KILLED IN A PRIZE FIGHT

Covington, Neb., Again the Scene of Bloody Sunday Night Tragedy.

FUSION THEATER SCENE OF THE CRIME

Billy the Kid Singged to Death by Jack Keefe-Murderer and Several of His Friends Under Arrest.

DAKOTA CITY, Neb., Oct. 3.- | Special Telegram to THE BRE. | - At 3 o'clock this morning Sheriff Ryan was notified by courier to go to Covington and arrest Jack Keefe for the murder of George Duffy, better known as Billy the Kid. Keefe and the Kid were billed for a prize fight at the Fusion theater at Covington last night for $25 a side, the Kid to face Keefe for six rounds, marquis of Queensbury rules. Keefe is a large muscular man, while the Kid was of small stature but wirey and full of pluck.

The first two rounds the Kid evaded Keefe skillfully and it seemed as if he would be successful in the contest.

In the third round, after Keefe had made several unsuccessful feints, he landed a hot, sharp blow on the Kid's left side in the region of his heart on the short ribs. The Kid fell to the floor unconsious. He was picked up by his seconds and placed on his chair in his corner, when blood commenced to core out of his nostrils and mouth. He was carried to one of the boxes in the second story of the theater, and there soon expired, never regaining consciousness.

As soon as his death became known, pearly all in the fight went over the river to Sioux City to escape officers.

A coroner's jury was impaueled and evidence is now being taken as to the cause of his death. Another View of the Case.

It is claimed by Covington people that Kid, before the fight commenced, took some medicine as an antidote for drunkenness, and that was the immediate cause of his death. Keefe has fought several battles in Covington and is a hard slugger. The Kid is a "sure thing" gembler and highwayman who has served several sentences in the county jail for robbery and minor offenses. Duffey was under $500 bonds for his appearance at the next term of the district court for robbers from the person, committed on Peter Mollitor of this county last April. Duffey claimed his home at St. Louis. He leaves a wife.

Sheriff Ryan about a month ago endervored to suppress prize fighting in Covington and arrested two principals who were about to enter the ring, but when the case was called in court it was dismissed by County Attorney McCallister. Since then Covington has been more unlawful than ever, but the happening last night will probably end the sport, as the taxpayers are becoming indignant at the amount of useless prosecution necessary to maintain peace in that place. Sheriff Ryan tenight brought up from Covington and lodged in jail Jack Keefe, principal; Billy O'Donnell, second for Keefe; Jack Cahill, assistant second for Billy the Kid, and a steamboat man known as Paddy, referee. Charles Monroe, second for the Kid, is under arrest in Sioux City and will not return without requisition. Complaint will be lodged against the prisoners as soon as the coroner's verdict is returned.

It is plain that the writer of the article has been misinformed. Dr. Naulteus, the slayer of Spurling, lived here several years and always bore a good reputation. About three years ago a farmer named Aldrich, living near Ayr, died under suspicious circumstances. The body was exhumed and the stomach examined by a medical expert traces of poison being found. Mrs. Aldrich was arrested and tried on the charge of poisoning her husband. During the progress of the trial Dr. Nauteus, as the family physician, was called as a medical ex-pert on behalf of the defense. As effort was made by insinuations to connect him with it was generally believed that Aldrich ad ministered the poison himself in a fit of

FACTS ABOUT MARS.

Prof. Payne of Carleton College Talks Learnedly of the Planet. NORTHFIELD, Minn., Oct. 3.-The just issued October number of Astronomy, a scientific magazine edited by Prof. W. W. Payne of Carleton college, contains several valuable papers on the resent observations of the planet Mars. The first is by Prof. Edward 5. Holden, who, under date of August 18, explains the work done by the big Lick telescope in California, giving his conclusions as "I may briefly state my individual conclusions as derived from a comparison of my own observations of Mars at the opposition of 1875, and at all succeeding ones, to be that the changes in the surface features of Mara as we now know them are probably not capable of being completely explained by terrestrial analogies. What are we to make of the lake called Foos Juventae, for example, which was a single object in 1877, which was not visible in 1879, and which has been both single and double during the present year? The dark areas of Mars may be water and the red areas land, but how are we to explain the faintly colored areas like the Hesperia or Deucalionis region! Are they vast shoals like the grand banks of Newfoundland! Are they solid land, or are

