

"SLEEPY WAG" IN THE TOILS

Capture of a Man Who is Wanted in Several Localities.

HE HAD A FINE STRING OF HORSES

Deputy Sheriff Vic McCarty of Sarpy County Gets the Drop on Waggoner and Recovers a Lot of Stolen Stock— "Wag" Shows Fight.

Deputy Sheriff Vic McCarty of Sarpy County has won his spurs by successfully leading a full fledged horse thief, one who is wanted in this as well as several other Nebraska counties. The man whom McCarty has placed behind the bars is no other than Charley Waggoner, better known as "Sleepy Wag."

Waggoner is a man who has a reputation which any horse thief might envy, for he is an attack on the district of having stolen a splendid driving team belonging to General Van Wyck. This happened six years ago, but nevertheless he was caught, convicted and sent up for three years. It was on a bright May morning that the general's horses were standing in the stable at Nebraska City munching the tame grass and clover that grew upon the excellent and splendidly maintained farm belonging to General Van Wyck. He coveted the animals and a few moments later had them on the high road leading out of town. Away they sped at a killing pace, while the entire population of the town followed in hot pursuit.

Although the chase was a stern one, it was set at too rapid a pace for the thief and his two horses, one of which was a rider and the other led. At Syracuse Waggoner was overhauled, but one of the horses immediately died of exhaustion. For this the man went to the penitentiary for a period of three years.

Since his release he has made Omaha his home, taking frequent trips to the country and always returning with good horses. Where he got them is something that he has always refused to explain, though it has been believed that most of the animals have been taken from the farms and stables of a few days ago. Dan Mason, a farmer residing near Florence, lost one of his horses, the animal being stolen from his barn during the night. It was not until he had traced the track of the horse and traced him into the possession of Charley Gordon who had gotten him from a horse trading camp at Fort Smith and Chicago streets.

The case was turned over to McCarty by Deputy Sheriff Lewis and McCarty, after a hearing, turned the case over to Clark, started out to gather in a man. The first place visited was the camp and there the officer found Waggoner and in looking around he found a string of horses that have been wanted in Sarpy county for several months, besides several sets of harness. Waggoner claimed that he was innocent, but when arrested he and the members of his gang showed fight and threatened to kill the officer if he did not move on.

The Sarpy county jail was crowded with the moving kind of stuff, and drawing his gun, Waggoner to accompany him to the Douglas county jail. The invitation was accepted and the man who is now behind the bars, Gordon, the man who traded for the Mason horse, is held as a witness.

While making the arrest McCarty learned that there were a number of horses cached in the woods around Papillion and Florence. This fact leads him to believe that there is a regular band of organized horse thieves who infest this vicinity, and that the man who was shot at Sherman avenue and McKinley street a few weeks ago by Montgomery, the colored man, was a member of the gang.

Justice of the Peace Ed Daniels of West Omaha precinct has been missing since Tuesday last. On the evening of that day he was seen on the streets in company with two or three friends, but did not mention to them nor to his wife and family that he contemplated leaving the city.

The failure to return home after an absence of a day or two seriously alarmed his family and friends and they have been anxiously searching for him since. The missing man was of studious habits and was considered a very prudent young lawyer. He was formerly in partnership with Mr. Merrow of the law firm of Daniels & Merrow, but after his separation from his wife, he severed his connection with the firm.

He was not known to have been seriously financially embarrassed and his disappearance is somewhat of a mystery.

Grand Encampment and Grand Lodge of the Nebraska Triple Link Fraternity.

The grand encampment of Patriarchs of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Nebraska convened at Oddfellows hall at Fourteenth and Dodge streets at 10 o'clock yesterday forenoon.

There were nearly 200 delegates present and the morning session was occupied in receiving the delegates and the report of the committee on credentials.

The afternoon session began at 2 o'clock and at 6 o'clock a considerable amount of business remained to be disposed of. The most important feature was the election of grand officers which was finally accomplished as follows: Grand patriarch, J. P. Heller of Hastings; high priest, W. V. Bain of Omaha; senior warden, H. M. Underhill of Omaha; junior warden, D. M. Morris of Hanson, grand scribe, J. P. Gage of Fremont; grand treasurer, Samuel McGee, Lincoln; grand representative, F. B. Brandt, Omaha.

A constitution governing subordinate encampments was adopted, after which adjournment was taken until 8 p.m. today. At this morning's session the newly elected officers will be installed and the reports of standing committees received and acted upon.

The daughters of Rebecca had possession of the hall last evening and held their annual encampment. There was a fair attendance and the matters pertaining to this fraternal body of the order were adjourned for the coming year.

