OCTOBER'S NUPTIAL TIDE

Weddings That Have Illumined the Week Just Ended.

SOCIETY ROUSES FROM ITS LETHARGY

Pretty Dancing Party at the Madison—Their Crystal Wedding Anniversary—Movements and Whereabouts of Well Known People.

This is the season of the honeymoon, a season that never grows old or stale and takes no account of the thermometer. As defined by Johnson, the honeymoon is "the first year after marriage when there is nothing but tenderness and love," a definition which shows that the worthy doctor, much as he was posted about other things, knew nothing about it, for the honeymoon is a month, a year, or forever, just as the mated ones elect. It is in these latter century days considered to extend over the period of a calendar month from the date of the marriage. It has to be admitted that many take their honeymoons as the Englishman is said to take his pleasure—sadly. Instead of happiness it is often made up of jars. The notable wedding of the week, and which gives promise of a glorious honeymoon, will be that of Miss Mabel Orchard and Mr. William H. Wyman. This is of course owing to the personal popularity, social eminence and wealth of both of the parties. The wedding, which is to be a chrysanthemum ceremony, will be celebrated at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at Trinity cathedral, Rev. Mr. Fleetwood of Chicago, a relative of the groom, officiating. The bridesmaids will be Miss May Dundy, Miss Laura Hoagland, Miss Belle Dewey, Miss Kathleen Pomphrey of Knoxville, Tenn., Miss Blanche McKenna, Miss Daisy Doane and Miss Lizzie Hooker with Miss Helene Wyman as the maid of honor. Mr. Henry Wyman will assist as best man and Mr. Frank Hamilton, Mr. Charles Saunders, Mr. Pierre Garneau, Mr. Dan Morgan, Mr. Bartlett Richards of Chadron, Mr. Veele and Mr. Barnes of Minneapolis, Mr. Barton and Mr. Will Cartan as ushers.

In honor of the approaching marriage it is thought that a dinner will be given by Mr. Richards for Mr. Wyman at the club Monday evening. On Tuesday Miss Dewey will give a cotilion from 4 to 7. There may be another function for the wedding party Monday afternoon, but this has not been definitely decided upon.

Last night "The Fleet" gave a dinner at the Omaha club for Mr. Wyman and Mr. Cartan, the former who is about to "embark upon new and untried seas," the latter having safely "weathered the gale and reached port at last." Commodore Lawrence presided, being the only man who has "shivered his timbers" and danced a hornpipe on shipboard. In addition to Captain Lawrence, Mr. Wyman and Mr. Cartan, the other members of "The Fleet" present were Mr. Saunders, Mr. Dudley Smith, Mr. Dan Farrell, Mr. A. B. Hudson, Mr. Bartlett Richards. Twelve courses were on the menu, and as one "Jack tar" remarked early in the morning, "this sailing on the prairie is not what its cracked up to be."

A Carnation Wedding.

The bright October wedding days are here and until the present month draws to a close marriages will be all the rage, for October is peculiarly the nuptial month, even more so than June, and every year a greater number of weddings take place during its mellow and radiant days. One of the very prettiest weddings of this nuptial tide was the marriage of Mr. John Herbert Pardee of Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Grace West Perine, Tuesday evening, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Perine, 1920 Dodge street. In honor of the occasion the house was brilliantly decorated with flowers, carnations, pink and white, everywhere predominating, giving the appearance of a "carnation wedding," the effect intended. The mantels and nooks throughout the roomy home of the Perines were ablaze with color, while the library in which the ceremony took place was a bower of pink and green, the deep bay window on the east being banked with tall palms, a canopy of smilax giving a very pretty effect to the scene. The entire alcove was decorated with hot house plants, the palms being arranged in tiers to the top of the arch, with smilax gracefully festooning the ceiling.

