A regular meeting of Encampment No. 8, Union Veteran Legion, will be held at Knights of Pythias hall this evening at 8 o'clock. All comrades are requested to be present as there is business to transact be-fore going to the national encampment. Council Bluffs may well feel proud of its new fire insurance company, the National Mutual, which starts out with strength and vigor. The roster of its incorporators is given in another column and it contains names familiar to all as synonyms of business integrity and responsibility. Meivin Buchanan, a man who has been in the employ of the Northwestern, was ar-re-ted charged with trying to pick the pockets of the man who was superintending him, but on appearing in police court yester-cay morning for a trial he was discharged, the prosecuting witness failing to show up. The young ladies of the First Presbyterian church are making arrangements for a con-cert to be given at the church on Wednesday evening, October 5. The Berger-Dainty concert company of Chicago will be the main attractions. The company is composed of Anna Toresa Berger, Laura Dainty and Muster Leon Marx.

A man named MacDonald, from Carroll, Ia, was in the city yesterday looking for his wife who had run off from home with a hand-somer man. He found her trunk but was unable to find her, although he learned that she was in Council Bluffs on Monday. He went to Omaha to continue the search but was equally unsuccessful.

George and Henry Cleveland and Tom Lane were tried in police court vesterday for disturbing the peace. George Cleveland, the young man who had his arm broken Sunday, was the cause of the disturbance according to the evidence, but the court thought he had been punished enough and discharged him along with his companions.

A couple of reckless boys living near the corner of Eighth avenue and Sixteenth street stuck a pin into the arm of a httle girl yesstuck a pin into the arm of a little girl yes-terday afternoon us she was going home from school. The girl went to the police station with her mother, her arm swollen badly and bleeding profusely. The names of the boys were given to the police and they will be prosecuted. It is reported that they have been guilty of similar acts of lawless-ness before.

DeWitt's Sarsaparilla destroys such poltons as scrofula, skin diseases, eczema, rheu-natism. Its timely use saves many lives.

The First of the Season.

Miss Ella Ragsdale's autumnal milinery opening that begun last evening attracted a great deal of attention, not only because it was the first of the season, but because the display delighted the ladies. The room is uniquely decorated in wild autumn flowers, the com-mon purple-blossomed thistle forming a prominent part. The millinery display is very handsome, and the fact is very noticable that in the autumn styles positive colors are used, and the pretty effects are obtained by skillful blending. The display will continue this afternoon and evening, and the ladies will be well repaid for calling.

The city council met as a committee of the whole yesterday afternoon and took a ride over the city for the purpose of investigating a number of matters which were referred at a recent meeting. At the close of the examination they returned to the council champer, where a number of recommendations were decided upon to be made to the council at its meeting on Monday evening. In regard to the proposed extension of North First street it was decided that the petition of the property owners should not be granted unless they would agree to pay all the cost of the condemnation proceedings. The bad condition of east Broadway near the city limits was taked of and a resolution was passed providing for the grading of the low places and putting in such culverts as might be necessary. The plan of extending Harmony street on the west was referred to the city engineer, with instructions to prepare a piat in order that the councilmen might got a better idea of Witt Eastman, a traveling man representng himself to be in the employ of Arnold & Kestler of New York, is wanted in this city to explain some business transactions that have on their face a slightly shady appearance. He was here about a week ago and presented to M. Marcus a letter of credit purporting to have been signed by his firm and asked for $20, giving him a d aft for the amount in return. He went through the same performance with a firm in Omaha and obtained $00. He then disappeared in the distance, and neither of his victums knew that they had been victums until yesterday. when their drafts came back from New York where they had been protested. No other information was secured with refer-ence to him. It is learned here that he said that he had a wife living in Spokane Falls, Wash., and a letter was sent there by Chief of Police Scauler, various version to find of Police Scanlan yesterday in order to find out what is known of him there.

Republican Convention.

The republicans of Pottawattamie county will hold their convention today at the court house, commencing at 11 o'clock. Nominations for county clerk, recorder, attorney, auditor and supervisors will be made. The candida es for the various offices have been doing some lively rustling during the last few days, and an interesting time is looked for. Among the candidates who have thus far announced them-selves are the following: For recorder, A. J. Stephenson, L. C. Dale, W. M. Shepard, Theodore Davis of Hardin township and A. C. Rank of Garner. For auditor, N. O. Ward of Garner township. For clerk, H. B. Batty of Walnut, F. H. Warren of Council Bluffs. George W. Hewitt is generally thought to have the inside track for county attorney, and no one has been heard from yet as having a hankering after the office of supervisor,

AN OYSTER WAR ON.

Luselous Bivalves on the Market at About

Your Own Price.
The season bas arrived when the average citizen's fancy turns to thoughts of luscious oyster stews and his dreams are sometimes on the same line, if he indulges his appetite too late at night. In the great west, where the oysters have to be transported all the way from Baltimore, they are usually an expensive luxury,

In Omaha, however, they are about the cheapest thing to be had at present. They sre cheaper even than boiled potatoes, with the sains on, and if the price goes much lower the poor of the city may be reduced to the necessity of living on a fried ovster diet.

