SEVERAL REPUTABLE CITIZENS ATTACKED

S. B. Wadsworth Shows the Worst Case, His Being Complicated with Congresstonal Opposition-How Other Victims Are Faring.

The incal democracy is being worked up into a great commotion by reason of the fact that about the 1st of next September there will be a change in postmasters in Council Bluffs, the republican incumbent stepping out to give place to one of the faithful adherents of G. Cleveland. The problem which now confronts the democrats is which of them shall be counted as the most faithful. There are four men whose names have been mentioned so far.

S. H. Wadsworth has held the position of chairman of the congressional committee for some time time past, and has held a number of offices in which the amount of glory far outweighed the salary, and now he is setting his cap for something that will combine them both in graceful proportions. He or his friends have been circulating a petition quietly among the citizens, and it is now ciained that the signatures of 90 per cent of the business men are attached to it. To all outward appearances he would have a de-cided advantage over the other aspirants but for one thing. How Thomas Bowman and for one thing. How. Thomas Bowman and Mr. Wadsworth have had some sort of a misunderstanding of late, and nithough the nature of it is not made public, it is currently whispered that Mr. Bowman has decided to use both his teeth and toenalls, if need be, in compassing the defeat of Wadsworth. His influence is conceded to be something of considerable importance, and it will all be exerted on behalf of 1. F. and it will all be exerted on behalf of I. F. Hendricks, who has just left the office of county auditor and taken a position with the Citizens bank

Troubles of Other Aspirants.

Right here is a thing which is causing him some grief. Mr. Hendricks is a very jopular man among democrats and republican alike, but C. R. Hannan, the cashier of th bank, has in some way or other incurred the lasting displeasure of some of the leading democrats of the city. Hendricks had a petition, which was quite largely signed, but when it was learned that he had entered the Citizens bank a number of his personal friends ordered their names to be stricken from his petition, and much profanity was directed at Hannan over Hendricks' shoul-

Judge J. E. F. McGee has been mentioned as a candidate from time to time, but so far as has been learned he has not taken any steps toward gaining for himself the prize which others are coveting so hard, and he is said to be personally in favor of Wadsworth for the position. A large portion of the work in his behalf is being done for him by W. H. M. Pusey, who is understood to have a sentorial bee buzzing somewhere under his hat, and whose influence with the powers at Washington is considerable.

E. S. Gilbert has also come to the front within the past few days as a candidate, and a petition has been circulated in his inter-He has never taken a very prominent who think that his candidacy is part of a scheme to divide Wadsworth's forces, while others claim that when the principal candidates have slaughtered each other he will be a man upon whom all the warring factions can unite. A local politician who has been the contest from a standpoint where he could keep pretty well posted on all the manopuvers, is authority for the conjecture that if the whole thing is not settled amicably within the next thirty days there will be one of the biggest and goriest fights ever witnessed in Pottawattamie politics. None of the contestants are in any humor for fool-ing, each has his friends and his enemies and the fight is to be to the death.

Work of the W. C. A.

A year has passed since last we gave the public a synopsis of our year's work, and as we review the past year, we can say our work has grown in strength and magnitude. Each month has brought its increase of membership and spread of work. Slowl but surely has our every effort been fruitful To suffering humanity who were financially able to pay, and did pay, to the needy, de serving poor and to the down fallen who had taken the first wrong step, alike to all have the hospital doors been thrown open and alike from all have we learned that our work is an indispensible work—one in which willing hands and open hearts can find much to do. For the many donations of money and has kets of provisions, and indeed from the greatest to the smallest donation, and for the good patronage to our entertainments, for all these we extend our sincere thanks, trusting the future may crown us as in the past, and God's choice blessing rest on We have admitted to the hospital for the year ending December 31, 1892, thirty-two year ending December 31, 1892, thirty-two males and thirty-seven females. Of this number forty-three were Americans and twenty-six foreigners. Born during the year, two males and one female. Died during the year, five males and one female.

