All the numbers, both solos and quartets, were rendered artistically, and the audience, which filled the auditorium of the First Presbyterian The proceeds will go to the hospital fund of the association.

The new justices of the peace took hold esterday afternoon. During the morning justice Vein had a constable stationed at his door with a club to keep back the couples who kept thronging up his steps to be united in wedlock, as he understood that the super visors would not act upon his bond until the afternoon session. Several couples were afternoon session. Several couples were thus diverted to other matrimonial bureaus and Mr. Vein was considerably crestfallen when he discovered that the board had approved his bond early in the morning session

City Council Asked to Restore the Fire Department to Efficiency.

HEAVY TAXPAYERS PETITION FOR IT

Some of the Councilmen Doubt the Sincerity of the Petitioners and Insinuate There Is Politics Behind the Move-Routine Business.

The city council met last evening in regular monthly session with the mayor and all the aldermen excepting Galse present. One of the most important items of ousiness brought up was that with reference to the fire department. As stated in Tue Bre several days ago, a petition had been eleculated among the business men, asking that the fire department be increased by the addition of the four men who were removed for economic reasons. The petition was on hand, with about fifty signatures, all of them heavy tax payers. It was referred. While the aldermen are taking time to make up their minds what they will do about it, the republican contingent will see the men who signed the petition and find out, if possible, whether they signed for the purpose of making political capital out of the previous action of the council or because they really think the department too small. The majority of the council, from their talk last evening, are decidedly opposed to rescinding their first action, and will not do so unless considerable pressure is brought to bear upon them.

GETTING READY FOR WORK.

Reorganization of the Board of Supervisors -Officials Qualify.

The board of supervisors met yesterday morning for the purpose of reorganizing for the work of the year 1893. Members F. G. Hetzel, John R. Black and Charles Alexander were present, and John Currie and S. B. Wadsworth, the two supervisors-elect, took their places immediately upon being sworn in. F. G. Hetzel was unanimously elected to his fourth term of office as president of the board. John Matthews filed his auditor's bond of $10,000 and took his place as exofficio secretary. Then a box of cigars, which some one had brought in under his coat, was opened by common consent, and the board went to work in dead carnest. The bonds of the county officers were then approved as follows: T. S. Campbell, clerk of the district court, $20,000; John P. Organ, county attorneys of the way of the county attorneys of the co ney, $5,000; W. M. Shepard, recorder, $5,000. The bonds of forty-seven justices of the peace, twenty-seven constables, twenty-four cierks and fifteen assessors—were approved. J. M. Matthews was allowed $3,900 and the fees of the auditor's office as compensation as salary and clerk hire for the coming year.

County Clerk Campbell's compensation for salary and clerk hire was fixed at $3,800, to gether with the fees in probate cases and as commissioner of insanity. A resolution was passed requiring all ounty officials to hand in a statement at the January and June meetings each year of the amount of fees collected from their several This requirement has been a statutory one for a long time past, but the board has never seen fit to enforce it until now.

The appointments of L. B. Cousins as deputy auditor and J. M. Fenlen, and J. E. Larimore of Avoca as deputy clerks, were confirmed. The management of the county bridge work was divided up among the supervisors by townships as follows: Hetzel—Pleasant, Knox, Layton, Lincoln and Valley, Black—Center, Wright, Waveland, Grove, Macedonia, Carson and Beiknap. Alexander-Rockford, Boomer, Neola, Hazel Dell, Cres-cent. Currie—Norwalk. York, Mindon, Washington, James and Silver Creek. Wads-oth-Garner, Kane, Lewis, Keg Creek, Hardin. The scheme of valuation of taxable property was left substantially the same as last year, with two exceptions. Improved farm lands were placed at from $8 to $30 per acre, instead of from $6 to $30, and wild prairie land from $6 to $20 per acre, instead of from

Frank Trimble made the board a proposition relative to the collection of costs that are due the county in cases that have been tried in the district and circuit courts These costs have been accumulating for years, and according to Trimble's statement they are now unpaid to the amount of several thousand dollars, the costs in each case running all the way from 50 cents up to $4 or Trimble agreed to undertake the collect tion of these amounts for one-third of what he got, with the understanding that he was to receive nothing in any case where he tried to collect and failed. Mr. Ellis is confined to his room at the Kiel hetel by an attack of what his physician pronounces nervous prestration. He stated yesterday afternoon that the value of his stock is not far from $6,200, and that he does not expect to save five cents worth of it. Besides the two claims already mentioned there are others whose aggregate value will be not far from $1.500. He attributes his failure largely to a real estate venture into which he was forced, and to the duliness of trade caused by a bad location, there being several features which would tend to drive

