Nancy Hanks Lowers Her Own Record on

INDEPENDENCE, Ia., Aug. 31 .- Nancy Hanks, the queen of horsedom, added a shining star to her crown today when she trotted ever the world famous kite track at this place in the unprecedented time of 2:0514, clipping two seconds off her Chicago mark, made two weeks ago. She was brought out at 2:30, and as soon as she was recognized in the loop the cheering began. She looked well and her superior dition was easily discernable. She took or first warming up mile gently, being only away to her quarters, followed by the schoes of the 8,000 voices in the grounds.

At just 5:15 they appeared on the stretch ing. Handgerchiefs and parasols were waved, voices expanded to their utmost, young and old and overybody cheered. She was now

Cheers are sent up as the great borse is driven back to the stand, but a hush falls over all as the bell is tapped. Starter McCarthy announces the official time 2:05%, and his voice is drowned with yells. The grooms give the mare a loving caress as they adjust the blankets and willing hands, only too anxious to touch the queen of the turf, assist in arranging the folds. Doble is lifted from the sulky, both arms are wrung sore by congratulatory friends and huzzahs sound above the due for Nancy, for Doble and for the kite track. So dense is the crowdaround the horse that passage is almost impossible. "Another noticeable feature," said Doble, was the condition of the mare after her nie. Within fifteen minutes after she suched her stall, she was as fresh and lively as young colt and no one would de earn she ad made the greatest trial of her life.

"Oh yes, the kite tracks are faster tracks has the regulation shape. How many econds, I would not say, but there is not the hadow of doubt about it."

Most of the watches reposing in the pockts of their owners tonight mark the time in high the mile was made. Had Allerton sen in condition today and the match race sen trotted as was originally intended, asky hanks could have taken the three sate in an average of 3:07. Of this there is a doubt in the minds of those that saw her rest mile and know her ability.

JOHN HAS LOTS OF FRIENDS.

Yonk, Aug. 31 .- Everybody in sportes seems to be worked up to a high excitement over the fast approaching stween John L. Sullivan and James J. ett. Monday was a great "sizing up" Corbett. Monday was a great "sizing up" day and there were but few of the thorough-breds who did not look both men over very closely. They all have their own opinions now and they are backing them up with their good, hard dollars.

While many expressed surprise at Sullivan's large atomach and much has been said by the pross, still it has not affected the betting in the teast, as Sullivan's friends are still loyal to him and their monoy is still allowed to go bagging at the large odds of $100 to $60.

Ink Suvenson, who referred the Dempages fight and many other notable said that he and Sullivan have been on sults over since the Sullivan-Kirrain but that did not interfere in the least his opinion, as he thinks Sullivan has a h." and will win in a gallop. He sullivan is in better condition now he was ever in before, and he on all his fights, even his battle in the with Charley Mitchell. Sullivan is ag this time fully twenty pounds than a tany of his previous battles, we active and can strike a quicker and blow. He sized both men up very gally, and is more than pleased with ma's appearance, and stands ready to 500 to $500 the moment he can find a filling to risk $500 on Corbett or any in of that amount down to $10 to $6.

Alex Greggsins and Buffato Costello Batter Rach Other Right Merrity.

Sax Francisco, Cal., Aug. 31.—A glove fight between Alex Greggains, the San Francisco middleweight puglist, and Marin Costello, the "Buffalo," who returned to this country a few weeks ago after five years' residence in Australia, attracted a large and enthusiastic crowd to the Pacific

From the fourth round the men warmed up and in the fifth Costello searly dropped the Sau Francisco boy by two right-handers on the head. Greggains did some hot infighting, however, and at the end of the fifth round Buffalo was rather groggy.

Thirteenth round—Groggains was bissed for trying to back heal Costello in a clinch.

Fourteenth to seventeenth rounds—The men made a cautious fight. In the fifteenth Greggains stargered Costello with a straight left in the face and dropped him to a sitting position with another. He got Costello on the ropes in the sixteenth and tried to upper cut him, but failed. Costello then staggered him with a right hander on the bead. Greggains was frequently hissed for giving Costello the shoulder in clinches.

About a dozen blows and none of them effective, were struck from the forty-fifth to the fiftieth rounds. In the fiftieth Greggains landed a straight left hard on the chin, getting Costello's right on his ear. Greggains rushed and Costello dropped near the ropes. Greggains landed two stiff left drives, and countered apparently with some force with his right.

The police interfered at the end of the round, and the referee decided the contest a draw.

was to be decided.

Campoell won the first set, 7—5, after a stubborn struggle by Hovey.

