[Copyrighted 1892 by New York Associated Press.] BERLIN, Oct. 15.—Public attention here is chiefly directed to the military bill, which not a single journal, except the government organs, supports. The recent pretty general telief that a crisis was impending in the Prussian cabinet, arising from the divergence of views in regard to the bill, has become greatly modified. The opposition now admits that there is little ground for such bellef. At a meeting of the Prussian cabinet ro active opposition was offered to the measure. The ministry accepted the bill on condition that the extra expenditure involved be borne by the empire and not by Prussia alone. The assurance of Chancellor von Caprivi on this point appears to be satisfactory to them. Herr Miguel, Prussian minister of finance, from whom the strongest opposition to the measure was expected, contented himself with explaining the financial results of the bill. The radical journals sarcastically comment upon what they term the submission of the ministry.

Converted the Emperer.

In regard to the emperor's attitude, it is stated on excellent authority that he was at first reluctant to waive his objections, chiefly on account of the great increase in the expenditures. The chancellor, however, with much insistence, converted him to the opinion that the proposed changes were absolutely necessary on present grounds.

The prospect of the bill passing the Reichstag has been improved by a report that the government has decided to concede to parlisment the right to fix the annual peace footing of the army. If the time of service is also reduced to two years it is not unlikely that the bill will be supported by the conservatives, free conservatives, national liberals and centerists, which will suffice to ensure a government majority. Next week the bill will be submitted to the Bundesrath, which is expected to speedily adopt it, as all the German governments are acquainted with and have approved of its contents.

The Cologne Gazette, which is the best authority on the subject, has published certain details of the bill from which it appears that the measure specially provides for an enormous increase in the artillery branch of the service, putting it greatly in excess of the French artillery, which since the French military reorganization has exceeded the

What William Did While in Vienna,

Although Emperor William spent the greater part of his visit to Vienna in shooting and sight-seeing, he found time to have several lengthy private conversations with Emperor Francis Joseph. It is understood that these interviews were were chiefly devoted to the discussion of army reorganization. Emperor William, it is said, obtained Emperor Francis Joseph's assurance that the lessons taught by the German experiment would not be ignored by Austria. The latter is really as much interested in the question as is Germany, seeing that a two years' service largely prevails in the Austrain army on account of the last army bill which increased the yearly conscription without proportionately augmenting the peace effective. It is reported that the meeting arranged to take place between Emperor William and the duke of Cumberland at Schonbrunn to discuss the question of the Brunswick succession, fell through, owing to the ex-queen of Hanover persuading the duke of Cumberland not to go. The duke is in a quandary. Queen Victoria advises him to release his claim to the throne of Hanover, while his own mother strenuously opposes a renunciation, which would be against her father's dying wishes. If the duke follows Queen Victoria's counsel, it is thought probable that his eldest son will be allowed to succeed to the throne of Brunswick, though he himself would only be allowed the usufruct of his father's immense wealth. During his stay at Schonbruan Emperor William occupied the bedroom in which Napoteon the Great slept during the stege of Vienna. Disgusted at Their Brutality.

The Austrian military riders who took part in the long distance race bave returned to Vienna, leaving about half their horses dead or disabled in Berlin. The German riders' horses fared little better. The enthusiasm of the general public over the race has quite vanished and has been replaced by a sort of moral disgust. The German society for the protection of animals has decided to protest against the brutality of the riders and to bring the question before the Reich-

Inspector General Rosenberg, one of the highest authorities on cavalry training, has issued a paper on the race, in which he attributes the success of the Austrians chiefly to the fact that they worked harder from the beginning than the Germans, who took a good rest on the first night, while the Austrians reduced their rest to a minimum. General Rosenberg considers that for stay ing qualities the Austrian cavalry is the best in the world. A report giving the experts to America from the consular district of Berlin for the past three months shows that they have increased $2,628,225, compared with the corresponding period last year. The increase is mainly due to the Hamburg sugar exports which amounted in value to $2,400,000 and an increase of $540,000 in the value of the knitted goods exported from Chemwitz. The experts from the latter place were especially large in view of the fact that prices were 25 per cent lower, owing to the effect of the McKinley bill and the low prices of cotton. Created a Sensation.

A sensation has been caused in the theatrigone to Monaco with his mistress, leaving the railread men, until today a strike was his family penniless and his company unpaid. Junserman's father has often played in America and he will appear in New York n November. He himself has lost money through assisting his son.

Most of the German papers contain articles upon Columbus. All agree that the destiny of the entire American continent is unavoidably bound up with, and can only be necomplished through, the progress and leadership of the United States.

