People's Party Delegates Run Two Very Lively Conventions.

ENERGETIC RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

ominations for County Offices Easily Made and Followed by a Red Hot Fight on the Judgeship-Fusion Finally Knocked Out.

The people's party of Pottawattamie county and the Fifteenth judicial district came together yesterday at the court house, and if he results of the collision are to be taken as a criterion for the future, no one need ever be afraid that the people's party will go down to its doom without making a noise in the world. There was evidently a misunderstanding somewhere as to the time and place of holding the convention, for when it was called to order there was a very sparse representation of the devotees of the new party. No one knew anything about the official call, and the unofficial references that had been made to the convention by the papers had all had a different announcement. The convention was called to order soon after 11 o'clock, however, at the court house, and A. J. Mc-Claren was appointed temporary chairman and W. F. Travis temporary secretary. Committees on credentials, resolutions and permanent organization were then chosen, ive members on each committee, and the convention adjourned until 1:30 p. m. When the convention was called to order in the afternoon the list of delegates was considerably increased, nearly every voting precent being represented. The report of the committee on credentials showed seventy-six delegates present.

The report of the committee on permanent organization recommended H. S. Alexander of Hardin township for chairman and W. F. Travis of Knox for secretary. The report was adopted.

The committee on resolutions presented the following report, which was adopted:

Redhot Resolutions, Resolved. That we, the peoples party, indorse the platform adopted by the national people's party convention at Omaha; the state plat-form adopted at Des Moines, also the platform adopted at Atlantic by the congressional con-adopted at Atlantic by the congressional convention.

Whereas, News has reached us from Atlanta, Ga. that the freedom of speech has been abridged and denied to James B. Weaver and Mrs. Mary E. Lease, people's party speakers, who have been assailed by throwing eggs, etc., by a how ing mobiled on by corrupt and evil designing demagogues, is prima facte evidence of their own political steach, and rottenness will inevitably destroy and consumetheir own filthy carcasses, therefore be it. Resolved, That we, the people's party of Pottawattamic county, assembled, do hereby denounce all those who particated or symbathized and violated the most sacred principle of American-liberty, "The freedom of speech." We denounce all such methods of mob violence in suppression of facts. We invite honest investigation of all men and parties to examine the principles enunciated in the Omaha

We denounce the truckling methods of the Associated Press for withholding the political news of our party and speakers, so that the great masses of the people can judge for themselves.

the great masses of the people can judge for themselves.

We do appreciate all journals who differ from us in our political opinions who have the honesty and manhood to report our speakers and news correctly.

Resolved, By this convention, that the cand dates receiving the nominations at the hand of this convention shall endorse the principles as laid down in the Omaha platform and stand firmly on the platform and pledge their support to the entire ticket.

Rosolved, That this convention will in no way or manner fuse or affiliate by endorsement of an / one person or persons belonging to any other political party.

The work of nominating candidates for the

The work of nominating candidates for the various offices was then proceeded with. All the nominations were made by acclamma-tion, and without much show of excitement. Eugene Stupfel of Hardin township was nominated for county clerk; for auditor, C. L. Gillette of Council Bluffs; A. J. McClaren of Council Bluffs, for recorder; Ambrose Burke of Council Bluffs, county attorney; H. S. Watkins of Neola and J. A. Churchill of Council Bluffs, for county supervisors.

A. M. Hutchinson was chosen chairman of the county central committee and the convention adjourned.

Judicial Convention.

