MINOR MENTION.

S. Y. Plumbing Co.

C. C. Bluffs Lumber Co.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to John Shaaf and Minnie Grupp, both of Council Bluffs.

The boards of registration will sit in the session rooms today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and this will be the last chance for voters to register.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ehrenstein, who have been residents of Council Bluffs for the past thirty years, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Phillips.

George Oslinger, who lives on the Cassidy Avenue Twenty-ninth avenue, was visited by a corn thief a night or two ago, and caught the fellow just as he was filling his sack. He plunged at the thief with a revolver, but failed to hit.

The Women's Christian Association bazaar was held Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple.

The booths were filled with beautiful articles, a specialty being made of dolls. The bazaar was well patronized, and a handsome sum will probably be turned over to the hospital.

Ethical Council No. 3, degree of Pocahontas, will meet this evening in regular conclave at the Knights of the Red Cedar, corner of Broadway and Main street at eighth floor, for work in the adoption degree. A full attendance of the members is desired.

A meeting of especial interest will be held by the Commercial Pilgrims of America this evening when a number of traveling men from all over the country will be invited to the offices of Mr. Rockwell, landlady of one of the Atlantic hotels, will be one of the number to join.

The republicans of the Fifth and Sixth wards held a grand rally last night. A torch light procession took place and the members of the party marched through the streets of the Colored Man's club house party. After a parade a large audience assembled in Shubert's hall, 223 West Broadway, and listened to speeches by Spenser Smith, W. F. Baker and others.

Sheriff Hazen has found two more sawed-off shotguns in the cell porch of the city jail. They were in the cell porch of the cell which William Benson, who tried to shoot Officer Leach, and Sober Burns, one of the motor bridge robbers. The two men are now confined in the steel cylinder night and day, and will be tried there and the grand jury disposed of them.

Pro Fensen turns out to be the name of the white woman who was looking for the colored man Sam Givens. Thursday night for the purpose of making him marry her. She lived in Iowa City, where she said she was born. Her best of course, notwithstanding that she had been married to a colored man living there. It was the disgrace of marrying him, she said, that had induced her to come to Council Bluffs to marry him rather than have him come to El Dorado to marry her. She threatened several times to commit suicide unless she succeeded in finding her lover.

Fire Broadway and Corcoran of Boston Street.

Our late loss in the fire was covered by two policies, both in the COUNCIL BLUFFS INSURANCE COMPANY.

By 7 o'clock the next morning after the fire the secretary was on the ash heap, pencil in hand, ready to figure the loss down to bedrock, which he did, too, saying that it was his duty and no small part of his business. So long as he did not go below bedrock we had no reason to complain, consequently the settlement was not only prompt, but in every way satisfactory, so much so that in addition to $9,200.00 (seven policies) carried by this company before the fire we now add to it $16,000.

Being intimately acquainted with the secretary and directors we cannot be positive that better indemnity can be obtained than that offered by our home company, besides we are in a position to patronize worthy home enterprises, everything being equal, and unless we do we shall continue to be dependent on foreign capital and corporations.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Charles Jones, who lives at the corner of Tenth street and Seventh avenue, fell from Rock Island train Thursday night and sustained a fractured leg.

Miss Mary Finley was surprised Thursday evening to find a number of her former pupils in the city schools, were still living with her at her home, 25 Ninth Avenue.

Anthony Connely, who is largely interested in the Champion mines in Michigan, is in the city for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Welch, who lives on Fifteenth avenue, the famous little hills.

Brought from a wagon.

A horse hitched to J. B. Atkins' delivery wagon ran away yesterday afternoon and Will Anderson, the young man who was driving, was unable to hold him. He rushed up Bryant street and turned sharp corner into Harrison. Harrison was armed with a revolver and a few feet from the carriages he released his hold over the horses and turned them over to the tenor mermaids of the centrifugal force. He described a semicircle in the air and landed on the board of a bench that stood near by, in the process he would not take if he had intended to take a horseback ride for pleasure. No damage was done by the young man was considerably shaken up.

Missing for Two Weeks.