CONFUSION CONFOUNDED.

Germany's Political Situation is Decidedly

Shaken Up at Present. [Copyrighted 189 by James Gordon Bennett.] BERLIN, Oct. 15. —[New York Herald Cable -Special to THE BEE, |-The situation has not greatly changed within the last few days. The storm is brewing, but has not burst. We hear the muttering thunder and feel the first rain drops, and know that lu a few weeks the horizon will be bright with flame, Meanwhile the champions who will shortly be engaged in flourishing their swords are preparing their arguments, and gauging the strength of their opponents. Caprivi sits apart in his tent-the Kauzierie in Wilhelmstrasse-issuing orders to his benchmen, priming his newspapers and instructing his reptiles. Alliances are made and scaled on paper, only to be unmade and disowned the following morning. The ministerialists cry peace, and there is no peace. Their enemies reply by threats to their warnings. On the one side we are told that the adoption of the army bill is as good as assured. On the other it is said that the bill will never see the light, or if it does it will be cast out by the Reichstag. Rumors of all sorts are in the air. Caprivi is to resign; Caprivi is to stay; the Reichstag is to be dissolved; the Reichstag is not to be dissolved. At one moment the emperor has pledged himself to back the chancellor, the next we learn that he is to leave him to his fate; that he will let him go as far as he can with the bill, and if he finds the Reichstag bent on opposition, he will drop him.

We stand upon the threshold of the confusion of parties, and see ministers scheming and journalists dreaming. The upshot of it ail will soon be seen. Caprivi has thrown down the glove and the Reichstag seems inclined to do its duty.

In the excitement of politics smaller things have been neglected. Among them is the very pretty quarret between Prof. Harnack and the evangelical party. I hear that the superior council of the Evangelical church has just appealed to Dr. Bosse, minister of public worship, to remove Harnack from the service of the state. He has caused a scandal in the church by his attacks on the apostolic creeds. His dismissal appears probable.

ENGLAND'S GREAT STORM.

Citles Inundated, Valleys Overflowed, Wrecks and Loss of Life.

LONDON, Oct. 15 .- A very great storm set in over England, Scotland and Wales Thursday night and has been raging since. Wires are down in every direction. Tidings of disaster, shipwreck and loss of life are beginning to come in. The rivers in all this territory are out of their banks and doing preat damage to unbarvested crops and flooding low lying towns. In places the

At Durham, which is nearly surrounded by the river Weare, the water is very high. The railway bridge has been swept away by the torrent, causing a heavy loss, and further damage is apprehended When the bridge fell a freight train was just going on t and the engine and loaded vans went to the bottom of the river. The train hands had sufficient warning of the impending disaster to make their escape uninjured. The storm is also making itself felt in the channel. The Deux Gaming a french lugger, has been blown ashore on the island of Guernsey, where she broke up. All her crew were drowned.

Boats are used in the streets in the lower part of Leeds. The river is still rising.

Dublin's Postoffice Burglarized. DUBLIN, Oct. 15 .- Burglars broke into the postoffice last night and stole the night cash bag. It may be that money was the only object of the thieves, but it is significant that a number of letters, many of which were addressed to Lord Houghton, the viceroy, Mr. John Morley, the chief secretary for Ireland, and occupants of the vice regal ledge were destroyed. There is no clew to Destructive Winds.

CITY OF MEXICO, Mex., Oct. 15 .- A terrible burricane is raging along the entire coast of the Gulf of Mexico. Many of the vessels lying in the port of Vera Cruz have dragged their anchors and the French steamship St Germain is in imminent danger of becoming a wreck. It is rumored that one ship has been sunk. Many buildings along the coast were destroyed last night by the force of the

GALZI'S BROTHER.

He is Now in Confinement at Galveston Texas. Galveston, Tex., Oct. 15.—Captain Joe Shelly, special United States officer of San Antonio, arrived in Galveston today on the Mallory line from Key West with Encarnuclou Garza, brother of Catarina Garza, Mexican revolutionist. Encarnacion has been the confident and companion of Catarina since the inception of his brother's movements last fall until their abandonment last December.

Captain Shelly began an active hunt for the Mexican leader three weeks ago, after the shooting of Sheriff Shelly, his brother, of Starr county, in an attempt to arrest a band of Garza followers, Captuln Shelly finally located Encarnacion Garza at Key West and arrested him.

