An Invaluable Remedy for Colds.

SUCCESS OF MR. MILLS' FIRST WEEK

Yesterday's Services for Young People Drew tunity to attend the Rev. Fay Mills' Many to Profess Conversion-Meetings Heldat the Churches Very Encouraging Prospects.

The present religious revival in Omaha looks a good deal like a record breaker. People who imagined that this town could not have a revival that would make all sim-Har efforts in the central west look pale and sickly simply didn't know what they were talking about. Yesterday as the sun poured down its floods of life and light upon the earth the spirit of the Lord seemed to be brooding over the churches of Omaha and leading people by the hundreds into the fold. It was by great odds the most remarkable day ever experienced by the religious people

The meeting for young people at 10 o'clock in Exposition hall drew an immense audience. The sermon was adapted to the charactor of the assembly and was listened to with the greatest of interest. Mr. Mills selected Proverbs iii as a text from which he drew a number of excellent lessons for the Instruction of the young people before him. To the opening words of the chapter Mr. Mills called especial attention. "My son for get not my law, but let thine heart keep my commandments." With this sentiment as a basis the evangelist proceeded to deliver a rse full and running over with gospel
At the close of the sermon 325 young people signed the cards thus expressing a de-termination to lead Christian lives.

Many More Coming In. At the afternoon meeting, which was also for young people, Mr. Mills preached the same sermon and several hundred more signed the cards. Special efforts were made in all the churches to get young people to make a positive start in the Christian life and the results were very satisfactory and in many places surprising on account of the large number that came to the foot of the cross. At the Second Presbyterian, church over 200 young people expressed a determination to young people expressed a determination to unite with the church and become active Christians. At the Southwest Presbyterian church there were fifty-four and at all the allied churches there seemed to be an un-usual outpouring of the religious spirit. Ten churches in the alliance reported the name of 600 people who had signed the cards during the day and who will as soon as the opportunity is given unite with the church and become active workers. The spirit of penitence seemed to be contagious and the people came so fast that it appeared impossible to count them. It was a season of great rejoicing in the homes of hundreds who had been hoping and praying for just such an event. With fully 2,000 converts before the close of the first week it does look as though the work would be blessed. The names and addresse of all who sign the cards are placed in a large register and the cards are then dis-tributed among the pastors of the churches with which the converts wish to unite. Nearly every Christian church in Omaha will receive accessions from this great effort. Many churches not in the alliance at all will receive some of the converts, for they are in-variably permitted to join where they wish to. Some have expressed a desire to unite with the Catholic church, and of course they will be referred to some devout Catholic

Thousands of Earnest Men.

The meeting last night was exclusively for men. Exposition hall was not large enough to contain all who wished to hear the evan-gelist. Before 8 o'clock every available space in the spacious hall was occupied." Not less than 3,000 men gathered in the hall to hear the gospel as expounded by Mr. Mills. the platform and crowded up the stairway into the gallery, filling every foot of space that could be utilized. When the hall would hold up more the doors had to be closed and locked and hundreds were unable to gain ad-

One look into the faces of the great audithe most sufficient to convice any man that the majority of the men present had not gone there out of idle curiosity. It was an earnest, thoughtful audience, and the atten-tion given the evangelist was certainly all that could have been desired.

Plain, Practical Talk. Mr. Mills found his text in the third chapter of Revelations: "Behold I stand at the door and knock, if any man hear my voice and open the door I will come in to him and will sup with him and he with me." The discourse was a plain practical presentation of the gospel in which the folly and danger of the gospel in which the lony and danger of sin, and the safety and satisfaction of Christian living were ably presented. At the close of the sermon cards were distri-buted as usual and over 300 men signified their intention of forsaking the ways of sin and of becoming carnest Christians.

The spirit of the meeting was one of intense interest and absorbing devoutness. There was no excitement, such as usually characterizes revival efforts, but there ap peared to be a mysterious and irresistible force at work upon the minds of the large and made those who were not Christians wish that they were.

The male chorus of 200 voices rendered the evangelist valuable assistance Fruits of the Work.

This revival effort has already brought over 2.000 people in Omaha to a full deter-mination to become active Christians. To be sure many of these are Sunday school scholars, but they have not belonged to church and were not, properly speaking. Christian workers. Many of the converts are young and middle aged men, who have become convinced that they have not been living right and they have not been living right. ing right and they have decided to east their lot with Christian people in an effort to become better men.

