HARMONIOUS SAMOSETS.

Great Pow-Wow of the Braves That Was Almost a Circus.

Possibly the best review of the meeting of the Samoset club last night in the Boyd opera house building was the comment of a retiring member. Toward the end of the meeting one of the "unterrified" emerged from the hall of secret confabulahuttoning up his overcoat sly pressing the electric tion. nervously button of the elevator bell, he muttered; "There's too much humbur about them meetings. A lot of blatherskites get in there and change a business meeting into a circus. I'm tired of it."

He looked tired. There was enough at the meeting to make any man tired. No less than four adjurnments were taken. Just as soon as certain persons were taken. Just from the hall, the chairman called the club to order again and business was again taken. The adjournments were taken for the sake of harmony. Objecting members were allowed to go home, and when their undesired persons vanished through the doorway, the friendly Samosets proceeded with their work. When the club first ad-d half of the members left hall. Then a resolution favoring a combine of democratic members of the legislature with the independents fo the purpose of electing a senator, was prethe purpose of electing a senator, was pre-sented. Unluckily, one undesired member remained in the hall. It was presumed that he had departed and when his voice rang through the hall, clear and threatening, there was a low rumb-ling of voices among the detected conspirators. The dissenting samoset declared that the meeting had adjourned and could do nothing. He thought the resoand could do nothing. He thought the reso-lution was a "job," as it was "beyond the pale of reason to suppose that a democratic senator could be elected. He was silenced, however, and the resolu-tion was passed. Other business was transacted, which a member said will create a sensation at the next meeting of the club, as it was out of order and keeping with job distribution of papers of immoral or scan-ualous character, was put upon final passage This opposition comes from what is known as the stalwart wing of the party, who under the leadership of Mrs. Lease are attempting to bring about the election of a radical people's party man for senator, while Jerry Simpson, they believe, is covertly seeking to secure the election of a fusion democrat.

A week ago the indications were that the people's party, lacking five votes of a ma-jority on joint ballot, would throw its strength to Judge John Martin, a democrat who assisted in the campaign for the people's party state ticket last fall, but outside influence is being brought to bear on the populist members to prevent a combination with the democracy and the sentiment in favor of the fusion is rapidly disappearing. A. J. Streeter, the populist leader of Illinois, is here to make a personal protest against a coalition with the democrats, and is doing everything in his power to induce the popu lists to nominate a stalwart people's party man for senator and stand firmly for him until they compel either the democrats or republicans to come to their support.

All Opposed to the Democrats.

Chairman Taubeneck and other prominent national leaders of the people's party have written and telegraphed in the past twentyfour hours that it would be suicidal to the people's party in other sections of the country if the party in Kansas should throw away its chances for a senator and assist in the election of a democrat. Miss Anna Diggs, whethas been one of the main forces in organizing the new party in this state, arrived yesterday from California, and at once allied herself with Mrs. Lease in the demand that the populists, now that they lack only five votes of a majority, make no surrender to the democracy. "Between a democrat and a republican, I am for a democrat, 'said Jerry Simpson to-day, and that is the position of Chairman Breidenthal, Judge Doster and other leaders who are inclined to fayor the fusion plan. Injunction Granted Against Secretary Noble

-Other Decisions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9 -In the case of the Union River Logging Railway company of Oregon for a bill of injunction against Secretary Noble of the Interior department. the United States supreme court, in an opinion by Justice Brown today, affirmed the judgment of the district supreme court, granting an injunction. The injunction was applied for by Mr. F. D. McKenney, counsel for the company, to restrain Secretary Noble from revoking the approval of his predecessor to the map of location of the company. Secretary Noble's action was based on the ground that the company was not a general portation company as contemplated by congress when it made a land grant to the corporation, but a private logging railway con cern.

Counsel for the road claimed that by the original approval of the map it had acquired vested rights which could be taken away only by judicial proceedings. It was main-tained, therefore, that no discretionary right was lodged in the secretary. The court upholds this view. It is said that this is the first time in which the court has affirmed the grant of an injunction againt a cabinet officer. It has heretofore accomplished much the same thing by way of mandamus, but in the cases heretofore before the court, avoided the grant of an in-

Deficiency in the Pensions Appropriation. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.-Commissioner of Pensions Raum appeared before the deficiency subcommittee of the house appropriations committee today and explained his estimates for pension deficiencies. His first estimate for this deficiency was over $10,-000,000, and the committee was somewhat surprised when he informed them today that he now estimated this deficiency at something over $13,800,000. He gave the pension payments for the first half of the year and made an argument to show that if he payment for the second half averaged as much as the first his deficiency would have to be increased by over $3,000,000.

