Excitement Almost Reaching a Panic Among the Speculators.

WILD SCENES ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE

Dissolution of a Prominent Firm Causes Downward Movement in Chicago Gas-Other Stocks Affected by the Deeline-Money Takes a Jump.

New York, Dec. 19 .- There was an exciting time in the Stock exchange this morning when an announcement was made that the big pool, including James R. Keene, L & S. Wormser and E. C. Benedict, had been dissolved, the contract baving expired by limitation. With the first report of this occurrence there was a stampede among the holders of Chicago Gas certificates, and the price started down rapidly. The traders who have been watching the stock for a break, offered it down at first, then a flood of commission orders came in from all quarters. many of them being to sell the certificates for the account of speculators whose margins had been exhausted, for the poel had worked the price up to $100 some time ago, and on the way down many outsiders were loaded up. Today their accounts were closed out. Then there were others who had bought the stock for investment, a number of whom joined in the stampede without understanding what for investment, a number of whom Joined in the stampede without understanding what the reason for the decline was.

On the floor of the Stock exchange the Whisky trust is allotted space next to Chicago Gas, and the traders in that stock joined in the rush as soon as Chicago Gas broke. The books of the Whisky trust, or Distillers and Cattlefeeders, as the concern is formally called, closed today for their dividend of 1½ per cent, and the stock is closed at 55%, having opened at 64, equal to an advance of ½ per cent. In a short time, however, the crice gave way, falling ½ per cent, and before the decline was checked the certificates sold at 57, a fall of 7 per cent. While this decline was in progress the crowd trading in Chicago Gas intermingled with the traders in whisky certificates and presented a scene equalled on the floor only in times of a panic. There was, however, no trace of a panicky feeling at any time today.

One of the Causes. One of the Causes.

A good deal of the liquidation and much of the decline recorded was attributed to the extraordinary stringency in the money market. Brokers were in the loan crowd early, trying to make arrangements for carrying stocks and the earlier borrowers paid 10 per cent per annum for money on call. Several renewals were made at the same rate and then the supply on the eventuals were made at the same rate and them. the supply on the exchange was exhausted. The latter borrowers bid 15, 20 and 35 per cent, and as high as 40 per cent, or equal to nearly 1 per cent per week was paid by bor-rowers, who had urgent need of money.

After noon one firm sent over $500,000 to lend and was followed by other houses desiring to place money at the high range. At the appearance of a supply, the urgency of the demand disappeared.

Members of the Chicago Gas pool state that these had twen real between the that there had been no quarrel between the operators composing it, and that their relations are as friendly as ever. They also deny that its dissolution was forced by the tightness of the money market. At the office of I. & S. Wormser the statement was made that the vector of the statement was made that the vector of the statement was made that the vector of the statement was made to the statement was made that the vector of the statement was the vector of the statement was made the vector of the statement was statement when the statement was made that the pool had already liquidated and had its accounts closed up. But the members of the firm are confident of the value of the property as a dividend payer. It is said that the Chicago Gas, which was closed up a year ago, divided profits of $1,-

IN WASHINGTON.

Treasury Officials Discuss the Wall Street Excitement.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—The Treasury department was kept fully and promptly advised of the progress of the stock market in New York today, and Secretary Foster was in conference with his assistants several times upon the situation. After the department closed, the assistant secretaries, Messrs. Gear, Spaulding and Lambertson, gathered in the secretary's room and discussed the events of the day. There a reporter for the Associated press found them. with no indication of any excitement appar-tion, based on a report printed in New York stating that he was much exercised over the matter, and intended to come over to New York to consult New York bankers: "I am not going to New York to confer with bankers, or any one else about the financial situation. There is nothing in it to warrant such a mission. The idea has not, previously, even occurred to me,"

"You have noticed the engagements for gold shipments tomorrow and the panicky feeling reported on the Stock exchange!" "Oh, yes; but there was a more comforta-ble condition of things at the close, you

. Gold in the Treasury.

"As to the treasury," continued the secretary, "we are all right. Last month exports amounted to $7,000,000, but the treasury lost half a million only. The reserve limit is fixed at $100,000,000, and I have $24,-000,000 more than that. The resources of this country are greater and more varied than most people know and the money that is paid to the treasury for gold can be used for replacing the amount sold. The money is needed west and south to buy grain, pro-visions and cotton, and if I can save a man five or six hundred dollars on a million, he does not stop at giving me gold in New York for currency laid down for him wherever he wants it. If they get us down in this matter, it will be only after a long fight and a rd one."

'A man bet me a box of cigars today," observed Assistant Secretary Gear, "that gold would be at a premium in New York. 1 expect to find the cigars on the table when 1 go to my room."

"Don't you believe you will." sententiously observed the secretary. "If they are not there I'll go gunning after them," said Mr. Gear.