"Is it conceivable that an observer of Mars, examing the earth in any part of its recent history, could have seen such amazing topographic changes as we have this year os-served, not to speak of the changes from op-position to opposition! It appears to me that a careful examination of the long series of drawings of Mars which we owe to Prof. Schiaparelli and to others up to the present time will make it evident that there are enormous difficulties in the way of compie ely explaining the recorded phenomena by terrestrial analogy unless we also introduce serious modifications,"

Prof. William Pickering of Harvard college, who has been observing Mars in South America, writes at length under date of Arequipa, Peru, August 1, 1832. He gives with great detail a report of his observations, which showed many and rapid changes on the planet, and in conclusion says: "In seeking to explain these observations, I would merely point out the fact that the changes occurred at a time when the snow was melting with great rapidity, that a dark channel suddenly appeared July 12, which had not been seen at the last previous observation of this region June 13, that it shortly disappeared again and that a few days after this event the northern sea largely increased in area temporarily, or at least that its southern shores became much darker. I think these changes cannot be explained by aerial cloud effects. "We have also observed large whitish patches upon the planet, which undergo considerable change in shape and extent from night to night. We are now studying them carefully, sithough we find them rather difficuit of observation. These changes we are inclined to believe are clouds, although the matter is not so simple as it might at first ap pear. If these effects are really due to the clouds, they are quite different in character from the other changes noted."

Other papers describing the observations made in various parts of the world are also published, but they have already been cov

KILLED BY HIS EROTHER-IN-LAW.

A Drunken Quarrel Ends in Murder at Fail River, Mass. FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 3 .- John Kennedy of this city was murdered yesterday by his brother-in-law, Mack Kennelly, who lives with him. Both had been drinking. Shortly before the killing they were talking in the kitchen, when some sharp words passed between them and Kennelly ordered his brother-in-law to pack his trunk and leave the house at once. Kennelly went from the aitchen and threw a bottle through the window into the room where Kennedy was sitting. The latter ran to the door and Kennelly dared him to come out. Kennedy went up to Kennelly in the middle of the street, whereupon Kennelly struck him. They chinched and Kennelly got Kennedy's head under his arm, drew his pocket knife and plunged it to the hilt in Kennedy's abdomen just below the stomach. He dropped on the sidewalk and was assisted to the steps of the building, but became unconscious all mmediately and died in a few minutes.

President Harrison's Position on the Supject of Cabinet Officers Engaging in Campaign Work-Anxious That the Public Be Informed.

> WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BES, 1 513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.

Solicitor General Aldrich quietly and satirically poked fun at Judge Gresham today for the latter's political flop. The bolt of Judge Gresham from Mr. Harrison and of General Sickles from Mr. Cleveland continue to furnish the most interesting topic of discussion among the politicians. Naturally the federal judicial circles with whom Judge Gresham has maintained such intimate relations are especially interested in his change of faith. Attorney General Miller today declined to say anything for publication on the Gresham move, but Solicitor General Aldrich, who is next in rank to the attorney general, talked quite freely to THE BEE correspondent on the subject. Before Mr. Aldrich left Chicago to accept the solicitor generalship, he was brought into close contact with Judge Gresham in his practice before the federal courts, and he spoke of the judge from the standpoint of a professional and political friend.

"I do not credit the report that Judge Gresham has declared for Mr. Cleveland,1 said Mr. Aldrich. "My reasons briefly stated are that the judge is not in politics and can hardly wish to put himself before the country as a political factor. I know that four years ago when his name was used as a possibility before the Chicago convention and he was warmly supported for that place by Illinois he felt that he was in a delicate position.

