MAJORS AT LOGGERHEADS

Interesting Discussion in the Board of Public Works Over Grading.

WHICH IS THE BEST PUBLIC POLICY

Case of the Twenty-fourth Street Grade and the Pierce Street Intersection Referred to the Council—Other Street Improvements.

There was fun at the meeting of the Board of Public Works, held yesterday afternoon, as the members arrayed themselves, one against the other, in a wordy war.

Major Purdy started the ball on its roll by accusing the chairman, Major Birkhauser, of carrying the contract in his pocket for a couple of weeks without reporting to his colleagues, or reporting to the council.

Major Birkhauser opened and unhesitatingly declared that the time had arrived when the other majors found more delight in criticizing his actions than in doing their official duties.

Major Birkhauser retorted that he had never been so annoyed and that he thought it strange that they should have sought out Major Balcombe to press their claims.

This response called for a remark from Major Balcombe, who said the chairman and the city attorney differed regarding the advisability of the construction of that particular grade.

Will Write to the Council.

Major Purdy remarked that they were getting into a pretty mess and to pour oil on the troubled waters he moved that the chairman be instructed to transmit the papers to the council, and at the same time that he be instructed to send along a letter which would set out the embarrassment that might ensue on account of the changing of the grade, which would leave the intersection of Pierce street some twenty feet below the line of Twenty-first street.

All of the members voted for this, and what promised to be a lively row was thus at an end.

The paving of Twenty-first street from Grace to Lake was postponed until next session, the three members holding that owing to the lateness of the season it would not be safe to instruct the contractor to start in on concreting the base for the laying of the brick.

Upon opening the paving bids, the contract for vitrified brick on Center, from Tenth to Eleventh streets and on Bevan, from Jackson to Leavenworth streets, went to J. B. Smith & Co. Their bid was $1.36 for a five, and $2.18 per square yard for a ten-year guarantee.

Three slays went to Hugh Murphy at $2.50 per square yard on a ten-year guarantee.

The bonus sewer contract was awarded to John F. Dailley, he being the lowest bidder for the work. His prices were as follows: Twelve-inch pipe, $1.25; ten-inch pipe, $1.20; and eight-inch pipe, 95 cents per lineal foot.

of the ten-inch and 250 feet of the eight-inch pipe.

Dissenting New Sewer Plans. There is a possibility that the citizens of this city will never see those North Omaha ditches constructed in accordance with the original plan, as a movement for a change in the plan is now being contemplated by the Board of Public Works.

The new plan is to go on with the Sprague street ditch and put it down as at first contemplated and then put a sewer beneath. This plan the engineer and the members of the board figures would turn all the sewerage of the north side into the north sewer and convey it to the river at a point this side of the town of Florence.

A Four Name Firm. When you find a four name firm you are pretty sure of an institution representing considerable responsibility. The firm of Hass, Harris, Brim & McLain, near Dawson, Georgia, is not an exception. It is, in fact, one of the most substantial business houses in Terrell county.

Whirled to Death. Engineer Scheible of the Smelting Works caught a shaft and killed himself.

Leonard Scheible met a terrible death at the smelting works yesterday morning.

The victim, who was nearly 60 years old, had been employed in the smelter for the past fifteen years and was one of the most trusted and trustworthy employees there.

An assistant working below saw his body whirling through the air, striking against platform and window sills, but was unable to stop the machinery, and almost before he could collect himself every shred of clothing, except shoes and socks, was torn from the unfortunate man, and the body dropped to the floor, fifteen feet below, lifeless.

The coroner was summoned and the body taken to the morgue.

Mr. Scheible was an old and respected resident of Omaha and the father of a family of grown up children.

A Penny's Worth. This is the title of a clever little booklet relating to the advantages of North Omaha. It tells how any body that has saved up a "rainy day" penny can make a judicious use of it, either in investing in city property or in adjoining fruit lots.

The incident reminds Prosecutor Cochrane that so long as there is no system of checks or receipts such robberies or miscarriages may occur daily.
