EDUCATION OF THE INDIAN

Chairman Dawes of the Senate Committee Tells of Poor Lo's Advancement.

FUTURE OF THE INDIAN IS HOPEFUL

The Senator and Co mmissioner Morgan a Tour of Examination of Indian Schools-Senator Dawes Talks of Massachusetts Politics.

Senator Henry L. Dawes of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate committee on Indian affairs: General T. J. Morgan, commissioner of Indian affairs; Mrs. Dawes, Miss Anna L. Dawes, the well known writer: Assistant Sergeant-at-arms Kimball Valentine and several stenographers came into Omaha Monday night from Sioux City in the Wagner car Chicago, and were sidetracked in the Union Pacine yards until yesterday when the car was attached to No. 5 of the Union Pacific, enroute for Genoa.

Senator Dawes in talking to a representative of THE BEE, said: 'We are making an inspection of the Indian schools, both government and contract, and will go to Genoa today to inspect the school at that place. We had expected to be joined at Pierre, S. D., where we were day before resterday, by Sonator Pettigrew but the de-mands of a lively political empanga in that state prevented his meeting us. Senator Manderson was also to be one of our party but he seems to have gotten lost somewhere

We hope, however, he will be at Gesoa when "How have you found the schools!" "In excellent condition. They are contin-uing to demonstrate the wisdom of Indian education." "In which you were a pioneer, senator, were you not?

Was the Red Man's Friend,

"Well, I presume I might be called such. At any rate, I succeeded in having the first appropriation bill passed that gave any money from the government treasury for Indian education. That was in 1877 and the appropriation was for $20,000. Of course before that time there had been some money perfore that time there had been some money for education from treaties, but the government had never given anything toward it. The appropriations have grown during these fitteen years until in 1892 the appropriation for all purposes was about $2,250,000. There is very little opposition now to the appropriations on the ground that their results do not justify them. Instead there is a general acquisicence in the stead there is a general acquiescence in the wisdom of educating the Indians and an accompanying endorsement of the necessary appropriations. Oh! of course, there is the usual exposition from these who want to keep appropriations down for party capital; men like Holman, for example. He doesn't like to go beyond the billion-dollar congress. But he has, nevertheless, and so far, this campaign at lesst, effectually killed the democratic cry of extravagance.

From Indians the talk drifted to politics and as the senator is billed to speak at Genoa today the reporter asked after his own state politically.

"Massachusetts is strongly republican," said Senator Dawes; "although like Iowa she has elected a democratic governor a couple of times, there can be no doubt about the republicans carrying the state by a safe majority in a presidential year. They have nominated a strong man for governor in William H. Haile, and although Governor Russell is an exceedingly popular man don't expect to see him carry the state this year. And even in the event that his personal popularity should secure his own election he cannot, by any possibility, be able to carry the state for Cleveland. Hitherto, when he has been elected bimself, he has never been able to carry even the rest of the state ticket with him. He cannot hope this year to carry the state for both the state and national tickets. Massachusetts will go for Harrison and Reid." Then, with real feeling, the venerable statesman, his hair and beard silvered by the years of a long and useful career, spoke of his retirement from public life, "With the close of my present term my retirement to private life begins. When the last day is reached I will have been in the house and senate just thirty-six years, Senator Morrill of Vermont being the only man who can point to a longer congressional career; he has an experience covering thirty eight years." Commissioner Morgan Talks. General Morgan in detailing the trip with which he has been connected since the con-gressional party began its inspection, said:

"From Chicago we went to Toma, Wis, and from there to White Earth, Minn., where there is a large contract school conducted by the Catholics. It is a school very well managed indeed. Our next stop was at Pierre, where there is a large government Pierre, where there is a large government school. This was in excellent condition, as was also the Eniscopal school near Springfield, S. D., which we next visited. The work of the Congregational school at Santee, over which Dr. Riggs has presided for twenty years or more, is well known for its thoroughness. We found it in its wonted condition. From Santee we came out to Omsha and are enjoyed to Genoa." Omaha and are enroute to Genoa." With reference to his work at the head of the Indian bureau, General Morgan said: "I have tried to introduce system into all branches of the work, and from the first I have justed on the employment of fair business methods in all dealings with the Indi-ans. As a case in point, I have compelled peef contractors to supply good beef cattle as the Indians needed them, and not fill a contract, as they had been doing, by delivering an entire herd of cattle at one time. By that time many of the cattle would be poor when the Indians wanted them killed for beef.

"Then a feature of the work to which I have devoted especial attention has been that of education. Some people seem to think that that is about the only thing to which the bureau is paying attention. The fact is that no less attention is being paid to other parts of the work, but that a great deal more attention that formerly is being devoted to discover. the work, but that a great deal more attention than formerly is being devoted to educational work. In education I believe the solution lies for the Indian problem. It is the hope of the Indians just as it was and is our hope. A few centuries ago we were but little better than the red men. It has been education that has brought us up to our present piane of civilization. It will do as much, I believe, for the Indian. When one generation has been taught English and has been given a fair education the Indian problem will have passed away."

After inspecting the school at Genoa the party will return to this city arriving party will return to this city arriving this afternoon at 4 o'clock and will leave here for Kansas City at 9:45 this even-ing over the Kansas City. St. Joe & Council Bluffs, later going on to Lawrence and then into New Mexico. When properly treated as soon as the first symptoms appear, cholera can nearly always be cured. The patient should go immediately to bed and remain as quiet as possible. Send for a physician, but while awaiting his arrival take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy in double doses after each operation of the bowels more than natural. If there is severe pain or cramps take it in double doses, every fifteen minutes until relieved. This remedy has been used with great success in seven epidemics of dysentery that were almost as severe and dangerous as cholera, and if used as directed a cure is almost certain. Every family should have a 50-cent bottle at hand ready for instant use. After the disease is under control castor oil must be taken to cleanse the system. No other physic or substitute will do in place of caster oil. For sale by drug-