The captain gives the following particulars of the movements of the revolutionists from the time they abandoned their movements on the Rio Grande border: They went overland from the border to Corpus Christie, Tex., and thence to Cuero, where they parted, Catarina continuing in a private conveyance and Encarnacion taking the railroad. The two met at Houston, Tex., a few days later. Thence they proceeded in disguise via the Southern Pacific to New Orleans. They remained in New Orleans until March, when they went in a steamer to Key West, then Catarina went to Havana, From Havana Catarina went to Nassua and New Providence and then returned to Key West May 1, Encarnacion remained in Key West and soon became president of the Donata Marmal Revolutionary club, formed to invade Cuba, It was at this time dispatches stated that Garza was in Key West, but the officers regarded it as a hoax.

GOOD WISHES OF THE VATICAN.

They Are Expressed to Secretary Foster by Archbishop Satolli.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15 .- Archbishop Satolli, papal legate, called on Secretary of State Foster today and presented a letter from Cardinal Rampolla, conveying the good wishes of his holiness. The party then proceeded to the white house, but the president through Private Secretary Holford conveyed an expression of his regrets that he was unable to give the legate an audience on account of the exceedingly precarious condition of Mrs. Harrison.

After the expression of sympathy with the president in his affliction, the party withdrew. Archbishop Satolli, after the close of the World's fair dedication ceremonies, will make a trip to the west, possibly extending it to the Pacific coast.

At the Department of State the legate handed to Secretary Foster the papal secretary of state's reply to the invitation to contribute from the Vatican collection Columbian relies and documents for the Chicago exposition. After the delivery of the letter a pleasant exchange of civilities followed. The papal secretary of state, Cardinal Rompolla, was the colleague of Secretary Foster when the latter was minister to Spain and Archbishop Satolli brought a personal message from the cardinal in addition to the message expressing high sentiments of admiration and esteem for the American government for the people which was com-

MADE AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

California's Supreme Court Decides a Point

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 15 .- The supreme court of California today, in the case of Easton vs Brown, being the application of a nonpartisan political faction of San Francisco for a writ to compel the registrar of votes to place the name of a nonpartisan on the municipal ticket to be voted for at the next election, decided adversely to the plaintiffs on the ground that the sections of the political code providing for voting straight ticket is unconstitutional. The court holds that the official ballot should be printed without the party designation of any party at the head of the ticket and that voters can only express their choice by stamping opposite each name or proposition voted for, except as to presidential electors, who may be voted for by a single stamp opposite the party group on the ticket. Each individual candidate's name, however, will be followed on the printed ballot by his party's designation. The court is unanimous in the decision which is considered an important one by all parties. FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION.

IMMENSE FOREIGN TRADE OF FRANCE

Figures Compiled from Late Customs House Reports Show a Tremendous Volume of Business in Both Imports and Exports.

(Copyrighted 1892 by James Gordon Bennett.) Panis, Oct. 15 .- | New York Herald Cable-Special to THE BEE. |-This has been a lively week. A ministerial crisis is inevitable from various causes, which I have already pointed out-such as the Carmaux strikes and the Franco-Swiss treaty. Then there is the trial of the Panama canal people, which will bring forth scandal. Great offorts are being made by the politicians to avoid the trial, but the judges and, above all, Procureurs Quesnav and Beaurepaire, who appeared in the celebrated Boulanger trial, insist that the trial shall go on. Through the Debats it is learned that a number of the politicians, deputies and senators who have touched the commissioners' money (it is said that more than 400 persons are involved) are fully alive to the importance of the scandal which must react upon the foreign department.

Some Political Tips.

The recent visit of the kaiser to Vienna has given rise to various remarks. It appears that Austria is trying to get on good terms with Russin, and that she desired to settle the Balkan question directly and without the intervention of the other powers. It is also said that Austria acted upon the instigation of Germany, which country found it was impossible to arrive at any result with Russia. The cause was the personal antipathy of the two emperors which prevented the devising of a way to detach Russia from France.

On the other hand, Italy cannot keep up her armament, and Germany is seeking for another basis for alliances. She is desirous of reorganizing the triple alliance with Russia as the substitute for Italy. Up to the present all her efforts have been checkmated by the unalterable will of the czar, who has

"I promised an alliance with France and I will not abandon it for any other policy." The English may soon expect to encounter French diplomacy in Egypt. I believe that a promise has been obtained to fix a date for the evacuation of the country. The occupation of Egypt may last two years more. A variety of questions are disturbing political world. It is believed that the ten sion will last until spring. All the powers

JACQUES ST. CERE. FICTIM OF A MANIAC.