The judicial convention was at once called to order. Up to this time things had run along as quietly as if a funeral was on foot, but the fun all came on with the judicial convention. G. W. Leavitt of Mills county was appointed chairman and W. F. Travis was continued as cierk. A. J. McClaren immediately moved to adjourn without making any comination, but a few seconds later witndrew his motion. A bomoshell was then thrown into the camp in the shape of a resolution that read like this: the shape of a resolution that read like this:

Resolved, That this propie's party mass convention assembled this 24th day of September entors: the resolution passed by the Peope's Party could of the city of Council Biuffs, excluding nonmembers of said club from voting in this convention, and recognize said resolution as the sense of this mass convention, and the officers of said club be requested to furnish the membership roll to this convention as credentials of properly accredited

delegates The noisiest time that has been witnessed at any political convention in Council Bluffs within the memory of the oldest inhabitant ensued immediately. Just what was said or who said it cannot be told, for nearly every one inside the railing was trying his level best to make himself heard above the din that his neighbors were raising, while a large number of men who did not belong to the people's party stood outside the railing and help-d on the good work of cracking the burg, who occupied a seat with the Page county delegations, was especially noisy, and made a number of specches at times when the confusion had subsided so that he could be heard. He said that he had been attending conven-tions all of his life, but this was the first packed convention that he had ever been a member of. The Council Bluffs delegation had deliberately sought to pack the convention by means of this infamous resolution, which was intended to enable 106 members of the Council Bluffs club to vote in the convention in opposition to the ones and twos that came from outside counties. He waxed ighteously indignant.

The members of the Council Bluffs delegation jumped to their feet, several of them at a time, when this accusation was made, and said that no such attempt as the kind charged had entered the heads of any of them. No such resolution had ever been adopted by the Council Bluffs clue.

Finally the question of adopting the reso-lution was put to the house. The walls fairly resounded with the roars of those who were in favor of the adoption, and of those who were opposed. The motion to adopt was declared lost.

Then They Had Some Fun.

J. W. Brown of Atlantic was then named as a candidate for the nomination for judge of the district bench. A few minutes later an oldish gentleman with a Grand Army uni-form on rose and nominated Frement Benja-miz. Then there was a row. Cries of "Rats." "Fusion," and hisses from scores of ludig-pant populists rent the air.

Huckins from Hamburg came to the front once more, and in a speech that met with ap-plause and hisses about evenly divided, said: "We've no timber suitable for a judge of the district bench in the people's party. I move we adjourn.'

Someone seconded the motion, but when it came to a vote the house was so evenly divided that the chairman decided to adopt a new rule of his own. Instead of calling for a division of the house he let the motion go by default, and the fun commenced again.

"It's nothin' but a d—d lot of fusion!"
yelled one hoary headed individual at the top of his voice. "They've been tellin' us for the last twenty-live years that we haven't got anybody in our party that's fit for anythin', and that's why we haven't got along any faster than we have."

At last everyone had yelled himself hoarse and the confusion died out of itself. Brown's iomination was voted on and carried. W. F. Patton was chosen chairman of the judiciary committee and the business of the onvention was over. Charles McKingle, candidate for the at-passing remark was the active part that was taken by the friends of Fremont Benjamin, the democratic candidate for the judgeship, and, in a quiet way, by Benjamin himself, Just after dinner one of the delegates, who was carrying a jag several sizes too large for nim, met a well known and strictly truthful republican on the street near the Grand hotel, and supposing him to be a delegate immediately opened up a conversation. "Let's go up to Benjamin's room again," said his jagiots sieepily.

"What do you want to go up there for?" asked the republican.

asked the republican.

"Oh," was the reply, "I've about come to the conclusion that we don't want to put up any candidate for judge this afternoon: Benjamin's good enough for me."

W. H. Knepner, who is a well known supporter of Benjamin, was seen working busily in the outskirts of the convention, giving directions to the delegants to whom he had directions to the delegates to whom he had previously attached the string, and in spite of his politics seemed to be as thoroughly at home as if it were a democratic convention. The plan of the Benjaminites evidently was to have the convention endorse Benjamin or else to adjourn without making a nomina-tion, and their failure to bring this about was owing merely to a failure to induce enough of the delegates to see things in their Had they succeeded in their attempt there is hardly room for a doubt that Ben-jamin would have been elected.

AT THE LIBRARY.

One of the Delightful Features of Life in Council Bluffs.