His Views at That Time.

"He recognized then what has generally been recognized by the highest minded men of all parties from the foundation of our gov-ernment, that the judiciary should be di-vorced from politics. There can be no more vorced from politics. There can be no more unseemly spectacle than a judge anxious to obtain or receive political honors. The relative positions of the great parties have not changed within the last four years. If Judge Gresham was so much of a republican as to desire, notwithstanding his judicial position, to lead the republican hosts to victory in 1888 on a platform as comprehensive week the second problems. prehensive upon the tariff, honest money and honest elections as the present one, and in no way differing in doctrine and spirit from the present one, he certainly caunot now de-sire to repudiate the principles for which he then wished to stand; should he do so the people, I fear, will generally attribute his change to disappointed ambition and only a few will believe that he has received any new

"I therefore decline to credit the report just as I declined to believe that he coquetted with the so-called people's party. Yes, I have seen purported extracts from a conversation with Judge Gresham. The interview is not remarkable. All that he says about honest elections, use of money in politics, etc., will have the approval of every honest man. Judge Gresham is by no means the discoverer of nonesty. Honest men have lived before him, and when, un-fortunately, he is called away I am con-strained to believe that others as honest will survive. He has, I believe, too much sense to suppose that the democratic party stands either for the freedom or purity of the bal-

General Political Gossip.

Ex-Congressman Van Horn, of Kansas City Mo., is here and says Missouri will very likely elect Major Warner, the republican candidate for governor.

Major Warner has requested the republican national committee to let him make his own campaign and let him make it with Missour speakers. He is making it upon state issues and he has stirred Missouri as it has never been before.

C. J. Cariton, a well known Kansas repuban, now here, reports a satisfactory condition of politics in his state. He says: "The treatment of Weaver and Mrs. Lease in Georgia, has convinced the people of Kansas that the alliance of that state is strong as they have endeavored to have the people of the north believe. It has opened the eyes of the people who believed in this ticket in the north and has shown how absolutely in the minority they are in the southern states The third party in the west has been led to think that there was hope of doing something among the farmers of the southern states, but they now see the futility of such efforts, and the result has been the weakening of the party in the west and especially in Kansas and Nebraska. The republicans of those two states who have been affiliating with the al-liance will no longer permit themselves to pick the chestnuts out of the fire for the democrats, and they are returning to the old party in great numbers. Kansas will surely give its electoral vote to Harrison, and the same can be said of Nebraska."

Secretary Foster of the Treasury department stated to THE BEE correspondent today that he would speak on next Friday in Maryland, on next Monday in western New York and as soon as the condition of busi ness of his office would admit he would go into Ohio and deliver some speeches. It is probable that he will make one speech Indiana during the campaign and possibly two or three in Iowa and Nebraska,

Should Keep the Public Informed.

There have been misconstructions placed upon the views of President Harrison with respect to the propriety of cabinet officers making campaign speeches. President Harrison has no objection to his cabinet officers delivering speeches during the cam-paign just so long as they do not let their speechmaking interfere with the perform ance of their official duties. The president believes that one of the first duties of a cabinet officer is to inform the public of his official stewardship and give the public information upon the work of the administraformation upon the work of the administra-tion. This may be done by speech as well as by annual reports. If the voters of the country desire official information as to what an administration has done, is doing and proposes to do the president believes that it is the duty of the cabinet officer hav-ing the information to give it out. This ad-ministration has never been one of mystery or secrecy. It has from the first day of its or secreey. It has from the first day inception given out information to the public freely and the president takes the position that the voters are entitled to such information at the time as they may desire to enable them to act intelligentlyt at the polls next month. Result of Republican Enterprise. There is now very little, if any, doubt that before the end of President Harrison's second term great innovations will be enjoyed in the postal service, due to the creative genius, the ambition and enterprise of Postmaster Gen-eral Wanamaker. It is to be hoped, for this reason, that Mr. Wanamaker will serve another four years in the cabinent.