Supposed rate of a Little Pennsylvania

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Oct. 15 .- About three weeks ago Samuel Duncan, a farmer of Shenango township, and a 13-year-old daugh ter of Mark Ewing, another farmer of that neighborhood, suddenly disappeared. Duncan had not lived with his wife for some months. His infatuation with the Ewing girl was a species of insanity, and he threatened to kill her if she would not marry him

This afternoon Duncan was found hidden in a corn shock. He was in a terrible condition, dirty and starving. He refuses to say anything that would help to clear up the mystery of the fate of the young girl. The officers believe that the girl has been murdered. If this proves to be true the prisoner will be in danger from the enraged people.

Attempted to Rob a Mail Car.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 15,-As the Big Four passenger and mail train due here at 7:40 o'clock this evening from Indianapolis was pulling out of Clarks Hill, fifteen miles from here, an attempt was made to rob the mail car. Mail Agent John Pauley was in man from entering the car, but the robber shot him through the left arm, inflicting un ugly wound. The baggage master, hearing the shot, pulled the bell and stopped the train, when the fellow jumped off and made his escape. A posse of men started out in pursuit of the robber.

RESTING QUIETLY.

Mrs, Harrison in no Immediate Danger— The President Greatly Depressed, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15 .- The president is very much depressed in spirits at the steady decline of Mrs. Harrison, and no longer attempts to give attention to publiaffairs. He denied himself to all callers today and omitted his regular afternoon reception. A reporter of the Associated press visited the white house at 11 o'clock tonight and was informed that Mrs. Harrison was then resting quietly, and the only noticeable difference in her condition since yesterday is that she is drowsy today. Dr. Gardner made his last visit for the night at 8 o'clock. On leaving he remarked that Mrs. Harrison was about the same as she had been for the last day or two, and that there need be no apprehension of a crisis for the present at least. Lieutenant and Mrs. Parker of the president's family circle, also left the house about 8:30 with no expectation of returning bafere tomorrow morning. During the early part of the evening they walked in the parks south of the house for nearly an hour. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison also went out for a walk during the evening. In fact there were no indications of any special uneasi ness or alarm. CONCLUDED THE DEAL.

Klowa and Comanche Indiaus Agree to Sell Their Lands.

GUTHRIE, Okl., Oct. 15.-The Cherokee commission has concluded the deal for the surplus lands of the Klowa and Comanche reservation, after the Indians have been allowed their allotments. Two million dollars is guaranteed the Indians, from which they are to receive annually 6 per cent until the principal is paid. Another stipulation allows them to appeal to congress for an additional $500,000 as the commissioners could offer but $2,000,000. The land is to remain as it is until April, 1894, much of it being leased to cattlemen. The Wichita mountains are not included in the treaty. The treaty is subject to the consent and signature of a majority of the Indians and then to ratification by congress. The total area of the reservation is 2,968,893 acres. From this must be deducted the Wichita mountains, 300,000 acres, the Fort Sill military reserve, about 12,000 eres, and allotment to 3,000 Indians of 160 acres each. This leaves a public domain of 2,276,893 acres subject to settlement, furnishing homes for 14,200 families. MANITORA CABINET CHANGES.

Catholies Succeeding in Having the School Fund Divided for Their Benefit. WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 15 .- T. Maine Daily, member of Parliament for Selkirk, this province, is to take a portfolio in the Dominion cabinet to succeed Hon E. Deudney as minister of the interior. Deudney will be appointed lieutenant governor of British Columbia. A. W. Ross, member of Parliament for Lisgar, this province, is to be appointed lieutenant governor of Manitoba. Through persistent efforts of the Roman Catholic hierarchy and the Catholic members of Parliament from Quebec, the Dominion government, it is reported, decided to adopt such legislation as will enable the Catholics in this province to carry on separate schools at the expense of the state in spite of the national school law of Manitoba which has been declared constitutional by the privy council of England. The govern ment will also reimburse the Catholics for school property taken for public school purposes. This action will likely cause political complications.

T., Oct. 15 .- Lizzie Nichols, 8 years old, while on horseback after stray animals Thursday, was dragged from her borse by an Indian and nearly choked to death. Besides being kicked and badly bruised, her garments were nearly tora off, but she managed to escape from her captor three times. The girl's mother, dismayed at her long absence, started after her and found her in a fainting condition, owing to an attempted criminal assault. The Indian returned to town yesterday. An angry crowd collected, and amid his grouns and protests in broken English, seized and hanged him to a telegraph pole. He was then riddled with bullets and the body left hanging. At the inquest a verdict was rendered of death from hanging and gun-shot wounds by parties unknown.

