CONSOLIDATED.

In Union There is Strength, Even if it is in The combination this week of the two shoe houses of Norris & Wilcox and Hayward Brothers into one stock company craated quite a stir in leather circles.

The style of the new concern is Norris, Wilcox & Hayward company, and they will continue to do business at the two stands, 1515-1517 Douglas street, an archway having been cut through to connect the two stores. The new company will be under the personal management of Messrs. T. B. Norris and J. F. Wilcox, who will not allow their increased duties to interfere with their heretofore highly appreciated manner of doing business.

The consolidation makes a particularly strong house, as the fight for supremacy has always lain between these two houses. The the amount of goods now carried is nearly double that of any other house. SAVES THE DOCTOR-BILLS.

An Insurance Company That Pays Its Patron's Sick Bills.

There are many life insurance companies that are prompt in paying the imount of their policies when a man dies, but there is only one company that looks after its insured and squares the bills of the doctor, nurse and druggist during sickness. This company is the National Life Insurance company of Vermont, whose manager, Mr. M. L. Roeder, has just completed arrange-ments by which any policy holder of the company whose insurance is in torce. will, if taken sick or overtaken by any injury or accident, be furnished with medicine, board and medical attendance free of expense at the new St. Joseph's hospital, one of the best equipped and best managed hospitals in the United States. The policies issued by the National Life are considered the best in the world, each policy having a guaranteed cash value, thus combining savings bank and life insurance. Add to these features the payment of the sick bills of unfortunate po icyholders and the company's treatment of its patrons becomes so liberal that the immense business done by the western department needs no further explanation. Mr. Roeder, ever on the alert for anything that will prove of benefit to the insured of his company deserves great credit of this now and original idea and arrangement, which is of great value to the policyholder and reflects credit upon the enterprise of the National's manager.

ON THE ELECTIVE FRANCHISE.

Change in the Constitution of the State of Nebraska Called For. OMARIA, Nov. 26 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: The legislature this winter should submit a proposition for a constitutional amendment in relation to the elective franchise. -It was all well enough in 1875, when we were inviting immigration into our sparsely populated state, to allow the well disposed of all nations making their home to vote and take part in the affairs of the state on six months residence and the declaration of intention to become a citizen. But that day has passed. We have now over a million of population who are amply able to manare our state and municipal governments. I think every reasonable and fair-minded man in this state will agree with me that the time has arrived in this country when no man should be permitted to take part in directing and controlling the affairs of government, national, state or local, until he has become a citizen of the United States.

The evil of allowing a man to vote and nold office on his first papers and six months residence is at once apparent. In the first place, it is an inducement to a person of foreign birth not to become a citizea. When such a person can vote on his first papers and be eligible to almost every office within the state and help elect presidents, the in-ducement to become a silizen is materially lessened. Again, it becets indifference and neglect in regard to full citizenship, and leads to complications in many ways. The examples of J. G. Tate, candidate for lieutenant governor on the republican ticket, and J. J. Me-Intosh, candidate for congress on the demo cratic ticket in the Sixth district at the late election, are fresh in our minds, and should of a change in the constitution to the elective franchise. Both these gentlemen were compelled to deserve as convincing arguments in favor cline and get off their respective tickets simply because they had neglected to take out their second papers of citizenship. The law in regard to these two offices requires full citizenship to render the incumbent eligible. The right to vote and to par ticipate in the affairs of the government make and unmake presidents, and to hole flice in this country should be esteemed the highest civic privilege known to man, and no person should be permitted to do so until ie has fully completed his citizenship.

There are five or six western states which, ike Nebraska, permit persons of foreign orth to exercise the elective franchise and hold office on their first papers. This was properly allowable when these states were young and sparsely populated, but there is no need for further continuance of the right Furthermore, in the national elections it is untair to those states which require full naturalization as a qualification to The elective franchise in this respect should be uniform. Under the provisions in our state constitution on the elective franchise an Arab from the deserts of Arabia or a Siav from Hungary or Bulgaria arriving at Castle Garden on the 1st day of May last could have taken the train for Omaha, remained here, and thirty days before the election de clared his intention to become a citizen and participated in the election of the president and vice president of the United States. am utterly opposed to this condition of the sacred right of the elective franchise in this state. This should not be a party issue. All good citizens of all parties should join in a petition to the legislature to submit the proposed constitutional amendment herein suggested. W. S. Shoemaker. suggested.

