

FRENCH MINISTERS SWITCH

Cabinet Resignation Quickly Followed by a New Formation by Ribot.

FLOUQUET SURPRISES THE DEPUTIES

His Candidacy for the Presidency of the Chamber Unlooked for and Defeated—Great Excitement in the Capital Over the Events.

Paris, Jan. 10.—The ministry resigned this morning owing to differences in the cabinet over the arrest yesterday of ex-Minister of Public Works Balluet and other matters. People throng the streets and the greatest excitement prevails. The police are out in force dispersing the crowds. President Carnot has charged Ribot with the duty of forming a cabinet. It is openly earned that Ribot and Carnot are not in earnest in the Panama prosecutions and have no intention of bringing the bribe takers to trial, and that the prosecution of de Lescaups, Fontane, Cottu and Eiffel will be nothing more than a farce. It is also charged that efforts are being made to postpone the examination of certain guilty parties till the law of prescription has taken effect.

Surprised by Floquet. It was not thought that M. Floquet would offer himself for re-election, as his explanations to the Panama commission and to the house of his connection with the Panama affair had not proved as satisfactory as he desired. He did, however, present himself for re-election. The Chamber was called to order by M. Pierre Blain, member for Savoie, and began the session. After the usual formalities of opening the session had been complied with the name of M. Floquet as a candidate for re-election to the various ministries, was presented. This evoked a somewhat unexpected and vehement opposition and in the course of the speeches made against M. Floquet particularly stress was laid upon his own admission that he had used some of the funds of the Panama company, not for his personal benefit but for his campaign against Boulanger and to secure the election of a republican Chamber in 1889.

Chose a Republican President. M. Floquet, seeing that the members of the right were determined to oppose his reelection by every means in their power, and knowing that without their support he could not get a majority, withdrew his candidacy. The republican group then nominated M. Combarthe to the office, who was promptly elected, the vote standing 408 to 155. Perier has been a member of the Chamber of Deputies since 1878 and has held several positions in various ministries. He has been elected vice president of the Chamber three times. He is a great friend of General Soussier, the military commandant of Paris. During the proceedings in the Chamber a group of thirteen men who proclaimed themselves anarchists, entered the Chamber and were ordered to move on by the police, but refused to do so. They were thereupon placed under arrest.

Ribot's New Cabinet. This new cabinet organized by M. Ribot is as follows: M. Develle, president of the interior; M. Develle, foreign affairs; M. Tirard, finance; General Lozieron, war; M. Berdeau, colonies and marine; M. Dupuy, instruction and public works; M. Siegfried, commerce; M. Viette, works; M. Bourgeois, justice. The most notable difference between this cabinet and its predecessor is shown by the absence of M. de Freycinet and M. Loubet. M. Loubet's lukewarmness as regards investigation of the Panama canal scandal has been concealed. In fact he has been mentioned in a newspaper interview that the deputies had rushed into the inquiry with reprehensible recklessness. M. de Freycinet, who has been minister of war in several cabinets, has been mentioned frequently among the possible victims of the Panama investigation. M. Ribot, while retaining the premiership has exchanged the ministry of foreign affairs for the temporarily more important post of the ministry of the interior. M. Develle has assumed the ministry of foreign affairs thus vacated relinquishing the portfolio of agriculture to M. Viger, a new man. M. Tirard retains the portfolio of finance and M. Bourgeois, whose policy in the Panama matter caused much discussion in the last cabinet, remains in the interior department of justice. M. Viette and M. Berdeau also remain at their former positions. Dupuy remains minister of public instruction. M. Siegfried, formerly minister of commerce, has been supplanted by M. Siegfried. He was once associated with the notorious Cornelius Herz, and although he denied before the Panama commission that he had any connection with the Herz syndicate, as did Rouvier and Freycinet, General Lozieron, who succeeds to the secretary of war, is a new man.