"But," resumed Secretary Foster, "if it were not for the scare that seems inevitable from the shipments of gold abroad it would not be such a bad thing after all. The balance of trade is in our favor at the rate of $20,000.000 a month, and the gold will certainly find its way back here. Last month we shipped more provisions abroad than ever before, and I believe the showing for December will be as good. Continuing, the secretary said: "We have nearly $600,000,000 of gold in the United States. If $2,000,000 were to go out, it would result in the reduction of our public debt to that extent, with the accompanying saving of interest on that amount. I am not at all months are represented in the situation. uneasy regarding the situation and if Governor Gear's friend wants to renew his wager ward for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30, next."

Prosperous Condition of the Country. Then the secretary and Mr. Gear fell to exchanging observations on the prosperous condition of the country, shown in the purely agricultural portions, notably Iowa, Governor Gear's own state. "Pork is worth cent a pound more now than a year ago," said the secretary.

"Yes," assented Mr. Gear. "It was quoted at $5.40 a hundred in my state the last time I noticed the reports. That's a higher price that the farmer age. than the farmer ever got for it befo cept during the war, when it was paid for in a 40-cent currency."

Tye held a piece of land in Jones county, said the secretary, "for twenty Never could get an offer for it until years. Never could get an one $25 an acre, this fall, and I've just sold it for $25 an acre, cash."

"Well, you beat yourself by $15 an acre," remarked Mr. Gear. "It's worth at least $40 an acre. Up in the norther tier of counties of our state I located a quarter section of land twenty years ago. Never could have sold it for $500 until this fall. Got an offer of $2,500 and let it go."
With these comfortable and consoling refeetlors, in their minds, the secretary and

With these comfortable and consoling reflections in their minds, the secretary and his assistant separated, the former reiterating his statement of yesterday, that he intended to manage the affairs of the department as the active head until his term expired, and that he had no doubt of his abil-ity to maintain at its present figure the gold reserve in the treasury.

TOOK HIS PROPERTY.

Serious Charge Lodged Against Some Insurance Companies in Court. A swindling case was filed in the civil branch of the district court yesterday afternoon. That harsh word does not appear in the petition, but that is what the allegations mean and several people of more or less prominence are mixed up in it.

The title of the case is Samuel Ferguson, guardian of James H. Thompson, incompetent, against the German Insurance company, the German Land and Mortgage company, the German Land and Mortgage com-pany, Jyhn T. Hinderks, Elizabeth Hinderks and Edgar F. Kochler. The first named de-fendant is a corporation of Freeport, Ill., and the second is another corporation of Blue Hill, Neb.

The plaintiff recites in his petition that his ward, who is an old man of 66 years, is his ward, who is an old man of 66 years, is mentally unsound and subject to spells of aberration, and that he is, or rather was, the owner of about ten acres of land in this county, and that the defendants took advantage of his condition to beat him out of it. It is charged that they got him into a private office in this city and kept him there all day, "and long into the night, until much later than business hours," and frightened and coerced him into making out a deed to the property, and then took it away from him in a manner and at a time of which the said ward knew nothing. The defendants said ward knew nothing. The defendants gave him several shares of stock in the Central Nebraska National bank of Broken Bow, an institution which is alleged to have then been on its last legs, and of which the stock was practically worthless. What the plain-tiff wants is to have the cloud removed from Thompson's title to the property, and the deed set aside as fraudulent and unlawfully obtained by undue influence on the mind of an individual incapable of properly transact-

AMUSEMENTS.

Stuart Robson is always welcome in Omaha and the usual large audience attended the opening of his engagement at the Boyd last evening. Mr. Robson is always welcome for himself alone, but perhaps even more be cause the theater-going public can always trust him to present a perfect all-round entertainment; his company of players is never less than collectively and individually competent. In his own line of the higher farce comedy Mr. Robson is unrivaled. "The Bachelors," which was presented last evening, supplies him with a part in which his peculiar mannerisms have fullest Bradford's comedy is an admirably piece of work and every part is a "fat" one. a more than usually enjoyable entertainment being the result. Mr. Robson's Bangle is beyond criticism. Mr. Woodward as Jowler divides the honors. Mr. Elwood as Waring is handsome and strenuously expressive. Mr. Wooderson as Muldoon is commendably restrained and natural, while missing nothing in presentment of the character. Mr. Farrell as Bruce gives a hint of attaining better things Mr. Yerance endows Snug with more character than we are often permitted to see in a minor part. Mrs. Robson is wholly admir-able as Eve. Miss Benton is eminently able as Eve. Miss Benton is eminently artistic as Clara, and the same word applies to Miss May as Bella. Mrs. McKean is Mrs. Mouser, and the requirements of Katy are fully met by Miss Huyck. At all points Mr. Robson and his company of players' presentation of "The Bachelors" is admirable and particularly refreshing to the theater-goer who seems forced at times to regard the stage as an institution of possibilities the stage as an institution of possibilities