The play in the second was strong and careful. Neither showed so fast a game as is usually expected of them, and the style of play was skillul and cautious, rather than dashing and brilliant. Hovey now made a stand with the score 3 to 1 against him and brought it to a tie at 3—all. Hovey carried away the next three games with a rush and so won the set, 6—3, establishing a record for the match by virtue of exceptionally good work.

so won the set, 6-3. establishing a record for the match by virtue of exceptionally good work.

It was now one set all and the next was important. Campbell ran away from Hovey at first and soon had the score 2-5. The lights were soon drawn out and hotly contested. Hovey finally won the two needed points, making it 5-3. The effort was too great, though, and Campbell took the set with the next game, 6-3.

The fourth and what proved to be the deciding set was among the most extraordinary ever played on any court. Steadily the games went to Campbell, until the score was 5-love, and it looked like a love set. Hovey tried hard for the sixth and finally won it. In the seventh Campbell that the call at 40-30 and needed but one point. He could not get it and then Hovey pulled out the game.

The eighth was a repetition of the last. Hovey scored the next two games, each with the champion at 15 making it 5-all, an almost wonderful achievement under the circumstances. Campbell took the odu game easily and forced the score to 40-30 in the next. Again, for the third time, there was but one point between him and success. Again he lost, but Hovey was done and a stroke into the net and another boyond the line made Campbell the champlen for the third consecutive year.

Thus ends the 1892 tournament, with Campbell retaining the title of champion, Hovey winning the all-comers prize and Larned taking the prize for the runner-up.

GREAT RACING AT THE FAIR

Speedy Herses That Are Doing Some Excellent Work on the Track.

SOME CONTESTS FOR BLOOD AND CASH

several Horses Chased Into Lower Chase day-Hundreds Who Went to the Patr and Were Hewarded,

There is some racing at the fair grounds

There is some racing at the fair grounds these days.

This brief tip is all that is necessary for the wise men, but for the information of those not so well informed (and the too small attendance at the races yesterday is proof conclusive that this class is quite numerous) it may be well to elaborate a little as to the why and wherefore.

In the first place there are tots of people right here in Omaha who are laboring under the baseless ballucination that they can't see the baseless hallucination that they can't see any good racing here at home, but it's sen to one that you don't hear anybody who was out to the track yesterday talking that way.

trot wound up without a skip in 2:374, the 2:50 trot, with nine starters, won in 2:334, and the 2:30 trot, with eight starters, won by a short neck in 2:234. They ask a game 2-year-old heat and haif a dozen more of the same kind in 2:50 flat, and they saw the liveliest one of a trie of bang talls kick off a mile in 1:484.

If that wasn't enough to add sufficient zest to the last afternoon of the summer, what under the sun would be! The individual who couldn't find enough in that to eojoy is probably waiting to see a match rabe, three in five, between Sunol and Naucy Hanka, when every heat will be trotted without a wobole in less than two minutes and it is dead sure that he isn't very anxlous to go to a 'hoss trot' this year anyway.

The track yesterday was in tip top condition; in fact, little Billy Wiggleton who rode. Nick Baker in the double dash around the ellipse said that it was faster than he ever saw it before. By the way, Billy told the judges that he was just turned thirteen. If he had said he had just turned it the seventh time it would have been all right, for be it known that he was born on the Fourth of July, 1801, ten miles northeast of Alexandria, W. Va. He went to California during the gold craze of '49, and in passing through here matched the plough horse that he rode across the plains sgamst a little gray broncho owned by a young buck of the Omaha tribe and the race was ran over the course now covered by the home stretch of the fair grounds track. To satisfy curiosity it may be as well to state that he lost the race, just the same as he did yesterday.

Went Early to See the Exhibits.

Notwithstanding that yesterday was somewhat of an off day for the fair, hundreds waiting for the race events today and tomorrow, there was a goodly crowd in attendance throughout the afternoon, the speed contests undoubtedly attracting the major portion.

But there were hundreds of others who went early and viewed with evident satisfaction the magnificent display of garden and field products on exhibition in the halls; the big, bulging pumpkins were the subject of many a goodnatured joke, while the luscious watermeions, grapes, pears and apples were object leasons of importance to the business men and their families, who had but vague ideas of what really could be raised in Douglas county.

risitors took in the stock pens and prize shortborns. Alderneys, Durbams, Herfords and other famous breeds were examined with closest interest. In the hog pens there was a larger snowing than on the opening day, white several carloads of fine horses were also placed on exhibition to the delight of admiring bundreds.

