EDWARD CARR RELEASED FROM PRISON

He Was Sentenced for Life, But Having Become Insane Could Not Receive Proper Attention-Other Lincoln News Notes.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 20.-[Special to THE BEE. ]-Governor Boyd exercised the prerogative of executive elemency today in behalf of Edward Carr, who was convicted of murder in the district court of Boone county at the June term in 1888 and sentenced to the state penitentiary for life. Since his mcarceration Carr has become hopelessly insane. There are no proper facilities for the care of insane patients at the state penttentiary and Warden Mallen applied to the governor for relief from the man's custody.

In granting the pardon Governor Boyd says: "The statutes providing no other means of removal of convicts who become insane to a state institution for the insane than the granting of a pardon, with the incention of afterwards securing a commitment through the regular course providing for the care of lunatics, I therefore this day grant to the said Edward Carr, alias Ed William Watkins, a pardon for his offense, arging upon the authorities prompt action in placing him in proper confinement." In this connection a prominent state offi-rial said today that the laws of the state bught to be amonded in one or two impor-tant particulars. The executive should be empowered, he said, to authorize the transfer from the penitentiary to the asylum of such convicts as may become insane after their commitment. Another law should be provided giving the governor the power to pa-role a convict when it is evident apparently that he is suffering from a disease that seems likely to end in death. In such cases the convict might be paroled until he recovered and then under the operation of the law he could again be returned to the penitentiary

Had Her Husband Arrested.

Edward Coleman, who has been a resident of Lircoln but a few short months, was nrrested last evening upon the complaint of his wife, who charges him with adultery and divers other misdemeanors. Coleman came to this city from Leavenworth, Kan., several months ago and has occupied rooms over Zerung's deng store. He has been engaged in the business of soliciting advertisements for a firm manufacturing hotel directories and has also been connected with similar schemes with parties here in town. His wife arrived from Leavenworth a week or so ago and employed detectives to watch him. She evening the evidence she watch and last evening had him arrested. Her story of their domestic infelicity is briefly as follows: Coleman is her second husband. He squan-dered $10,000 left her by her first husband and deserted her and their child, leaving her to be men of here of a base the ment to take care of herself as best she might. She followed him to this city. On the other hand Coleman denies the whole story told by his wife and claims that she is really after some diamonds which he possesses. He denles her charges of his infidelity. Coleman was given a hearing this evening before Judge Waters on the charge of adul tery. There was not enough evidence to make a case against him, and on recommendation of County Attorney Snell he was dis-charged. He was not long at liberty, for he soon fell in with his partner whom he began to abuse. His partner had him arrested on the charge of using language to provoke an encoded by the source of 100 assault. He gave bonds in the sum of $100 for his appearance.

By the Morphine Route,

Jessie Williams, a well known woman of the town, tried to put an end to her unnappy life last night while confined in a cell at the police station. She was arrested early in the evening after she had engaged in a quar-rel with her husband, during which she pursued him around the neighborhood clad in a single garment. She threatened to kill her-self at the time she was placed in the cell, but the officers thought no more of it until late at night she was discovered in an un-conscious condition. A physician was at once summoned and he pronounced it a case of morphine poisoning. After several hours of morphine poisoning. After several hours of hard work she was partially restored, but

County Commissioners Would Like to Make a Settlement with the City.

BACKING OUT ON SOME CONTRACTS

Resolutions Agreeing to Aid h Paving Rescinded - Major Faddock Shuts Off Secretary Hodgins' Talk-Confining the Wandering Platte.

The county commissioners held a meeting resterday atternoon and they will hold another session Thursday, at which time they will try and agree upon how much of the road fund should be turned over to the city of Omana. An effort was made to do this very thing yesterday, but the effort was a failure. County Treasurer Irey had submitted a report, showing that from October

1, 1891, to July 1, 1893, the county had collected $19.031 of road fund which belonged to the city. Chairman Berlin said that the city was in great need of the money to prosecute the work of cleaning up and preparing for an epidamic, should one visit the city. If the county owed the money the debt would bet-ter be paid at once and while the money was m band.

Mr. Paddock was in no hurry to settle, He doubted if the county owed the city that amount of money and he did not propo pay anything over until he knew. The books showed that the city was in debt to the county in the sum of $11,000 for bearing prisoners and for money advanced for other purposes. If there was any balance coming to the city it should be paid, but he first wanted to see a balance sheet of all of the accounts before he would yote to pay over ment of the road fund. If the city was in need of the money it should settle up its hills before asking for anything to apply on account. The finance question being settled for the time brance question being settled for the time being, the board went to work and did a little revoking. In July, 1891, when it was proposed to pave Thirteenth street from Ames avenue north to the city limits, the ommissioners passed a resolution by which the county was to help the city to the ex-tent of $5,500, providing the entire cost of the paving did not exceed $11,000. The street was never paved, but the city drew $3,125 from the county treasury and expended the money in grading the street. The action of the commissioners in making the appro#### priation was yesterday set aside. Secretary Hodgin Snubbed.

Secretary Hodgins of the State Business Men's association was present and was de-liberately snubbed by Mr. Paddock. When Omana indulged in the last Independence day celebration the commissioners appropriated $ 500 to help make the affair a success. The city council committee had charge of the funds, and in figuring up the ex-penses the members found out that they would not have to call on the county for its would not have to call on the county for its appropriation. That left the money in the treasury of the county. Mr. Hodgins saw most of the members of the council and they all signed a request, asking the commis-sioners to turn the money over to the treas-urer of "Nebraska on Wheels, No. 2." It was for the purpose of making this request that caused Mr. Hedgins to attend the mee-ner weiterday. He was created the origin ing yesterday. He was granted the privi-lege of the floor to make his statement, when Mr. Paddock shut him off by object-ing to outsiders being allowed to talk. The objection did shut Mr. Hodgins off, for the board has a rule that an outsider cannot have the floor if any member objects.

