MINOR MENTION.

N. Y. Plumbing Co.

Council Bluffs Lumber Co., Coal.

The Women's Relief corps will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the election of officers.

Preaching services will be resumed both morning and evening next Sunday at the Berean Baptist church.

J. W. Fend and Estnelia Kough, both of Omaha, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the residence of A. B. Cook on Vine street.

A foot race took place at the driving park yesterday afternoon between Cash Grim and C. Hough for $100 a side. Cash was the winner. The distance was 100 yards.

Council Bluffs seems to have peculiar attractions for the colored lovers of Omaha. Yesterday three couples, matrimonially inclined, came over the river to get the knots tied.

Fidelity council No. 156, Royal Arcanum, will hold its regular meeting this evening and elect officers for the ensuing year. Arrangements will also be made for a reorganization of the initiation team.

Golden Rod camp No. 7 Royal Neighbors of America will meet this evening in regular session in Knights of Pythias hall on Main street at 8 o'clock, for the election of officers for the ensuing term. It is desirous that a full attendance of the members be present.

The south wall of the Evans laundry building yesterday looked like it had been on recent and intimate terms with a boiler explosion. A large section of the wall had to be torn out above the second floor for the purpose of admitting some large pieces of new machinery.

There have been added recently to the Young Men's Christian association reading room by generous friends, Puck, Frank Leslie's Weekly, Ladies' Home Journal, Life, Daily Chicago Tribune, Herald and the Illustrated World's Fair. These are most welcome gifts and are thoroughly appreciated by the large numbers of young men who daily visit the rooms.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

J. F. Record, the Glenwood merchant, was in the city yesterday.

Alderman E. E. Mayne left last evening on a business trip into Missouri.

Mrs. W. T. Bradford of Charter Oak, Ia., is in the city, the guest of Mrs. G. M. Gould.

J. K. Rice is preparing to go south in a few days, intending to spend most of the winter there.

N. M. Pusey has returned from his country residence to his home in this city, where he will spend the winter.

Mrs. H. E. DeKay, who was in attendance at the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Thickstun, left last evening for her home in Atlantic.

E. C. Brown, city salesman for the Harle, Haas Wholesale Drug company, is lying dangerously ill at his residence, 11 Washington avenue, from lung troubles.

L. B. Sibley, who was formerly in the produce business here and who is now located in Marshalltown, Ia., was greeting his Council Bluffs friends yesterday.

Great Bargains in Millinery

At Mrs. Pfeiffer's. Felt hats, which sold at $1.25, now 75c; felt hats that sold at $1.50, now 95c; felt hats that sold at $2.00, now $1.50; felt hats that sold at $3.00, now $2.50.

25 per cent discount on all trimmed goods.

Holiday photos, cut prices, $1.50 for cabinets, for 30 days. Cottage gallery, Riley's old stand.

See those oil heaters at Swaine's, 737 Broadway.

Don't make any arrangements for your holiday goods until you have seen the many new and useful articles at Lund Bros.

Davis for drugs and paints

Ten shares capital stock Citizens State bank for sale. E. H. Sheafe.

Nipped Rubber Boots.

H. Brown and J. Anderson, two thinly clad coons, concluded to provide against the damp, cold weather threatened by the meteorological conditions, and when an opportunity was presented yesterday afternoon made a raid on a pile of rubber boots in front of D. C. Bennett's store on Upper Broadway. Each succeeded in getting a pair that suited him, but before they had time to try them on they were in the patrol wagon enroute to the station. They were slated with larceny.

Enterprise Place.

Being frequently urged to sell small portions of my farm, I have at last decided to plat 200 acres of Enterprise Place, familiarly known as the Scott farm, and to begin the sale at once in five and ten acre lots. I have placed the same in the hands of Greenshields, Nicholson & Co., who will act in the matter as my exclusive agents. Fruit growers, gardeners and those who want the conveniences of a city combined with all the advantages of the richest farming land are now given a rare opportunity to do so. M. TOFT.

Special Millinery Sale.

For this week Miss Ragsdale will have a sale of trimmed hats at $2 and $5. Now is the time to get a bargain.

Day & Hess have a force of men working on the roads through the Klein tract. Buy five or ten acres there while it is cheap.

T. D. King & Co.'s Partagas cigar helped to elect Cleveland. It's the record breaker for the year.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Society People Make a Presentation of Low Wallace's Masterpiece.

"BEN HUR" IN ALL ITS ANCIENT GLORY

Spectacular Effects and Tableaux That Have Taken the City by Storm—One of the Greatest Successes of the Season's Entertainments.