OMAHA'S OPERA SEASON.

Miss Clary Explains the Cause of Weakness in Her Chorus-Hopes for the Future. To the Editor of Tuz Bez: I have read with a great deal of interest whatever has been said in the columns of the public press relative to the week of opera given in Omana. It is not my purpose to reply to any adverse comment that may have uppeared, nor enter into a controversy relative to the merits or demerits of the operatio productions. I would have but a poor appreciation of the work I have undertaken uid I permit myself to regard it from a personal standpoint. If Omaha is to have and support a regular season of opera each year, and I have the fullest faith that she will, it will come through the hearty co-operation of the people of Omana, and it will take several years of conscientious work on the part of its music-loving people before the productions will be upon a plane which will give absolute satisfaction. Toward those who have bonestly criticised the recent performances I feel rather a sense the recent performances I feel rather a sense of obligation than of hostility. Friendly criticism, even though adverse, is essential to the growth and development of this plan. It should not be forgotten, however, that mere assertion does not constitute criticism. Nothing could be easier than to sav "it is good," or "it is bad," but I do not understand that this would constitute a criticism, more especially when it is not ever the page.

more especially when it is not over the name of a recognized musical authority. Some explanation is due the public con-cerning the chorus. It consisted of nine male voices, which were certainly good, and three female voices. This fact alone must have suggested a miscarriage of plans. The facts are these: My contract called for sixteen picked voices of men and women, for whom Mr. Maretzek held checks covering their salaries and expenses. . Five of the la-dies missed the train when the company left New York. The musical agent, through whom they were engaged, was notified of the fact by telegram from Philadelphia, and both Mr. Maretzek and myself expected them to arrive in Omaha on every train. On Monday, the day of the first opera, the musical bureau wired us to use 'supes,' as a chorus could not be obtained. Wo then wired to Chicago, but could not get a chorus in time to reach here before Friday evening. It has been suggested that the choras should have been augmented by securing the local singers. Unfortunately none were found acquainted with the requirements of chorus singing in legitimate opera, and Mr. Maretzek was unwilling to use an inexperienced chorus. By training a local chorus for next year, we expect to avoid any possibility of such an embarrass-ment in the future.

I sin glad to be able to state that only words of commendation were expressed by Mr. Maretzek for the gentlemen of the orchestra, and personally I am exceedingly grateful to them, and I think Omaha should be proud of them for their rengition of the operas. There is material here for a larger orchestra, and if our plan for an annual season of operas is successful it will exist a year from now. To those who have had no words of com mendation for the season of opera already given, and Lam glad to bave reason to beieve they are in the minority. I only ask hat they should remember that grand opera is the nighest expression of music; it is, in a sense, an ideal, and difficult of attainment, and the initial step in such a movement could hardly be expected to attain the ultimate That in this instance we succeeded in obtaining the approval of a large number of Omaha's best citizens, we have the most mple assurances I cannot close this communication without expressing my thanks to the press of Omaha for their constant and hearty support of this movement; that I shall have it in the future I venture to hope and shall endeavor to merit. I also wish to thank the people of Omaha for their kindly support of the movement and for the many assurances I have received of their future support thereof.

Very respectfully, C. C. TENNANT CLARY.

Argument of the Injunction Case Brought Against Mayor Walters.

JUDGE IRVINE WITHHOLDS DECISION

Several New and Interesting Points of Lav Raised by the Controversy-Cornell's Case Goes Over Until Monday-Minor Mention.

The people who are interested in the outcome of the South Omiha chief of police fight will have to wait a few days before they get the decision of the court.

The case is being argued before Judge Irvine today, but the opinion will not be handed down until next Saturday. In this particular case the office of the chief of police is the prize for which the contending factions are fighting their battle in the courts of Douglas county. When Mayor Sloane held the office of chief executive of South Omaha, Thomas Brennan was the chief of police of the town, but when Charley Miller went into power Brennan was removed and Wiley H. Beckett was appointed to fill the vacancy. Tais position he held right along, but upon the death of Miller, when President Walters of the city council became acting mayor, it was noise about that Beckett would be removed and that Brennan would again become the cutef peace officer of the town. To prevent this, Beckett secured a temporary restraining or-der, to hold until the case could be heard on its merits. All day long the several lawyers on the two sides of the case have been quoting the law to convince Judge Irvine that they and each of them were in the right.