Struck a Motor An accident took place at the lower end of Main street last evening about 8 o'clock. A Main street motor was crossing the Milwaukee track when a freight train came along. The moter had stopped, as usual, a short distance north of the crossing and Conductor Burke had gone ahead to look for the train. The train was backing up with a box car in front. The conductor failed to dis-tinguish the train in the darkness and gave the signal to Motorman Nelson to go on. He did so, and before he saw the train he had run the front end of the car over the edge of the crossing. The train ploughed through the rear end of the motor car and demolished it, but fortunately there were only two passengers on board, so that loss of life was avoided. It was reported last evening that one of the passengers, a Mrs. Kriedler, was somewhat injured, but the report was denied by the manager of the line.

The Christian church of this city is making arrangements for a change in pastors. Dr. A. H. The church accordingly extended a call to Rev. E. W. Allen of Elyria, O., a a call to Rev. E. W. Allen of Elyria, O., a graduate of Hiram college in that state. It was accepted, and Rev. Mr. Allen is expected to arrive in Council Bluffs in time to preach next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in the Masonic temple. He comes very highly recommended, and the church is very hopeful over the outlook. Dr. Carter will still remain in the church.

Reduction in Rates. An order has been received at the postoffice to the effect that on and after January 3 the rates for registering letters and packages shall be 8 cents, instead of 10 as heretofore. The change is not looked upon with very much favor by the management of the postal service here. It will simply result in a reduction of the revenue, for it will not have any appreciable effect upon the amount of business done in the registry department, people having valuable packages to send by mail being as willing to pay I0 cents for the privilege as the price of a postage stamp less. AGAINST THE CITY.

Ballingall's Estate Must Be Divided Among His Heirs.

OTTUMWA, Ia., Jan. 2 .- [Special to THE BEE. ]-Judge Burton started the New Year for this city with a decision which, if sustained by the supreme court, will deprive the city of from $100,000 to $150,000 which was intended for a public library and other public charities. He decided that the Ballingalt will is void, and that the Ballingall hotel and other property instead of going to the city shall go to the heirs. The city library gets a valuable lot, however, that clause of the will being sustained. The heirs are Mrs. von. Holtzschuherr, wife of Count Oscar von Holtzschuherr, David Hodge and Mrs. Martha Thomas. The latter disap-peared some years ago and nothing is known as to her whereabouts. She has a son Bert.
12 years of age, living in this city, who will fall heir to her fortune. There were two clauses of the will, the eighth and ninth, which were attacked. The first bequeathed to the library association a valuable lot and $200 annually. This is held valid by the judge. The other bequeathed the Ballingall hotel and other property to the city to be held in trust. The city council appoints trustees, and the accumulated proceeds were to go to a sinking fund of $20,000 to be used as an endowment for a public library, foundling hospital and other purposes.

IT ORGANIZED VERY EASILY

Board of Education Elects a New President on the Very First Ballot.

CLINTON M. POWELL FOR PRESIDENT

Last Year's Snub Undone and the Naming of the Committees Turned Over to the President Again-An Executive Session.

There was not so much petty politics and a good deal more business common sense exhibited in the organization of the board of education last night than there was at the organization of the board which spent a large portion of the year 1892 in foolish wrangling and neglect of duty.

Immediately after the organization had been accomplished, however, the board made a peculiar departure by going into executive session for the discussion of matters which some of the members evidently thought were too sacred or important for the ears of the common herd and for the pencils of the reporters.

The election of officers was accomplished without the slightest ripple of contention. Secretary Conoyer called the board to order and read the certificates of election of the five new members. The gentlemen who took their seats last night as members of the board for the first time were Dr. Joseph T. Duryea, B. F. Thomas, Henry Knodell, Henry C. Akin and J. F. Burgess. They take the places made vacant by the expiration of the terms of Dr. S. K. Spalding, J. J. Points, W. S. Poppieton, Charles Wehrer and Euclid

Mr. C. J. Smyth was elected temporary chairman, and the board proceeded to elect a president for the year. The first ballot re-sulted in the election of Mr. Clinton N. Powell. He was escorted to the chair by Messrs

Coryell and Morrison.
Mr. Powell thanked the members of the board for the honor bestowed, and said that while he did not think for an in-stant that he would be able to fill the important position to which he had been elected without making some mistakes, yet he would do the very best he could, and he hoped that his relations with every member of the board might be such as would redound to the credit of the organiza-tion and to the benefit of the school system of Omaha. Any mistakes he might make would be mistakes of judgment rather than intentional errors.

