NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Careful Review of the Commercial Prospects of the City.

LIKELY TO

Some of the Branches of the Wholesale Trade In Which There is Room for Competition-Peneral of a Well Known Prelate.

The outlook of Council Bluffs from a commercial standpoint is a thing that must be of great interest to the business men of the city, and the outlook as it appears to one of the largest commercial agencies of the coun try must be considered as nearly accurate as anything in the nature of prophecy can be Mr. E. W. Peterson, manager of R. G. Dun & Co. sugency in Council Bluffs, was asked for a statement of the prospect now in view, and replied as follows:

"The past year's trade in the jobbing line in Council Bluffs has been an exceptionally prosperous one. A personal interview with our jobbing merchants elicits this information. Especially is this true in the leading tion. Especially is this true in the leading line represented here, namely, agricultural implements. This city is now represented as, being the second largest implement market in this country. There are about twelve concerns who are regular dealers in agricultural implements and the same number who, though not fully equipped with a complete line of goods, are nevertheless regular branches of castern manufacturing establishments, and whose business is steadily increasing, and who in the near future ily increasing, and who in the near fature will develop into a full branch house and will carry a complete stock of goods, ship-ping their material direct from the city, in stend of from their factories. A personal investigation shows that according to the conservative estimates of different jobbing implement houses here there are sold in this line in this city annually between $6,000,000 and $5,000,000 worth of goods. There are two houses who are reported to do in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 cach, and a manufacturing establishment which claims to have trebled its capital in three years. These figures are sufficient to indicate the volume of business transacted here, and at-test what are the possibilities also for other

What the City Needs. "Council Bluffs is in need at this time of a wholesale dry goods, and also a boot and shoe house. If these lines were rep-resented here, taken together with those at present in this city, a country merchant could come to this market and obtain a com-plete stock and avoid the necessity imposed ipon him of visiting neighboring cities in or der to purchase a full stock of merchandise. We have at present two wholesale grocery houses, who do a good business; also a wholesale crockery and queensware, hard-ware, confectionery, manufacturers of candy jobbers in carpets, drugs and three commis-sion houses. We have a Jobbing cigar and tobacco house who do the largest business in their line west of the Mississippi, their sales reaching in the neighborhood of half a million annually. It is demonstrated beyond a doubt that jobbing can be successfully done here by the exceptional prosperity of our implement and other houses, and the almost unprecedented advance made by the former. There are two large buildings now being creeted for dealers in agricultural implements and another will be erected shortly. There is a favorable outlook at present of having another bridge built between this city and Omaha, and of other trunk lines passing through. Situated a this city is right in the midst of one of the most prosperous farming countries in the world, with a large scope of country, east and west, traversed by seven trunk railway lines, thus making the shipping facilities as fine as could be desired, with plenty of ground for warehouses and factories, and the expense of doing business considerably less than in a number of competing cities, Council Bluffs is enabled to offer unusual inducements to manufacturers to locate here The good prospects that manufacturing will become one of the important industries o Council Bluffs in the near future, induced by the cheapness of ground added to the ad-vantages of shipping facilities as good as can be offered by neighboring towns, ought to bring this city to the front. It only requires the attention of our enterprising, wide-awake citizens to encourage castern critical awake citizens to encourage castern croital to invest to make Council Bluffs a presperous manufacturing and jobbing center. Not a Political Move.

The statement made by the members of the city council at the close of the meeting Monday evening to the effect that the peti-tion with reference to the increase in the size of the fire department was simply indirect stab at the city government, and not from a feeling that the department is really too small, has called for ha protest from the signers of the paper in question.
"There was nothing of a political nature about it," said a well known democrat yes terday; "there is no use in talking about it The department has been so crippled by the recent action of the council that if a big fire were to break out in the city it would be practically powerless. I signed the petition because I am heavily interested in property in the southern part of the city in what is known as the implement district. If a fire were to break out there in one of those large buildings the three men who are kept at the lower Main street house couldn't do anything toward arresting the progress of the flames while waiting for the rest of the department to come to their assistance. We have not had any very bad fires for a number of years past and the result is everyone is asleep. Some day a fire that is a fire will come along and then we shall see something that will surprise us. It is a good deal better to plan in advance. The increase in taxation that would result from the desired increase n the size of the department will not make lifty cents of increase in the taxes of the piggest property owner in Council Bluffs.

W. S. Homer, formerly of the Council Bluffs Carpet company, has purchased the grocery stock of M. O. Calef and has moved it to the adjoining room west, 538 Broadway, just vacated by the Council Bluffs Music company. He is fitting up one of the finest groceries in the city and will be glad to be favored with the trade of not only Mr. Calef's old cus-tomers, but all others who like fair treatment and first-class goods.

William Perry's Persistent Efforts to Wreck A Home Results in a Tragedy

MOUNT AUBURN PEOPLE EXCITED

When His Domestic Happiness and Life Were Threatened an Iowa Man Tests the Efficacy of a Well

Loaded Shot Gun.

Mr. Ausury, In., Jan. 3 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- There is great excitement here over the fatal shooting of William Perry by a neighbor named A. Smith. The county attorney has been here making an nvestigation, but the results are not made public. There was apparently a woman in the case. If reports are true Percy, who is a married man living near town, had lately cultivated a fondness for Mrs. Smith. Yesterday morning he called on her and the two went in his sleigh to the place where Smith was at work. A conversation ensued which resulted in warm words, and it is said by Smith's friends that Perry threatened to is made more probable by the fact that Perry was not particularly averse to trouble of that sort and rather prided himself upon being a hard man to handle. At any rate Smith took no chances but snatched up his shotgun which was near at hand and fired killing Perry instantly. The equoner's inquest is in progress this evening. One View of the Case.

One story from a reliable source is that Smith had suspected Perry of being unduly intimate with his (Smith's) wife and had begun action for divorce, which was to have begun action for divorce, which was to have come up today. On Saturday Perry and Mrs. Smith drove to Waterloo and spent the day, and Smith took his child to brother's, near Mount Auburn. Last night Perry and Mrs. Smith went there and Mrs. Smith went into the house to see the baby. Smith and his brother went out and ordered Perry off the premises. He responded "Lum not a fraid of the whole He responded, "I am not a traid of the whole outfit," and got out of the sleigh. Smith went into the house and returned with a shotgun. Mrs. Smith came out and got into the sleigh while Perry held the horses. Smith raised his gun and Perry exclaimed. 'Let her come!"
The gun was snapped twice without exploding, but the third time it was discharged and Perry fell dead with hole blown through his head. Smith surrendered on a coroner's warrant and is held for trial.
