the mayor and council, and that the city should have the power of mandamus to compel compliance with its orders in the matter. The amendment was adopted, and the 800 foot limit clause was then stricken out, as it was figured that it would not make any difference with more than one of the proposed vinducts.

One exception was made in the determination to allow increase of salaries, and that was in the case of the city clerk, whose salary ought to be $2,500 instead of $2,000, in the opinion of the committee, because his hours are a third longer than those of any other official.

The Board of Public Works section was taken up and every member of the committee with the exception of City Engineer Rosewater was in favor of having the city engineer a member of the board. His objection was on the ground that the engi-neer would then cease to act in an advisory capacity and would lose his co-ordinate power with the board and he preferred to be left to act individually. Major Balcombe could not see it that way and said he did not want to act in a double

The city attorney and Chairman Steel then coincided with Mr. Rosewater and he will not be compelled to become a member of the board of majors. • Chairman Steel had a change to suggest in the election section, limiting the total com-pensation for judges and clorks of election to $9 per day, and the city is not to pay but omethind or one-half, as the case may be. The city engineer proposed an independent amendment by the legislature, providing that district bonds should not count as a part of the general indebtedness of the city, and urged that it would meet with no such opposition as an independent amendment, as would be the case if it was attached to the charter. The suggestion met with favor, but will not come up for final action until next week. Discussion of the make-up of the Board of Discussion of the make-up of the bodie of Public Works, brought out the suggestion by the city engineer that the board be com-posed of three members, one of whom should be secretary and keep the records, the sec-ond to have charge of the underground work, and the third to have charge of the surface work. Mr. Steel wanted the board to have the power to appoint all inspectors and hire all laborers at eight hours per day, and take the matter out of the hands of the council and street commissioner. It was stated that these changes would do away, with certain officials and their friends against the amendment. It was decided that it would be well to take a few more days to think over the mat-ter, and an adjournment was taken until Monday evening at 7:50 o'clock.

How the Public Pleasure Grounds Are Af fected by the Changes.

The park commissioners met yesterday afternoon and allowed a batch of bills for current expenses.

City Attorney Connell was present and laid before the board the amended section pertaining to parks in the new charter to be presented to the legislature. The section was discussed by the board at considerable length. The clause in the old charter giving the park commission jurisdiction over streets and alleys dedicated to the public in ceme teries was stitcken out, and the commissioners thought that the change was an ad visable one.

In the amended section the maximum for any one year that the city council shall have power to levy for the maintenance and improvements of parks is placed at 3 mills, but there is no minimum mentioned. Mr. Lininger was of the opinion that if the section was left without a minimum levy the park commission would be left some time without a cent. The city council would not be obliged to make a levy for parks at all under the new section. Both Mr. Lininger and Mr. Millard thought that it would be a good idea to have it made obligatory on the part of the city council to make a levy each year and Mr. Lininger thought that the figure should be set at about 2 mills.

City Attorney Connell explained that there was an effort being made to bring about a reform in the method of assessment that would raise the schedule of valuation all over the city and would cut down the p centage of the assessment. If this sho the per be accomplished then a 2-mill levy for park purposes would realize more money than the park commissioners would need and more than the people could or would pay. In would, therefore, be unwise to fix a mini mum assessment, but it would be much bet-ter, Mr. Council thought, to trust to the fairness and good judgment of the council. The section as presented was finally adopted by the commissioners, but Mr. Lin-inger still held to the opinion that the park commission mirht some time in the future find itself without funds with which to improve and maintain the parks in case the city council takes a notion to economize by simply cutting off the appropriation for that purpose. The new section provides that the city may vote bonds to the amount of $50,000 each year for the purchase of park lands. There were some doubts expressed by members of the board as to the wisdom of making this sum so small, seeing that in any event the matter would have to be submitted to a vote of the mode and it might barnen that a of the people, and it might happen that a larger sum than $50,000 would be needed sometime and this provision would be needed Impossible for the city to purchase more than that amount in one year without going be-fore the legislature and asking for another think that with the large purchases already made, however, it would be extremely doubt-ful if the city would want to purchase more than $50,000 worth of park lands in any one year for a long time to come.

Board of Trade Reorganization.

A meeting of the members of the Board of Trade was held at the Omaha club rooms yesterday afternoon, the object being to consider the proposed reorganization of the board. The sense of those present was that the board should be made more efficient, and to this end a proposition was imade looking to an increased membership and proper provision for the revenues from the Chamber of Commerce building. This subject will be brought up at the annual meeting of the board a week from next Monday at the Board of Trade rooms. The of directors occurs next Monday afternoon.