At 7:30 o'clock in the presence of a large number of guests the wedding procession entered the room, two pretty young girls, Miss Mary Wood and Miss Hettie Denise, suspending the ribbons through the parlor to the improvised altar. Immediately following came the bridesmaids, Miss Perine and Miss Margaret Williams, then two little cousins of the bride, Mary and Gertrude Schermerhorn, and lastly the bride and groom. Mr. Hans Albert, the well known violinist, and Miss James at the piano played the Lohengrin wedding chorus very effectively during the progress of the procession, and during the ceremony Mr. Albert beautifully improvised with the Lohengrin march as his motif. Rev. Thomas C. Hall, a Presbyterian divine of Chicago, and an old friend of the family, officiated, the ceremony being particularly impressive. The bride, who has been for several years one of Omaha's social lights, a very charming and lovable girl, wore a beautiful wedding gown of heavy white crepe, trimmed with duchesse lace, the effect being greatly enhanced by a leaf girdle of pearls, calla lily trimming and butterflies, the long tulle veil prettily caught upon the head with white carnations, forming a crown around the beautiful brown hair, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, which later were distributed among her friends as souvenirs of a very happy occasion. Miss Perine, the first bridesmaid, wore a dainty costume of white Bedford crepe with pearl passementerie and carried red carnations, Miss Williams, the second bridesmaid, and one of the beauties of our social life, graced a handsome costume of white taffeta with a bodice of crepe lisse, a deep lace ruffle falling from the neck, which with a coronet of pearls and a bouquet of pink carnations made a very effective tout ensemble. Miss Wood and Miss Denise wore white tulle gowns with white slippers, while the two little girls, Mary and Gertrude Shermerhorn were in mulle Greenaway gowns. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Mendelssohn wedding march was beautifully rendered and the guests went forward to join in congratulations. Just before the arrival of the guests invited to attend the reception the wedding party went into the dining room where delicious ices and refreshments were served, the table being handsomely ornamented with ribbons and flowers. At 11 o'clock the bride left the room to appear later in her "go-away" gown of dark blue diagonal with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Pardee taking the 11:30 train over the Burlington for Chicago, where, after spending a few days, they go on to Buffalo, their future dwelling place, Mr. Pardee being a rising attorney of that city. After November 1 they will be at home at 586 Breckenridge street. The presents were very numerous, a room in the second story being set apart for their use.

The following guests were invited to the wedding and reception: W. L. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Balch, the Misses Balch, Mr. C. E. Brown, Mrs. Mary Botkin, Mrs. J. M. An Informal Hop.

In honor of Miss Marguerite Haman of Cedar Rapids, one of the prettiest young women who has honored Omaha by a visit in years, and a great favorite in our social life, a very delightful dancing party was given at the Madison Monday evening. Hastily planned and with verbal invitations given, the hop was one of the most thoroughly enjoyable functions of the autumn season and was a pleasant reminder to the young lady that she had a host of admirers in the Gate City. The dining room of the apartment house was converted into a ball room, and with a band of six pieces the young men and women found it very easy to inaugurate the season of society amusements. The alcoves and porches afforded many pleasant tete a tetes and toward the close of the evening "tar-ra-boom-de-ay" had to be resorted to by the band to arouse the enthusiasm of the guests. As one man expressed it, "This is the only party I have ever attended where I would like to dance with every girl present," and that seemed to have been the ruling thought with all the men in attendance. By reason of its informality and the congenial spirit which prevailed, the party was absolutely charming. The girls were all pretty, many of them wearing new gowns, and altogether it was an ideal night.

Miss Haman, a strikingly pretty girl, of the brunette type, wore a dainty gown of black chiffon trimmed with pink, a tiara of gold with a pearl star in the center setting off the bewitching head.

Miss Curtis, who is even handsomer than two seasons ago, when she made her debut, wore a sweet costume of blue silk and blue net, white roses.

Miss Doane looked the ideal society girl in white mulle trimmed with pink ribbons, a very simple gown but one in every way becoming to the daughter of a judge.

Miss Emily Wakeley, another of fortune's favorites, wore a white Swiss costume over pink.

Miss Nelsie Hughes, tall and fair, graced a gown of white silk.

Miss Fritza Barnard wore a pretty black and light blue chiffon.

Miss Mabel Balcombe wore a graceful dress of pink silk and chiffon.

Miss Margaret Williams graced a handsome new gown of white china silk trimmed with black and yellow.

One of the most attractive girls present was Miss Pomphrey of Knoxville, who is to officiate as one of the bridesmaids at the Wyman-Orchard wedding. She was costumed in a gown of white silk with lace.

Miss Dewey, a very lovely young woman, who is soon to yield her friend, Miss Orchard, to the protection of Mr. Wyman, wore a costume of black, which becomes her well.

