THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1893,

Mrs. Nettie Beach will go down to poster ity as having one of the most phenomenally impenetrable skulls ever brought before public attention, while her husband, William Beach, will be known as a most wonderfully patient and long suffering spouse. Ed. J. Grieberson, the third actor in a most bloody tragedy enacted vesterday morning, will be remembered as a man whose infatuation was far in excess of his jadgment.

It all happened early yesterday morning in a rear room of a flat at 403 North Fourteenth street. Just before 7 o'clock the sleeping inmates of the house were aroused by the sound of four swiftly succeeding shots and a woman's scream. Those who rushed to the room first were greeted by the words: "Ed has killed me and bimself, too."

With the blood streaming from two ghastly holes in her head, the woman sank on the floor. On a chair, with his head thrown back, sat the man who fired the shots, stone dead, blood and brains oozing from a terrible hole in his left temple, through which a bullet had entered.

Very Remarkable Relations.

It was only another version of the old, old story of illicit love and insane jealousy, aggravated perhaps in some of its aspects. About four weeks ago the dead man, Ed. J. Grieberson, a hostier employed at Mentor's stables, went to the flat and engaged from Mrs. M. C. Dawson, the landlady, a room to be occupied by himself and wife. The couple moved in and apparently got along happily together. Every morning the woman would go out and remain away all day. She said she was employed as a nurse and nothing was thought of her actions. It developed, however, that the woman was Mrs. Nettle Beach, and that she lived with her husband, William Beach, at 515 North her husband, William Bcach, at 515 North Fourtcenth street. Every day she would go home and remain with her children, and every night she would return and sicep with her lover. But this could not last. Beach, though very patient, had insisted that his wife cease her very remarkable conduct, and she finally agreed to do it. When she told her lover of her intention to "reform," he told her he would kill her if she attempted to leave him. Monday night she told him that it would be the heat time she would visit him. She had the last time she would visit him. She had fully determined to break off her relations with him and give her attentions to her children if not her husband.

Made His Threat Good.

When the couple woke up yesterday morning Grieberson sat on the edge of the bed and told the woman she would never leave the place. He then fired point blank at her head, but the shot went wide. Whang went the revolver again, and this time the bullet struck the woman fairly in the back of the head. And then another shot struck her just back of the ear. Both bullets fell to the floor, flattened out like they had been fired against a stone wall. Two severe scalp inst a stone wall. Two severe scalp unds were the results of the shots.

Grieberson put the pistol to his left temple and fired. He lived about three hours As soon as the innates of the house were alarmed and the police had been notified,

Mrs. Beach went to her own home, and was there found by the police. Told at the Inquest.

The inquest held at the morgae during the afternoon on the body of Grieberson did not develop any new facts. Mrs Beach was the first witness. She told about living with the deceased as his wife, and at the same time was living with

ANOTHER TREMENDOUS SHOE FAILURE RECEIVED MR. WILEY'S BID Immense Bankrupt Stock of Shoes and Rubbers Bought Yesterday by the Boston Store Once more Boston Store announces one of its famous bankrupt shoe sales. Electric Light Given a Chance to Compete This time the stock is so great that with all the room we have, we cannot find place for the whole stock at once. Meantime it is coming in load after load, and sorted and put in shape. We know enough about it to say that soon as the sale begins (probably Thursday) we will make these prices. What other bargains will follow will be so great that you can't even guess at

Just listen to this: (3c) Three little cents buy child's 25c rubbers.

10c buys a pair of misses' 35c rubbers. 35c buys child's arctics, worth 75c. 39c buys ladies' fleece lined low overshoes, worth $1.00. 495 buys boys' fleece lined buckle over-thees, worth $1.00.

25c buys a pair of men's heavy rolled edge rubber overs, for feit boots or Ger-man socks, worth $1.00.

49c buys men's fleece Hned buckle arctic overshoes, worth $1.00. 55c buys men's fleece lined snow ex-cluding metic overshoes, worth $1.25. All the mon's and ladies' fino leather shoes, all the child's shoes, all the misses' shoes will go just as cheap as these rubbers.

Boston Store prides itself and bonsts of its originality.

The prices we quote above have never been quoted before by living man.

And we have thousands of pairs of almost every kind, not one or two pairs of some odd sizes that nobody wants, but hundreds of pairs of each size. BOSTON STORE,

The bids for street lighting were opened, Mr. Muaco insisting that the purpose vas only to fill out the unexpired term of the Metropolitan Street Lighting company. which went to the wall. That being the case, the council could consider only bids for rasoline lighting. The other members had a different opinion.

and then the bid of the New Omaha Thompson-Houston Electric Light company was read. That company offered to put in 1,200 andle power are lights and run them on an all-night schedule at the ate of $90 per lamp per annum.

For gasoline lighting the bids were as follows: Joseph K. Reed 12 candle power, moonlight schedule, $17.40 per lamp per annum, and an all night schedule, $18.85 per lamp per annum. Robert Seegar, 12 candle power moonlight schedule, $18, and an all night schedule $20.20; Sun Vapor company,

12 candle power, moonlight schedule $16.50, and an all night schedule $18.75. All of the bids were referred. The junk dealers of the city imagined that they were being taxed too high and in a engthy petition asked to have the license fee reduced. Several of the draymen joined in a petition and asked the council to reduce the license levied upon that line of business.

By resolution the city treasurer was in-structed to proceed against the Pullman Car company and collect $16,000 of personal tax that was levied for the years 1886 to 1892, in lusive. The committee on police was instructed to Usual Wednesday matinee. "O'Dowd's Neighbors" is one of those theatrical productions for which one cannot find a name in the diction-ary. It deals with everything and for want of a better name it can be called a musical farce. Call it what you will, it is entertain-ing it eventse hunchier and plenuty of it ing, it creates laughter and plenty of it. The management boasts that it is the largest company traveling this season, that interprets what may be termed legitimate Irish farce comedy. There are no less than twenty-two people in the cast, and the costumes used are new and strikingly attrac-tive. Rollicking comedians, pretty girls and tive. artists whose vocal abilities are well known, together with the comedy, all go to make up an extremely entertaining combination.

The principal comedians of the company are Mark Murphy, Dave Conroy and Phil Mack, and these funnakers never fail to capture an audience. Another strong card is Miss Mary Cahill, the dancer (late of the Miss Helyett company), who executes the Spanish dances in a way that will make Carmencita look to her laurels. Miss Jennie Murphy is also a member of the company who has been well known as a comic opera singer. No trouble or expense has been spared and a host of New Yorx favorites are engaged, among whom are the Misses Taylor, Norton, Winton Graves; Messrs, Roberts, Rigges, Reynolds Holcombe, and the well known Irish come

Cognizant of His Shame.

William Beach, the husband of the injured woman, told his side of the story. He knew that his wife was intimate with Grieberson, and had often tried to induce her to remain at home. Then he told about leaving his wife a year or more ago because she would run around, but he came back again and went to living with her on her promise to be good.

Witness described how his wife came home yesterday morning with her head and face all covered with blood and how he washed her wounds and sent for a doctor. While he was washing the blood from her face she told him all about the affair and
