J. F. Montgomery of the Northwestern in this city and Miss Carrie Estey also of Council Biuffs were married last Wednesday in Grand Island. They are now visiting relatives in lilinois, after which they will return to the Bluffs and make their bome.

This evening an informal reception will be held at the pariors of the Grand hotel, to which all are cordinally invited. The meet-ing is for the purpose of organizing a Worle's tair club. Addresses will be made by Misa Rogers of Sloux City, Mrs. Briggs, a Ne-braska commissioner, and others.

City Engineer Cook has added a new protractor to the apparatus of his office. It is an ingenious contrivance, so arranged that it can be shifted to any part of the plat while adjusted at any angle, and is a great labor saving invention, especially in drawing many angled plats.

Mrs. Eliza Dorland died yesterday morning at 2 o'clock after an illness of months, aged 71 years. The deceased leaves two daughters, Mrs Beboington and Mrs. Kate Cook, the latter of whom has been her constant companion for many years. The funeral will occur this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence, 244 Vine street, Rev. E.

make his home again in Council Bluffs.

The truth stands best is an old remark, and never was it more verified that it had for the past few weeks in Council Bluffs. Ever since the first arrival of fall goods the Boston Store has been advertising special sale in various departments. The wonderful success they have had is a sure guarantee that they have told the truth and nothing but the truth.

We always have what is advertised, and you are sure to find it just as represented. The sale for the coming week is dress goods, and we call your attention to show window displays, beside a large variety of bargains in this department. We are showing new fall noyelties all over our store.

Window No. 1—Shows a line of outings in mixed, checked and plaid novelties, same goods retail at 50c a yard, 36 in, wide and warranted all wool; we offer same during sale at 33c per yard. Window No. 2-Shows a better grade of goods, representing some of the finest European productions, in French, Austrian and German manufacture, as well as some exclusive dress patterns in the latest weaves and effects, ranging in price from $6.00 to $15.00 each.

Window No. 3-Shows an entirely different line. It is composed of black goods and black and white, among which are some bargains. We call your attention to our 42 inch cashmere at 39c, worth 50c. Perhaps the greatest bargain ever offered by us, or any other merchants, is our 46-inch Austrian henrietta (all wool), regular 75c grade, at Besides the bargains mentioned we have a full range of fancy weaves at special low prices, such as whip cords, poplins, Matelasse, India twill, Lansdowne, glorias, etc., etc. Window No. 4—We offer the choice of this line while they last at 19c per yard. Goods are a heavy homespun, illumi-nated in different colors, full 36 inches wide and well worth 25c. FOTHERINGHAM, WHITELAW & Co.,

September 21. Matrimonial Complications. About a year ago Mrs. Etta J. Simmons was granted a divorce from her husband, Lemuel Simmons, and soon after married W. A. Coulter, a messenger for the Wells-

Fargo Express company. She was also given a title deed to a couple of lots in Ter williger's subdivision as alimony.

All these things had been done in the absence of Simmons, whose whereabouts, it was alleged, were unknown. A few mouths ago he returned to Council Bluffs and commenced a suit in the dis-trict court to have the decree of divorce and alimony set aside on the ground of irregularity. This case is now on trial before Judge Macy. The piaintiff claims that the divorce was tilegal, as no affidavit was filed by Mrs. Coulter as to his nonrestuence within the state. As a matter of fact there has never been any entry of such an affidavit made on the books of the cierk of the court, although Colonel D. B. Daily, who was attorney for Mrs. Coulter in the original suit and Mrs. Courter herself, assert positively that they were both present when it was Mrs. Coulter was on the witness stand a good share of the afternoon and during the cross-examination by the atterney for the plaintiff she became so nervous and faint that rourt had to be adjourned earlier than

Member Wells Opens Up the School Board Circus Season Again.

HIS EXPUNGED RESOLUTIONS NOT READ Attempted to Have the Minutes Corrected, But His One Lonely Vote Was Not Safficient-Routine Work of

The school board neld an important meetng last evening, with all the members present. President Walte and Member Weils had returned from their summer vacations and sniffed the air in a way that indicated that they were ready for one of their old-time conflicts. It came. The fun commenced with the reading of the minutes. Wells stated that he had been away since the regular meeting in July, and as the president had also been away, he would like to have the minutes read for all the meetings during his absence. The secretary read as requested the minutes of the meeting held on the evening of July 18, the memorable meeting when Member Wells offered his resolutions with reference to the insurance of the buildings and the letting of the contract for furnaces to the highest instead of the lowest bidder. When the secretary came to the resolutions he omitted them, as at the following meeting the president had ordered the resolutions expunged from the record at the request of some of the other members.

As soon as the secretary had finished the reading Wells asked for the privilege of examing the record, as it was wrong. When he had examined it he turned to the presinuthority to cross out portions of the minutes of a board meeting.

"You can't get up a fuss with me on that point," was Waite's reply. Wells Wasn't Gratified.

"I don't want any fuss," said Wells, "but I want to say that neither you nor any other chairman has any right to cross out such portions of a meeting as do not please you. gon't believe that you or any other member of this board want to conceal anything from the public, and I call for the reading of the expunged motions and resolutions.