The receipts in the building fund were $823, $150 of which was cleared from the meals sold during the dem-ocratic convention, and $395 came in the form of donations. Almost a Disaster.

A man named Kissell who runs an express wagon left his team unhitched on north Sixth street yesterday in spite of the fact that it had become unmanageable and did some serious damage several times. The horses ran wildly down Sixth street and just south of Broadway, in front of the post office collided with a rig driven by a boy and two women. Some men who were standing at the corner rushed out and frightened the mimals so that they swerved to one side As it was the heavy express wagon caught the rear wheel of the buggy and smashed it to smithereens, knocking one of the women and the boy out demolishing the buggy and throwing the horse to the ground. The occupants of the buggy were badly bruised.

The authorities should see to it that the ordinance with regard to standing teams is compiled with to the letter or that all

Enjoined the Treasurer. The Fuller & Johnson Manufacturing company of Madison, Wis., commenced injunction proceeding in the district court vesterday against County Treasurer W. B. Reed to prevent the collection $55.75 taxes on the implement stock of the Plano Manufacturing company, and $59.50 on personal property of the same company. The petition alleges that the stock on which the first levy was made was simply in transit from the com-pany's factory in Madison to its customers in Nebraska, and that it was never the intention of the company to do any trading in this city. It also alleges that the assessment on the personal property was made without any notice to the plaintiff. On these grounds a temporary injunction against the county treasurer from making the levy was

RETAIL IMPLEMENT DEALERS

Their State Society Meets in Its Regular ; Annual Session.

AIMS AND OBJECTS OF THE ASSOCIATION

In His Opening Address the President Makes a Number of Valuable Suggestions-Its Membership Increasing-What They Did Yesterday.

Representative business men from nearly all the thriving cities and towns of Nebraska assembled iff the Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the annual meeting of the State Retail Implement Dealers association. More than 200 members of the association were present and fully diffty dealers at tended the meeting for the purpose of entering the organization and participating in its deliberations. The floor of the Board of Trade was crowded. There were not enough seats to accommodate all comers. A fair estimate of the energy and intelligence of the merchants throughout the state could be obtained by a glance at the men assembled in the hall.

President Lubely's Address. At 10 o'clock in the morning President August Lubely called the meeting to order. His opening address was brief but pointed. After reviewing the advancement made by the association, he outlined the work of the convention, and pointed out various matters which the organization should consider and act upon for the good of its members. Among other things, he believed a better law concerning collections should be passed by the legislature, and suggested that a committee be appointed to go to Lincoln and en-deavor to persuade the lawmakers there to strengthen the law, as it is now almost impossible to collect from slow or unwilling He also believed the association should have a regularly appointed and permanent committee to represent the members in communicating with manufacturers. Individual complaints and objections, he thought, might fail, where the wishes of a powerful organization would receive prompt atten-tion. He thought the dealers should work together in protecting their business interests and take steps to prevent competition that cannot be met and ruinous reductions in prices by irresponsible persons acting as agents for manufacturing concerns

A committee was then appointed to con sider and report upon the president's address. It was composed of Messrs. August Graft, chairman, J. M. Burks, W. S. Grafton, W. S. Deisher and Gus Babson. Other com-W. S. Deisher and Gus Babson. Other committees announced were as follows: Auditing—A. Bower, Newell South and C. O. Shumway. By-laws and constitution—J. B. Hughes, C. H. Metz, H. P. Shumway, Fred Melcher and C. D. Ayers, Contracts with jobbers—J. M. Burks, Ed Bird, S. P. Yoho and B. Conway. Resolutious and legislation—W. S. Deisher, E. D. Streator, A. Pease, J. M. Burks and H. P. Shumway. Resolutions—A. Bower, Ed Bird, H. P. Shumway, J. B. McLaughlin and G. E. Hayden. The meeting then adjourned until 2 o'clock. meeting then adjourned until 2 o'clock. Afternoon Session.