The art hall also presented a very different appearance than on the opening day, the ex-appearance than on the opening day, the exhibitors having finished their labors in arranging the display of their exhibits to the best advantage possible. The show of woman's work is far superior to any former year and shows that the good wives, sisters and sweethearts of a thrifty yoemanry are not behind their castern sisters in the use of the needle and the paint brush.

But next to the vegetable show the poultry house attracts greatest attention from the fanciers of high breed chickens and nigeons. In the history of the Douglas county fair there has been no more creditable exhibition in this department than the present display, there being an evident desire on the part of exhibitors to show the skeptical what our county may boast of in this department.

Ready for the Racing.

By 2 o'clock the swell turnouts of the city people began arriving on the grounds, and when the first race was called the grand stand, the stretch and the quarter stretch were comfortably filled.

The first event called yesterday afternoon was the unfinished 2:35 trot left over from Tuesday, with two heats to the credit of Ely See and one each to Solferino and Advance J. None of the starters had become discouraged during the night, and seven very gamey and speedy animals thundered down on Starter Swigert and were sent away to an excellent start. It was a race to within a few yards of the wire, but Ely See finally pulled out the heat and race with a couple of feet of daylight to the good. Eddie Hayes second, Charlie Baldwin third, Dusty Heels fourth, Catherine fifth, Solferino sixth, Advance J seventh. Time: 2:374.

The Circussia is anchored of of clothing. The Circassia is anchored of quarantine and it is undergoing a thorough cleansing. The baggage of her steerage passengers has been thoroughly disinfected. Her steerage passengers will be returned on board the ship tomorrow and the vessel no doubt allowed to proceed to the city in the afternood at the latest.

The steamer veedam still remains at anchor. Her steerage passengers will be removed to Hoffman island tomorrow forences to undergo the same process as those of the Circassia underwent.

Deceived the Reporter.

The steamer Moravia of the Hamburg line arrived last evening with a full cargo and 288 steerage passengers, bringing no cabin. On being boarded last evening by the Associated Press news collector, her captain and purser reported all well on board. On being boarded by Deputy Health Officers Sanborn and Talmage this morning her captain and surgeon reported that twenty-two of her passengers died during the voyage from cholerine. A very close inspection of the remaining 266 passengers was made and they were all found to be perfectly healthy. Three cases of measles developed during the voyage but were promptly isolated in the ship's hospital. Two women were stricken with the choiera during the passage, but recovered. They were found quite convalescent, this morning but are isolated in the after stern at the extreme end of the ship. Health Officer Jenkins ordered the vessel in the lower bay after his inspection and the vessel proceeded at once to an anchorage off Norton's Point, Coney island, where she now lies. Her bassengers no doubt will be transferred to Hoffman island tomorrow. The vessel will be detained for several days. Dr. Jenkins will make a thorough investigation tomorrow to determine the cause of the deaths on board the Moravia. Dr. Jenkins denies emphatically the report that he pronounced the sickness on board the Moravia. Deceived the Reporter.

Many New Cases at Hamburg and at Other European Points.

London, Aug. 81.—The Hamburg correspondent of the Standard telegraphs as follows: Since last night there has been an enormous increase in the number of porsons who havd been attacked and who have died deaths having occurred today. The interments yesterday lasted far into the night, the total for the day being 291. A feeling of deep gloom has settled over the city. The loss to the commercial community is reckoned at several million marks daily. The exodus from the city is unabated. The weather conditions are favorable to the progress of the epidemic. The Times' St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs that cholers is subsiding at Nijni Novgorod, and has quite ceased at Koseloff. The disease is said to be on the increase, from cholera has been greatest in the Caucasius. Up to August 22 the total number of deaths throughout the Russian empire is given at 107,647, but owing to the known incompleteness of the official statistics, the real number may safely be reckoned as high as 150 000 completeness of the official statistics, the real number may safely be reckoned as high as 150,000.

The Times' Vienna correspondent says that the authorities have accepted the assistance of the Red Cross society, which was recently tendered in the event of an epidemio of cholora in Austria.

The Times' Brussels dispatch says: Two genuine cases of cholera appeared in the Nostras St. Fierre hospital today. One of the patients died. Much excitement was also created throughout the city by the outbreak of the disease.

The Rome correspondent of the News says: Sporadic cases of cholera have occurred in Naples, Venice and Genoa. The patients have been isolated and the public have not become alarmed. There has been improved sanitation in the various Italian cities since the epidemic of 1887, and it is hoped that this will have the effect of staving off the disease.