The proposition to attach to the doors of private residences boxes for the deposit of mail delivered and mail posted for the car-rier has reached a point where it is a tangible fact. Mr. Wanamaker has worked upon this matter till he has secured the inven-tions, has tested them and created the demand, if the next congress should be republican, as it promises to be, an appropriation will be made for the boxes. Then the mail will not only be your own private box, which can only be opened by you and the carrier, but the letters and papers which you want mailed will be taken out and carried away.

You need never go to the postoffice. You can buy your stamps of the carrier, mail your matter with him, have him get registered puckages and register them for you, get your postal notes, etc. In short, every citizen will have his own little postoffice at his own door. Then if we have postal telegraph service and penny letter postage we will surpass the world in postal service. We are already putting to pneumatic tube service in large cities, by which letters can be shot throughcities in an instant and be more desirable than a telegraph service at postal

Information for the Veterans.

Commissioner Raum, it is stated at the pension office, shook the hands of over 40,000 veterans during the Grand Army of the Republic encampment here ten days ago. great many of the "boys" came to Washing-ton not so much for the purpose of attending the encampment as to ascertain how their pension claims stood before the bureau, and a majority of those who called to see General Raum inquired about the status of their pensions.
Anticipating this rush of the veterans and desiring to do all in his power to make the en campment a success in all ways and the visit of the veterans satisfactory. Commissioner Raum prepared a special slip for the calling up of claims during the cheampment. He up of claims during the cheampment. He believed that any vetern who would travel hundreds of miles to ascertain how his pen-sion claim stood was entitled to the information. The special slip was printed in red and blue upon white paper and was headed: "Twenty-sixth National Encampment of the Laterior. Bureau of Pensions, Washington, D. C., September —, 1832, "and then followed the blank lines giving the number of claim, name, company, regiment, postoffice address, etc. It required but a day local the status of claims and if it was to get the status of claims, and if it was found that the testimony was all is the case was made special. A large number of the pensions were allowed on the spot for the veterans. The arrangement was a special compliment to the veterans, and they is many ways showed their appreciation of it.

JOHN CUDAHY'S CASE.

His Trial Has Been Postponed-Defendant

Not Worrying. CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 3.-Millionaire John Cudaby and his broker, A. W. Wright, appeared in a justice court this morning to answer to the complaint that they had violated the law by cornering short ribs. The complainant was not present and the case went over, the defendants furnishing $1,000 bail. Neither Mr. Cunaby nor Mr. Wright appeared very much worried over the matter. Mr. Cudaby said it was another case of the "baby act." No explanation was offered for the absence of the defendant. Thomas E. Rauch. The court proceedings had no effect on the prices of the product alleged to be cornered. October ribs, so far from being depressed today as might have been ex-pected, were 15 cents higher than on Saturday. The advance, too, was in the face of the fact that the monthly statement of stocks on band, as officially posted by the secretary of the Board of Trade early in the day, showed 30,900,000 pounds of short rios against 24,000,000 estimated by the pro-vision men previous to this report. That means that the clique has 7,000,000 pounds more to take and pay for than it counted upon. It represents a risk of $700,000 more upon. It represents a risk of $709,000 more at the October price (10 cents per pound) and is no small matter. Nevertheless the corner held its own, but the short sellers were more confident. The identity of Rauch is much a mystery to the Board of Rauch is much a continue of the continu Trade men as to the general public. No one could locate him and all refused to believe that he did a large business. The attorneys for the defense intimates he was a dummy, whose name figures in the case in place of certain big shorts.

London, Oct. 3.-The Press Association says that the amount of the grant voted by the government to enable the British East Africa company to remain to Uganda for at least three months longer is £12,000. It also says it is probable that after the evacuatiat of the territory a British company will take charge of affairs there.

The grant to the British East Africa company is the result of a communication which Lord Rosebery recently sept to the officers of that organization, saying the government was willing to give the company pecuniary assistance in order that it might prolong the occupation for a stated period.