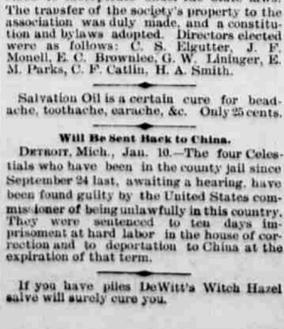

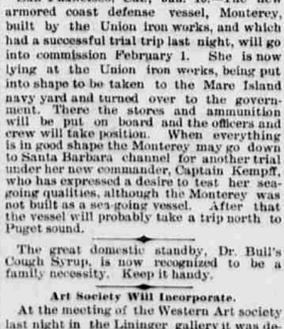

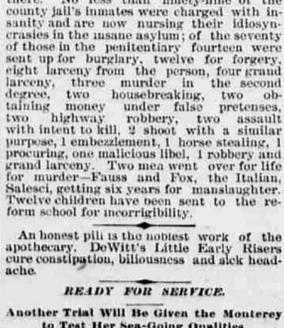

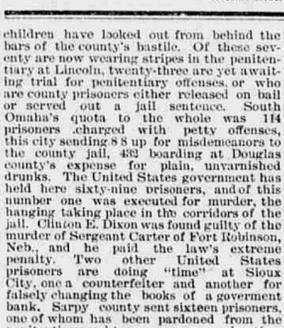

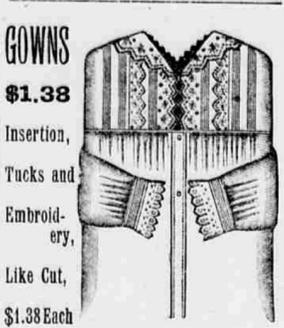

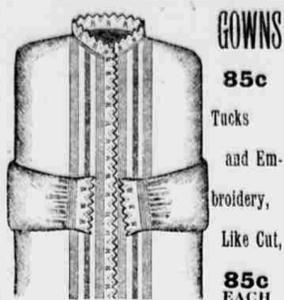

EFFICIENT VALUABLE SERVICES.

What It Cost the Panama Canal Company to Have an Employer. PARIS, Jan. 10.—The indictment against Gustave Eiffel states that he secured 900,000 francs of Panama canal money. Heretofore it was supposed that he had obtained but 62,000 francs. The parliamentary commission of inquiry has discovered a hiatus in the sequence of the canal company's check stubs. More than 200 of the stubs are missing, and it has transpired that the government placed on him was involved. Of the checks in question there were 400,000 francs, others for sums between 4,000 and 7,000 francs. If the stubs of these checks are not found, Felix Cottu and Felix Fontane and the directors of the canal company will be liable to imprisonment for three years each. They are suspected of having destroyed the stubs so as to protect their identity from their friends. The reports of the parliamentary Panama commission of 1886 and 1888 have been presented before the commission of inquiry. They show that President Carnot refused to support the lottery bill and that M. Arrien also disclaimed all responsibility in the matter. M. de Freycinet admitted that the money asked for would not finish the canal and when reproached by a fellow committee-man with being frightened by the responsibility which the government placed on him explained that the government granted merely facultative permission without assuming any guaranty.

CONSTITUTION CURED BY DEWITT'S EARLY RISERS.

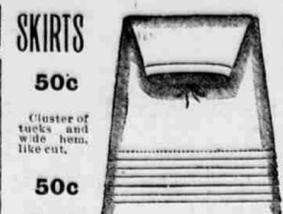

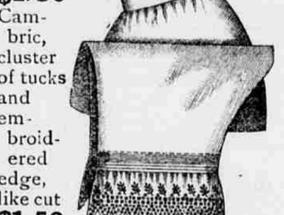

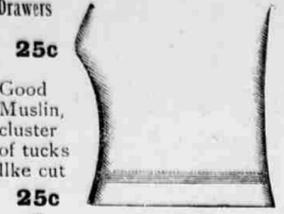

Constipation cured by DeWitt's Early Risers. There are a few of Douglas County's Deizens have gone. Sheriff George Bennett has completed his annual record of incarcerations in the county jail, disposition of prisoners and other data for the year ending December 31, 1892. As a bit of reminiscence history it recalls several cases which were at one time thrilling and startling bits of the city's metropolitan life. During the year 1919, man, woman and children have looked out from behind the bars of the county's bastille. Of these seventy and eight are in the penitentiary at Lincoln, twenty-three are yet awaiting trial for penitentiary offenses, or who are county prisoners either released on bail or served out a jail sentence. South Omaha's quota to the whole was 114 prisoners charged with petty offenses, this city sending 85 up for misdemeanors to the county jail, 482 boarding at Douglas county's expense for plain, unvarnished drunks. The United States government has held here sixty-nine prisoners, and of this number one was executed for murder, the hanging taking place in the corridors of the jail. Clinton E. Dixon was found guilty of the murder of Sergeant Carter of Fort Robinson, Neb., and he paid the law's extreme penalty. Two other United States prisoners are doing time at Sioux City, one a counterfeiter and another for falsely changing the books of a government bank. Sarpy county sent sixteen prisoners, two on a counterfeiter and another for falsely changing the books of a government bank. ROMANCE OF A YOUNG THIEF

Why Harry DeWitt Will Not be Returned to St. Louis.