At noon Judge Irvine said that the case presented several new points and that he could not give an opinion until be had taken the matter under advisement. The temporary restraining order, however, that was issued some time ago will hold until the decision is rendered. Prices Paid for Stock. Comparisons are said to be odious, but under the circumstances stock dealers at the South Omaha yards are excusable for comparing this market with that of Kansas City. For the past two weeks this market has paid shippers from 10 to 15 cents more for he than the same class sold at Kansas City. It is not easy to compare prices on cat easy to compare prices on cattle, as the two markets receive widely different grades of range stock, but corn cattle are in-variably higher here than in Kansas City. Omaha receipts yesterday were 131 cars hogs, eighty one cars cattle and thirteen cars of sheep. The hog market closed active and strong at an advance of 5 to 10 cents, the bulk selling at $5.70 to $5.75, notwithstanding the fact that 12,000 head were held over it Chicago the day before. Omaha packers can afford to pay more for both cattle and hogs than either Kansas City or Chicago, and that is the secret of the unprecedented growth of the South Omaha market.

Killed on a Grade Crossing. James Guthrie, a farmer living about three miles southwest of town, was caught by a passing train and instantly killed about 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Guthrie, who is a brother of Lewis Guthrie, the dairyman, attempted to drive over the Albright crossrate ing in a lumber wagon ahead of a Missouri Pacific passenger train running at a high rate of speed, but was caught. The wagon was reduced to kindling and portions of it were carried 200 yards, the horses escaping injury. The unfortunate man was dragged about 100 feet. The deceased was 28 years old and leaves a wife and two children. The body was removed to Brower's undertaking rooms where an inquest will be held at it o'clock this morning.

Cornell's Case Continued. The Cornell cattle case was called in police court yesterday and a continuance taken until Monday. The prosecution desires the presence of Mr. Gates of Lime Springs, who holds the mortgage, and also of Mrs. El-

Magie City Gosap. Tom May, a bartender whose mind wan ders, was taken in by the police and sent to he county hospital. The Uniformed rank, Knights of Pythias, will give their third annual ball December 9. Committees are now at work, with instrucions to make the coming pail the grandest

OMAHA, Nov. 26 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: In the editorial column of the evening edition of THE BER for November 25, you say that "the city hall elevators do not elevate worth a cent." In another place you say that "the elevator people are fixing wire netting around the hatch so as to make it safe."

There has at various other times, peared in The Bgg articles to the effect that the elevators in the city hall were worthless, and you have heaped abuse upon the elevator, the elevator people, and everything connected with the elevator. There are one or two things that I would like you to publish. I wish our side of the subject to be presented to the people. You have put the blame on the Crane Elevator company for every fault, or supposed fault, that has been found in connection with the elevators, whether it related to the pumps, piping or the hatch enclosure. For your information, and also for the information of the public, I wish to say that the Crane Elevators. vator company had nothing to do with the pumps, with the piping, nor with the tanks that run the elevators, these being furnished by the Baker & Smith company. Neither had the Crane Elevator company anything to do with the iron posts that guide the cages; the iron contractor put these in place The Crane Elevator company had nothing to do with the hatch enclosures, which you state, in last evening's edition, "the elevator people are fixing."

The Crane Elevator company put in the cages, the cables, the cylinders and the overhead work. We admit that the cages do not travel the required speed of 400 feet per minute, but this is on account of the piping (furnished by Baker & Smith company) not being as large as we specified when submit-ting plans and bids on the elevators.

I am willing that you should get a report from any committee of competent engineers in this city (preferring that you should get a report from the engineers of the New York Life building, The Best building and the Paxton block) who, after due examination of the elevators in the city ball, shall testify whether or not there is anything wrong about these elevators, so far as the Crane Elevator company's work goes that cannot be righted in one hour by a competent engl-

These elevators travel as fast as any others in the city, with the exception of two clevators, and if you will take the trouble to give this matter a personal examination instead of taking some dreamer's word for it you will find that the statements which have appeared in your paper contain about pany, we know, has furnished you considerable amasement in this matter, but able amusement in this matter, but it is not because the Crane Elevator company failed to do its work properly. We dislike to take away from you any subject which you write to freely upon during your leisure moments, but we do not care to have false reports about our elevators circulated, when, if there is any lault at all, it lies with others, Yours respectfully, D. V. MUNRO, Superintendent Crane Elevator Company.