Last evening occurred the first performance of the spectacular pantomime "Ben Hur," which has been under preparation for the last six weeks. To say that it was a brilliant social success might mean a great deal or it might mean a very little, but if that phrase had not been rendered musty by being used on all occasions for the past three centuries it might be used to fit the present case without the slightest fear of being reminded that this is the season for chestnuts, and it would fill the bill to a dot.

The performers were prominent young society people of the city, and each of them had a coterie of friends, who came in to see how they looked dressed up in first century costumes. Besides, everybody knew that the proceeds were to go to the Women's Christian association hospital, and that was sufficient to bring out many more who considered that they were doing something for sweet charity's sake. But whatever their motive in coming, they all went away highly pleased with the character of the entertainment.

The characters were all taken from General Lew Wallace's masterpiece, and the entertainment consisted mostly of tableaux, descriptive of the scenes of greatest interest portrayed in the book. These tableaux were arranged with a correctness of detail and a magnificence of costuming that threw into the shade most of the "spectacular" shows that are on the road. The following is a list of the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the performance:

Joseph ..... Robert Pollock
Mary ..... Ethel Colclough

One Light That Failed.

J. W. Smith is the unpretentious name given by a gentleman who was found wandering about the Union Pacific transfer platform last night and was sent to the city jail to dream of wealth which a bogus check failed to bring him. He was seen cultivating the acquaintance of two country boys with a good deal more of energy than seemed to be warranted by their outward apperance and Officer Quinn's attention was attracted so much that he decided to run him in for luck. At the city jail Quinn's suspicions were found to be correct. Among his effects was found a copy of a newspaper containing an account of the working of a confidence game on George Butler of Idaho on Wednesday and as Smith answered the description perfectly of the man who disappeared into the Merriam block, this in itself was considered a suspicious circumstance. In an envelope in one of his pockets was also found, among other papers, a check on the Citizens State bank for $830 in favor of Frank Smith & Co. It was one of Bartlett & Norton's checks, and bore the signature of "Jones, Thompson & Co." The check was undoubtedly a forgery, but as he had not yet passed it it may be hard to convict him of anything worse than vagrancy. When he was being searched at the jail Smith showed all the symptoms of being a wild-eyed drunk, but it was the opinion of the officers that he was acting a part in a very successful manner. Quinn will appear against him in police court this morning.

Shoes Cheaper Than Ever.

Look at some of Evans' prices and then examine the goods.

January 1st I will move to Main street and I will need all the room in the new store for the large stock I have bought.

I have a fine stock of fall and winter goods that will be sold this month at prices that will please you. Remember this is no old "tag end" of a poor stock, but new goods and new styles, and everything in the house will be sold cheap.

I have never advertised a special discount sale or annual clearance "fake" of any kind, and when I show you the shoes and quote you the prices you can satisfy yourself you are securing bargains.

Here are a few of them:

Men's hand sewed French calf shoes $7.00, reduced to $5.00.

Men's hand sewed cork sole calf shoes reduced to $5.50.

Men's R. R. box toe shoe $5.00, reduced to $3.50.

Men's calf welt shoes $4.00, reduced to $2.50.

Men's calf and dongola shoes $3.00, reduced to $2.00.

Cheaper ones in proportion.

Ladies' shoes and slips.

Laird's hand turned and welts button and lace that sold for $3.00, $7.00 and $8.00, for $4.00 and $4.50.

A fine lot of cloth top lace and buttons in extension sole, for $4.00. These goods have not been out of the factory a month.

Ladies' party slippers in bronze oogo calf, patent leather and satins, the finest line ever carried in the city, and all this fall styles, $5.00, $4.00, $3.000, reduced to $3.00, $2.00 and $10.

A large lot of $2.00, $3.00 and $4.00 shoes that will be sold at bed rock prices.

REMEMBER EVANS WARRANTS

Every pair he sells, and you will find everything exactly as represented.

Don't overlook the bargains for $1.00.

Funeral of Mrs. Thickstun.

The funeral services of Mrs. Thickstun were held yesterday afternoon at the First Baptist church. The selection of the church instead of the home for the holding of the services was not that the services might be more formal or elaborate, for this was far from the well known taste or wishes of the noble woman whose memory was to be honored, or of the mourning family. The holding of the services in the church was rather to accommodate the many friends who desired to join in the last sad rites. It was a most appropriate place to be thus chosen, as the very building itself stands as a monument of self sacrifice and earnest work on her part, she having raised about half of the money necessary to pay for the building. Among many beautiful floral tributes sent in by loving friends were two from the members of the First Baptist church and the Bluff City Typographical union. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Phelps, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who read, with appropriate and comforting comments, various passages of scripture, and offered a very tender prayer. Rev. Mr. Davis, pastor of the Baptist church, made a few remarks, and offered a closing prayer. The concluding services were held at Walnut hill, where the interment was made. The pallbearers were J. Mueller, S. Farnsworth, L. W. Ross, Henry Paschel, Dr. E. Woodbury, Charles Sherraden.