HIS VICTIM HAS REFUSED TO PROSECUTE

Three Hundred Dollars Worth of Diamonds Were Recovered—Story of a Tough Boy's Varied Experience—Other Lincoln News. LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 10.—[Special to THE BEE.]—Detective Flynn returned today to St. Louis without Harry DeWitt, the young man who robbed H. S. Sternberger of Piqua, O., of his diamonds at a St. Louis hotel. This is due to the fact that there will probably be no prosecution. When DeWitt was first arrested he told a pitiful story of his father being dead and his mother a drunkard, but letters in his possession when arrested showed that this was untrue. When taxed by the detectives he made a clean breast of his history. His father is a prominent and wealthy lawyer of Fort Worth, Tex., and the boy's right name is Harry McLaurie. He was a wild youngster and ran away from home when he was but a little past 16, and for the past two years has had a varied career, being employed principally as bell boy in various hotels, but several times was suspected of theft, but nothing was ever proven against him until he took a pair of shirts from the Hotel Lincoln in this city. During his incarceration he has been visited in the county jail by a young lady who has so far succeeded in velling her identity, but who is said to have been an intimate friend and former schoolmate of the boy.

MORE CANDLE POWER.

Kansas City Declines to Pay For 2000 Candle Power Lamps When 500 is Furnished.

There is dissatisfaction with the municipal electric light service in Kansas City, Kan., as well as in Kansas City, Mo., and Mayor Hannan has just refused to sign three warrants in payment for electric street lights. All are lamps used in Kansas City, Kan., are supposed to have 2000 candle power, Kansas City, Kan., pays for his street lights on a basis of 2000 candle power and the mayor declares that not to exceed 500 candle power per lamp is furnished. The franchise calls for arc lights of 2,000 candle power. For this the city pays $12 per month for 100 and $11 per month for about thirty. The city is now negotiating with electricians with a view to making tests of the power of the lights furnished. It is also negotiating with the Fort Wayne Electric company for building a municipal plant, but the proceedings have been enjoined by the courts because the proposition of the Fort Wayne company does not conform to the law which requires advertisement by the city for competitive bids.

NEBRASKA HORTICULTURISTS.

The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Nebraska State Horticultural society is being held at Nebraska Hall, State university. The morning was principally devoted to arranging the displays of fruit, which have not all arrived yet. Secretary Taylor believes that it will be a fair one, notwithstanding the poor crop last year. At the afternoon session the secretary, Taylor, was booked to tell of the "Best Nebraska Grapes." "Grape Growing in Western New York" was the subject of J. S. Hannan. In the evening President Stevens delivered his annual address and reports were made by the secretary and treasurer. G. D. Sweezy gave an interesting account of the acre weather observatory and reports from standing committees were made as follows: Entomology and ornithology, Lawrence Brauer; forestry, G. A. Marshall; ornamental gardening, J. H. Haddock, each report being discussed at length by the twenty-five members present. Officers for the year will be elected tomorrow morning. The meeting closes Thursday afternoon. Prof. Taylor told of his observations of horticulture on his recent European trip, while an interesting discussion took place on the relation of the press to horticulture.

MURDERER FAUSS SAYS HE WILL YET KILL HIMSELF.

If George Fauss, the murderer of Laura Day, carries his threat into execution the state will have to provide the funeral in the near future. Fauss was taken to the penitentiary on Monday to serve a life sentence, and said before the prison gates closed upon him that he would never serve out his time. The man has made two desperate efforts to end his existence in the past, the first time, shortly after he was taken to the penitentiary to sever his jugular vein, and failing in that made another attempt by hanging. Prompt assistance saved his life in both instances. On his way to the penitentiary in company with Sheriff Bennett on Monday he said: "I will not stay long in the pen and when I go out it will be feet first and in a box." Fauss has promised to refrain from any further attempts at self-destruction while in Douglas county, but feels that his removal absolves him from any further observance of his promise.

The wheels of the wagon went over both of the boy's feet, breaking some of the small bones and injuring the right leg somewhat. It is not thought to be very serious and the boy will not be out soon.
