CONDITION OF THE CITY'S FINANCES

Comptroller Olsen Submits a Statement to the Council—Money in the Different Funds—Eleventh Street Viaduct Repairs Discussed—Other Business.

Last Tuesday night when the council adjourned the members repaired to their respective homes, being fully convinced that the time was not far distant when they would stand upon Wilton carpet in the council chamber. They will, however, do nothing of the kind, for the Wilton, which was ordered at a price of $600, has gone glimmering.

When the council convened last night, Mr. Specht was about the first man who caught the eye of Mr. Chaffee, who held the position of president pro tem. He at once moved to reconsider the action of the council in ordering Wilton. He said that he did not think it was the proper thing to make a part of the council chamber.

Eleventh Street Viaduct Repairs. The committee on viaducts and railroads submitted a report approving the action of the city engineer in closing the Eleventh street viaduct.

The matter was referred to the committee on finance and the comptroller to see if funds could not be located, which could be used in repairing the viaduct.

The city engineer and the city attorney were instructed to report an ordinance looking into the opening and closing of the Eleventh street viaduct.

Mayor Hanna named Joseph Bailey as assessor of the city for the year 1893. The appointment was confirmed and his bond in the sum of $5,000 was returned.

George W. Adams and T. A. Creigh, having resigned as appraisers to assess damages arising from the proposed construction of the Eleventh street viaduct, H. G. Clark and George J. Paul were appointed to fill the vacancies.

The ordinance ordering the grading of the Eleventh street viaduct, from the intersection of the north line of Ellis place, the city to the one-half cut, came up for passage.

Mr. Monroe raised the point that there was no money in the grading fund to pay the expense until such time as the county turned over to the city the road fund.

By resolution the city officers were ordered closed all day next Wednesday in order to allow the officials and employees to attend the State fair.

Mr. Milton Nobles enjoys the rather unusual distinction of writing all his own plays and acting in them. He is a native of Omaha, and has been successful in both as a player and a playwright.

The play "The Tragedy of the Plague" is the latest production of Mr. Nobles. It is a powerful drama, and has been well received by the audience.

Mr. Nobles carries the role of a tragedian famous before the war, who marries a New York banker's daughter and becomes his partner in the banking business.

Business Which Engaged the Attention of the Board of Education.

Members Bell and Jackson were absent from the Board of Education meeting last night.

The committee on supplies reported that they had done nothing as yet, although several chairs, clocks and other articles are needed for the schools before they open.

President Cheek thought the committee work of the board was very poorly attended and suggested that the committee should be more diligent.

The members of the board resolved themselves into a roasting committee, and C. M. Hunt received the benefit of the major portion of the deliberations.

Mr. Hunt has leased a building at Twenty-fourth and I streets for school purposes, and proposed to repair the building and grounds.

A few repairs have been made, but the general arrangement and condition of the premises are anything but satisfactory.

The coal question came up and was discussed at length. The dealers will be instructed to offer lots for furnishing coal for the schools for the year, and all coal purchased will hereafter be weighed upon the city scales.

The World's fair educational committee is in a committee of the Columbian national memorial celebration to be held in the schools of the United States October 21, and urged the board to secure a committee for this purpose.

An up town evening paper prints a paragraph which says that the masses employed upon the new buildings at Swift and I streets are to be paid one cent more per hour.

REMARKS ON THE COMING MAN

The Masculine Build of Today—Physically Unlike Their Daddies.

SLOPING SHOULDERS AND LONG NECKS

White for Homeliness They Are Out of Sight—So are Old Fashions, Womans' Suits and Art-Schools.—The Fall Craze—Notes and Gossip.

Why is it that among young men of the period sloping shoulders and long necks prevail? tall, well-proportioned, square-shouldered young men of the day is met with less frequently than twenty years ago.

In a walk down-town note the men you chance to meet and you will be impressed by the fact that nearly all the young men of from 20 to 25 are of slender build, with sloping shoulders, long necks and muddy complexions, and only now and again a handsome face.

What is the cause of this? The answer is, that the young men of today are not so well proportioned as their fathers were. They are taller, but they are thinner, and they have less muscle.

The question that men as a rule are not so attracted to as they were twenty years ago is a question of great importance. You may say that we are living young men, whose age would indicate that they will be tall, and muscular, and full of life.

But the narrow chest and lack of height, but the narrow chest and lack of height, but the narrow chest and lack of height, but the narrow chest and lack of height.

Should we by chance be stranded upon an island, where no other people were to be seen, would we not be glad to see a woman who would give us a helping hand?

CONFLICT OF AUTHORITIES

Dr. Jenkins Does Not Look with Pleasure on the Orders from Washington.

New York, Sept. 2.—There seems a probability of a clash of authority arising between the federal government and the state authorities represented by Dr. Jenkins.

The recent order of the president forbids any vessel carrying immigrants to enter port until twenty days quarantine.

Dr. Jenkins would use his discretion about keeping a vessel in quarantine for twenty days, if he saw fit, he would quarantine a vessel more than twenty days, or less.

He claimed that he had full authority, and that the president's order could not affect him, or cause him to do otherwise than his judgment dictated.

OFFENDED HER MAJESTY

One of the Victims of the Buffalo Strike Was an Englishman.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 2.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—When the soldiers of the Twenty-second regiment of New York City charged a gang of young fellows who had been loitering and storing them and killed one of them, Michael Broderick, aged 17 years, as he was climbing a fence, there was no thought of serious complications, but now it appears that Broderick's father is a British subject and the boy was under British protection as a minor.

The shooting stirred up intense feeling in the neighborhood where it took place. The British minister, who is in the corner is being closely watched and great pressure will certainly be brought to bear upon the authorities to make the investigation of the case.
