertised for. The mayor declared the motion cut of order, on the ground that there being no funds available the motion could not be entertained.

The alley between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets, from M to N streets, was ordered paved.

In compliance with the request of citizens the lots on L street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, were ordered A petition and waiver of damages were presented asking that the alley from L to M streets, between Twenty and Twenty-first streets, be filled to grade.

J. S. Mullen withdrew his name from the liquor bond of James Callahan, the Albright saloonkeeper. Walters moved that Attorney Van Dusen be instructed to notify the county commis-sioners that unless a statement of South Omahn's apportionment of the road fund is forthcoming within two weeks and a settle-ment made suit will be commenced to compel payment. Wood reported that the Q street viaduct was in a shaky condition, a great many of the fastenings being loosened. Referred to the city engineer. Mayor Miller vetoed the ordinance locating fire bydrants at Eighteenth street and Missouri avenue, and Nineteenth and M streets. This is the mayor's first veto.

Ducks That Dance. Auctioneer Caldwell, while conducting a sale south of this city a few days ago, noticed three ducks that had been offered for sale koeping step with the music of a harmonica, upon which a small boy was playing. Caldvell bought the queks and has succeeded in not only teaching them to waitz but also to dance the handkerchief dance as perfect as three Scotchmen. He is thinking about sending them to Chicago as an attraction from Nebraska at the World's fair.

Garbage Men Busy.

There was never a time in the city when the garbage men were so busy as now. inquiries at the health office yesterday show that during the morning hours there were more than 100 calls for garbage haulers. Dr. Somers, the health commissioner, feels very hopeful. He thinks that the residents of the city have taken it upon themselves t clean up their alleys and premises without the department of health being compelled to invoke the aid of the law in putting the city in an excellent sanitary condition. PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.