Dickens' Triffing Occupation.

When Charles Dickens was in Washington he met one morning on the steps of the capitol a young congressman Tom Tennessee, whom the great novelist had offended by his boorishness, that morning Dickens was in great good humor and full of talk.

"I have," said he, "found almost an exact counterpart of Little Nell." "Little Nell who?" queried the Tennessean. Dickens looked him over from head to foot and from foot to head before he snorted out:

"My Little Nell."

said the Tennessean. "Oh, didn't know you had your daughter with you.

"I am speaking of the Little Nell of my fiction, sir," returned Dickens, flushing. "Oh," said the imperturbable Tennes sean, "you write novels, do you? Don't you consider that a rather triffing occupation for a grown-up man?" Dickens snorted like a quarter horse, and hur-Dickons ried down the avenue.

A Disaster Recalled.

The Johnstown disaster is to be brought before the courts again, a suit having been entered against the South Fork Fishing club to recover $25,000 damages for injuries caused to a woman now resident in Ohio. The South Fork Fishing club was the owner of the small lake which burst its barriers on May 31, 1889, and caused such frightful damage in the valley below. Its responsibility has never been fully passed upon, but this suit, which is brought in the United States courts, will, it is be-lieved, determine this disputed point. If the club should be held diable in this case the probabilities are that a large number of other suits against it would follow.

The Wife Might Help.

"There is one thing," says a clear-headed lady, "wherein men, as a rule, make a great mistake when they to lessen the expenditure of the family and that is that, although they complain of 'hard times,' and bewail the expenses of living in general, they sel-dom if ever explain the situation clearly and treat their wives and daughters like sensible, intelligent beings, who are equally interested with them in the prosperity and well-being of the family. Every momber of the household would gladly do his or her share, if asked to do no, the pecuniary affairs of the family being frankly explained to them."

They Were Very Wary.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 9.—Thirty-six years et on husks have had their effect on the emocratic party of Illinois. The presiden-al electors chosen last November were not ly apparently ignorant of the forms of w to be observed in casting their votes, t were timid and fearful of exposing their orance. The electors met this morning the secretary of state's office for an init a program for the formal meeting ter. They seemed hardly to know what do until a correspondent came to the so on the a correspondent came to the secue, with a suggestion to go to the senate namber. This was done. Then a resolu-ion was offered to "exclude everybody but to twenty-four electors with certificates rom the governor in their pockets."

The motion was carried unanimously. Then Owen Lovejoy, son of the great bolitionist, formally demanded that the prespondents vacate. It was done and the residential electors were left alone to sink swim. The doors were closed and bolted and the electors settled down to listen to a harangue from Mr. Meyerstein on constitu-tional and federal law. The meeting behind closed doors lasted nearly two hours, lots being cast for messenger to convey the official vote to Washington. The choice fell on David C. Enslow of Carlinsville. The ballot resulted in Grover Cleveland receiving twenty-four votes, the number apportioned to Illinois. South Dakota's Vote.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 9.-[Special Telegram to Tur BEE.]-Today at noon the presiden-tial electors met in Judge Kellar's room at the capitol. All were present, George W. the capitol. All were present, George W. Kingsbury of Yankton, newspaper man; Charles J. Buell, lawyer, of Rapid City; John T. Protchero, railroad conductor, running between Watertown and Brookings on the Northwestern line, and General George A. Sillsby, insurance man, of Mitchell. Soon after noon the commission met and cast formal ballot for Benjamin Harrison and Whitelaw Reid and proceeded to select special messencer to carry an official copy and Whitelaw Reid and proceeded to select special messenger to carry an official copy the vote to Washington. Charles J. Buell was chosen and departed immediately. He receives no salary, but gets 20 cents per nile for the 1.600 miles. The position was much sought after. The commission organized by the selection of George W. Kingsbury as chairman and Charles J. and 8,056 for the democrats. There was an interesting scrap over the selection of the messenger. General L. Siksby of Mitchell was anxious to go, and early in November wrote to the other three clectors, asking their support, which all promised. On arrival here Silbsy found that Charles J. Buell of Rapid City, was also a candidate, but a secret one. Buell had quietly secured the backing of the two electors, but Silbsy did not give up, and insisted on Buell fulfilling his November pledge, and, Silbsy voting for himself, the vote stood 2 and 2 through a long series of ballots. Finally a recess was long series of ballots. Finally a recess was taken, and after caucusing Buell refused longer to support the general and voted for longer to support the general and voted for himself and was chosen. Much interest was taken, as all are high politicians. St. [Patt, Minn., Jan. 9.—A Pioneer-Press special from Bismarck, N. D., says: The electoral college voted today as follows: Weaver, 1; Cleveland, 1; Harrison, 1. Twenty-six ballots were cast for messenger with the result of no choice.

