THE DANGER OF A CHANGE.
The presidential campaign will be an eventful one. The only possible outcome is the election of Benjamin Harrison or Grover Cleveland. The candidacy of Grover Cleveland can be an eventful one. Cleveland could have carried New York and Wisconsin, and he cannot hope to succeed this year unless Weaver can take the votes of Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota and Colorado out of the republican column and throw the election into the hands of representatives.

KEEP THEM AT HOME.
If the people of the Fifth and Sixth congressional districts of Nebraska have any care for the welfare of the state, so far as this may be affected by its representation in congress, they will not re-elect McKelghan and Kem. It is impossible that these men can be of any service to their constituents or to Nebraska in the national legislature, and the people whom they ask to support them might as well be without representation at Washington as to send them there.

THE coming year will be one of great activity in the passenger service of the railways of the United States on account of the World's fair, and all of the great lines are making preparations for it on a large scale. Competition for the patronage of the traveling public will be sharp, and each company will exert itself to establish a reputation that will be of value for years to come.

THE REPUBLICAN VOTES.
One would think by reading the democratic organs that prohibition was one of the issues of the campaign, but that question was buried out of sight in Nebraska two years ago, and by republican votes, if you please.

WHAT WITH THE MEETINGS OF THE unemployed in London, or by out for work and bread; the almost inevitable strike and lockout in Lancashire, involving about 30,000 English manufacturers, and the $25,000,000 de-crease in British trade, what inducement has any American voter to support the democratic proposition for a "tariff for revenue only"?

THE PEOPLE WILL WITHDRAW.
At first McKelghan's supporters said he would be elected by 10,000 majority. Presently they cut it down to 8,000; then to 6,000; then to 4,000; then to 2,000; and now they say he stands a good chance of being elected. Carrying out that line of thought McKelghan ought to withdraw about two weeks before he loses all the support he ever had.

sum is necessary for the legitimate purposes of the campaign. The truth is that if there is any culpability in expending larger sums of money for political purposes than that required for legitimate campaign expenses the parties are equally bad.

All good citizens must deplore practices that corrupt and debauch the suffrage, but they must also reprobate methods which destroy the freedom and integrity of the ballot, and it is noteworthy that neither Mr. Cleveland nor any other democrat has a word to say in condemnation of such methods.

MR. CLEVELAND does not accept the assurances of the democratic campaign managers regarding the certainty of success. He admitted this in a speech he made a few days ago, in which he sought to forestall defeat by charging that the republicans had appealed to the passions and prejudices of the people by misrepresenting the records of the democracy and its candidates, and that the republican managers intended to use money in corrupting voters.

How Democrats Hope to Keep up the Fight in New York.

BOGUS BETS BEING MADE ON CLEVELAND

Tammany Tigers Not Inclined to Be Kept in Line for Hill's Enemy—Desperate Measures of the Democratic Leaders.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 215 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., NOV. 3.

The democrats derive great satisfaction from the fact that the odds in betting are in favor of Cleveland in New York, but the fact that these odds do not extend to the general result is puzzling to them.

News from the Army.

Colonel Swords, the gay and festive sergeant-at-arms of the republican national committee, has found his pocketbook and his pile is $50,000 to bet on Harrison's re-election.

Predicament of the Populists.

The members of the people's party are evidently so that it has not come up to their expectations. It was stronger at the start than it has ever been since, and it is declining every day. The effort to hold on and maintain its importance as a political factor has been peculiarly disappointing in all parts of the country.

Sweet Jennie, with her shapely but Her mouth ever laughing.

I lisp'd her name, and growing bold— No wonder she grew sorer.

And when I seemed to hear her sigh I lisp'd her name, I know not why— Somehow she petted badly.

I lisp'd her name, and bending low— I lisp'd her name, I know not why— I lisp'd her name, I know not why— I lisp'd her name, I know not why— I lisp'd her name, I know not why—

'Twon't rip
Because it ain't that kind of a saw. Neither will our suits rip, because they are not made that way. They will wear and may tear, but never rip. Will stand the wear and tear of ordinary life better than the average. Some good ones as low as $10. As to overcoats—well, we never came so near having every-thing new under the sun as we have this fall in overcoats. We offer special inducements to wearers of good overcoats. Our children's department is far ahead of any other in this western country. We have single and double breasted suits at $2.50, $3.50, $4 and $5 for 4 to 14 boys, every style and fabric.