Following is a brief statement of the number of converts received thus far, including those that signed the cards in the churches Friday night Sunday foremoon Sunday afternoon

GATHERING UP THE FRAGMENTS.

Lessons of the Economical Injunction Laid Down by the Master.

A large congregation assembled yesterday morning at St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church to observe the commission service. After the devotional exercises, the paster, Dr. Butler, extended the right hand of fellowship to the fifteen new members who united with the church.

The sermon was a short discourse from the text, "Gather Up the Fragments that remain, that Nothing Be Lost." The speaker had read the graphic description of the feeding of the 5,000 as recorded in John vi., and referred to the economical teaching suggested by the Master in the command to gather up the fragments. The vast economy of the world requires the use of all resources of wealth and intellectual and moral acquirement to make that progress toward the ultimate good which is our destiny. To waste even fragments of these resources prolongs the struggle with evil and retards destiny.

At this point the pastor referred to the character of the crumbs which the disciples were required to gather up, and spoke of them with emphasis as being of the bread which the Savior had blessed. "These crumbs," he said, "are you, my brother or sister, who in years gone by have brother or sister, who in years gone by have been blessed by a plous mother and a loving father in your early years in a Christian home. You have been snatched out of the servant's basket by the hungry rabble, scrambling for more of the good things of life; you are being crushed in the grass and rejected, and the Master sends us to gather you up, that no part of the bread that he has blest may be lost."

The surprising amount of fragments, the twelve baskets gathered up by the disciples, were used to show the large proportion the class referred to bore to those who were already in the church, and an earnest appeal.

was made to those who realized that they were of "the fragments of the bread that God had blessed" to brush off the gravel of sin which clung to them and get into the baskets that they might be saved to the usoful sphere which lay before them,

Important Suit Likely to Define the Law on

Rallway Reorganizations. NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 4.—Late yesterday afternoon Hon. A. Pardee, United States circuit Judge, upon the application of Mr. Russell H. Landale, an attorney, granted an appeal to the circuit court of appeals in the case of Carey and others, stockholders of the Houston & Texas Central Raliway company, against the railway company and others; also in the same case an appeal direct to the supreme court of the United States on the question of furisdiction.

This case involves some $17,0000,000 bonds and $7,700,000 of stock, and was decided adversely to the stockholders about two weeks ago by Judge Pardee. The stockholders are represented by Mr. Landale. Hon. Jefferson Chandler and Hon. A. K. Dittenhoefer of New York; and George Clark of Waco. Tex. The various defendants are represented by Messrs. Rouse & Grant, Jonas and others of New Orleans; Baker, Botts & Baker of Houston; Butler, Stillman & Hubbard and Turner, McClure & Rathbone of New York. The final decision in the case is looked for with interest as it is likely to settle and define the law as to railway reorganizations ine the law as to railway reorganizations and the foreclosure of railway mortgages.

SENSATION IN COURT.

Witnesses Contradict Each Other in Very Emphatic Manner,

Jamaica, L. I., Dec. 4 .- There was a sen sation yesterday in the contest over the will of Thomas Farr, the Brooklyn carpenter, who died last June at Hempstead. The case is in the surrogate's court. When Robert Watson, an employe of the testator at his store in Myrtle avenue, was put on the stand. Counsellor Clark asked him if he ever said to Mrs. Edward Quinlan, wife of the con-testant, if Mr. Farr had staid at home with his wife in Brooklyn, he would be alive today and that his niece got him out to Baldwin's and that his niece got him out to Baldwin's and killed him.

"No, sir, I did not," said Watson.

Mrs. Quinlan at once sprang to her feet and exclaimed: "Oh Robert Watson, how can you say such a thing? Remember you are talking to God."

Mrs. Quinlan was then called to the stand. She contradicted Watson's testimony and that the court that Watson told her three. told the court that Watson told her three weeks ago that Farr's niece had killed him.

This testimony created a sensation and the case was adjourned until Monday. Not from a Financial Standpoint.

"I do not recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy from a financial standpoint, for we have others in stock on whick we make a larger profit," says Al Maggini, a paominent druggist of Braddock, Pa., "but because many of our customers have spoken of it in the highest praise. We sell more of it than any similar preparation we have in the store." For sale by druggists.

Regents of the State University Complain The merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is proven That Their Income is Insufficient.