There is one resort in Council Bluffs that does not seek to drum up trade and yet has plenty of it. No blood-curdling headlines appear in the newspapers with reference to it and, in fact, it is very seldom mentioned in the newspapers at all, but the people who want to find it know where to look for it and it never lacks for patrons. This resort is the free public library. Probably one important reason for its quiet, unostentatious popularity lies in the fact that it is as free as air to any one who is willing to behave himself, refrain from cutting scraps out of the newspapers and magazines, and treat the librarian with the consideration justly due so important a personage. however that may be, not a day passes that does not see scores or perhaps hundreds of men, women and children, of all ages, colors, tastes and occupations, wend their way up the elevator in the Merrian block, armed with the little green cards that are the "open sesame" to the treasures of literature on the third floor. During the past year the visitors to the ibrary have numbered over 40,000, and the books taken about 25,000. There has been a slight yearly increase in the number of patrons each year for the past ten years, when the present librarian commenced her labors. But in spite of the large number of books that have been taken from the library and the ease with which chance visitors could make off with a book now and then if they felt so inclined, it is worthy of remark that in all the last ten years not a book has been lost or stolen. Gooks have been read and re-read, until the paper was worn through in spots, the binding fell to pieces and the whole book little by little vanished from sight, but aside from the natural wear and tear there has not been a

But in spite of the honesty of the average Bluffite, who would not steal a book if he had the chance, the life of the librarian is by no means a "soft snap. Efforts are con stantly made by different parties to get around the rules of the trustees in some way or other. One wants to take home a book from the reference library, notwithstanding a sign forbidding it stares him in the face every time he turns around. He accordingly comes into the room with a book in his han and when he goes out takes another book with him. But in every case where this has been tried the deception has been discovered in time to prevent the scheme from being The library is continually made use of by the teachers in the public schools, who refer their pupils to books, especially in the refer-ence library, for outside reading in connec-tion with the subjects treated of in their text books. As a consequence there are a great many school children numbered among the regelar patrons of the library. Many of them have taken summary measures to prevent their rivals in the school room from having access to the books, to which their attention was called, by hiding the books. The most out of the way places were invariably selected as hiding places, and so much Yankee ingenuity was manifested that it would sometimes be months before the missing book would be discovered, There is no indubitable proof, however, in some instances the books were not hidden in order to furnish a good excuse for their

Cupid Occasionally Comes,

The eagle eye of the librarian has a steady job in keeping track of the children's manoeuvers and in preventing the grown-ups from clipping the papers and magazines, but another field in which she finds a chance for constant employment is in putting a noiseless but no less effective quietus on amateur love affairs that blossom out under the protecting walis of the library. It makes a convenient trysting place for the masters and misses of the schools, who are anxious to study ancient and modern lore out of the books and doubly anxious to study buman nature on the side. Many a love's young dream has played to good business for a time, but has been squeezed to death in its incipiency by being sat down upon by the librarian, who has a standing request from the school teachers to do what she can to prevent the occurrence of dreams that may turn out later to be full In the main, however, the library and reading room are made use of in the ways that were intended by the founders. The choicest papers and magazines in the country are always to be found on the racks, and al-though the chuckle of the small boy, who has struck one of Hamilton's, Gillam's or Opper's latest in the pictorial papers, may be heard on an average of about 1,200 times a day, the Century, Scribner's, Public Opinion and the rest are by no means neglected.

A large list of periodicals devoted to the various specialties in science and art furnishes ample opportunity for those who are interested in these special branches to keep pace with the progress of the age. Additions are being made continually in the way of books and periodicals, and it is safe to say that there are few cities in the west of the size of Council Bluffs that are botter equipped of books and periodicals, and it is safe to as to free literature than this.

Grand Jury Discharged. The grand jury made its final report yesterday morning and returned several indictments, some of which are not yet made public. Among those in which the parties are in custody are three indictments against Howard Sparks, who was until a short time ago, employed as agent for the Singer Sewing Machine company. He is charged in two indictments with uttering forged instruments and in the third with lacceny.

John Henry Brown, the colored man brought from Des Moines recently, was indicted for bigamy. The charges of liber against T. D. Tolie and assault with intent to do great bodily injury against W. A. Brown are dismissed.