In the afternoon many matters of interest to the dealers were discussed. J. M. Burks of Lincoln first addressed the meeting. presented the necessity of strengthening the organization with great force. Acting in concert, he was of the opinion that the dealers could improve the condition of business and do away with some of the existing evils which destroy prices and make the implement trade hazardons and often unprofit First of all, he thought the dealers should strengthen their organization, taking in every reputable man engaged in the busi ness in the state. Then, being in a position to make their influence felt, he thought they should proceed to take steps to prevent manufacturers from selling plows, vehicles and farm implements to individuals at wholesale rates, thus killing the retail trade, or from having as agents persons who cut prices unfairly, going lengths to which reputable merchants cannot follow them. He thought the dealers should refuse to buy or handle implements made by manufacturers who act contrary to the interests of the

R. F. Hodgin, secretary of the State Business Men's association, then spoke in re-sponse to a request. He thought it in the power of the association not only to improve the condition of the implement trade, to assist in causing legislation by w all classes of business men will profit. Hodgin urged that the association add its influence to that of the Business Men's club to induce the legislature to pass the new collection law, by which a judgment will hold good for ten instead of six years, book accounts six instead of four years and creditors will be able to attach 50 per cent of a man's income for necessities, impletold ents coming under the head of necessities. ments coming under the head of necessities.

J. R. Vanboskirk of Alliance then told of the rainous effect of manufacturers entering into competition with retail dealers and employing individuals as agents who are willing to sacrifice their commissions to make sales. Many men have been driven out of business, he said, by the indifference of manufac-turers to the welfare of the retail trade.

Mr. Burks offered a resolution by which the dealers pledged themselves to discon-tinue purchasing from manufacturers who enter into competition with retailers.

For the Protection of Retail Dealers. The committee on contracts with Jobbers made a report favoring the incorporation in all contracts a provision by which merchants will be protected from being undersold after purchasing stocks of implements. The idea was to prevent manufacturers from sending their implements into the country to individuals and so-called agents and selling them at prices which cannot be met by the retailer. This matter is the most im-portant problem to be settled at this meet-It is probable that some decisive action will be taken.

P. A. Clark of Madison made a vigorou address on the subject of contracts, which caused a lengthy discussion.

Other addresses were made by Mr. McCool of Salem and E. Skadan of Madison.

Officers will be elected today. It is thought that the meeting will close this evening. The wholesale merchants of the city are making it very pleasant for the visitors.

Among the members reported present by the secretary are the following: IT WAS A WILD STAMPEDE.

LIGHTNING ROD SWINDLERS.

How a Nebraska Farmer Accepted a Present

with a String to It. Faramont, Neb., Jan. 10.—[Special Tele gram to THE BEE. |-It developed today that Henry B. Plock, a well to do German farmer living a short distance from town, had recently been made a victim of lightning rod swindlers. A smooth-tongued young mar called on Mr. Plock and persuaded him to have a rod put on his house, giving him eighty-seven feet of rod for nothing, but Mr. Plock was to pay for all necessary points and braces, which would amount, as the agent said, to about $7.50. The rods were put up the next day by different men and when the actioners. when the settlement came the amount was $150. Mr. Plock protested, but was finally frightened into signing a note for that amount. He says he will not pay the note, as it was obtained by fraud, and warns all parties against it.

Result of a Domestic Row. FARMONT, Neb., Jan. 10.- [Special Tele gram to THE BEE.]-A warrant was sworn out today by a brother of Mrs. Volkwine against her husband charging him with assault and battery in their recent family quar rel. It is claimed that he struck her across the back with a chair and sheehes not been able to be out of bed since. Volkwine came back to town Sunday morning and desired to see his wife, but her brother was there and would not consent to anything of the kind. Today Constable Thompson went to Exeter for his man, who was brought before Justice McFadden for a hearing but took a change of venue to Exeter, as he thought he could not get justice at this place. When he found he would have to pay the costs before he could receive the papers he decided to be tried here. That did not work, however, after what he had sworn to, so he concluded he did not have any money, but was finally relieved of that idea and produced a large roll. Mrs. Volkwine's brother will remain here until Saturday and see the matter through.