Coryell Recanted.

Mr. Coryell offered, in the form of a resolution, a series of rules for the guidance of the board for the coming year. The rules submitted were substantially the same as those adopted last year, with the exception of placing the power to appoint the standing committees in the hands of the president instead of leaving this work to the voice of the beard. This was simply to the voice of the board. This was simply a returning to the former regime. The appointive power was rudely snatched away from President Spalding last year before he could take a full breath with which to read the names of the various committees on the sheet of paper which he held in his hand. That was the beginning of the petty warfare that continued all through the year and Mr. Coryell was one of the members who helped to inaugurate it. Last night he appeared in a different role and introduced the resolution which undid the very thing that he helped to do a year ago.

Mr. C. E. Babcock wanted some changes made in the rules submitted by Mr. Coryell. He held that there were too many committees and that the work of the board would be better attended to if the committees were fewer and larger.

After some discussion the rules as submitted by Mr. Coryell were adopted. They provided for the usual fourteen standing Standing Committees. President Powell then announced the folowing as the personnel of the standing committees: Special instruction: R. W. Gibson, C. J. Smyth, C. S. Elgutter.

and Elgutter. High school: Duryea, Akin, Babcock, Coryell Mr. Smyth, from the special committée appointed to examine the ventilating plant in the Leavenworth school, reported that the committee had visited the school and had found the ventilation simply abominable The committee recommended that the defects be remedied as soon as possible.

After some discussion the committee was requested to bring in a written report.

While in Executive Session. And right here the board proceeded to create a tempest in a teapot by going into executive session. It was supposed by some who ingered in the lobby that the board was discussing something of momentous im-portance while behind bolted doors, but the discussion was nothing more than a rambling talk by different members about the advisability of ripping the old rules and regulations up the back and beginning all over again. This was an idea advocated by Mr. Powell and some other members of the board, and the first thing that happened after the educators had securely fastened the doors and stopped up the cracks in the wall was a speech by Mr. Powell, in which the president set forth the necessity of reconstructing things in general and the committee in particular. He said the old board had been unbusiness like in its methods, and he thought it would be advisable for the new board to make a radi cal change.

Mr. Smyth said that this talk of a radical change in the construction of the commit-tees and in the manner of doing business re-minded him of the time when he was elected minded him of the time when he was elected to the legislature. During the first few weeks of the session he felt as though he was a special agent of the Almighty sent to the legislature to turn things upside down and straighten out all the flaws created by other bungling statesmen. He soon learned, how ever that everything that went under the ever, that everything that went under th head of reform did not prove to be of practi-cal benefit to the people. He thought the board should proceed with caution in the matter of making sweeping changes. It was natural for every new organization to take i for granted that the preceeding body had been very stupid or corrupt, but such was not always the case. Morris Morrison gave some of the members Morris Morrison gave some of the members a dressing down for going into executive ses-sion on such a subject. He held that the public had a right to know about the delib-erations of the board and executive sessions only served to throw suspicion upon the actions of the body.

After half a dozen more speeches it was

PREVENTION BETTER THAN CURE When and How to Conquer the Disease-

The Trend of Effort Now to Prevent It-The Great Feeder of Lung Diseases.

The cure for consumption, pure and simple has not yet been found. At the present time there is one way to cure consumption, and one way only. That is to apply remedial agents in the first stage of the disease. The only safeguard against fatal results is a timely attention to the earlier symptoms.

When a series of colus develops a catarrh of the head and throat, when the catarrh reaches the lungs and a cough begins and shows a tendency to continue and become chronic, then is the time to cure consumption.

When the chest becomes sore and the breathing difficult then is the time to cure consumption.

Drs. Copeland & Shepard's new lung treatment evolved in treating thousands of cases of bronchial catarrhers the most efficacious agent now known for the cradication of this disease. Its results are muzical. The sufferer is relieved at once from the severity of his cough, from wheezing and labored breathing, from soremess in the lungs and chest pains; from soremess to a normal condition. Hundreds of Ometa, people have been benefitted and cured by this treatment. Every week testimonials to its wonderful results are published. # ODDEST SALE YET.

Do you know what odds and ends mean when applied to a clothing store? When a concern has done as much business as we have in the past few months there must necessarily be a lot of pants for which there is no coat or vest, and coats when the pants are gone. Then again there is probably only one suit of a size in a certain kind of a suit or overcoat. Now, these make up what we call

Odd Pants, Odd Coats, Odd Suits, Odd Overcoats, AT ODD PRICES.

We invoice next week and we want to get rid of as much of the "odds" as possible before that time. We gote no prices here, but at the