How the Public Was Buying Its Way Into Immortality's Burial Ground.

GLADSTONE ALREADY LOSING VOTES

Defeat of Young Lawson Cuts His Majority Down and Leaves Him a Very Narrow Hold on Power-Conservatives Take Hope.

[Copyrighted 1802 by James Gordon Bennett.] LONDON, Oct. 15 .- New York Herald Cable-Special to Tue Bee, |-In the very week during which Lord Tennyson has been laid to rest in Westminister abbey the dean has been compelled to refuse his assent to another interment there. The application was made by the friends of Woolner, the sculptor and noet. The dean explained that there is scarcely any room left in the building for interments, and that he feared great injury would result to the foundations by the cutting into the concrete which underlies the main fabric. I understand Woolner's friends do not look upon this as satis. factory, but feel agrieved in consequence.

Not long ago a similar application was made by the survivors of a gentleman whose only claim to be buried among the immortals was that he wrote two or three songs that were popular some years ago. In fact. scarcely a month passes when pressure is no brought to bear upon the dean to compel him to make room for some deceased person whose name is little likely to be remembered even a dozen years hence.

Inquiry Into Its Condition,

The condition of the abbey and the propriety of making additions for the purpose of receiving illustrious dead were thoroughly inquired into in 1890 by a royal commission, composed of a small number of members. A great many of the most interesting facts were brought out none of which seem as yet to have been brought to the knowledge of the public. On this commission there sat the dean. First Commissioner of Public Works Sir Frederick Leighton, Sir Henry Lazard, Mr. Water! house, president of the Royal Institute of British Architects, and myself. I may venture we left no side of the subject untouched. Interments in the abboy were originally confined to royal personages, their retainers or intimate friends. Even the abbots were not buried within the walls of the abbey till the thirteenth century. The first person who was interred in the poets' corner was Chancer, in 1400, but he was the clerk of royal works under Richard II. and a space in Westminster abbey was accorded him for that reason and not because he was a poet. From time to time the rules relaxed, cspecially after the reformation, so that not only the abbey but the cloister and serround. ing places became almost choked with dead, When the dean was giving his evidence I asked him if he could tell us why a person named George Wellington Francis Balthaser Saint Antonio was buried in the cloister. The dean smiled and said he could produce no reason. This interment took place in 1817, when anybody and everybody could find a snug resting place in the abbey or its

It is Full Now. The present clerk of the works told us that when the excavation was made to receive Browning's remains it was found that three other persons had been buried there previously. There only remained one vacant space visible by the side of Brown ing, and that has just been filled by Tennyprecincts. No money was then turned away

son. Otherwise this part of the abbey is full. There are altogether about 1,400 persons buried in the abbey itself, and 1,818 in the cloisters, somewhat ghastly facts for the living to contemplate. The dean told us that once he had a long letter from someone complaining that the appey itself was unendurable from the smell of the dead bodies, but no one else ever discovered it. The feeling of the royal commission was hat in the future the space remaining available for interment should be most jealously, guarded. The present dean has exercised his authority in this spirit, so that during his three years' office there have been only seven interments. Yet there are some who would have brought down those seven to five, by leaving out Street, the architect, and Spottswood, who was president of the Royal society. There are only three names of undeniable distinction among the seven, Darwin, Tennyson and Browning.

Only a Few of Us Left. Great men are becoming fewer every year, but the small men are more aggressive and pushing. We have but one poet left, but any number of manufacturers of doggerel. Thirty years ago the novelists who were amusing the public were Dickens, Thackery, George Eliot, Charles Lever, Lord Lytton, and Kingsley. Who has filled the place of any one of these masters? George Meredith is no doubt the equal of these I have named, but I don't think he anticipates Westminster abbey. That will be claimed by the small fry whose name is legion. Gladstone on the Run.

Before Gladstone has even had time to meet Parliament he has jost one member of his majority, counting two on a division. His forty is now reduced to thirty-eight. Taken in connection with the reduction of numbers for his candidates in other recent elections this is a very serious blow to the new government. It is another proof that the English constituencies are opposed his home rule policy, that the Celtic constituents alone give him the trifling advantage he has now. Young Lawson worked hard for victory, and lost by only three votes, but in 1885 the Gladstonian and 750 majority, and this bas been clean wiped out. It is a bad sign for a prime minister to begin losing his followers almost as seen as he steps into office. The conserva-tives are much clated and will meet Gladstone next February with a confident expec-tation of getting him out of office before the close of the summer.