The A. D. T. Co. has added two new hacks to its force and will answer calls at all hours, day or night. Telephone, 179; office, 8 Main street.

Gentlemen, the finest line of fall goods in the city, just received. Reiter, the tailor, 310 Broadway.

"Ben Hur" at Dohany's opera house, December 1, 2 and 3, with Saturday matinee. Tickets now on sale at box office.

Crumbs from Court.

In the district court yesterday the case of Spooner against the city was submitted to the jury, who retired with it shortly after dinner.

The case of Englehart against O'Neil, as sheriff, was then taken up. This case grows out of an attachment on a lot of woolen goods which were seized as they were being shipped through Council Bluffs. The plaintiff replevined the goods and claims damages for their wrongful seizure.

Among the new cases filed are: Gerge Hansen vs Jens Jorgensen, for $225 on account. Same plaintiff vs Lars Jensen, for $260 on account. Same plaintiff vs William Braden, for $180 on account.

Frank Kendall vs Charles Probstie, for $500 on a note. Frank Trimble appears as attorney for plaintiffs in each case.

D. S. Kerr has commenced suit against J. M. Marcy for $500 alleged to be due him for commission fees on some land which he raised to G. F. Maxwell as agent for the defendant.

WHAT SARGENT HAS TO SAY

About Cheap Shoes.

I want to say to the people of Council Bluffs and Omaha, and my customers in particular, that whenever there is a cheap sale of shoes that Sargent is in it. Remember, that newspaper puffs are paid for. When the papers say that Sargent, or any one else, is the biggest man in town, got to have more room, etc., Sargent or some one else has to pay for it. Get the cheap shoe prices, then come to me. I have room enough, am not going to move, can wait on more trade than I am having, and WILL SELL SHOES CHEAPER THAN ANY HOUSE IN THE CITY.

People know that when I tell them shoes are good and cheap that they are just as I say. No bunting or red rags in front of my store, but shoes cheap on the inside. Come and get prices.

SARGENT'S, 413 Broadway.

Drawn to a Point.

In Justice Hammer's court an interpretation of the common law was made that serves to indicate to what a singularly fine and brilliant point the law can be drawn and still not lose its dignity and become ridiculous. The hearing of the case of the two women, Peterson and Larsen, arrested for taking an apronful of corn from one of W. A. Paxton's fields, was under way. The prosecution had established the fact that the women had each stolen the corn charged to them, and in fact they tearfully acknowledged the corn and threw themselves on the mercy of the court. The tears of the women had visibly affected the judge, and his heart had been further softened and perplexed by the wails of two lusty infants who had constantly raised their heads from their mothers' breasts and plead lowly and eloquently for the unhappy women, when he was still further perplexed by the interpretation of the law in the case insisted upon by the attorney for the defense. This was that while the women had been seen gathering the corn and had been followed to their homes and had there confessed, and had repeated the confession to the court, yet under the law they were not guilty of larceny, but only trespass, as it was proven they had taken the corn from the stalks and not picked it up from the ground. It was shown that the common law made this distinction between trespass and larceny. When the attorney for the defense made this point the scene was as dramatic as a country lyceum presentation of Shylock. In fact, it was moulded upon that famous court scene. The attorney for the defense was only a little less beautiful and graceful and a trifle less eloquent than the immortal Portia, but he made his point as effectively as she made her's against the Jew. "The law is," said he, "that anything taken from its natural state in the soil constitutes only trespass; to become larceny it must be detached and then taken. If the prosecution had proven that these women, while plucking this corn had dropped one ear on the ground; nay, had dropped so much as a husk or one poor little deformed grain and picked it up again and carried it away, then they would have been guilty of larceny and I would not plead with the court to show them mercy, but it has not been shown that they have stolen even a little piece of husk or tassel, and consequently the information charging them with larceny is defective and their arrest without warrant."

A motion to dismiss the case, and the case itself, was then taken under advisement, while the weeping women were permitted to take their tearful babies to their homes and await the finding of the court.

A Monument of Soap.