An important part of the report is that with reference to the condition of the city and county jails. It finds no fault with the concounty jails. It finds no fault with the con-dition of the latter, although an improve-ment is recommended in the plumbing. The city jail, however, the report says, is in a horrible condition and is not fit for human beings to stay in. It is put down as a nuisance, which should be apated.

The bureau is proving a great success and is one of the beneficial pieces of legislation enacted by a republican administration. Its great usefulness is being fully attested each day, and the marvelous increase in the exinspection of all pork for foreign consumption has made it possible for the packers in this country to find a ready market in the countries of the Old World, where two years ago all American pork was suspected of being infected with trachina" and it admission into those markets was denied. GERMAN EXHIBITORS. They Think the Railroads Are in a Combine to Charge Exorbitant Rates on Exhibits. Bentin, Sept. 23. -The article published it the Vossische Zeitung on Monday last, charging that American railways and express companies are conspiring to compel intending exhibitors at the Chicago Columbian exposition to pay the oxorbitant rate of $3 per 100 weight for the trans-portations of their goods from New York to Chicago has caused much excitement among Germans who intended to send exhibits to the fair. Many of them declare that they are justified by the facts, and that the express and railroad companies are using the fair for the purpose of exacting heavy rates. At first there was a strong feeling in Germany in favor of the fair, but it must be said that a reaction is now coming, owing to these allogations. A representative of the Associated Press had an interview today with Herr Wermuth, imperial German commissioner to the World's fair, in the course of which he said he had heard complaints similar to that published by the ossische Zeitung and that he was ascertain what trying to there was for the reports. He added that ne hoped some arrangements could be made regarding transportation, as he thought that unless reasonable charges should be made most of the attractive and best exhibits would not be sent. Herr Wermuth further said that Mr. Ed-wards, the American consul general here, has promised him his hearty co-operation in effecting an arrangement with the com-

"I was in such misery I did not know what siled me. I imagined I had every disease in the whole list of human ills. After a careful examination Drs. Copeland and Shepard told me I was affected by catarrhal disease and that they could care me. They wentright at it and have entirely failfilled their promise. I always had pain and distress in the stomach with gas and bloating. Often I had faint spells and experienced a feeling of "goneness."

head ached severely and I had pains in my sides and shoulders. For days at a time I could eat nothing and on taking food I felt as if I had a stone in my stomach. Often my heart distressed me by palpitation. It felt as if it was tumbling around in my chest. I could scarcely rest at all nights, and as a rule could not get any sleep until 2 or 3 o clock in the morning although I retired early. All these troubles made be tired, miserable and weak and greatly weakened my nerves. Under the treatment of Drs. Copeland and Shepard I have been entirely restored and am free from all my distressing symptoms. I gained six pounds in two weeks They have completely cured me, a thing I believe no physicians could do, for I had sought relief be fore but failed to find it."

Rev. H. A. Crane.

Rev. H. A. Crane, for three years past the popular pastor of the Seward Street Methodist church, departed on Wednesday, Sept. 7th, with his family, for New York city, where they will take ship for India. Rev. Crane will take charge of the Methodist mission in the city of Bombay. After testing the ca-turn treatment of Drs. Copeland and Shepard he was so highly pleased with it that he took with him a supply of medicines for use in his distant home Mr. Crane handed Drs. Copeland and Shepard the following letter just before his departure:

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 5th, 1892. Drs. Copeland and Shepard—

Gentlemen:
It affords me p'ensure to say that I have been pleused with the treatment for catarrh which I have been taking for a brief time from you. My removal from the city necessitates my discontinuing, in part the treatment before a complete cure is effected in my case, which is one of long standing. But I have received, already, considerable benefit, and am so well satisfied with the scientific method which you employ, that I shall take some of your remedies with me to use apart from the office treatment.

Yours very truly,

MAIL . Comes from the East, West, North and South, bearing testimony of the successful treat-ment of Drs. Copeland and Shepard by mail Symptom Blank Sent to All Applicants.