William Kliney, who lived until recently at 2921 Avenue I, and was employed as fireman at the smelter in Omaha, has disappeared from home and his wife is worried about his safety. He went away about two weeks ago, without leaving anything as to his intentions, and she fears that he has met with foul play. At the time of his departure he had about $200, which he obtained by having a note paid. She has placed the name in the hands of the police, who think that he has gone for the west to hunt work and will turn up again as soon as he has found what he wants.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

McLean, for adultery; and Cobb against Cobb, for cruelty.

In the injunction suit of C. Wesley against the city of Council Bluffs, wherein the plaintiff has temporarily prevented the closing of the street in front of his property in the southern part of the city, an answer was filed by the city, denying the truth of the plaintiff's allegations as to the legality of ordering the improvements. The answer also avowed that the debt was due and owing to the city for the improvement, and that the city's indebtedness is still $40,000 or $50,000 below the constitutional limit, instead of beyond it, as alleged by the plaintiff.

Peter Egan, a gentleman who has a record with the police officials, met with a sudden interruption at 3 o'clock yesterday morning while he was trying to burglarize the residence of E. M. Phillips at the corner of Thirteenth avenue and Fourteenth street and as a consequence the time seems to be approaching at the rate of about twenty-four hours a day when he will be able to read his title clear to a mansion in the state home for discovered speculators at Fort Madison. Mr. Phillips was awakened by the sound of a window being raised and he at once suspected that some one was doing the raising that had no right to. He accordingly grabbed a gun and made a flying leap out of the door. When he came in sight of the window he beat a bullet in the direction of a dark looking object that was half a foot and half out of the window. The bullet passed through the object, afterwards proved to be Egan, and made a hole with its hand toward its rear pocket, but it did not get there. Egan gave a howl and fell out of the window. Pulling at once caught him and held him until the patrol arrived. Egan was then taken to the police station.

The W. C. A. bazaar opened yesterday with very flattering prospects. The work in the fancy department was simply grand. Too much cannot be said for the beautiful needle work, and the rapidity with which it is sold, and yet we have on hand a good supply. Dolls sold fast, but a goodly number will be buyer. We invite parents to bring their little ones and give us an order. Supper served from 6 p.m. until half past 8. Come and test the goods will of our W. C. A. ladies to please everybody.

After supper a grand surprise awaits you in the shape of Miss Lucia B. Gilford, who dropped in among us one sent for our special benefit. To see she can entertain and delight an audience with her recitations, both select and original, is very little. Those who heard her last night are very enthusiastic and pronounced her a decided success. The exercises will come off at 8 o'clock. Admission 10 cents.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

There will be a matinee performance this afternoon at the Boyd's Auditorium of "The Colonel," but before the first act second acts will be introduced. Mr. William Shaefer, well known throughout the country as "The Tramp Poet," and will recite his original poem entitled "The First Ping in Camp."

The management of the popular Bijou theater and Woodward has indubitably scored a hit with its 14th annual concert, a very large crowd of ladies and children at the matines yesterday afternoon attested. Every one receives a handsome present and the good feeling manifested over this generous courtesy has its effect on the performers, as they are all most cordial. The Bijou's annual specialty program was the best ever offered at this popular amusement resort. So marked was the success of the souvenir matinee that it will be the regular feature hereafter on Friday afternoons.

Perfect action and perfect health result from the use of Dr. Wirt's Little Early Risers. A perfect little pill.

The Tricky Fluid.

Raichard Shaw has a scientific laboratory over 319 Broadway, and in his odd moments he tinkered around until he made a small electric motor, which he intended to utilize in pulling teeth and doing other domestic jobs. He wanted to test it, however, before he gave it a chance to empty its coils into anybody, and on the advice of some of his friends he took it to the office of W. J. Jameson in the Masonic temple, connected it with a set of ventilating fans and turned on the current. The venture was a startling success. At the first crack out of the box a piece of hair six feet long by a foot and a half broad shot out into the air and captured the audience, which consisted of Henry Atkins, Dr. Wirt, Mr. and Mrs. Jameson, several young ladies who worked in the office, and a number of spectators. The air was filled with flying feet on their way to the door, but by the time the fugitives had had time to extricate themselves from one another and the doorpost the motor had burned itself out and stopped. The table upon which the motor had been attached had turned and the air was filled with smoke, but fortunately none of the spectators were injured. Hereafter Mr. Shaward will hire a hall when he wants to try any experiments.