One of the sight that created the most interest on Broadway yesterday was in one of the windows of the Boston store. The curtain had been drawn for a long time and several other things had served to attract attention and create the belief that there was something behind it worth seeing. When the curtain was raised it revealed a beautiful sight that has been the admiration of the crowds since. It was a perfect representation of the Lincoln monument, ten feet high and perfect in every detail. Those who have seen the tomb at Springfield can scarcely realize that they are not looking at an immense colored picture of it, but it was not wrought by a master's brush, but is built up wholly of cakes of castile soap. The mottled colors of the soap are almost identically the same as those found in the granite of the monument itself, and the effect is pleasing and perfect. The allegorical figures that are on the tomb are also on the soap, and the bronze figure of the great martyr is in its place.

The effect of the whole is striking, and is well worthy of the attention it is attracting. It is the handiwork of an agent of a Cincinnati soap house, and as a work of art it deserves to stand at least through the holidays. It is stated, however, that it will not remain intact longer than Saturday, when there is likely to be some fun at its overthrow. It is made of thousands of large cakes of the finest castile soap, and they are to be sold at a cent each, ten to the customer. It seems to be too bad to destroy such a handsome thing, but the people will get the benefit of "the martyr of the monument."

South Carolina's Prohibition Struggle.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 1.—The special house committee to consider and report upon all prohibition bills has decided to report favorably upon what is known as the Childs bill, which provides that a liquor dispensary be run by the state commissioner and that the money be covered into the state treasury. The antis were shut out from presenting their views. Matters are becoming decidedly warm on the prohibition question and the prospect is that within the next week there will be one of the greatest struggles here that has ever been known since the secession.

FROM 'ROUND ABOUT US.

The Valentine Republican is five years old.

The Mail, straight democratic, has been started at Shelton.

The new Swedish Lutheran church at Newman Grove is nearing completion.

The dry goods store of E. H. Howell & Co. at Kearney has been closed by creditors.

The meeting of the State Press association will be held at Columbus February 16.

Rev. John W. Little has been installed as pastor of the Seward Presbyterian church.

Efforts are being made to have a farmers' institute held at North Platte during the winter.

An effort is being made to organize a company at Plattsmouth to erect a creamery and cheese factory.

Ed J. Mock has issued the first number of the Alma Record and has made a good job of his initial paper.

Alonzo Patterson of Broken Bow will spend the next two years in the penitentiary as the result of an attempted assault.

Kearney firemen held a fair to raise funds to entertain the state firemen's convention and the venture proved a financial success.

Lexington has voted to bond the city for the purpose of putting in electric lights. Only twelve people voted against the contemplated improvement.

Burglars at McCook secured over $100 worth of goods from the store of H. Kappe. Allen Rice has been arrested on suspicion of being interested in the job and is now in jail.

The absence of the thumb and index finger of the right hand of Fred Daddell, a farmer near Loup City, was caused by too intimate association with the cog wheels of a ten-horse power corn sheller.

The northeast Nebraska Editorial association will hold its next meeting at Wayne on the second Monday in May. All the editors of the Third congressional district will be invited to join the association.

The twenty-first anniversary of the organization of Adams county will be celebrated by the old settlers at Juniata on December 12. There will be a basket picnic in Allen's hall and a fine program has been prepared for the occasion.

The story comes from Milford that James Runnalls, late independent candidate for representative, has left for parts unknown with a Mrs. Robinson, who had been working at one of the hotels in that place. Mr. Runnalls left a wife and several children behind him.

The democrats of North Loup are not at all backward about announcing their candidacy for the postoffice when it becomes known that Cleveland was surely elected. John Parks went to Elder Babcock, the present postmaster, and asked him what he would have to do in order to get the postoffice. The elder quietly informed him that the first thing to do would be to wait until the 4th of March. This was something that had never occurred to Parks, so he concluded to wait, but in the meantime is earnestly endeavoring to find out what course to pursue in order to get the elder's job.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 29th, 1892. n30d6t

To all owners of lots or parts of lots on Jackson street from Thirty-sixth street to Thirty-seventh street:

You are hereby notified that the undersigned, three disinterested freeholders of the city of Omaha, have been duly appointed by the mayor, with the approval of the city council of said city, to assess the damage to the owners respectively of the property affected by grading Jackson street from Thirty-sixth street to Thirty-seventh street, declared necessary by ordinance No. 3362, passed November 22 and approved November 22.

You are further notified, that having accepted said appointment, and duly qualified as required by law, we will, on the 8th day of December, A. D. 1892, at the hour of 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of R. W. Gibson, room 208, New York Life building, within the corporate limits of said city, meet for the purpose of considering and making the assessment of damage to the owners respectively of said property, affected by such grading, taxing into consideration special benefits, if any.

You are notified to be present at the time and place aforesaid, and make any objections to or statements concerning said assessment of damages, as you may consider proper.

R. W. GIBSON,
WM. G. SHRIVER,
JOHN W. ROBBINS.