A Sunken Forest.

There is a sunken froest of white cedar on the coast of New Jersey which has been continuously"mined" for its valuable timber for more than eighty years. The curious industry of digging for these sunken logs is carried on by peo-pleof Dennisville, a village which was brought into existance solely through the wealth of the buried timber in this vicinity. Over this large forest trees of large size are now growing, and in many instances the growing timber is cut away in order to get at the more valuable logs which lie only three or four feet beneath the surface. It is believed that they were sunken by an earthquake.

cratic party in this state, and so far it has been impossible for them to unite on a candidate.

Democrats Also Divided.

What is known as the stalwart democracy, which vigorously opposed a fusion with the peoples' party in the recent campaign, has endorsed Colonel A. A. Harris, chairman of peoples' the democratic stalwart committee, for sena-tor, but the fusion democrats-that element which supported Lewelling for governor-will have nothing to do with Harris, and the two wings seem to be getting farther apart each day. The majority of the democratic members of the legislaturo belong to the fusion wing, and it is believed they will unit? on Judge John Martin, who is also the favorite of the fusion wing of the populist party. Should Judge Martin become the candidate of the fusionists it is quite probable that the re-nublicans will units with the statewart domapublicans will unite with the stalwart democrats in favor of Harris or some other antifusionist.

The republicans have little hope of electing The republicans have fittle hope of clearing one of their own number senator. They lack five of a majority and at this time there seems to be no possibility of drawing that number from the ranks either of the democrats or populists.

Senator Perkins, who arrived last evening and opened headquarters, is the only repub-lican seeking an election. Even Mr. Perkins realizes that the chances for a republican are almost hopeless, and he desires the caucus nomination only as an endorsement. Chairman James Simpson of the republican state committee, Governor Humphrey and other republican leaders, though not openly advocating it, are in favor of throwing the republican strength to an 'anti-fusion democrat at the first moment it becomes apparent that the election of a republican is impossible. They are ready for anything to defeat the populists, and besides, the election of an anti-fusion democrat, it is believed, would prevent a fusion in two years between the democrats and people's party, and as long as there is a fusion between the two opposition parties, the republicans can never hope to re-

South Dakota Legislators Determined to Regulate Railroad Rates.

PIENNE, S. D., Jan. 9 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-The senate and house met at 2 o'clock, and though no quorum appeared in the latter, a large number of bills were introduced. The committees went to work, but owing to the great number of absentees, could do little. The appropriation commit-tee and the ways ind means are having a perplexing time. There is no doubt that the bill will pass the senate and probably the house.

They admit that the sen-ate committee is satisfactory to them but regard the house committee with great apprehension. The latter is solid anti-monopoly, and frankly declares its intention to carly report a bill quite as stringent as the well known granger laws of lowa, including the grant of power to rail-road commissioners to fix maximum rates and otherwise make it interesting for the corporations. Such a bill cannot pass the senate, but might pass the house, and if so, it would make serious trouble. RUSSIAN SPIES.

Recruited from the Ranks of Deserted Wives.

Females play an important if not predominant part in the army of Russian spies, all of them belonging to the so-

A Sweet Girl at Cards.

When a girl is nice and delicate look ing and has pretty manners, she seems the more delicate and sweet and girlish when she plays poker and bil-liards and pretends she is one of the boys. It is a wise girl often who does these things. A man is the more fascinated by her girlishness and all that by contrast. But one man was a bit dashed after watching a girl some time. She played her hand well, and flipped the cards with the definess of a eteran, but it was all put on he knew. She had such a baby face, and she was so tiny that her feet hardly came to the floor. Her little mouth was like a crinkled rose leaf. Then all of a sudden she remarked to the fellow who was