MAY HAVE TO LIMIT THE ATTENDANCE

Present Tax Will no Longer Suffice for the Urgent Needs of LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 4 .- [Special to THE BEE.]-There is nothing more gratifying to the pride of the friends of education in the state of Nebraska than the marvelous strides being made in the development of the State university within the past two years. The growth of this institution, now the leader of its class in the west, has been remarkably rapid since the beginning of the present decade. The biennial report of the Board of Regents submitted to the governor two years ago showed that there were 460 students actually in attendance. This did not include private students who simply took instruction in music and art, The biennial report, which went to Governor Boyd yesterday, shows that the actual attendance at the present time is 929. The increase is in all departments of the university. The regents express their belief that within the coming two years the number of students in actual attendance will have increased to at least 1,500 and an attendance of 2,000 is among the possibilities within the next four years. With these expectations realized, the state will be confronted with a grave responsibility in the way of furnishing the means to carry on the work in all the de

Managing the Finances. The following paragraph from the report will indicate the extent of the responsibility which devolves upon the legislature in caring for the university: "The unexpected growth in numbers has not been accompanied by an equal growth in revenues. It was supposed that at the time the three-eighths of a mill tax was granted that the assessment roll of the state would rise with sufficient rapidity to furnish all the funds necessary for university purposes. The fact seems to be, however, that the assessment roll for 1882 is not as large as it was estimated (at the time) the assessment roll for 1888 would be. Apparently the revenues of the university are increasing and are likely to increase by only $1.000 a year. It will be seen at a glance that it is necessary for the regents to adopt a very marked change in the financial policy if the institution is not to arbitrarily limit the number in attendance. The regents have met this difficulty by asserting that they can no longer erect buildings with university revenues. was estimated (at the time) the as erect buildings with university revenues. Buildings must hereafter be provided from the state general fund. This is the policy pursued by every other state in the west, and should have been adopted here years

Preparing for a Revival. The leading churches of this city have organized a formidable campaign against the nests of iniquity and the general engagement will commence next Saturday evening, and the evangelical forces will be in charge of Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, now conducting services at Eric, Pa. Dr. Chapman has re-cently attracted much attention in religious as well as secular circles in the east and comes to the work here with a reputation of having "a gentle, persuasive manner, a flow of fervid, unfailing language, a fund of scrip-tural knowledge, a rich experience and an inexhaustible store of apt illustration."
Preparatory services will be held at the leading churches every evening this week and a general effort will be made to enlist the church people of the city in the proposed revival. Lincoln's Latest College. There still remain a few hilltops around the city of Lincoln not occupied by university or college, but they are going fast. The latest candidate for a location is the German Lutheran college. The projectors of the institution propose to erect a building costing in the neighborhood of $75,000, and they have for several days been looking over the ad-vantages of several sites offered. The one looked upon with the most favor is on East O street, on a tract of fine land midway be-tween the new Normal coilege and Cotner university. The location of the institution at this point will doubtless insure the extension of the street railway from the Normal college to Havelock via Cotner and Wesleyan universities. It is understood that the only competitor for the institution is the city of Hastings, which has offered a fine site—nothing less than one of her parks—and a considerable bonus in cash. Irvine Seeks a Divorce. Word has reached this city that W. H. Irvine has commenced suit for a divorce from his wife on the grounds of adultery, the correspondent being the late C. E. Montgomery. Before and during his trial in this city for Before and during his trial in this city for the murder of Montgomery Irvine gave his friends no indication of his intentions toward his wife. After he had been acquitted he studiously refrained from any reference to her, and many of his friends here finally ac-cepted the belief that after sufficient time had clapsed he would again take her to his home. His case will be conducted by Judge Powers.

Daring Thieves at Work. The outlying precincts were given a taste of the excitement that the people of Lincoln have been enjoying for some time past last night. After 10 o'clock last night two men entered the house of V. H. Miller, living in entered the house of V. H. Miller, living in West Lincoln precinct, five miles from this city. They demanded all the money Mr. Miller had, and when he failed to produce it as quickly as they thought he should, one of the fellows fired a shot at him, the ball nar-rowly missing his head. Mrs. Miller got out of the house and started to run for a neigh-bor's place, but she was followed by a shot from one of the men, the bullet striking her from one of the men, the bullet striking her in the check and inflicting a slight flesh wound. After getting what little money Miller had the fellows departed.

Two hours later the postoffice at Emerald, a little town six miles west of this city, was entered by the men. The hadden with the content of the
