Santa Claus is Here.

The announcement made in THE BEE that Santa Claus had traded his team of reindeer for a span of Shetland ponies and would be at the Boston Store, Council Bluffs, Friday evening, ready to meet his friends and deliver Christmas packages, drew an immense concourse. The assemblage of people, old and young, gathered to greet him and see what kind of a trade he made filled the street, as is usual when any extraordinary event transpires there. He arrived at the store early in the evening and en-tered by one of the rear doors. He made good his announcement that he would make his headquarters at the Boston store, and audaciously drove his team right down one of the main aisles. It was a beautiful team, and the old man was delighted with his trade. His good humor was infectious, and the crowds that filled the store and the street yelled with delight. He held his levee until nearly 10 o'clock, and male the acquaintance of thousands of people, showed them his goods, and assured them that he would make the Boston store this year the greatest place in the country.

Will Go to Chicago.

The Dodge Light Guards will attend the World's fair next summer, and are already making arrangements for the time they will have when they go. A measure is now before congress providing that 50,000 troops shall be taken to the fair during the month of August and kept there at the expense of the government, and the boys here are natthe government, and the objective are inter-urally very anxious to be among the number. The membership is slightly below that re-quired by the provisions of the pro-posed statute, and a vigorous ef-fort will be made in the next week or so to bring it up to the required standard. It is not thought that there will be much