Miss Chambers may with entire propriety be described as wearing a little frock of gray mulle trimmed with white chiffon, so sweet and pretty was it in its simplicity.

Miss Grace Himebaugh wore black cashmere with blue trimming about the throat.

Miss Silloway was in brown and white striped silk.

Mrs Dan Wheeler looked particularly handsome in a costume of fancy striped satin.

Miss Balcombe wore white trimmed with pink.

Among the others who were there were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warnner, Mr. and Mrs. E. Riall, Colonel and Mrs. S. S. Curtis, Mrs. Washburn, Mrs. McMillan, Mr. Wheeler, Miss Balch, Miss Thede Balch, Mr. McMillan, Mr. Saunders, Mr. Pierre Garneau, Mr. Will Doane, Mr. Clark and Mr. Chat Redick, Mr. Bert Cook, Mr. Art Guiou, Mr. Zug, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Will Wakeley, Mr. Reed, Mr. Cole, Mr. Baldridge, Mr. Clapp, Captain Crowder, Mr. Berlin, Mr. Bookmiller.

Southmayd and Adams.

Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock the marriage of Mr. George M. Southmayd, of the firm of Southmayd & Bunnell, and Miss Helen R. Adams, was solemnized at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. Will W. McBride, 1003 North Twenty-ninth street. The wedding was very beautiful, the wedding march by Mendelssohn being played by Mr. Bunnell. The bride was prettily gowned in a cream silk, entrained, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The bride and groom left on a short trip to St. Louis and other points, and will be at home after November 1 at 1442 North Eighteenth street.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Adams of Warren, O., father and mother of the bride, Rev. and Mrs. Cramblet, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Pond, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lancaster, Miss Clayton, Miss Nannie Clayton, Miss Taylor, Miss Thomas, Miss Lancaster, Miss Gertrude Lancaster, Miss Dragoo, Miss Richards, Miss Burns, Mr. W. E. Winter, Mr. C. A. Hunter, Mr. Fred Durbin, Mr. W. A. De Bord, Mr. Guy Smith, Mr. J. A. Haughey, Mr. Jay Burns, Mr. R. M. Bunnell.

Their Crystal Anniversary.

In honor of their fifteenth wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Reynolds gave a beautiful reception at their cozy home in Florence on Tuesday evening. The house was glorious in autumnal colors, roses, smilax, palms being everywhere, and later the guests had the pleasure of dancing in the pumping station of the water works, over which Mr. Reynolds holds a magic wand. Mrs. Reynolds was assisted in receiving by her niece, Miss Beebe, of Brooklyn, N. Y., the former wearing a lovely gown of India silk trimmed with duchesse lace, Miss Beebe a black crepe de chine with jet passementerie.

Mrs. H. S. Jaynes was very handsome in black cut velvet trimmed with canary brocade silk, entraine.

Mrs. George L. Fisher wore a striking gowa of red crepe with lace trimming.

Mrs. Seavey, wife of the chief of the police department, wore a pretty costume of black and canary silk; diamonds.

Mrs. Leese wore white silk, trimmed with chiffon.

There were many presents received by Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, a beautiful cut glass punch bowl being one of them, which was presented by Mr. H. S. Jaynes of Kountze place in the following clever lines:

We've met tonight, upon Missouri's brink,
Where great pumps force the water that we drink.
With mirth and dance to while the hours away,
And celebrate your fifteenth wedding day.

To you, our host, once captain on the sea,
Your happy home sweet haven seems to be;
With fair, fond wife for "mate," and children two
To take the place of loving, loyal crew.

How strange it seems—that water now your slave,
Once sought to hurl you to an ocean grave;
Your gallant ship it wrecked in polar squall,
And now it scampers at your beck and call.

Each time our hydrants show its awful force
We're glad to know you drive it in its course.
And drink your health in vintage of the sand,
Thankful to find there's water in our land.

So that yourself and wife, as seasons roll,
May drink "to Kountze Place friends" we've brought this bowl
Of crystal clear, for lemonade and punch,
For banquet rare and for the cozy "lunch."

When ten years more have gently rolled away,
And brought around your silver wedding day,
We hope again to come, a happy throng,
To celebrate the day with dance and song.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rich, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tate, Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Thain, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lawrie, Mr. and Mrs. George A.