To Discipline the Platte.

A number of the residents of the west end of the county, all voters in Mr. Paddock's district, were present to ask the commissioners to take some steps to prevent the Platte river from overflowing their farms. They were allowed to hold the floor for an hour or more without Mr. Paddock once raising his voice to protest. Mr. Stenberg said that the county had expended about $400, and had stopped work simply because the people whose land it was proposed to save would not furnish brash, when there was an abundance upon their premises.

Mr. Paddock thought that for the sum of $3,000 fully 135,000 acres of valuable land could be saved.

Mr. Stenberg took issue and said that to protect the banks and prevent future over-of hard coal for the court house and jail were opened and referred fill William Lyle Dickey offered to furnish 110 tin ballot boxes for $182. He was the lowest bidger and the county blerk was instructed WANT A FULL RECKONING to make the contract.

Bids for grading at, Hell creek, Coal creek and at the Bennington cuivert were opened and referred. Lamoreaux Bros. & Eitinger were the lowest bidders at 15 cents per cubic yard for removing the earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is an honest medicine. honestly advertised for those diseases which

This morning at 9 o'clock the sale of seats for the engagement of "A Texas Steer" will commence at Boyd's New theater. The engagement opens Thursday evening, and lasts till the end of the week. In "A Texas Steer" Mr. Hoyt has shown a striking originality, which gives evidence that his limitaons as a playwright are yet to be discovered Unlike his former work, "A Texas Steer" is a legitimate comedy, worthy to be named among the foremost pictures of American manners. The jouch of exaggeration is no more than is needed to emphasize its telling hits at prevalent political methods in Washington and elsewhere, and the identical portrayal of the social development of the Brander family amid the influences of life at the capital is as true as it is amusing. Tim Murphy and Flora Waish head the splendid cast, and will be supported by the original company. "Niobe," Abbott & Teal's great laughing success, is in its second season. It should take many seasons to run out so good a thing It can be seen over and over with continued delight, if not increasing delight, something that can be said of very few modern plays. So long as "Niobe" remains in the hands of its present managers and artists equal to these to whom the parts are now given it should never die. It should, indeed, become a standard. "Niobe" will be seen for the first time in Omaha during the first three nights of next week.

For years "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been one of the standard plays which have inter-ested thousands, and though its story is old it is also ever new. The novel is one of the classics of American literature, and the rising generation is ever ready to see its dramatized version, which not only amuses but conveys a wholesome lesson. There is now running at the Farnam Street theater a production of this popular play that is interpreted by a much better company than usually essays it. and it is accompanied by scenic effects of ex-ceptional merit.

Discussed Convict Labor. The subject of convict labor occupied the attention of the Current Topic club at their regular meeting at the Young Men's Christian association rooms last evening. There was an unusually good attendance, and the discussion was fruitful of many interesting deas. James A. Powers spoke in favor of convict labor. He called attention to the fact that a large proportion of the prisoners in the penitentiaries throughout the country were under 25 years of age. The fact that it was necessary to keep them engaged at some kind of employment was not a theory, out had been amply demonstrated. The records of the prisons all show that moral turpitude and mental and physical decline resulted when prison-ers were confined in juleness.

Mr. C. H. Fleming took the opposite ground and brought many strong arguments to support his position. The employment of convict labor was a direct menace to the high standard of labor which was the pride of the American republic.

WEEPING WATER, Neb., Oct. 28, '90. -Dr. Moore: My Dear Sir-I have just bought the third bottle of your Tree of Life. It is indeed a "Tree of Life." Doctor, when you so kindly gave me that first bottle my right side was so lame and sore and my liver enlarged so much that i could not lie upon my right side at all. There was a soreness over my kidneys all of the time, but now that trouble is all over. I sleep just as well on one side as on the other, and my sleep rests and refreshes me, and i feel the best I've feit in fifteen years and I know that it is all due to your Tree of Life. Reeves afterward discovered that the lots were covered by a blanket mortgage. He comptained of the fact to Barnes, who thereupon gave him a deed to some other lots in Mc-Muriry's addition, with the same guarantee that the lots should be free of encumbrance. Reeves now says that the lots in the Mc-Murtry addition were as badly mortgaged as the others. He wants the court to compel Barnes to give him back his farm.

A Traveling Man Who Made Money Altogether too Easily.

J. E. Shoner, the St. Paul traveling man, was put on trial yesterday before Judge Berka for forgery and obtaining money under false protenses. He is accused of having stolen a money order book from the American Express company at Hammond, Wis., valued at $500 when filled out. With this book and a rubber dating stamp manu-factured for the purpose he visited Milwau-kee, St. Paul. Minucapolis, Chicago, Omaha and other cities, paying his way with money orders filled out to suit himself. In Omaha he passed one of the orders filled out for $50 on Chat Hulett of the Millard hotel and faded away. There was an American Express detective on his track, however and he was arrested in Chicago and tried for forgery. Owing to the detention of a material witness in quarantine at New York the case fell through and the prisoner was brought to Omaha by a Nebraska detective.

At the trial this morning there were wit-nesses from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iilinois and other places. Fred N. Rogers who has charge of the money order department of the Chicago office testified to the forgery and Mr. Huistt identified the prisoner as the man who had passed the forged order on him last Ared. last April.