Beginning at 11 o.m. today, the grand lodge which is composed of representatives from the subordinate lodges of the state and post grounds will meet in its annual session which will continue for three days. It is expected that fully 400 delegates will attend the grand lodge.

BUSINESS AT NEBRASKA CITY.

Situation and Prospects for the Future of Omaha City's Capital.

One of R. G. Dan & Co.'s Nebraska travelers, writing from Nebraska City to the Omaha manager, says: "A majority of the retail merchants here report this year's business rather smaller than heretofore, due chiefly to the building up of interior villages in the country along new lines of railway, which have cut off trade. The opinion is general that the retail trade of Nebraska City must more and more depend upon the development of the city itself. Money has been easy all the year. The four banks, with a combined paid up capital of $250,000 and a surplus of $100,000, had at the close of business September 30, 1892, aggregate deposits of $890,717. Last year at the corresponding period the deposits aggregated $860,115, showing an increase of $30,602, or approximately 3.5 per cent. Eight years ago the total bank deposits were $300,407.

"Fruit has not been a good crop this year, though Omaha county is the banner fruit region of Nebraska. In the fall of 1891 about 50,000 barrels were packed and shipped from Nebraska City. The country is one of the best fruit producing sections in the state, with a daily capacity of 500 bushels of grain, have grown into an institution which employs and caters to the people of the city daily. The starch factory opened in February of the present year and has a capacity of 500 bushels, and gives employment to sixty hands. The distillery has a capacity of 2,000 bushels. The cannery company has enjoyed a profitable season after period of idleness. One country is one of the best counties in the state and Nebraska City is her substantial metropolis. Vacant farms in the county are almost unknown and vacant houses are about as few and far between in the city. Everybody must here is hopeful for the future."

HAYDEN BROS.,CRIME OF A COLORED BOY.

He Attempts to Kill His Father and Family With Dynamite.

LEAVELAND, Colo., Oct. 18.—Herman Truman, an 18-year-old son of A. S. Truman, attempted an awful crime Saturday night at about 12 o'clock. His father's house, 1001 Harrison avenue, a small frame structure, stood about fifty feet from a small mine. The boy, with several companions, procured 200 pounds of plant powder and by a deeply laid plan exploded it in the shaft by a fuse. The intention was to kill the boy's father, mother, little brother and sister, against whom he had a fancied grudge. The Truman residence and the house of Peter W. Green, next door, were almost wrecked. Miraculously none of the inmates were seriously injured. At first it was believed to be an accident, and as the boy was missing it was thought that he had been blown to bits. Later it was found that $300 belonging to the father had been stolen and it became apparent that the lad had caused this fearful explosion.

The explosion caused more damage than was at first supposed. Hundreds of dollars damages have been done to all the residences anywhere near the scene of the explosion. Several houses must be entirely rebuilt. The officers have just started for a canon about twelve miles from here where young Truman and his companions are believed to be hiding.

It has been learned that the boys are living in a cave out there. As Truman has been reading yellow back literature and is armed, it is very probable he will resist arrest.

MURDERED BY AN INDIAN.

A California Couple Meet with a Bloody Death.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 18.—J. S. Geiser and wife, who had a farm on Olay mesa, about seven miles east of Olay station, were found murdered at their home last evening. The children of Mr. Piper, a relative and neighbor, heard screams while passing Geiser's place. Piper and son went over and as they approached the house saw the light go out. As Piper entered the house a figure tried to slip out in the darkness and they grappled. After a struggle Piper secured the fellow, who proved to be an Indian laborer named Jose Grubio.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Geiser were found lying outside the front door beaten nearly out of semblance of human beings. It is believed the Indian had a grudge against Geiser over pay for well digging. It is also thought that he may be the murderer of Miss Abber, who lived alone on a ranch and whose murder three years ago has been a mystery. Two other Indian suspects have been arrested.

They Hold Up a Milkman in Broad Daylight—One of Them Killed.

PORT JEFFERSON, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Three tramps assaulted Ephraim Shay, a milkman from Sussex county, New Jersey, and robbed him of $100 in money. One of the highwaymen was shot dead and the other two were wounded. They were taken to the Delaware river, not far from the town, where they were held in a boat. They swam the channel to a small island where they are at present hiding.

The duration of the eclipse is about three hours. The approximate times of beginning and ending at some of the principal cities are as follows: Central standard time—Chicago, Ill., 10:45 a. m. to 1:40 p. m.; St. Louis, Mo., 10:30 a. m. to 1:35 p. m.; Nashville, Tenn., 11 a. m. to 1:50 p. m.; New Orleans, 11:30 a. m. to 1:40 p. m. As the greatest magnitude of the eclipse is only 0.90 of the sun's diameter, the principal observations to be made upon it will consist upon determining the exact time of the first and last contacts.