"We have no time for anything like that," said Waite. "They shan't be read unless a majority of the board say so, and I, for one, don't want to hear them. Do the rest of "No, sir." said Bridenstein, solemniv. Wells then presented a resolution provid-they originally stood, but there was no second, and the reading went on. After the minutes had all been read Secretary Wright read a long communication from J. B. Knoepfler, state superintendent of instruction, on the subject of the duties of directors, in spite of signs of fatigue from Field. A petition from W. W. Cones and others asking that classes in the seventh and eighth grades be established at the Second avenue school was referred to the committee on teachers. Chairman Stacy of the teachers committee offered a resolution authorizing the super-intendent to direct the teachers to excuse pupils for one hour a week upon a written request from the parents, for the purpose of taking music. It was adopted.

Chairman Shubert of the committee on supplies reported that he had purchased seats for the Madison, Second avenue, Twentieth avenue and Avenue B schools, and he recommended that the bills be al-Superintendent Sawyer reported that the enrollment of pupils this year is larger than last year or the year before, and that at the close of the first week there were 314 more pupils in the schools than at the correspondng time last year. The question of redistricting the city was referred to the teachers' committee to report at the next meeting. Superintendent Sawyer was instructed to proceed with his plans for a celebration of "Columbus day," October 21.

Treasurer Weis reported that he had sold $15,000 worth of bonds to William Robins of Chicago at par, with a premium of $200. He also submitted his report for the year ending September, 1892. According chool house...... $23,847.60

MR. PAUL'S ORDINANCE.

It Passes the City Council After a Hard Fight. There was a full house at the council meeting last night. The special committee appointed to inves igate the Union Depot company's taxes asked for and was granted more time.

The committee appointed at a previous meeting to draft a garbage ordinance had not completed the work and asked for further time. A raft of other routine business was attended to, and then came the main feature of the evening, the Paul ordinance. A petition signed by about eighty property owners living on Eighteenth street asking the council to grant the franchise and a remonstrance from a much less number were presented. Alderman VanBrunt moved to strike from the first section a number of streets named, but it was lost by a vote of 5 to 3, and a subsequent metion by the same Improved property. Will pay cash if price is low. H. G. McGee, 10 Main street. The ordinance was then taken up by acetion?

THE OMAHA BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS and passed and then Alderman Van Brunt moved that it pass to its third reading. moved that it pass to its third reading.

Before the motion could be seconded Alderman Smith called for the reading of the remonstrance.

Several aldermen objected to the reading claiming that it was unnecessary, that all the members knew what the remonstrance was, but the objections prought Alderman Smith to his feet with a hot pro-test against "cloke-pored" legislation and he demanded that any or all the protesters present should be permitted to appeal to the council. The demand was granted and Oride Vien rolled up his sleeves and waded into the subject in a vigorous manner. He was followed by S. Lobnart in a speech that had a flavor of tears in it, but under cross-examination by Finley Burke, attorney for Mr. Paul, it was developed that neither of the gentlemen lived on the disputed street, and that only two of the signers of the re onstrance were actual residents of the Alderman Van Brunt withdrew his motion to pass the ordinance to its third reading, and offered an amendment to the section requiring the forfeiture of all streets and avenues not occupied at the end of seven years, but Alderman Smith wanted everything forfeited after two years, but the amendment was carried. An effort was then made to carry the ordinance over until next Monday, but it failed by a 6 to 2 vote. It then passed its third reading and after a motion by Smith to adjourn was voted down, the ordinance bassed by the same vote, Aldermen Smith and Jennings voting against

A Solid Building.

The new Avenue B school house is nearing completion, and will make a neat solid building from the ground up. There is not a crack in the walls. The ground being low and soft many thought it was impossible to erect a building free from the above defects, but the new part has not even settled from the old. Looking through the building one is impressed with the practical brickwork, timbers and the interior arrangement and finish.

The concrete foundation is seven and a half feet wide and two feet deep, which, with Portland cement and broken stone, has made a solid foundation. On top of this is a brick footing seven feet wide, and on this cises a twenty-five-inch wall to the first floor joists. Above this foundation are sixteen-inch walis. Every third joist is anchored to walls with heavy T iron. The wall plates on which the rafters are nailed are anchored and bolted to the walls. The rafters are also braced and anchored to ceiling joists in such a manner that the roof can never blow off unless the whole building would go with it. From the top of the tower can be had one of the grandest views in the city.

Taking into consideration the location and the fact that it is an addition to an old building, J. C. & W. Wooding that the minutes be read and adopted as ward, the architects and builders, have shown that a solid building can be erected in that part of the city, and their work should be appreciated.

Enjoined the Board of Supervisors, Judge Macy handed down his decision vesterday in the suit that was commenced in the district court to prevent the levying of the school tax by the county Board of Supervisors. In his decision he sustained the position taken by W. H. Ware, the attorney for the plaintiff, and held that the statute providing for the publication of an estimate between the regular meeting of the school board and the third Monday in May applied to the independent districts and not to the subdistricts alone, as claimed by At-torney Stewart, who appeared for the schoo board. In a private conversation after the decision had been rendered Judge Macy stated that the school law as it now stands seemed to be a conglomeration of ideas that only a decision of the supreme court could upmix, and he hoped the supreme court would be given an opportunity to investigate the present case.

He granted a temporary injunction re-straining the supervisors from making the tax levy. The trial of the question whether the injunction shall be made permarent will not take place until the November term. There is some talk, however, among the members of the school board, who are of course the real parties in interest, of agreeing to the temporary injunction being made permanent on the showing already and Attorney Stewart was given time to consult the board as to what steps shall next be taken.
