John Burtelmeyer, better known as John of a couple of hats was reported to the police Meyer, was brought before Judge Macy yesterday morning by his parents, charged with incorrigibility. His parents claimed that he was beyond their control, had spent only two nights during the past year at home, had not been home for eight days, and when remonstrated with for his misdeeds would use profane and obscene language toward them. The boy, although but 15 years of age, has spent a good deal of time When the patrol wagon came in sight Leuch and his prisoner walked up street to meet it. Suddenly, without a warning, Benson drew a big rovolver from his hip pocket and sent a builet whizzing at in jail, having been arrested for stealing a stove from a second-hand store and selling it. He has been in juil for several days past on the charge of vagrancy. Judge Macy in-vestigated the case and ordered him taken to the State Industrial school at Eldora. The jury in the case of John Grant against he Union Pacific Railway company, after being out thirty-six hours, came in vesterday afteraoon and reported that they were unable to agree. Judge Woolson refused to discharge them, however, but told them that they were as competent to render a verdict as any jury that could be drawn. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 1 .- The Star this evening says editorially: "Some of the republicans papers are very much disturbed about what W. R. Nelson is reported to have said upon his recent return from England in regard to the 'fair trade' movement in that country, and are socking to discredit his statenent. What Mr Nelson said was that there is an agitation in England, in the spirit of retaliation, in favor of imposing a duty on American wheat, and this is true. It is claimed by the promoters of this movement drawn from the other wheat producing sections of the world without materially in creasing the cost to the English consumer, and that the United States may be, and ought to be, punished for discrimination agaisst English products.