The sudden reduction in the price is not due to the discovery of oysters in the Missouri river but simply to a war among the local oyster dealers.

In Baltimore there are large oyster houses that have branches scattered all over the country at the main distributing points. In addition to these houses there are, in most large cuties local converse that have the oyster. large cities, local concerns that also job oys-ters. As a rule, all these houses maintain a standard price, which is passed on the Baltimore market. In other words, there is an understanding that prices shall be maintained with a margin for profit. Thus in Chicago there are something like twolve wholesale ovster houses that belong to the scalled sombline.

to the so-called combine.

In Omaha there are two local houses and the same number of Baltimore houses that sell oysters by the wholesale, and they have men out on the read in Neoraska and to some extent in lowa. Last year there was a tacit understanding among the Omaha houses and prices were generally maintained on a basis with other cities. All the members to the agreement, however, were not sat-isfied and at the opening of the present season no agreement could be made present season no agreement could be made. There were complaints and charges without number. "You cut prices on the quiet," said one, "Yes, but but you stuffed your cans," said another. "But that's nothing to what you did, you furnished waiters in a restaurant with white aprons to get them to handle your oysters," came from still another. "Well if you fellows want to get them if you fellows want to cut prices we have $25,000 to drop in Omaha," came from another. "Well, let it drop," came from the rest in chorus.

As a result there is no oyster combine in Omaha this year, and oyster combine in selling lower than ever before in this city. Dealers claim that they are selling below cost and that it is only a question of time when there will have to be a change. a change.

The Jeannie Winston Opera company, comprising ten principals and a chorus of thirty voices, will begin an engagement at the Farnam street theater bunday matinee and night. While this organization is conceded to be one of the best traveling, the managers have shown their commercial astuteness in performing at the Farnam's popular prices, which will undoubtedly result in a larger pecuniary total at the end of the week than it would had they elected to place the price of admission to consonance with the reported admission to consonance with the reported merits of the company. The star of the company is Miss Jeannie Winston, who has for four years held a position in the operation field among the celebrities of the lyric stage. She is famous as an impersonator of male characters, in the portraval of which she is said to be the best on the English or Ameri-can stage. The opening opera will be Offenbach's charming composition, "La Perichole," in which she appears as a male street singer. During the week, "San Sebastian," "Prince Methusalem," "La Perichole," "Fra Diavolo" "Boccaccio," and Balfe's "Bohemian Girl," "Pinafore" will be given. Seats may be secured at popular prices, which will remain unchanged.

Notwithstanding the warm weather the highly sensational comedy drama, "The Lancastire Lass," continues to pack the Bijou theater. Alexander Salvini stands today as the foremost remantic actor of the American stage, and he has won this proud position stage, and he has won this proud position not by the aid of any inherent genius he may possess so much as by his indomitable de-termination to succeed. He is one of the hardest working members of the theatrical profession. "More or less prominent people," says he, "from time to time have left his em-ploy on the plea that too many rehearsals were required of them." Salvini never misses the regular daily rehearsal, for unlike these malcontents he does not think he has learned It all; and furthermore his art is as much a part of his enjoyment as it is his ambition. For this season it has been his effort to se-lec his support from among those who are as modest as himself in their valuation of persistent endeavor and practical experience. Such enthusiasm and magnetism as that which characterizes Alexander Salvini is naturally infectious, and consequently an exceptionally artistic performance may be looked for. The sale of seats for the entire engagement at Boyd's theater will be put or sale this morning.

Mr. Lowry's Committee Learning Lots About the City Hall, The council committee appointed to investigate the city ball elevators and incidea tally to listen to the charges of irregularities in the construction of the hall held an all day session yesterday.

At the morning meeting the statement was made by the mayor that a rumor had gained currency that a member of the firm of archi-tects who designed the hall had said that a part of the first estimate had to be divided among several councilmen. Mr. Specht gave his evidence about the alleged shortage of his evidence about the alleged shortage of the city hall tower but nothing definite was clicited as to whether the contract had been compiled with or not. The elevator question was brought up and the committee notified the contractors that the elevators must be made to perform the work required of them or the city would not accept them.

During the afternoon Albert Shuil, who furnished the cut stone for the building, positively denied the statement made by Chris Specht that there was $6.00 worth of them. stone at his yard which had been intended for the cornice and not used. He said there was one stone worth about $15 which had not been used, and several stones that had been rejected by the architect. Then the committee took City Clerk Groves and a tape line and measured the tower. In-stead of being fourteen feet short, it was found to comply exactly with the plans and specifications as regards height. Considera-ble testimony was taken contradictory of statements made by Specht, and the committee adjourned its work until tonight.
